Announcement

With this issue of the Tofield Mercury, ownership is transferred from Cliff Patterson, who has published the paper for the past nine years, to Ken Patrige, Chuck MacLean and George Meyer, all of Camrose. Together, we have had years of experience in the newspaper business, and plan to continue publishing a newspaper for the area of the same high standard established in years past. While changes, and we hope, improvements, are certain sometime in the future, we are happy that Mr. Patterson has agreed to continue as editor for the next two months. We are looking forward to serving the people of Tofield, Ryley and district and hope that we will soon become personally acquainted with many of you.

Sincerely

Ken, Chuck and George

Thank You

We wish to announce that we have sold our interest in the Tofield Mercury to Ken Patrige, Chuck MacLean and George Meyer, all of Camrose. These three men have many years of newspaper experience behind them and we know they will publish a newspaper that Tofield, Ryley and district will be proud of.

It is with mixed feelings that we leave Tofield and the many wonderful friends we have gained during the past 9 years and we would like to express our sincere Thanks to all the subscribers and advertisers we have had the pleasure of serving during that time. We also would like to solicite your loyal patronage for the new owners who we know will publish the highest calibre paper possible.

Thank you Everyone

Miss Dorothy Heflin Wed to Wilbur Ferguson on December 20

The United Church, Tofield, was the setting for a pretty wedding when Miss Dorothy Ann Lauren Heflin was united in marriage on the evening of December 20th with Mr. Wilbur Leonard Ferguson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heflin, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ferguson, all of Tofield.

Rev. Bruce McNeill conducted the double ring ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. G. McFadzean.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath dress and jacket of willow white brocaded bengaline, complimented by a matching hat and accessories in white. She carried a white bible, cymbidi with red roses.

Her only attendant was Miss Gwen Glover, who wore a dress of red velvet. It was styled with a bateau neckline and full skirt. She wore a jewelled tiara and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. Elvin Heflin.

Following the ceremony, a reception for the immediate families of the bride and groom was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered cake, flanked on either side by lighted tapers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of mauve tinted silk, with a corsage of yellow roses.

The groom's mother wore a dress of sapphire blue and a corsage of red roses.

Following a honeymoon trip to Winnipeg, the young couple will reside in Selkirk, Manitoba.

Search for Talent Show in Tofield Saturday Night

Last year's talent winners are playing an increasingly prominent roll in this season's Search for Talent shows. Officials of the Associated Canadian Travellers of Edmonton announced that Bob Adamson, one of last year's six finalists, will be guest artist at the Tofield Community Centre on the Tofield show scheduled for Saturday, January 6, commencing at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Adamson is a mushroom farmer in Clover Bar and his hobby he strums his guitar and sings ballads. In two previous appearances as a guest artist this season Mr. Adamson proved very popular. As a result the producers of Search for Talent have booked him in as part of the program at Tofield and Mannville one week later.

The Tofield show is being held under the auspices of the Tofield Community League under direction of Dick Mutter. This is the first time in several years that the show is coming to Tofield and the Community League officials are anticipating a sellout audience.

Entries are being accepted by George McFadzean at the Tofield Drug Store and last minute entries will be accepted. All participants are urged to be at the Community Centre at four o'clock on Saturday for auditioning and program placement.

Besides the local contestants the show will feature Spotlight Parade, a variety program presented by six of Edmonton's most outstanding radio and television personalities.

Proceeds from the show go to the A. C. T. Northern Alberta Crippled Children's Fund with a portion earmarked for the Tofield Community League under whose auspices the show is coming to Tofield.

M. S. I. Plans to be Discussed at next U. F. A. Meeting

On the next meeting of the Tofield F. U. A. to be held on Tuesday, January 9, 1962, in the Legion Hall, a representative of M. S. I. (Medical Services Incorporated) will be present to explain their group plan of medical insurance, now obtainable through F. U. A. Locals. The group plan is quite a saving over the individual plan. We hope our members will all turn out to this very important meeting as we understand they has to be a 70% sign-on of our members to form a group. We invite anyone interested, whether F. U. A. member or not, to attend. And if anyone has no knowe of a better plan than M. S. I. they would attend and bring all particulars of their plan as we are interested only in getting the best coverage for our dollar.

At the last meeting Charles Beers and A. Heiberg were elected president and vice-president respectively, and L. Shewchuk, H. Schultz and L. Ross were elected to the board. Members were advised that their F. U. A. liability insurance becomes due on January 15, 1962.

Mrs. Roy Whitham was the lucky winner of the Jackpot.

After the business meeting was adjourned a social hour was then spent over a twenty-pound turkey and trimmings.

Please try and attend on the 9th as we feel some medical plan is necessary especially to a family man in these days of high cost.

The building appeared quite satisfactory. Moved that the report be accepted and that the hold back account to Mr. Kalisz be paid. Carried.

Carried.

Mr. G. Schmidt and Mr. R. Mitchell of Bruce interviewed the Board re time line from the Bruce School having been placed across part of the Lutheran Church property in the Hamlet of Bruce. They explained of the fact that they had not been approached in the matter prior to the installation of the sewer and they requested assistance that if the line should interfere with future building plans on the church property, the County would accept responsibility for moving of the newsy line. Moved that the County authorize to move the line now crossing part of the church property of the Lutheran Church in Bruce should this become necessary. Carried.

Mr. Ken Parton of the Safety Branch, Dept. of Highways, attended the meeting at this time in connection with his application for the position of Bus Supervisor for the County. Mr. Parton had had a few discussion with some of the Committee members at the A. S. T. A. Convention. Mr. Parton now felt that the question of the County appointing a Bus Supervisor should be deferred for some time as it appeared that the Government had not yet arrived at what this work should actually involve and that it appeared that the Government might appoint the Supervisor. As the County was the only area contemplating a Supervisor at the present time it might be well to learn the matter in abeyance until more details were available to evaluate the whole situation. Moved that the matter of appointing a Bus Supervisor be deferred to the June meeting of the Committee. Carried.

Moved that application by driving a school bus out of Tofield submitted by Corny Neufeld be filed for future need and that also Mr. Wesley Ingram, whose application had been rejected at the last meeting, have his application filed for future needs. Carried.

Moved that Mrs. Signe Clark's sick leave and resignation as from January 1, 1962, be accepted and that the resignation of Mrs. Mabel Thomson be accepted. Carried.

Moved that the following appointments be approved: Mr. Glenn Stokes, Mrs. Pauline Hol-owachuk, Mr. Kenneth Eastlick, Mrs. Anne Lenhenk. Carried.

Moved that this meeting now adjourns to reconvene on Wednesday, December 12, 1961 at 10:00 a.m. Carried.

Barbed wire fences and heavy police and army guards may prevent East Berliners from getting into the free West Berlin area, but the River Spree is being used by refugees, who swim their way to freedom under cover of night. Here, a West German fisherman surveys the water 8,328 near the Warsaw bridge, a division line claimed by East Ber...

The Superintendent mentioned the need of a portable stage that could be transported from one school to another when and where required and that, after investigating a number of them, he and some of the School Committee members had agreed that a workable stage, capacity of 72 seated persons, sold by W. E. Gover Ltd. was the most satisfactory. It could be obtained for approximately $1150. Moved that the stage be purchased in 1962. Carried.

Moved that the County schools close for Christmas holidays at 3:30 p.m. December 22, 1961 and reopen at 9:00 a.m. on January 2, 1962.

The Superintendent stated that there had been some difficulty at the Viking school to make available reference books to the Jr. High students, as all reference books were located in the main part of the building, but that this had been solved by building two portable book carts, the reference books being moved into the Jr. High School section in Viking in the morning and back to the staff room in the evening. Also a portable scientific cart was being built.

Mr. Pike referred to the re-occurring water line breaks at Holden with resultant lack of water supply to the school and that, during a recent night, the Janitor had had to carry water to keep one of the boilers working. He suggested that a five hundred gallon stand-by tank be placed in the south end of the town at rear room and that this water could be piped into the boiler and thereby ensuring a satisfactory water supply. Moved that the suggestion of the Superintendent be concurred in and the necessary work authorized. Carried.

This could be your year!
Got something in mind you've always wanted? . . . something that would add greatly to your anticipation of the year ahead? A new car, perhaps . . . a hi-fi . . . or an up-to-date TV . . . or even a cottage in the country?

There's no need to let an after-holiday, empty-pocket feeling interfere with the way a shiny New Year could look to you as it gets underway. 1962 could be the year for getting things you want for you and yours.

Resolve now to start things off by dropping into your neighbourhood branch of the Bank of Montreal. The people there will be glad to discuss a low-cost, life-insured loan through the B of M Family Finance Plan. It's one resolution that's well worth keeping!

School Committee Holds December Meeting

In regards to the sports policy for the County, referred to in Resolution No. 218, the Superintendent of Schools advised that the Principals in the County considered that this resolution did not give them the necessary authority. A Resolution, passed by a meeting of the Principals Ass'n read. Moved by Lars Olson and seconded by Dick Harris that the principal of each School be expected to restrict any student from participation in interschool sports if, in his opinion, the participation adversely affects his or her marks, but that no minimum percentage be fixed by any school unit. Moved that the School Committee give full approval to this sports policy as outlined by the Principals Ass'n. Carried.

The Superintendent mentioned requests from various parents within the boundaries of town and villages for the children to be picked up by school busses as they go past their place, this being Elm at Holden and Tofield from south of the railway track. It was considered that this could not be acceded to except under certain circumstances and it was decided that each Committee member, was to handle these requests at their own discretion.

The Secretary advised the Committee that he had received from Western School Bus Sales, thru their manager, Mr. W. J. Mackinn, prices on 1961 school busses, with the information that in 1962 there would be a further increase in the prices of busses. Some information obtained from other school bus suppliers seemed to indicate that the prices quoted by Western School Bus Sales were somewhat high and it was decided to obtain further prices and to have the County Council deal with this matter at their meeting on Thurs. December 14th.

The head mechanic at the bus garage, Mr. R. Kandt was present at this time and various matters discussed with him in regards to the operation and maintenance of the busses. Mr. Kandt requested a "flat charges" for the shop, and stated that the price obtained from Grosser Parts, for this equipment was $215.00. It was also mentioned that the bus driver at Klnsella, who was looking after the maintenance of the busses at that point, required an electric drill and it was moved that a flat charge be obtained from Grosser Parts or Ackland Limited and also a quarter inch electric drill. Carried.

The matter, of an air compressor needed at the bus garage at Klnsella was also considered and the price that has been quoted on this, being a new compressor, was $531.00. It was however considered that the air compressor that had been used in the old bus garage in Holden, could be made available for the garage in Klnsella and the mechanic was asked to further look into this matter.

There being no further business, it was Moved at 12:30 p.m. that this meeting now adjourn to the call of the Chair or to the next regular meeting. Carried

Of Many Things

(by Antonya Nitis)
COURAGEOUS HOUSEWIFE

At the Alberta Farmers' Union convention in Edmonton the other day, a delegate hit out at "farmwives" on the farm who might be using margarine. A farm housewife then stood up and admitted that she used margarine at times because she couldn't afford butter. She spoke against a motion to ban colored margarine.

According to the Canadian Press story, she then "hid down amid the stony silence of surrounding dairymen."

Silence there may have been. A stony silence. I doubt it. I know a few dairy farmers, and plenty of other farmers. They may not favour margarine, coloured or uncoloured, but they are not stony toward any man or woman with the intestinal fortitude to be straightforward. Fact is, 74 wagon thats were quite a number in that room who used margarine themselves and who had a good deal of respect for the little lady who up and said so.

Sure it is good business for dairy farmers to use their own products! No one has ever argued against that. It is good business, for all Canadians to use Canadian products when ever they can. I can't blame dairy farmers for using and promoting butter for all they are worth .... It is time they promoted it and advertised to and spent more time trying to sell it to the people instead of to governments.

But margarine is a good farm product. It uses vegetable oils grown on farms. It is not a synthetic thing. It is recommended by Canada's chief Health Officer. To suggest that farm women who use it because they can't afford butter are being "turncoats" is pretty much talk. The farm organization officials who bring out condemned the dairy business that farm women turn to another product ought to be asking questions of themselves and their husbands.

The farm organizations of Canada can see more little ladies of conviction who will get up at a meeting and say what they think. Nothing could harm farmers more than a leadership clique which professes to find solutions for everything in the benevolence of governments. Nothing could do more damage than an atmosphere in which truth is met with stony silence.

Farmers, dairymen or otherwise, could do well to let this margarine ban off their backs. It has hot them friends and given many butter enemies. It hasn't helped them, it has hurt them. The energy wasted on this ridiculous hassle should have been used to find ways and means of producing better butter at lower prices.

How Valuable
. . . . . is Local Newspaper Advertising To Local Business Firms?

CONSISTENT ADVERTISING REALLY COUNTS---

THE TOFIELD MERCURY IS READY TO SERVE YOU!

Here's what the American Bankers Magazine, a publication that represents a traditionally conservative profession, has to say:

"No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town ... it's the best possible town advertiser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town."

SOAPS OR DETERGENTS

How are you going to choose intelligently a soap or detergent for your individual needs when there are so many products to choose from and so many factors to determine your choice?

Do you depend on the label for your information or do you regard

"YOUR TURN NEXT" blases this survivor of the holiday season, a plump grey African goose who missed the Christmas roasting pan. Rainbow trout may not be so lucky: after a brief respite when food was the seasonal dish this delicious game fish will again be in demand by menu-members. Actually too rare ever to become a pot-boiler, the African goose is one of several new varieties of water fowl recently acquired by the Calgary Zoo while the trout is safe behind the glass walls of the Calgary Acquarium's game fish exhibit tank. Both the Zoo and the Aquarium - located only a few blocks apart in Calgary - are popular sight-seeing stops for Albertans visiting Calgary during the Christmas holidays.

the cost as an indication of quality (which is not always reliable). The cost will depend on the number of washes you can get from a package.

TYPES OF CLEANING AGENTS

1. SOAPS — have been on the market for a long time. How are they made? They are made by combining fats, oils and lye (alkali). Soft fats give a soft soap whereas hard fats will give a hard soap. Coconut oil when added will give a lather. Limitations are that they form a scum on hard water, shrink woolens and will not lather in cold water.

2. SYNTHETIC DETERGENTS — were first produced after World War I. How are they made? They are made by combining vegetable fats and oils and petroleums through a chemical reaction.

WHY DO WE USE SOAPS OR DETERGENTS?

- to penetrate the oily dirt that clings to the fibers.
- to hold the dirt in suspension after it has been removed by agitation.

WHAT CHOULD YOU CONSIDER WHEN BUYING A SOAP OR DETERGENT?

1. The water you are using is in - hard or soft. Detergents will form suds in hard water.
2. Type of fabric you are going to wash, e.g. man's overalls or babies sweater.
3. Soil to be removed - heavy grease or light soil. Detergents are very good at removing greases so theyetore are very good for washing dishes or bath tubs but they remove the oil from your hands.
4. They are light (mild) or heavy duty (strong) soap and detergents. - composition of mild soap is 82 to 87 percent soap; water; sodium chloride. Examples are Lux, Ivory Snow, or Flakes.
- composition of strong soap is 55 to 80 percent soap; water; alkaline builders; flourescent dyes. Examples are Rinso, Dan Mild detergents are Vel, Dreft, Wisk and Joy. Strong or All-purpose detergents are Tide, Fab, Surf, Cheer, and Breeze.

County of Beaver Civil Defence Unit Control Committee Holds Meeting

Present: Mr. George Taylor, Director, Mr. K. K. Westmancont Deputy Director, Mr. Wm. Taylor, Director of the Town of Viking, Mr. J. Chamulik, Director of the Village of Holden, Mrs. M. Boyles, Director of the Town of Tofield, Mr. T. Harris, Director of the Village of Ryley, Cr. G. B. Magneson, Chairman of the Control Committee, Mr. E. Rabe, representing the Town of Viking, Cr. B. B. Starky and Cr. W. D. Johnston, representing the County of Beaver No. 9.

As the Chairman, Cr. Magneson was not present, Cr. Starky took the chair and called the meeting to order at 2:35 p.m.

Moved by George Taylor that the minutes of the meeting of September 14, 1961, be adopted as presented. Carried.

The Secretary advised that the only correspondence was the cancellation of the Radiation Monitoring Course No. 103 and the Nurses Orientation Course.

Moved by George Taylor that, as the Directors received copies of this correspondence, it be received and filed. Carried.

Some of the Directors felt that the cancellation of these courses would affect getting people to take them. Mr. Chamulik said that Miss Frechett, District Nurse had finally gotten permission to take the Nurses Orientation Course only to have it cancelled at the last minute.

Mrs. Boyles advised that the first aid course at Tofield was going very well and that there were 27 persons enrolled. She said that another 22 persons wished to take the course.

Mr. Westmancont said that the Ryley First Aid Course was postponed as they could not get anyone to give the practical training. He advised that he had attempted to get one of the men from Northwestern Utilities Ltd. at Tofield, who were qualified to give the practical training, but he was told these men had committed themselves to instruct at Tofield at the same time. He said it is intended that this First Aid Course would start early in 1962.

Cr. Magneson arrived at this time and took the Chair.

Mrs. Boyles was asked if all the persons taking the first aid course had a basic training in Civil Defence. She said that some did not have their basic training but that she taught this for one hour each evening before the first aid lectures started.

Mrs. Boyles said she would like to have another first aid course after completion of the Course in Ryley as she had those other 22 applicants who wished to take it. Moved by Mr. Harris that a first aid course be held in Tofield following completion of the course in Ryley. Carried.

Mr. Chamulik said he would like to have a first aid course at Holden after the completion of the Home Nursing Course.

Moved by Mrs. Boyles that a First Aid Course be held in Holden commencing as soon after the 1st of February as possible. Carried.

George Taylor said that there were 18 persons manning the Control Room during Exercise Tooth B. He said that the exercise went quite well as far as the Unit was concerned.

Mr. Westmancont said that was some confusion with regard to Exile time and also in how to draft messages properly.

The other directors thought the exercise went quite well and they thought it was good experience and gave them a better idea of what must be done for future exercises.

There was some discussion on Control Room procedure and it was moved by Mrs. Boyles that a Control Room Procedure Course be held in Tofield as soon after April 1st 1962 as possible. Carried.

George Taylor advised that he had sent the County of Beaver No. 9 Survival Plan to Emergency Measures Organization for their approval. He read a copy of this plan and advised that the delay in sending the plan was due to the fact that he kept getting more information on what should be included. Moved by Mr. Chamulik that the Survival Plan be accepted as read. Carried.

The Committee now retired to the basement of the County Office to look over the area to be set up as a Control Room. It was felt that we should get an estimate of the cost of this work prior to the next budget meeting. However, it was decided to leave this until the next meeting when Mr. McNally or Mr. Stewart from Emergency Measures Organization would be present. These men would have a better idea of the necessary items to go into a Control Room.

George Taylor said he had been talking to Mr. McNally and he suggested that a meeting be called for the second or third Monday in January 1962 so that the Survival Plan could be discussed. Moved by Cr. Starky that the next meeting be held on January 22, 1962. Carried.

SOME DOCTOR WIL BE A VERY BUSY MAN when these ani-mals- do-it-yourselfers really throw themselves into their job. Of course, they're the Three Bruins in a hilarious moment of their home improvement speed, one of 20 exciting acts and 20 great productions in the all-new Coming of Age "I'm 21!" Edition of Ice Capades now at the Edmonton Gardens.

Mike Finn, 6, hit by Truck Near Tofield School

Young Mike Finn, aged 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Finn, is in hospital this week with a broken collar bone and a number of bruises after being hit by a truck while returning to school at noon last Friday. The accident occurred two blocks south of the school where the sidewalk crosses from one side of the road to the other. A number of children were along the way and Mike didn't see the slow travelling truck driven by Garry Yurkowski and darted out into the street. The driver of the truck tried to stop but the extremely icy street made it impossible. The truck slid into the ditch taking young Mike with it.

R. Gray and L. Wilson, both of North Western Utilities, were nearby and due the lad out from under the truck and rushed him to hospital. Fortunately, the injuries were not worse and Mike didn't see the slow travelling truck driven by Garry

Fire Destroys Martin Booth Home North of Ryley

Fire, Tuesday afternoon, destroyed the farm home of the Martin Booth family, located one mile north and one mile east of Ryley. The fire started in the ceiling of the bedrooms in the second storey of the house and was discovered by Mrs. Booth around 2 o'clock. The Ryley fire department and neighbors tryed out to help but were unable to save the building. By chopping a large hole in the ceiling they were able to save an almost new deep freeze. Also saved were the electric washing machine, sewing machine and the television set which was carried to safety by Mrs. Booth.

All the bedding and clothes in the upstairs bedrooms was lost except one armload of bedding. Mrs. Booth was washing at the time and gathered up the washed and soiled garments she had downstairs, and someone secured the clothesline which was attached to the house with an axe and saved the line of clothes.

Martin Booth was in Edmonton at the time and did not learn of the misfortune until his return early in the evening. Friends and relatives in Ryley supplied the family with shelter Tuesday night, it is not known what insurance if any, was carried.

Everything from streamlined headquarters to packaged buffalo meat steaks to long pampered after-Christmas appetites a Bit. Arambole hunters hungry for a taste of old Prairie days can find it this year without going farther north than a good cut, a good butcher, restaurant or supermarket.

Since the buffalo, before he herded on evil days, was king of the western plains, dinner-out will be offered a few reminders of the old west - they may find a reprise of the Sweetgrass brand clipped to the menu, a tame table of Sweetgrass brand clipped to the menu, a tame table of cow-catcher and dramatic come-back, of time and space for the patient processes of scientific game management to restore the herds.

This is prime meat selected, inspected, graded and packed in the Park's big Sweetgrass abbatoir. From here it is shipped out to Edmonton for cold storage and distribution.

William Barrow Laid to Rest

After a lengthy illness Miles William (Bill) Barrow passed away at the age of 78 years in the University Hospital, Edmonton, Alberta, on the 5th day of December, 1961.

Born and raised in the Tofield District, Bill farmed on his family farm all his life until he joined the Loyal Edmonton Regiment and was sent overseas in the Second World War, spending some time in Italy, France, Sicily, Germany and other points. While in England he visited with his uncle John Barrow and family.

He returned home and went back farming on the same farm chosen now as the Salmon's in the Hasting Lake District. Since his illness he sold his farm and has spent the most of time with his sister in Edmonton. He is survived by his loving mother and dad, six sisters and three brothers.

Rev. Hammett, conducted funeral services which were held at 2 o'clock from the Anglican church interment was in Tofield Cemetery. Andrews McLaughlin Funeral Directory, were in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Art Williams, Julius and Vern Miller, George Druve, and Frank and Art Dunkes.

January Meeting of Beef Club Held

The January meeting of the 4-H Beef Club was held in the Community Centre meeting room on January 11.

Nette Appleby read the pledge and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. Bobby Mccue then gave the financial report. The business followed. An achievement date was set at June 4th. Since the judging competition was postponed because of cold weather, John Moore invited the club to come out again on Saturday the 13th. The invitation was accepted and the time was set at 1 o'clock.

The meeting was then adjourned and a debate followed. The topic for the debate was "Should tiple be allowed in 4-H Beef Clubs". Kenneth Appleby and Duane Sears were the negatives and Edmund Lefcrud and Melvin Minchen of Viking were the affirmative side. The judges Mrs. Noble, Mrs. Wood and Mr. Cliff Patterson decided the Viking team should win the debate. Mr. Powers, the local D. A. showed a film on agriculture.

Buffalo Steaks On Sale Soon

Sweetgrass buffalo steaks will be adding northern Alaska to Canadian menus.

Prime northern buffalo will likely be the first new food delicacy brought to Canadians in 1962 when some 250,000 pounds of top meat from Wood Buffalo National Park go on sale from coast to coast on January 17th.

"Foods from the north are interesting Canadians in new adventures in eating", Northern Affairs Minister Walter Dinsdale said. "They're disporting the charge that too much of our Canadian food lacks the zing of regional flavor." Eskimo caught article char, he recalled, virtually added a new word - Ilkalu - to the language. (Ilkalu in Eskimo means fish.)

Buffalo meat from the Elk Island National Park in Alberta goes on sale this year with the sweetgrass variety. Westerners, need no introduction to 82lb island buffalo.

The Sweetgrass herd gets its name from the sweet grass of his immense northern range. Elk Isafalls National Park (17,280 acres, in area) straddling northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories, is home of the largest known buffalo herd in the world. Now the meat has become plentiful enough to market in a tale of one-extinction and dramatic come-back, of time and space for the patient processes of scientific game management to restore the herds.

This is prime meat selected, inspected, graded and packed in the Park's big Sweetgrass abbatoir. From here it is shipped out to Edmonton for cold storage and distribution.

Councillors Seated Around New Council Table

Although 25 below and icy road conditions there were at least 50 persons out, some from as far as Round Hill and North of Ryley at the last F.U.A. meeting on January 9 to hear Mr. Turonto explain M.S.I. (Medical Services).

This is the plan in a nutshell. Medical Services pays your doctor including surgery only, nothing to do with Hospital or drugs. Anyone can get it, no medical examination required. The following will show the saving of the group plan over the individual plan. Individual plan for 1 person costs $4.50 per month, while the group plan costs $2.00 per month for one person, which shows that the group plan saves the person $18.00 per year. For a family of 3 the individual plan costs $9.50, the group $8.00 per month, or a saving of $90.00 per year. For a family of 3 or more Individual coverage costs $18.50, and Group coverage $8.00 which means a saving of $18.00 per year.

Also in the group plan there is no waiting period fee it to take effect as there is in the individual plan (except pregnancy).

To be eligible you must be a F.U.A. member and 75 per cent of the members must join.

That is the plan in plain language, there is not one red cent in it for the Union. The Union is merely the means of getting it for you.

Weather is cold and the roads are icy, so the Union does not feel they should have to make a canvass of the whole district. If interested phone or contact the

Clear Water Well Cleaned Saturday Night

His men went to work at the water treatment plant Saturday night and in just under five hrs. had scrubbed the well till it literally shone. The chore of cleaning the sediment from the dry well went off without a hitch and the definite improvement in the water remained. Arnold Swift reports it now takes only half as much chlorine to treat the water as was required prior to the cleaning job.

An interesting sidelight of the whole thing occurred Tues. morning when a pressure line controlling a switch at the pump house froze shutting off the supply from the reservoir. Normally there is 7 ft. of water in the clear well at the treatment plant but by the time the pressure line had been thawed out and the pumps at the reservoir started there was only 18 inches of water in the clear well. Until this situation occurred prior to the cleaning job a large amount of sediment might have been pumped into the water mains. Mr. Swift estimates that a similar cleaning job will not again be necessary for another two and possibly three years.

Rendering A Service Not Duplicated Anywhere

The Editor of the Vermilion Standard says a mouthful in this editorial:

The Standard doesn't bring you up-to-the-minute news on national and world affairs; you won't read about Montreal murders or Texas hurricanes in it; national hockey league games aren't even mentioned. You will find, however, news that is never in any other paper — news of yourself and your friends, marriages, births, deaths, school news, news of events which occur in the area that are not considered important enough to be included in the daily papers, but which are of greatest importance and interest to us here. The Standard doesn't try to compete with nor imitate any daily paper, because, as a weekly paper with news devoted to a restricted area, our paper is a different kind of publication that fills a different need — the need to keep the people of this vicinity informed about events here. This is why weekly newspapers are the most thoroughly read publications known today.

Given the kind of support it deserves from business men in the way of advertising, the weekly newspaper is the greatest worker and booster in the community — doing its best at all times to attract people, shoppers and business to the town . . . and this benefits everyone.

Search for Talent Shows now to Feature two new Classifications

Two new classifications have been added for contestants in the series of Search for Talent shows now being conducted by the Associated Canadian Travellers in communities throughout north-central Alberta.

George Hamelin, general chairman of the shows for the ACT announced that effective immediately a junior division and a showmanship division have been added in an effort to broaden the scope of entertainment, and participation in the shows.

March shows will be announced here. Regional semi-finals & the final will be held on the first three Saturdays in April, Mr. Hamelin announced.

—M—

The new classifications are the result of a request from the Edmonton Journal and the Camrose Canadian recently that Miss Verona Todesman, daughter of Emil and Martha Todesman had been awarded the Alberta Wheat Pool Scholarship of $100 and the Women's Institute Bursary of $75 at the Vermilion School of Agriculture at Christmas time. These were awarded for her high standing in the 4-H Club work and at Vermilion School week during the summer. Again congratulations, Verona.

Sam Pollock seeks a man to get his bearings during a recent visit to Canada from his native Britain. Pollock, a former soldier, civil servant, school master and welfare worker, has been a broadcaster since 1942. This year he marks his tenth anniversary as commentator on Postmark U. K., heard Sundays on CBC radio's Trans-Canada network.

nature of presentation suits the requirements of the award.

In response to many requests for participation by children under the age of 12 a junior division is now available for contestants ages eight to 12, inclusive. Major incentive for this group will be the possible selection to appear on CFRN-TV's Kiddies on Camera program. A special award will be presented to the first place winner as well.

Mr. Hamelin announced that the competition in the two new categories does into effect immediately and the registrar at each centre will accept entries as of now.

Search for Talent is now in its 15th year as a presentation of the Associated Canadian Travellers of Edmonton, with proceeds going to the ACT Northern Alberta Crippled Children's Fund. The shows are broadcast on CFRN radio each Saturday and each show's winner appears on CFRN-TV the following Friday. Many of the younger artists, though not declared winners, are invited to appear on CFRN-TV's Kiddies on Camera program. The Junior division is designed to provide opportunity for more rural kiddies to appear on this program, stated Mr. Hamelin.

For the next several consecutive Saturdays the shows will be held at St. Paul, January 20; Evansburg, January 27; Barrhead, Westlock Thursday and New Sarepta during February.

Don't Send your Son - Take him to the hockey Arena in Hockey Week

"Don't send - take your boy to the arena," Minor Hockey Week's slogan is being enacted by fathers in hundreds of communities, from St. John's to Victoria, from Niagara Falls to Whitehorse, as some 300,000 Canadian youngsters take to the ice in organized minor hockey this year.

More and more fathers are taking their boys and staying to help coaches and league officials keep pace with the rapid growth of new or expanded leagues. Minor hockey officials, who are finding minor hockey to be a good training ground for character building and citizenship, says "We can use more help. Make Minor hockey time, father and son time."

An important contribution to the character building aspect of minor hockey, and a proven incentive to good junior citizenship is the Rubbin Hood Trophy, which is again being presented for competition during the current season. During 1961, 1661 boys in Canada's ten provinces, the North West Territories and the Yukon received one of these trophies. They were selected by local league officials who used the Player's Creed which was drawn up for the young players as a basis for choosing outstanding boys. The creed, in addition to urging every boy to train and keep fit in order to play to his peak capacity, emphasizes the importance of good behavior at school, at home and in the community at large.

A creed, a personalized parchment scroll containing the Player's Creed, and the Trophy itself, all become the permanent property of each winner.

In the four seasons the trophy has been available for competition, interest in joining the overall program has exceeded even the rapid expansion of minor hockey, according to George H. Melver, Chairman of the Board of Robin Hood Flour Mills Limited. This electrifying response has convinced the founders of the trophy of the basic soundness of this type of citizenship training.

"The development of hardy, competitive young Canadians, is only one of the objectives guiding the program," the Robin Hood executive stated. "We are striving to encourage those character traits that in future years will stand them in good stead as adult members of their community and country. We believe that hockey is best suited to this program because it is Canada's most popular game and boys and hockey go hand in hand. It builds strong and healthy youngsters."

How Valuable . . . . . is Local Newspaper Advertising To Local Business Firms?

Here's what the American Bankers Magazine, a publication that represents a traditionally conservative profession, has to say:

"No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town . . . it's the best possible town advertiser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town."

BARDO — Mrs. Carl Nelson was hostess for the January meeting of the W. C. T. U. Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Glenn Francis gave the devotion and asked all present to read the 23 Psalm after which she read an article from the Morning Glory and led in Prayer. The clip sheet on "how the White Ribbon Tidings came into being," was given by four members. The first official organ on the WCTU was edited in 1284. Lacking funds, to carry on, three women spent an afternoon together in prayer and their efforts were well rewarded as shortly after, an elderly man left $1,000 in his will for this work. In 1920 the White Ribbon Tidings became the official organ of the Canadian Women's Christian Temperance Union. The first editor of the paper served for 30 years and others, have kept the paper going since. The treasurer reported $17 on hand.

It was decided to have a party on Saturday, January 20 for the children who wrote answers to the temperance lessons taught last fall. Doris Spencer and Gladys Severson were elected to be in charge of entertainment.

BLEACHES AND STARCHES:

As a follow up on my previous column on soaps and detergents, information on starches and bleaches may be of value.

Starches was the first washday bleach and it is still an effective one. Just because you cannot depend on the sun shining every day, bleaches and whiteners in bottles and boxes are today's washday results. The following bleaches are common on the market. If we know these facts about such popular products and how they affect fabrics, it may help us to use them better.

CHLORINE: Used in the wash with soap or detergent, chlorine removes all soil and stain. It should not be used on silk, wool, acetate or items marked 'do not bleach'. Used on any of these, it may turn ecru yellow and weaken the fibers of wool. It will not harm vat-dyed colors, but by rays, clothing is marked vat-dyed before using it. Clothing must be rinsed thoroughly to remove possible odor. Stubborn stains can be removed by soaking in concentrated solution. Chlorine comes in liquid and dry form. Do not use chlorine bleaches in cold water or without soapsuds, which protect fabrics by the buffering action. Follow directions carefully.

PERBORATE: This is for "no-bleachables". Milder and slower acting than chlorine, it is safe for all fabrics. Perborate works best in hot water and, if used regularly, it helps to keep things bright, but it will not remove silk stains as quickly as chlorine. Available in liquid and powder form. HDH (dechlorodene hydrate): This is a recent development that combines the bleaching effectiveness of the chlorine with the comparative harmlessness of the perborates. It may be used on rayon and nylon as well as cotton and linen but is not recommended for use on silk and wool.

OPTICAL DYES: These products are in most soaps and detergents. Although you cannot see (or feel) optical dyes, they coat the fabric. After several washings they do make the fabric look whiter. It is best to add chlorine bleach towards the end of the wash period (if added earlier the bleach counteracts the effect of the dyes).

STARCHES: They are either vegetable or plastic in origin.

1. Vegetable starches come in two forms, dry, obtainable in crystalline, powdered or lump forms, and prepared with either cold or boiling water, depending on variety; and liquid, ready diluted to the strength required. Vegetable starches cover the surface of the fabric and offers resistance to dirt.

2. Plastic starches are made from resins, and one application is good for several washings without renewal. A plastic starch penetrates the material and clings to the fibers and as a result will last for about 6 washings. It gives the fabric a smooth, firm, yet flexible finish.

Duram Wheat Prices Highest Since 1947

The surest way to increase production of any farm commodity is to increase the price of that commodity and that is exactly what is happening with durum wheat. According to O. G. Bradshaw, supervisor of Alberta's Crop Improvement Service, today's prices are the highest since 1947 and increased acreages are anticipated for 1962.

In reference to these acreages, Mr. Bradshaw warns that they should be limited to those areas in which the crop is adapted. Unfortunately when prices reach a high level there is a strong tendency to spread to areas that are not suited to the crop.

Farmers in the light brown and brown soil zones can afford to substantially increase their acreages of durum. However, increased production should not be extended to the black soil and grey-wooded soil zones because durum varieties require about a week longer to mature than Thatcher and have a long weak straw. Lodging can be a serious problem under ample moisture conditions which are generally associated with the black and grey soil zones. The combination of late maturity and weak straw makes this a hazardous crop in these areas.

Exports of durum during the 1960-61 crop year were over 41 million bushels. This is unusually high compared to about 34 million in 1959 and 24 million in 1958. Increased exports has been mainly brought about by reduced production in the Mediterranean area which is Canada's main competitor for world markets.

Canada's visible stocks carryover into the current crop year amounted to slightly less than 1 million the year before. This, coupled with reduced yields due to drought in Canada and smaller crops in the U.S. and North Africa, has given rise to very high prices.

Mr. Bradshaw points out, however, that if past records mean anything, we must recognize that Canada's long term average of durum exports is approximately 15 million bushels per year. It is only reasonable, therefore, to assume that the present export level will not continue indefinitely. The fact that high prices for durum wheat will tend to increase its production in other countries in 1962 substantiates this theory.

In spite of this, Mr. Bradshaw feels that there is good reason for increasing acreages of durum in Canada and more especially in Alberta. Canada will not be able to meet export demands this year because of low supplies and production at home. This means that there will be no carry-over of any consequence in the next crop year. Furthermore below average yields are likely in 1962 because soil moisture reserves in Alberta are at an all time low.

With western farmers marketing durum through the Canadian Wheat Board, modest carry-overs do not pose a serious threat to price structures. In fact, there would be a distinct advantage from one point of view of maintaining and expanding world markets, if Canada was able to negotiate from a position of adequate supply.

OF MANY THINGS

(by Ambrose Hilts)

TODAY'S YOUNG PEOPLE

We had a party at our home between Christmas and the New Year. All the guests were young men and women between the ages of 17 and 18, friends of my daughter Sal. It was Sal's birthday and the night of the Prom, so the girls were all dressed up for dancing later and the boys were scrubbed and handsome.

The old man hung around most of the evening. I was official photographer No' the gathering, and I had been a bit worried that they'd wish me out of the way with my lights and camera. I had intended to snap a few pictures, quickly, and then unobtrusively do the disappearing act so I wouldn't be a wet blanket.

Wet blanket or not, those young people made me feel so much at home I stayed right through the party and had a wonderful time. And that night I said to Nora, "If those kids represent the new generation, I'm for it. They've got more poise, more common sense, and a bit more of everything we had when we were that age."

We have worried, from time to time, about giving the kids so much freedom. The rules aren't as strict as what we were young. They're all had a few brief curtain lectures about the rights and wrongs of things, and that's been just about it. The reins have been held quite loosely. They come and go pretty much as they please, read the books and magazines of their choice, have a good deal more spending money than we did, and get off by themselves in automobiles which we never dreamed of having at their age.

Maybe in that wonderful group of kids I had fun with, there'll be the occasional mistake made. In this upset world, they would have a much better excuse than we ever had to go a little mad and raise a bit of hades. They have the freedom to kick their boots pretty high if they've a mind to.

My bet is, however, after observing them in wonder, that they're the best generation yet. They don't abuse their freedom. They're capable of responsibility.

May God preserve them from atom bombs or the stupidity of their elders!

Importance of Accurate Farm Records Stressed For Income Tax Purposes

Do you safeguard yourself by keeping accurate and complete records of all farm business transaction for your income tax return? A. B. Wolf, Solicitor with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, stresses the importance of this practice cannot be overemphasized from the point of view of eliminating the possibility of a reassessment by the Income Tax Department increasing the tax levy.

In many cases failure to keep records is due to misunderstanding income tax requirements or to carelessness. However, there is always the danger that incomplete records could be interpreted as an attempt to evade taxation.

The Exchequer Court, which is the highest court in the land for deciding income tax matters, has reported numerous cases of farm accounts that had been kept in a haphazard and incomplete way. In some instances it was felt that the farmer understated his operating expenses but had omitted to record money received from grain & cattle sales. Wheat Board payments, etc. A penalty and a higher income tax assessment was imposed in cases where the Court did not believe the farmers' explanations for his omissions and where it was felt that he intended to evade taxation.

Alberta Department of Health Aids Provincial Hospitals

The sum of $428,762 was recently distributed by the Alberta Department of Public Health to 83 active treatment hospitals and nine auxiliary hospitals as the second of three adjustment payments designed to help offset increased hospital costs. Initial 1961 payment amounted to $400,000.

Final adjustment will be made early in 1962 on the basis of audited 1961 operating costs of the hospitals concerned. It is estimated the final payment will amount to $750,000.

The interim adjustment payments by the Provincial Government are over and above regular Hospitalization Plan payments to hospitals which amount to approximately $2,640,000 each month. The three additional grants totalling approximately $1,500,000 will assist Alberta's hospitals to meet their 1961 excess costs, the total of which are estimated at $5,700,000 for the calendar year 1961. Municipalities or organizations owning the hospitals will be responsible for the balance of excess costs.

White and Green 1962 Plates Ready for Issuing March 1

In announcing completion of arrangements for distribution of plates, in Alberta, Orral A. Griggs, the new 1962 automobile licenses supervisor at wabamun for the Motor Vehicle Branch, Government of Alberta,says the following statement to the Alberta Motor Association.

"The manufacture of 1962 license plates has been completed and arrangements have been made to commence renewal of registrations beginning Thursday, March 1st. The plates will be coloured green with white lettering.

"Passenger car license numbers will begin with the letter K, L, N and R. The letter "K" will be distributed in the northern section of the Province, the letter "L" in central north a, and the letter "N" in the southern section. The letter "R" will be held for reserve stocks.

"Applicants are urged to refrain from requesting "special" license numbers. All license issuers are instructed to refuse any such requests as plates must be sold in strict numerical sequence.

"The 1962 renewal application form, will be similar in design to the 1961 f rm. We now have had one year's experience with this form and several improvements have been made. A space has been allotted for correction of address and the renewal form may still be used even if the address shown is incorrect on their present license certificate and advise the Motor Vehicle Branch as soon as possible if any changes are necessary.

"A special Change of Address Department has now been organized and is at present processing an average of 5,000 changes of addresses every month. However, we have reason to believe that there are many persons who are still overlooking this necessary step.

"The renewal form has also been re-designed so that all necessary information, signatures, etc. are contained in the lower left hand corner. When showing the color of your car, motorists are urged to use basic colors such as red, green, blue, etc. The fancy names now in use may sound exotic, but they do not identify the vehicle, which is the purpose for requesting this information.

"Another important point to check is the particulars of the vehicle on the renewal form. is it the car you wish to register? Many pers ns every year purchase licenses only to discover at a later date that the vehicle for which they have obtained registration is not the correct one. With re ue motorists, now owning two or more cars, it is difficult to know whether any particular vehicle is still in the owners possession or if it has been disposed of.

"Finally we would ask all motorists, please do not write anything on the renewal envelope while it contains the form. Anything written on the outside of this envelope will be transferred through all points and in many cases has made the application unusable."

Miss Wilson claims that re... sentments simply kill energy, ... drain it right out of you. You ... cannot hate and be full of zest ... at the same time You cannot be mean and small and still have the energy to do big things. Miss Wilson wrote, "Looking back on my own travels, I remember that the person who came forward to help me in any way was always a mellow, poised, experienced individual of great quality and high position."

This, of course, is a strange doctrine on these days when it is so popular to decry success and reward failure But Margery Wilson hedges it out in a most convincing manner. If you are feeling sorry for yourself, tired, and in the dumps, read HOW TO DOUBLE YOUR ENERGY. You might not like the medicine, but the results are good.

What is the Congo?

(The Edmonton Journal)

The outrageous action of the United Nations in waging war against the lawful government of Katanga is doubly reprehensible. It violates the conception of the organization as a peace - making body and it is based on the grotesque notion that the Congo, formerly the Belgian Congo is or ever was a nation. The Belgian Congo was simply the geographical expression for the title deeds of a conglomerate area which were unwisely turned over to the clique headed by the murderous Patrice Lumumba, himself subsequently murdered. A new struggle for power in Leopoldville then broke out.

For reasons not entirely clear, the United States in the chief supporter of virulent action against Katanga including the bombing on the ground in Russia, scarcely believable but true. The best hope for a communist takeover lies always in chaos, and the role the U.N. is taking is surely leading to chaos. Britain and France are the leaders in opposing military action against Katanga. U.S. membership. The Congo has been characterized as ground by vast incompetence and bad judgment.

Astoundingly, Canada is on the side of the United States and Russia, against Britain and France. The Canadian government should come to its senses and realize where the interests of civilization lie.

Until the middle of the last century, the Belgian Congo was virtually unknown territory. Stimulated by the explorations of Livingstone, Stanley, Speke, Burton and others King Leopold II of the Belgians harnessed what was virtually a private preserve owned by himself and his associates to exploit the region. Belatedly, other nations, notably Portugal, put forth claims. The issue was finally resolved at the Berlin Conference of 1884-85 when the International Association of the Congo, which was International in name only, was recognized as a sovereign state and King Leopold as its head.

There are many black pages in the record of white and Arab dealings with the natives in the early days. In 1908, the British foreign secretary, Sir Edward Grey declared that King Leopold's Congo "empire" had merited forfeiture every right to international recognition." Belgium moved swiftly, persuading the Belgian Parliament to take over the vast, distant and loosely - administered territory despite the misgivings of the Belgian people. At the same time, he himself. After the act of cession, conditions for the natives gradually improved, but the Belgian Congo was never close to becoming a cohesive state.

A sort of order was maintained outside the cities by the Force Publique, when the white officers were withdrawn after "independence", its members quickly reverted to savagery, and demonstrated that they were more interested in rape, pillage and murder than the maintenance of order.

The native population of The Congo is divided into three ethnic groups and many tribes, largely mutually hostile. There are four main languages. The basic religion is gross fetishism. The veneer of civilization anywhere is very thin and many of the people are scarcely removed from barbarism.

When the Force Publique mutinied after the Belgians gave The Congo independence, the Leopoldville government appealed to the United Nations for help. A long and sorry story of fumbling and confusion ensued and it led last August to the shocking decision to intervene militarily in Katanga, the only viable, reasonably stable part of the country, a base upon which a Congolese federation might be built eventually. Its premier, Moise Tshombe, may be no angel but he offers the best hope of any Congolese leader to assist the country along a road of sanity.

The Congo is a long way from being a civilized free country, but a start should be made in that direction. The present course of the United Nations is playing into the hands of Russian communism. The United Nations should immediately cut its losses in Katanga and pull back to Leopoldville for a start on conferences designed to restore peace and convert The Congo into a loose federation based on the reality that there is no such thing as a Congolese nation.

In the opinion of some experts in the tuberculosis field it would be possible to have control of tuberculosis in this country by 1967 which would be a very valuable monument to our nation's Centennial anniversary - much better than acres of plaques which will undoubtedly be unveiled that year.

It is in keeping with the times that tuberculosis associations in Canada are taking a mounting interest in tuberculosis control in every part of the world.

Plans now well underway for Annual Varsity Guest Weekend

Plans are now well underway for the tenth annual Varsity Guest Weekend, to be held February 23 to 25th at the University of Alberta campus in Edmonton. Over 15,000 Albertans from throughout the province are expected to visit the University for Varsity Guest Weekend this year.

A highlight of the Weekend is the annual production of Varsity Variation in the Northern Alberta Jubilee Auditorium, this year entitled "Reminisce the Raptors." This high calibre comedy is entirely by student written and produced. The theme of the show depicts the life and experiences of a college student, and captures the spirit and spontaneity of campus life.

The weekend will officially open with the annual President's Reception and Students' Union "Appreciation Banquet" in the Jubilee Auditorium on Thursday night, where representatives of the University student body will host Provincial, Civic, and University officials. The guests will see the premier performance of "Reminisce the Raptors" in the Auditorium following the banquet.

Friday 23rd will see Varsities second performance in the Jubilee Auditorium, sports events in the gymnasium, and, to climax the evening, a colorful Mountain Dance in Varsity Rink for an expected 2000 student, and visitors.

The Saturday of Varsity Guest will once again be the day on which most visitors tour the University. For the visitors there will be guided tours; displays; demonstrations; exhibits; pamphlets & brochures of all kinds; intervarsity sports events; musical, dramatic and public speaking presentations; as well as special teas for visitors and a special survey for youngsters.

There is a strong possibility that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will visit and speak on Saturday afternoon.

The Education students "Winter Carnival" will be in full swing on Saturday, with a schedule of hockey interfaculty winter sports competitions, ice Figurines, crest dance the "Winter Carnival", will also be on display throughout the weekend.

The final performance of Varsity Variete, will take place on Saturday evening the 24th, in the Jubilee Auditorium.

Studio Theatre will present its production of "The Visit" Fri. & Saturday evenings the 23rd and 24th in the Education Building Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. This production will provide additional colour and interest for the Weekend.

A warm welcome is extended to all Albertans throughout the province to visit their campus during the tenth annual Varsity Guest Weekend.

ON SUPERIOR ELEPHANT board fish at the Calgary Aquarium received a visit from the Cyrus twins — wives of members of the Calgary Cyrpus Club — who donated the tiny, rare African fish to the permanent display several months ago, thereby matching the men's club's gift of a live elephant to the Calgary Zoo. Cyrus and Cyrettes made their second annual tour of the Aquarium recently on special guests of the Calgary Boarding & Mailing Co. Ltd., and heard Tony Burki, member of the Aquarium staff, detail interesting facts about the more than 200 different fish and reptile varieties on display.

A Preview of Life in 2002 By the Experts

Personal rocket-belts for short trips, pills to slow down the aging process, moving sidewalks one-hour flights across the continent — these are some of the exciting things predicted by planners and scientists, to be commonplace 40 years hence, says the February Reader's Digest.

The average workers may have a 24 hour week and three-day weekends; machines will maintain productivity.

Ships and trains will speed at hundreds of miles an hour on frictionless cushions of air; compound aircraft will rise like helicopters from small, downtown municipal airports, shift into horizontal flight for short or intermediate hops.

There will probably be 20 mile an hour interurban trains and high speed monorails 100 feet above city streets. Trucks may be museum pieces; supplies and freight may move through pneumatic pipelines.

For personal transportation one expert forecasts silent, exhaust free cars driven by electrical fuel cells. For short trips downtown he suggests we may strap on a rocket belt ... and jump.

Telephones will have picture screens so that we who's at the other end of the line. Phone numbers won't be dialed. Just spoken aloud. All autos will have telephones, according to one telephone company official.

In the field of medicine, say researchers, victory over the common cold will be history by 2002. Specialists may be able to determine any susceptibility to cancer and, if necessary, ward it off with anticancer vaccines. Heart disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries should be well under control.

For bravest adventures, perhaps, will take place in outer space. Within 40 years, say the experts, astronauts will be exploring the remotest corners of the solar system, and trips to the moon will be commonplace.

Sometimes it's wise to get in a Pickle
Did you know that your body, at this moment, contains a pound or more of salt?
To keep up this vital stock-pile of salt, the average person normally requires 10 grams of salt daily. Under conditions of heat, violent exercise, or hard work, which induces perspiration, you'll need a great deal more.
For hard-working people, here's a tip from James S. Dunlop, president of the Matthew-Wall Co., Ltd., of Guelph, Ontario, producers of the famous Knox Brand Pickles.
"When your body requires more salt, it's wise to eat in a pleasant way" says Mr. Dunlop. "A medium size dill pickle, for example, provides half of the normal daily salt requirements in palatable form — plus other essential nutritive elements as well."

How Valuable
. . . . . is Local Newspaper
Advertising To Local Business Firms?
Here's what the American Bankers Magazine, a publication that represents a traditionally conservative profession, has to say:
"No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name being mentioned somewhere in its columns.
"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town ..... it's the best possible town advertiser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town."

School buses main topic for county school committee meet

DISTRICT STUDENTS ARE HONORED

At a recent meeting of the Round Hill Home & School Association, Mr. Garnet Burnstad, chairman of the Camrose School Divisional Board, presented honor pins (left) to Yvonne Bayduik, Lorraine Kovac, Grade XI. Irene also received honors in Grades IX and X. Raymond Pedersen, resident of Kingman attending the Round Hill school, received his honor pin at the annual Christmas program held at Kingman. In the picture at right, Mrs. Karol Hnidek, on behalf of the Round Hill Home & School Association, presents a gift for achieving the highest marks in Grade 10 in the Round Hill School.

The subject of school busses seemed to come up lately frequently at the regular meeting of the County of Beaver school committee held January 8th. One matter of particular interest to residents of the Tofield area, but not connected with school busses, concerned washroom facilities at the Tofield school.

In reference to the complaint regarding Mr. Ruddy Halvorsen making his first pick-up of school bus pupils early in the morning and arriving ten minutes before 8:45 o'clock, as reported, that he had made an objective investigation of the complaint, but could not see anything out of the way as to the time schedule used by Mr. Halvorsen.

Moved that the report be accepted. Carried.

SCHOOL BUS PURCHASES

Regarding the possible purchase of school busses and prices from Western School Bus Sales, referred to in the minutes of the Dec. 11th meeting, the Secretary informed the Committee that Western School Bus Sales had offered to supply the busses at a price of $400 less than originally quoted, making the price on a 65 passenger bus, $5,800, and a 48-passenger, 38,622; and after some discussion with various members of the Committee, he had ordered one 1961 48-passenger school bus with two-speed axle and one 1962 48-passenger school bus with 5-speed transmission for a total price of $11,362. He also stated that the Western School Bus Sales had also offered to supply two 1962 GMC school busses, 48 passenger with big six motors, four speed transmission, two speed rear for $11,000 each, which was a special price of $1,186 F.O.B. Edmonton. It was moved that the purchase of the two school busses as reported above be accepted.

Moved that we obtain tenders for two 48-passenger 1962 busses, the tenders to be dealt with at the February meeting.

The Secretary informed the committee that Cpl. Green of the Ryley RCMP detachment, had reported to him that the school bus stop at Appleby Hill on Highway 14 is entirely obscured by the hill for traffic coming from the west. Recently a car coming from the west had been about to stop for the bus and had been fined in magistrate's court for this offence. Cpl Green suggested that a warning sign was placed at this point.

Moved that this matter be referred to the department of highways requesting that the necessary sign be erected.

CORRESPONDENCE

Moved that the letter from Owen Warren of Bruce applying for the position of school bus supervisor be received and filed and that the secretary's reply to the letter be approved.

Moved that Bob Kalanyn of Haight be authorized as a spare bus driver for Thomas Shimlon without retainer.

A letter from Arthur I. Berg, district representative, Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Camrose, regards to group welfare benefits and group pension plans was referred to the committee. After some discussion, it was moved that the secretary be notified to attend the February meeting of the school committee to supply some further information in regards to the plans.

CONTRACT

The secretary reported that he had some difficulty in drafting a contract between the county and the janitors at various schools that would be acceptable to the Board of Industrial Relations and that he had had a lengthy conversation with the chief inspector of the Board of Industrial Relations over the telephone and that the chief inspector had suggested that the secretary meet with him at his office, at some suitable time, and the secretary suggested that when he does meet with the chief inspector that also the county solicitor, as suggested at previous meetings, be in attendance.

Moved that the report be accepted and the arrangements as suggested by the secretary be carried out.

The question of disposal of the old school busses, were not suitable or not needed as space heaters in garages at this time.

Moved that the bus garage committee meet with Mr. Ruddy Halvorsen in the matter and that any busses, not needed, be stored for sale by tender.

Moved that the report on School Bus Routes be carried out by the Dept. of Highways Safety Branch be accepted. Carried.

The Superintendent informed the Committee that Miss Matilda Gennaringer, who had had leave of absence, now had requested a further year's leave to complete a course of studies at the Faculty of Education. Moved that the re-

With all accounts paid, the parish free of debt, small balances in hand, the meeting accepted a slightly increased budget for 1962 Reports from the Afternoon and Evening Groups of the WA. Girls' Auxiliary and Little Helpers were given by the respective presidents and secretaries and the financial assistance received from these groups was warmly appreciated by the rector and vestry.

Elected to serve for 1962 were: Mr. W. Thomson, People's Warden and Vestry, Mrs. G. Norland, Mrs. W. Gold, Mrs. Jean Dobesdale, Mrs. C. Lancaster and Mr. W. J. Thomson, Mr. Gordon Kyle.

Two homes destroyed in Ryley district fires

(Mrs. O. Hjelter)

DODDS-RYLEY, Jan. 30 — Fire Tuesday afternoon destroyed the farm home of the Martin Hosek family, located one mile north and one mile east of Ryley The fire started in the ceiling of the bedroom in the second storey of the house, and was discovered by Mrs. Hosek around 2:40 o'clock. The Ryley fire department and neighbors turned out to help, but were unable to save the building. By breaking a window opening larger they were able to save the deep freeze. Also saved was the electric range, washing machine, sewing machine and the television set. All the bedding and clothes in the upstairs bedrooms were last, except one armload of bedding.

Mrs Hosek was washing at the time and had gathered up the laundry and soiled garments she had downstairs. The clothesline which was attached to the house, with all the clothes, was saved.

The family were taken in by friends and relatives for the night. They are now living in Ryley for the time being

Mr. Hosek was working at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norvak, who farm 9 miles northeast of Ryley. The fire was discovered about 2:30 a.m., and neighbors start over the back fence.

Mr. and Mrs Norvak and their 15-year-old daughter and 15-year-old son all r caped in their night clothes. Nothing was saved from the house

Bear with us

The Mercury this week is being set by new hands, and here and there they're meeting names which are not familiar. The proof-readers find the same trouble, as if we've allowed a few names to slip through with the wrong spelling, we hope our readers will be indulgent. We can't promise perfection, but we certainly strive for it.—The Editor.

A new look

Long before our readers have turned to this page of The Tofield Mercury, they will have noticed a complete new look has been introduced. The reason for this is that the printing of the paper is now being handled on a different press, with different machinery and in a different shop. As indicated on the front page under the new masthead, however, The Mercury still is being published in Tofield, with Mrs. Olive Pollock as local representative for news, advertising and printing, and The Mercury office is still in the same location — the old thestre building.

There has been talk in the community of the paper being moved out of town, and we have even heard that other advertising media representatives have been urging Tofield merchants to use a means of advertising other than The Mercury, because, they claim, "the paper won't be here much longer anyway," or words to that effect. This, of course, is not true and as far as we are concerned, it never will be.

We hope our readers and advertisers will like the new format, and will continue to support their own, home-town paper as they have for years past. Several readers have told us they like the changes already made, such as the inclusion of more pictures, and we think the addition of some other features we have in mind will make The Mercury even better in the future.

Don't give up the ship

We have heard reports of countries behind the Iron Curtain using the World Council of Churches as a means to gain information from the Western World, and using the World Council as a medium for Communist propaganda. Using this as a basis, some members of at least one church in North America have started a campaign for withdrawal from the world organization.

One would think that if there is an infiltration of Communists into the World Council of Churches—and many churchmen believe this claim is erroneous—then this certainly is not the time for any church from the West to withdraw. Why let them take over if this is their aim? Rather, we would venture to say, this is the time when Christian churches should band together to protect their organization . . . even if it is protection only against rumors. As the old song says, "Fair or stormy weather, don't give up the ship."

A twisted purpose

There has been much talk recently about saving the human race from complete annihilation in the event of a nuclear war, and many scientists apparently have given this idea much consideration. There can be no doubt that if a nuclear war should take place, the possibility of the total destruction of life as we know it does exist.

Not a few residents of this country have been building fall-out shelters in the basements of their homes, and others have been building shelters of another type — not necessarily a part of their homes—as a means of survival.

Not in the public interest

Action of the Dominion Government in recently floating a huge new bond loan, with interest well over the four per cent mark, is once again not in the best interests of the public generally. As has been the case with similar issues before, the yield was so good it was all sucked up almost before it was put on the market. The worst effect, however, is that when the senior government offers such excellent return on invested money, provincial and civic governments, followed by private investors, large and small, have to pay ever increasing rates of interest. We were surprised recently to learn that eight per cent money is all too common in the field of house building. We thought that had disappeared with the depression. And the other day we heard of even ten per cent money being raised.

If Mr. Fleming showed a bit more restraint, it shouldn't be necessary to go so penuliasingly high.

This is all very well, but the attitude of some of these bomb-shelter builders is somewhat alarming. Reports have been forthcoming of people who have built shelters in their homes, and who are keeping these installations a closely guarded secret. Why? For the simple and heartless reason that they do not want to be bothered by friends or neighbors looking for refuge if ever there is a danger from radio-active fall-out!

We heard the story some time ago of a family in a state bordering on southern California who have said that their danger in case of a nuclear attack will come in the form of an invasion—not by the aggressor—but by the people of California who will, no doubt, be the victims of a bombing, and who will be looking for shelter in sparsely populated areas of Nevada and Arizona. Should this "invasion" take place, and should a crowd of his fellow Americans come looking for protection in his fall-out shelter, one man has stated that he would shoot them, if necessary, to keep them away, in order to protect himself and his family from exposure to radio-active rays.

What a selfish, un-Christianlike attitude! Certainly, there is a possibility that this man and his family will survive the crisis while others perish, but to what end? If all those who survive are of this dog-eat-dog type, how will they be able to live together in the same world? Perhaps we'd be better off in our fiery grave!

It seems to us that the best insurance against the annihilation of humanity still is an outlawing of all nuclear weapons, and world leaders should spare no effort, nor leave a single stone unturned, in attempting to attain this goal.

MacDuff Ottawa report

. . . The double throne speech

OTTAWA. — The 5th session of the 24th parliament met under the shadow of dissolution.

Members of Parliament are divided as to just when they will be going to the Country. Before the throne speech was read by Governor General George Vanier the majority opinion among the members was that it would be a short session with an election in the Spring. But, after hearing the throne speech and after studying the results of the Ontario by-elections the consensus swung the other way. The election fever cooled off, and many began to favor a Fall date.

That's the way it is going to be throughout this session. The members will blow hot and cold on the election question. Only one thing is certain: when it will be, that is up to Prime Minister, and there is not many in Ottawa who are prepared to wager that even Mr. Diefenbaker has not made up his mind about the date.

Meantime, Mr. Diefenbaker was playing his cards close to his vest. He drafted the throne speech so that in general terms it forecast bigger old age pensions, more aid to universities and prairie farmers and some reforms of Parliament, including the Senate.

It was apparents that social welfare benefits will loom large in the Government's electioneering.

It is traditional that after the throne speech is read the Government's mover and seconder have their say. Come the second day and the Opposition leader, Hon. L. B. Pearson gets his chance to attack the administration and spell out its failings. But last year the Prime Minister pulled a fast one. He listened while Mr. Pearson belabored the Conservative government then he rose to speak on the throne speech debate. He unveiled a number of new proposals that had not even been mentioned in the throne speech. It was in effect a second throne speech. It had the effect of stealing the headlines from Mr. Pearson's speech, and Mr. Diefenbaker chuckled when he read the newspapers the next day.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

This session he did it again. Mr. Pearson in his role of chief critic under our Parliamentary system, accused the administration of "shocking mismanagement" of international economic policy. He also totalled up the cost to the Canadian taxpayer and calculated that it had cost them over three billion dollars to "Follow John". in the four and one-half years the Tories have been in power.

Opening the eight-day throne speech debate, Mr. Pearson presented a motion of no confidence in the Government "because of their continuing failure to bring forward policies to deal with the real problems confronting the Country". He challenged the Prime Minister to call an election "at the earliest possible" date but not before the Government had presented its massive deficit budget.

His point by point indictment of the Government aroused the Conservative cabinet ministers to make heated interjections. It brought frequent shouted interruptions from Tory backbenchers. It was a good hard-hitting speech. But it was pushed off many of the front pages of the Country's newspapers by a Prime Minister who has learned how to steal the Opposition leader's thunder in the great parliamentary debate.

ACES UP HIS SLEEVE

Mr. Diefenbaker followed Mr. Pearson in the throne speech debate Again as last year the Prime Minister had kept some cards up his sleeve. One by one he brought them out. He proposed, he announced, to implement the recommendations of the O'Leary Commission on Publications. Through tax and tariff measures the Government will stop the flow of Canadian advertising dollars to imported American magazines.

He also announced a one-third increase in federal grants to universities. He said the present grants distributed to universities, based on $1.50 per capita of population in each province, will be increased to $2.

Mr. Diefenbaker also listed three suggestions he said would receive consideration in a Government measure to reform the Senate. The three are: an elected Senate but not for all time, but for a limited term of years; making legislative jurisdiction concerning primary bills, and a given length of term for senators. All would receive consideration, said the Prime Minister, clearly indicating that he had not yet decided just what to do about the Senate. Apparently any decision he makes will be a part of his election platform.

At the same time the Government released to the press its revised version of legislation aimed at destroying the financial structure and control of corporations and unions.

Under that barrage of news the Opposition leader's criticism of the Government was lost in the back ground. Mr. Pearson's speech was a good one. But it was largely ineffective because the Prime Minister has developed the technique of preventing the detailed indictment of the opposition parties from getting across to the public.

But Mr. Pearson and Hazen Argue, house leader for the New Democratic Party, are convinced that the people are wakening up to the grave weaknesses in the present administration. They cite the Coyne affair, the wavering regarding the United Kingdom and the Common Market, confusion over nuclear weapons, continued high unemployment, the Columbia treaty mess the Quebec hospital scandal and the assault on the Senate, as indicative of a weak Government.

People a broad are asking, "What's the matter with Canada?" Mr. Pearson told Parliament the Country's prestige abroad had slumped. But the Liberal party retained its faith in Canada and believed that there was nothing wrong with the Country that a change in Government would not cure.

SOTH HOUSE AND MUSTINGS

Aware of the increasing costliness of living as a result of the present session. On the fourth day of his lengthy contribution to the throne speech debate Mr. Pearson rose in the House of Commons and announced that old age pensions would be increased by $10 a month and federal contributions to old age assistance, blind persons' allowances and pensions would be boosted on a similar basis

Liberal Lionel Chevrier snapped that the paragraph calling for higher old age pensions was a last minute insertion in the throne speech. It was thrown in after Liberal Leader Pearson unveiled the Liberal plan for improving old age benefits, he claimed.

Clearly the election campaign is on with a vengeance. It will be fought out in parliament as well as on the hustings. All that remains to be fixed is the date.

By George!

This is one of those weeks when there doesn't seem to be much to write about, so I shall take up one of my favorite topics — accidents in town planning.

Driving in the middle of last month I have been one of the unfortunate people who have taken up residence in one of those new subdivisions which look lovely on maps or from aeroplanes, but which are most inconvenient when one is looking for an address.

In all fairness, I must point out that the town planners claim the crescent system has one advantage other than the way it looks from the air, and that is that motorists are more likely to drive at slower rates of speed when proceeding through the crescent-type street. While this may be true, it is small compensation for the inconvenience of not being able to take the shortest route to reach a predetermined destination, a convenience made possible by the "grid" system.

After having lived on a crescent for a month, I am in a better position to speak of the nuisance of trying to direct people to a given address. During the first week, I tried in vain to give directions by three delivery men, and as a last resort, I was forced to draw a rough map of the area to explain the route. Since that time many more maps have been drawn, and I would doubt that many an unsuspecting biker has come upon one of my discarded maps and has taken it to be a guide to some secret treasure or hideout.

Recent visitors at the Anglican rectory were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Denney and Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Sharman of Edmonton.

Bob Haycock was the winner of the Legion's January "Art and Art" draw.

Fun Davison, Fay Dahl, Georgie McKay and Muriel Turner won first in the third event in the ladies' bonspiel held at Evan Hall week.

The Rev. W. L. Hammett is attending the Anglican Clergy Conferences on Evangelism and Parish Affairs, this week, in Edmonton. He will also attend the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Edmonton at All-Saints Cathedral, Edmonton, on Feb. 1st and 2nd.

W. C. Lancaster and Jack Thomson will also be present as delegates from Tofield parish at these latter sessions.

Giving a street address in these areas is, of course, little or no help because these ornamental streets and avenues usually are named, and with directional posts on each and every corner, and a guide to house numbers in each block, the situation is quite hopeless . . . short of using a map. I've been seriously thinking of printing up a few maps to hand out to anyone who might like directions to our home. I'm sure it would prove to be much handier than a business card could be.

Fun Davison, Fay Dahl, Georgie McKay and Muriel Turner won first in the third event in the ladies' bonspiel held at Evan Hall week.

Following a brief courtship they eloped, to keep their marriage a secret for two years. Finally, his wife couldn't stand to divulge him if he didn't tell his mother.

So, in fear and trepidation, the couple called on his mother and he tried to break the news gently.

Finally, his mother realized what he was trying to tell her and she looked at him with a stern expression

"Mother", trembled the man, "Please try to approve of our marriage".

"A fine thing!" cried his mother. "You two have been married for two years—and I'm still doing your laundry".

A FINE ARRANGEMENT

A bachelor, extremely devoted to his mother, with whom he had lived all his life, had never contemplated marriage for fear of offending her. Then one night, it happened: he met the right girl.

Following a brief courtship they eloped, to keep their marriage a secret for two years. Finally, his wife couldn't stand to divulge him if he didn't tell his mother.

Around the Town

Bill Davison of the Ross Creek district, and Bob Mackay, Dan Dodds, Verlin Moose of the Tofield area, won first in the second event in the Round Hill bonspiel.

Cause to pause . . .

By John Stobbe

A gal brought to a friend that she'd finally cured her hubby of biting his nails.

"Goodness," exclaimed the friend, "how did you do it?"

"Easy," was the reply, "I just hid his teeth!"

"How is it I find you making love to my daughter?" stormed the outraged father. "I ask you, young man, how is it?"

"Why, just great, sir", replied the calm young man. "Just great!"

A rookie policeman was asked in an oral examination what he would do to disperse a threatening mob. After a few minutes' thoughtful concentration he looked up brightly. "I'd start to take up a collection", he said.

Buyer: "Will the color in these stockings fade?"
Seller: "Oh, no!"
Buyer: "Then it is fast".
Seller: "Certainly!"
Buyer: "Well, how can anything that won't run be fast?"

Mother: "One farm for me and two for my little boy".
Conductor: "He has no long ticket".
Mother: "All right. Pull fare for the boy and — for me".

As the delegate said on the morning after the night before, "Why do they make aspirin tablets so bloody white!"

Mabel milks a cow...

Mabel's office desk in Calgary may seem a far cry from the milking barns. But Mabel, riding herd on two busy switchboards, is lending a hand with today's modern electrical milking. Mabel is responsible both for the PBX switchboard and the radio communications board — providing direct contact between plants, district offices and radio controlled vehicles. Quick, efficient handling of the boards by Mabel and our other switchboard operators is a vital part of rural and farm electrical service. We're glad to have her on the Calgary Power team of "people who take time to be friendly".

Mabel Jackson, head office switchboard operator, is the "voice of Calgary Power" to hundreds of customers. After hours, she keeps up her interest in electricity. She's an enthusiastic amateur radio operator, now studying to pass a Morse Code examination. Mabel's other interests are housekeeping, boating and camping with her husband, Merlin.

CANADA STANDARD SIZES

For many years there has been a lot of confusion because of lack of uniformity in sizing of children's clothing. There was a new sizing system set up by the Canadian government last March which is entirely on a voluntary basis.

Some manufacturers are now making basic items of children's clothing according to the "Canada Standard Size." The new system for sizing of children's garments are identified by a "Canada Standard Size" Symbol.

The older system of sizing was related to the age of the child. Since there often is a great variation in the size of children of the same age this system was not satisfactory. The new system is based on the body measurement of the child and should prove much more satisfactory. The new system is relatively simple. Two, or in some cases three body measurements are known, the size of the garments to purchase is determined from a chart or table. Stores selling clothing using the Canada Standard Size will have a chart or table to use to determine the size.

The first three sizing systems that have been developed are the — chest-Hip System; the Waist-Hip System; and the Neck-Arm System. The Chest-Hip System applies to garments that fit the upper half of the body or the whole body. Sweaters, undershirts, T-shirts, pyjamas, dresses, overalls, etc.

The Waist-Hip system has been designed for garments that fit at and below the waist — undershorts, slacks, jeans, etc.

The Neck-Arm System is for boys' dress and sport shirts and is similar to the system of neck size and arm length now in use for men's shirts.

As the system is entirely voluntary, it will appear on a wide variety of consumers keep watching and asking for it. Help to eliminate the confusion of those who have wondered what size clothing to buy when ordering by body measurements. Take the waist, chest or hip and other measurements of your children with you.

Copies of the charts and tables for Standard Sizes are available free by writing to my office.

The floor is virtually flat — whether you're seated left, right or centre there's ample room for your feet. And Corvair also features independent suspension on all wheels — so naturally the ride is smoother on any surface. But words won't replace action — so drive this peppy performer down at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Town council meets with architect and surveyor

A special meeting of the municipal council of the Town of Tofield was held Tuesday, Jan. 30th at 7:00 p.m., the prescribed method of notice having been previously given by mail.

Members present were: Mayor Dr. W. H. Freebury and Councillors Patterson, Jefferson, Allen, Swift, Kallal and Hewlett.

The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing a long range plan for Tofield with Mr. Maltby, a survey consultant, and Mr. Overhauer, an architect, both of Edmonton.

Many angles of possible enhancement of an industry and of a residential nature were gone over, with previous material as to zoning plan and information from a survey in 1953 coming into use at this time. It was agreed that any steps to be taken should be from the direction of the town and rural planning division of the department of municipal affairs, and with the necessary help of engineers services.

Mr. Maltby and Mr. O'Connor were asked to submit a definite proposal of cost for attention of the council at the next regular meeting of February 5th, 1962.

More support needed for medical plan

At the January meeting of the Tofield P.U.A. it was agreed to endeavour to form a medical services group. To attain this, 75 per cent of the members must join. To date, the response has been poor. At the next meeting Tuesday, Feb. 13th, everyone will have to sign on or the project will have to be dropped.

Also on this date, deleates to the annual convention will give their reports of the proceedings. There was a good turn-out at the January meeting, despite the cold snap and members are hoping the turn-out will be as good for the meeting next Tuesday.

This is White Cane Week

All across Canada this week is being marked as White Cane Week. The theme this year, according to Dr. Bernie Clarke, president of the Camrose branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, is "Think What the White Cane Means". This special week is sponsored by the CNIB and the Canadian Council for the Blind.

The purpose of this special week, says Dr. Clarke, is to educate the public to the fact that people carrying the white cane are not necessarily totally blind, but may be qualified to use the cane because they have 2/20 vision or less, and are qualified to come under the care of the CNIB.

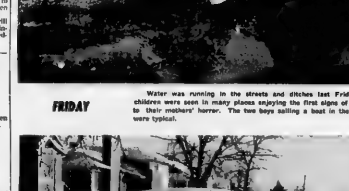
The cane is not only a symbol, according to Dr. Clarke, but has very practical uses, too, in helping the blind to get around by themselves, and because of it many blind people can now work.

"The blind like the public to think they are normal people not invalid," said Dr. Clarke, "and in talking to them, we should act very normally".

This year there are 1,475 blind people in Alberta, as compared to 1,449 last year. The percentage of increase in blindness has been cut during recent years, according to Dr. Clarke, since the detection of over-symptomatic habits which used to affect the retina of the babies' eyes

FRIDAY

Water was running in the streets and ditches last Friday and children were seen in many places enjoying the first signs of spring, to their mothers' horror. The two boys sailing a boat in the gutter were typical.



SUNDAY

A bright sun Sunday morning found lanes, streets, and country roads blocked in many places. This car was typical of those that stood out Saturday afternoon and evening.

Another 'end' is past

For the umpteenth time in the history of this generation the prediction of the world coming to an end has proved wrong, and life goes on. The latest promise for Doom's Day came from New Delhi, in India, where astrologers and soothsayers predicted that horrible calamities would come to the world when the earth, the moon, and other plants and the sun formed a fairly straight line in their respective orbits during the weekend.

As it turns out, the only calamities seem to have come to the men who made these predictions . . . a report from New Delhi says a crowd of women chased four Hindu priests and bolted two of them for causing such a scare.

Let hikers walk

Anyone walking to work these cold mornings can most appreciate the offers for rides which are extended to them by friends and neighbors. We feel this is a very friendly gesture, and perhaps one which could be practised far more often by many more motorists. This sort of thing is what gives many communities their reputations of friendliness.

But giving rides to strangers, and especially to those hiking along highways and rural sidetoads, is an entirely different situation. The possible results of this foolish habit were pointed up again this past week when the stabbed and beaten body of a young construction laborer in New Brunswick was found in blood-spattered snow under a clump of bushes. The fellow was described as an "easy-going type", and just before the tragedy he had been warned not to pick up hitch-hikers, as he often had done in the past.

Every year there are stories of motorists picking up hitch-hikers only to have their passengers turn on them. If these motorists suffered only the loss of their car, money or other personal belongings, they may consider themselves fortunate, indeed, as compared to the New Brunswicker.

By all means, let us be neighborly in our community, but let's not be too unsuspecting of the highway hitch-hiker.

Not just a showpiece

We have always believed that the national anthem was something for all of us to sing when we attend a public function, so it is always with a feeling of unhappiness that we find visiting singers or bandsmen making a showpiece of it. "The Queen" or "O Canada", as the case may be, were not written for show but for the sound expression of a feeling of patriotism on the part of each of us. It is something which should be appreciated and encouraged by us all. We have been known as a phlegmatic people, ungiven to emotional displays, for far too long. Probably hundreds among us have no particular appreciation of why we should be proud of our country, or develop any deep patriotism. Others tell us "they feel most deeply what they cannot say".

But this sort of thing is contagious, and soon the public re-acts either to the show of feeling, or to the utter lack of any show.

For this reason, we should stand up and swell our lungs when the national anthem is played. It isn't enough just to stand more or less at attention, or to marvel at the grace with which a group of professionals handle the job.

Not to be critical of our American neighbors, but to envy them, can you imagine an American audience standing idly by while a big name singer sang "My Country, 'Tis of Thee?"

Man in a hurry

Prime Minister Diefenbaker gives all the appearance of a man in a hurry, following the opening of parliament recently. In other years, it seems, the session had hardly opened when it was a week or two old. And yet, this year, there have already been announcements regarding the addition of $10 to the Old Age and other pensions, one-third increases to the Unitarian fund, probable reform for the Senate and other important items.

The impression this gives is that of getting as much work as possible done before calling an election. There is always the possibility of going to the country on an argument over such important questions as the senate, and reform of the BNA Act, too, so that no opportunity seems to have been missed.

There will be much rejoicing over the increase to the pensions, in spite of the fact that Canada is already paying one of the highest pensions in relation to the cost of living of any country in the world, and in spite of the fact that this will help considerably to keep the budget out of any chance of being balanced.

We're not happy, either, over the intimation that massive aid, in the form, probably, of a huge grant, is likely to be given to the unemployment insurance fund. Unless material steps are taken to put the fund back on a sound actuarial basis, and to pay out benefits which don't make it attractive to skip job-hunting for a matter of months, then the fund can survive only if the government continues to pour in substantial contributions. Widespread mis-use of the fund serves only to deaden the conscience of many more applicants for benefits they are not properly entitled to collect.

MacDuff Ottawa report

...Farm vote price tag

OTTAWA. — The new session of parliament was only five days old when Finance Minister Donald Fleming tabled supplementary estimates that added another $42,000,-000 to the Federal deficit in the current fiscal year. That amount was to provide for acreage payments to Western farmers.

The millions of dollars in payments to the farmers to help bolster their sagging incomes was not taken into consideration by Mr. Fleming when he prepared his budget last spring. In that budget brought down in June he forecast a budgetary deficit of $650,000,000.

Soaring expenditures and revenues that failed to be realized in amounts sufficient to offset the increased outlays are expected to boost the deficit by around another $150,000,000. This will make the deficit for 1961-62 about $800,000,000.

The Government, with the consent of the opposition, interrupted its throne speech to bring down the supplementary estimates, including the item for acreage payments. This cleared the way for a full-scale debate on the acreage payment plan and the Liberals and CCF-New Democratic Party farm spokesmen lost no time in attacking the Administration on its agricultural policies.

The outspoken house leader of the CCF-New Party group, Hazen Argue, is the chief farm critic in the opposition from the Prairies. There are strong rumours that he has been flirting with the Liberal party and may decide soon to join it, adding to the disappointment of the CCF.

He was critical of the acreage payment plan on the grounds that it only rewarded the Western farmers with half as much as they had a right to expect. He said the Government had failed to provide storage payments for the 1960-61 crops.

It is very apparent this session that members on both sides of the House are acutely conscious of the Federal election looming over their heads. The acreage payment debate was no exception. Mr. Argue heckled the Government members and stirred up a verbal storm when he accused the Conservative administration of "tyrpidy". the Western farmers out of an acreage payment on their 1960-61 permit books.

He said with heavy sarcasm that aroused bitter interjections from Western Tory backbenchers: "The Prime Minister wants the farmers to come begging. He wants to keep them on tenterhooks. He wants to have a carrot on a stick. He wants to feed them a little before the election and withdraw it after the election, if he should be in that position".

He suggested that it was unsatisfactory to the Western farmers to have to wait each year to see what the Government was prepared to bring in in the way of help. Parliamentary estimates to provide the grain growers with an acreage payment should be regularized by legislation.

The acreage payment plan provides $1 per cultivated acre up to a maximum of $200 a farm. It was paid by the Government in 1956 and again in 1960.

Mr. Harkness, who as Agriculture Minister before moving to the defence portfolio, told the House that the Government had examined various programs for improving the income position of the Western farmers. The Government had decided the acreage payment plan was the most equitable and practical method. It ensured that the smaller, worse-off farmers received the greatest proportion of benefit from the money provided.

An important advantage of acreage payments was that they did not stimulate production of particular commodities. Acreage payments were a type of payment which did not serve as an impediment to the marketing of agricultural commodities or to free trade between them. Many of the alternatives to forms of assistance suggested would have their undesirable features according to Mr. Harkness.

Mr. Argue suggested that the farmers had been asking for parity prices for wheat. In asking for parity they asked for a set of prices which, in a sense, would be unrealistic in the world markets.

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson relied on the Government's trade opportunities and remove obstructions to trade in the face of developments in Europe. He said such moves towards freer trade were of vital importance to Canadian farmers.

The acreage payments had no relation to drought stricken farmers. It applied to all farmers and as such Liberals welcomed it. But he suggested the farmers hard-hit by the drought had been "delayed" by the wording of the throne speech.

The speech had said the "drought in the Prairie provinces during 1961 had resulted in severe losses". And that the Members of Parliament would be "asked to provide legislation by acreage payments to farmers who have been affected". Mr. Pearson and Mr. Argue suggested the Government should also act on its throne speech and provide special aid for farmers hard-hit by the drought.

It was a ding dong battle that lasted for three days in the House. Finally it ended with all parties supporting the should be the Government's Agricultural Program had come under sharp criticism. Clearly there was the smell of an election in the air.

CAPITAL HILL CAPSULE

Canada's delegation to the International Wheat Agreement talks in Geneva felt this Country confident that modest increases in the prices will be established under the new agreement. They cautioned farmers against expecting "extravagant increases", but said that large wheat stocks that in the past overshadowed the world wheat market have dwindled. Wheat stocks are now closer to normal requirements, making it less of a buyer's market.

By George!

Hockey on television has, some people claim, improved the calibre of the game in Western Canada, and we have no doubt that it has created some interest in the game where there was none before. But along with some of the finer points of the game which are picked up by youngsters all across the country as they watch their favorite pro here in action, come some very unsportsmanlike antics which should never be seen by any youngster. As a matter of fact, there should be drastic action taken by the officials when players put some of their dangerous and "dirty" capers.

For this reason, we aren't alone at being disgusted and alarmed with the performance of Ukrainian Maves of the Montreal Canadiens on Saturday night when, in a televised game between the Habs and Detroit Red Wings, he became engaged in a duel with Bill Gadsby of Detroit. Immediately Moore began to jab at Gadsby's face with his stick — an offence known as "spearing". Gadsby's only apparent defence against perhaps losing an eye was to ward off his attacker with some stick-swinging of his own. Both men received double minor penalties.

This spearing, to my way of thinking, is one of the most dangerous things a hockey player can do. Is winning so important to these guys that they would deliberately take out the eye of an opponent, or perhaps put his face for life? Certainly a minor penalty for such an offence is insufficient punishment. Any player who would stoop to such measures should be barred from the game for life. He is too dangerous to have around, and in by no stretch of the imagination a "sportsman".

Oxford, Not Harvard!

Both in and out of the public gallery Prime Minister Diefenbaker greeted his administration much was been made of the bright minds who were selected as his advisers. The Harvard "brain trust." It has been dubbed.

What has escaped general notice, but not the alert attention of D. W. Brough of The Edmonton Journal Guardian Weekly, is contained in a litogan despatch from Washington where he is doing a series of stimulating articles.

"This was to be and is an experienced administration, and it is worthwhile noting that it is not Harvard which has provided the greatest number of important Kennedy aides, but Oxford: there are more than twenty Rhodes Scholars holding high office under President Kennedy justifying Cecil Rhodes' dream of what his scholarships were really for."

As one cannibal said to the other: "He tastes something like mother used to make."

DUBLIN

"In Dublin's fair city,
Where the girls are so pretty . . ."

The opening lines of the poem describe in particular one aspect of the city of Dublin capital of the Irish Republic.

It is all the colour of the six counties of the world that I have visited. Dublin just lays the prize as far as pretty, and friendly, girls are concerned. This, though is only one of the pleasant things one associates with Dublin. Her streets, some wide, some narrow, have an attraction all of their own. the many pleasant squares with their trees and lawns, the setting of the activities of the day, Trinity College which dates back many hundreds of years; the Guinness Brewery and, last but largest, the river Liffey with its many bridges the Liffey, a dirty sluggish river that flows through the centre of the town, the upper reaches of which Trinity uses for rowing and regattas, the lower reaches of which have been turned into a harbour, and the central portion, the water of which is said to comprise a goodly percentage of a glass of Guinness stout, though in actual fact the brewery water comes from Mr. Arthur Guinness' own private supply.

Whilst on the subject of stout, no visit to Dublin is complete without sampling the famous brew, either at the brewery or at one of the many pubs in the city. The bartender goes through quite a ritual to serve your "pint" as the beer. First, the glass is filled and topped off with some "cream" the froth from the top of a full pint. It is then allowed to settle for a while before the procedure is repeated. Finally, the glass is full and the bartender hands it to you. All the taste and smell of the barley and the hops is there in the glass — surely one of the best drinks in the world. In these same pubs one can meet a cross-section of the town people, from Trinity students to taxi drivers.

Another of Dublin's attractions is Grafton Street, one of the busiest streets in the city, and also one of the narrowest. Flower girls are on the sidewalks, selling daffodils, tulips and primroses. Pedestrians hurry on their way or saunter slowly by gazing at all the shop window displays of the various stores, art shops, the Art Gallery, and the lower reaches of Grafton Street where the internationally known, but one can buy a thyrsel or things, pay for them in pounds or dollars, and have them sent to any part of the world one likes.

Dublin is a city of fine Georgian architecture. Merrion Square being a good example, and also the home of some of the many embassies in the city.

Almost as many people walk or use the public transport system. Quite decker buses as have been used for many years are always full of workers, cyclists and pedestrians. Such is the case on Friday evening. The streets of the city are seems to be O'Connell Bridge, at one end of which five main streets converge most of the traffic for heading for O'Connell Street at the other end of the bridge and one of the widest thoroughfares in Europe. A barrage of policemen stands with his back to the bridge directing traffic—a difficult and responsible task—it is a source of great amusement when the city gave him a wooden stand from which he could receive his directive magic; just a piece of bureaucratic bumbledom thought the populace after all he had been doing quite all right without the wooden box to stand in. O'Connell Street has several statues and monuments scattered down its length, not the least known of which is Nelson's Pillar. No self - respecting Irishman approves of this tribute to Ireland's most famous sailor having been erected in O'Connell Street . . . the trouble is, no one has come up with an idea on how to remove it. Maybe some Trinity students will steal it one dark night!

At the far end of the street is The Gate Theatre, where Orson Welles in part where the Abbey Theatre left off. For a night of superior theatre fare at low cost, one can do no more than to recommend the "Gate". This Irish-style natural prices, and have this idea to be given a chance to come to the fore — a chance which is not denied entirely to the gods of the people. Further on from O'Connell Street and to the west lies Phoenix Park, the home of the President of Ireland and the Dublin Zoo, though it should be pointed out that the two are not in close proximity to each other. Dublin Zoo has many attractions from all parts of the world, and only recently a couple of lion cubs were born in the zoo.

Returning to Trinity College where, incidentally, there is a very famous school of medicine, we find one of Ireland's national treasures

The Book of Kells an ancient illuminated Irish manuscript, a page of which is turned every day. Dublin has many other attractions, not the least of which are its restaurants, in particular the fish bars where one can get almost any kind of fish cooked to order. The Dailey Shellfish tavern where such delicacies as smoked eel, shrimp cocktails, sole on the bone, scallop fritter, and several others. Irish coffee is another item distinctive to Dublin, and indeed the whole of Ireland Irish Whiskey in the bottom of the glass, followed by black coffee, topped off with a ball inch of thick cream.

To finish, let us quote the remaining lines of the poem we opened with:

"Come in as fair as sweet Molly Malone
Through streets wide and narrow
Her wheels her wheelbarrow,
Crying cockles and mussels
Alive, alive oh".

Ministik news briefs

(Mrs. Jim Reddick)

The weather man played a real trick last weekend, thus cancelling many activities, among these the United Church services.

The annual Hall Board meeting was held Wednesday evening, January 31st. Ralph Leach remains as President; Leslie Whitford, vice-president; Joe Davenport, secretary and Donald Crummett and Jim Reddick are the 2 directors.

A TB X-ray Mobile Unit will be held at the Ministik School on Monday, February 12, from 2 to 5 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m. All residents are expected to attend.

The annual Ladies Club meeting will be held on Wednesday, February 14th. Hope all our ladies who have been ill will be able to attend.

According to reports from the U.S. the grounding officially now his shadow — but according to our cloudy day he didn't. To our estimation we will still have 4 weeks of winter regardless of either report, so everyone be prepared until the equinox at least.

Measles and flu have been going the rounds. Let's hope both will soon be finished.

This past week saw Mr. and Mrs. Alex McQueen celebrating their 58th wedding anniversary. The very best wishes are extended to this very respected and gracious couple, from all their friends far and wide.

Mr. Frank Ellett of Edmonton made a trip out to his farm last Thursday. He also called on Mr. and Mrs. Stanley George at the same time and also at the Jim Roddicks.

Mr. Bill Roddick and Albert Herricks have been busy on the nice mild days, clearing brush at the Alex McQueens farm.

Mrs. Fred McEachern of the store was a Wilkie, Sask. visitor for a few days last week.

Mr. Pat Patterson, our groceryman, was certainly a busy man on Sunday trying to get all of the side roads opened up. A lot of credit is due him for sacrificing a day with his family, to help his neighbors out.

Mrs. Lloyd Crummett has been very busy canvassing the South Cooking Lake area making appointments for the 7th area clinic on February 12th. Mrs. Frank Sembey and Mrs. Leslie Whitford have been taking care of the Ministik area.

Mrs. W. C. Barnes had a nasty fall one day last week, spraining her wrist. Hope it will soon be well again Mrs. Barnes.

Mrs. Helen Hennessy was an Edmonton visitor for a few days last week, taking advantage of the nice mild weather. Glad to hear you are feeling much better Mrs. Hennessy.

The Mercury certainly has taken on a "new look". We hardly recognized it on receiving it, but one gets used to things after a while. Keep up the good work.

New insurance policy for Searle Grain customers

The Searle Grain Company, Limited, on December 14, 1961, has inaugurated a Free Accident Insurance Policy which covers grain producers and their families in the case of accident.

The Company will pay under this policy up to $10,000 (dependent on the total number of bushels delivered to the Searle elevator) in the event of accidental death to a producer, and one-half this benefit to his wife in the case of her death by accident. This accident insurance plan which the Searle Grain has inaugurated has a race of benefits to cover most accidents and the amount payable certainly will be of substantial financial assistance to a Searle customer or to his family.

All the farmer has to do is to deliver at least 500 bushels of any grade in any single elevator to become automatically covered by the accident policy. Continuing big deliveries to the Searle Grain Company, Limited however, he automatically increases the amount of the benefits he will receive under their Free Accident Insurance Policy.

ROSS CREEK NEWS

(Bessie Pedersen)

(The Late for Last Week)

Spring will be much welcome this year with all the cold, windy weather we have had so far, so can be thankful it is just around the corner, folks!

We are sorry Mrs. Strand had such a bad nosery day to bid her last farewell to the district, before the weather the church was filled, Rev. Ted Kohner officiating with Mrs. Joseph McLachlan the organist. Mrs. Strand was a good friend to all who knew her and will always live in our hearts. She was laid to rest in the Edith Cavell cemetery. We wish to thank Alvin Hauer and Kenneth Pederson for bringing the snow cleared and for working at the cemetery that day.

Sympathy is extended to Verge Schreiber and her family on the death of her grandmother recently.

The executive of the United Church Women held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Art Parrels last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Farrel and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Farrel and sons were Wednesday evening, and coffee guests with Bessie and Kenneth Pederson.

Raymond Hoskin had runner up in the recently after a curling rink last Wednesday.

Robin Olsen of Edmonton stayed with her grandmother and uncle Kenneth while her baby sitter was hospitalized last week.

Your District Home Economist says . . .

(By Jeanette Dolling, Vegreville)

THE MEANING OF "GOOD FIT"

A well-fitted garment has the following characteristics:

1 has proper ease It is neither too tight or too loose It allows one to move, sit and stand comfortably and gracefully.

2 has basic silhouette seamlines that follow the body outline shoulder seams are on the top of the shoulders; side seams of bodice and skirt are perpendicular to floor The neckline sits up well in back The armhole is oval, following the natural contour of the arm joint Hemline and waistline are parallel to floor

3 has the grain of the fabric running in perfect alignment. Lengthwise grain at centre front and centre back is perpendicular to floor Crosswise grain at chest, bust and hip line is parallel to floor. In a plain sleeve, the lengthwise grain hangs vertically from top of the shoulder. Crosswise grain across the upper sleeve is parallel to floor.

4 is properly balanced The garment should not hug the figure in one spot and stand away in another.

5 is free from strain, wrinkles and sagging.

To Prevent Fitting Problems: Fitting starts before the construction of a garment begins In fact, the great many fitting problems could be avoided if a person would only select a pattern that has correct design details for her figure and is in the correct type and size. There are many different size ranges approx. 33 sizes to choose from so you should have no problem in finding a pattern to fit unless you have a figure many different Patterns now come in Pre-teen, Teen, Junior Misses, Women's, Half-size and Petites.

DU SUBJ to the right pattern to eliminate a great deal of fitting problems.

If your home is looking its age — or older — you may find it hard to be enthusiastic about welcoming guests into your home.

Best way to fix it — so you will really want to take your turn entertaining the bridge club or social group — is to have your house put shapshape by means of a low-cost Home Improvement Loan from the B of M.

Home Improvement Loans at the B of M cover just about all kinds of home repairs and improvements — and that goes for flats and multiple dwellings, too, whether you live in them or not!

NOW'S THE TIME to become happily home-proud once more. It's the slack season for many trades, so, with a loan from the B of M, you'll get the job done when you want it and at a price you can afford — and you pay, Way not talk it over with the people at your neighbourhood branch of "MY BANK" right away?

The little girl at her first party: "Mother told me to say 'No, thank you' a second helping of ice cream pie," replied the child politely "but I don't think she knew how small the helpings were" urged the hostess "Going to be?"

Lions honored

Lions Club members host ladies

Farewell for C. Patterson, Walter Klinker families

Members of the Tofield Lions Club held their annual Ladies' Night in the Community Centre meeting room on Tuesday night, when club members' wives and special guests were entertained with a lovely banquet and an evening for cards. The evening also was a farewell gathering in honor of the charter president, Cliff Patterson, former publisher of The Mercury, and Walter Klinker, an employee of the Mercury who has moved to Camrose.

In the absence of Lion Bill Lewis, president, Lion Bill Wait called on Lion Cliff Patterson to act as chairman for the evening. Lion Cliff welcomed the guests and introduced the head table guests.

Lion Cliff then called on the old members to give their best at all times.

In conclusion, Lion Patterson said, "Lions" and be sure you stop at Tofield Harbor every time you're passing through!"

SPECIAL GUESTS

Special guests were introduced by Mr. Klinker, including Inter-Lion Councillor Barry Pringle of Fort Saskatchewan, and two former members, Rev. Father Gabriel of Clandonald and Don Rix of Alix.

The toast to the ladies was given by Bill Francis, with Mrs. J. S. Jacobs responding on behalf of the ladies present.

Mr. Pringle expressed his pleasure at visiting Tofield again, and during the evening he showed a film on Lions International.

When called upon for a few words, before leading the evening sing-song, Mr. Klinker said he would never forget the kindness extended to him by the friendly Tofield people. He expressed his thanks to the Lions for helping he and his wife to establish themselves in the community.

Following the toast which followed the banquet were Mrs. J. F. Bishop and George Heyes, and Mrs. Ed Rogerie and Mr. Simons, how-he had enjoyed being a member of the club, and had many regrets at leaving the community after nine years residence. "I feel I am leaving a part of myself in Tofield for you can't live in a town nine years and not become attached to it," he said.

Lion Patterson spoke briefly to the new members, Rudy Pollock, Fred Fletcher, Dave Hamilton, Pete Jones and Pete Kor, reminding them that all the old members in attendance "were all greenhorns at one time". He encouraged them to give their best at all times.

In conclusion, Lion Patterson said, "Lions" and be sure you stop at Tofield Harbor every time you're passing through!"

Advertising DOES pay

The codfish lays a million eggs,
The humble hen but one
The codfish utters not a word
When its hard work is done
The hen, producing one lone egg,
Yells like fact to the skies
For codfish eggs there's no demand—
It's the hen's egg that we prize,
Which all just goes to show you
That it pays to advertise!

The little poem above is one demonstration of the value of advertising, and during the past week we have heard of another case proving that advertising in The Mercury is well worthwhile. Recently a man living near Holden purchased a copy of The Mercury from our dealer in that town and took it home to read that night. The next morning he was back in Holden to place a long distance telephone call to Tofield. He had spotted an advertisement in The Mercury offering a farm animal for sale. He made a satisfactory deal with the Tofield advertiser over the telephone, hopped into his truck and drove to Tofield to pick up the animal.

Needless to say, the Holden farmer has been purchasing every issue of The Mercury since, and we have no doubt that both men need no further proof of the value of advertising — especially Tofield Mercury advertising!

Applied Social Credit?

If one Calgary man has his way, today's Social Credit government will soon be losing the support of the Alberta Social Credit League, unless the present administration demonstrates "that it is, in fact, a 'Social Credit Government'."

In a letter which the Canadian office this week, Conrad Pfeifer of Calgary, says that a committee now been organized to "institute reform and overcome the complacency of the present Social Credit government". This committee, which claims that the Alberta government which now calls itself Social Credit is a typical Conservative type of government that has abused the support of the Social Credit League, is calling itself "The Committee for Applied Social Credit".

Should Mr. Pfeiffer's committee fail in its bid to have the Alberta Social Credit League withdraw its support of the Manning government, then members of the league will be solicited to form a New Independent Social Credit group which will nominate Independent Social Credit candidates to oppose the Social Credit nominees in every constituency in the next provincial election.

Mr. Pfeifer has been quoted in one daily newspaper as saying if he can get enough support, he forecasts the people "are going to vote every one of the Social Credit MLAs out just as cleanly as they voted them in." Mr. Pfeifer explains that the reason for his move is that he has grown tired, after 25 years, of waiting for Social Credit principles to be applied in Alberta, adding that the late William Aberhart had the right idea, but he "died before he could do anything."

Quite understandably, Mr. Pfeifer has been given the cold shoulder by the Manning administration and he is not looked on with favor by the Calgary Social League. Should this "lone wolf" gain any support during the next year or so, it will make for a most interesting election campaign. We doubt, however, that he will make first base for there are too few of the Aberhart-type, dyed-in-the-wool Social Creditors left. Mr. Pfeifer is looking for support from those who have long for government issue credit notes inserved and, although the people can apply for as a sort of non-interest loan, a plan which no doubt sounds very familiar to those who listened to the fantastic promises of Mr. Aberhart during the 1930s. Whether the people of this province are prepared to listen to this type of proposal in this day and age is highly unlikely.

The indications are that provincial election, and of the by-elections since, is that Social Credit as it is known in Alberta today is very popular, and it is to be supposed that most supporters of Social Credit couldn't care less whether Premier Manning and his men are following the doctrine established by Mr. Aberhart. The province has grown wealthy, due mainly to its natural resources, and its future still looks bright. What more could government supporters—or the government itself—ask for?

Created equal

(Guest Editorial)

The task of world brotherhood is a tremendous one. It must start on the individual plane of neighbor to neighbor, worker to worker. But we should not be disheartened because its task seems impossible. We must believe that the impossible is only a little more difficult of accomplishment.

Mankind today can and must solve the problem of creating a society lived in harmony with peace. That is the objective of Brotherhood Week. The hope of the sponsors, the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, is that having lived in the spirit of brotherhood throughout this week you will continue to show that same spirit throughout the year. Then you will assist and participate in vital programs through which mankind may learn to live in dignity, in brotherhood and peace. This is the ideal to which you are asked to dedicate yourself. The success of Brotherhood Week depends upon individual reaction, upon your recognition that all men are created equal.

High tension for powers

Return of Francis Gary Powers to the United States spells a period of extremely high interest in the days and weeks ahead, though it may be but few of the sparks will reach the eye of the public. Ever since his release by the Russians last week, movements of the U-2 pilot, and indeed his family, have been cloaked with a pall of security. Whether the truth of the incident a couple of years ago is ever learned is hard to predict.

However, it is certain every conceivable test to find out the answers will be applied in the questioning of Mr. Powers. Whether his shooting down was of his own manufacturing, a lucky fluke in the Russian arm of protection, or just one of those things that happen every so often, the incident spared one of the best strategic operations the United States has been able to establish in post-war years, and one which proved her technical ability was far ahead of the Russians, who couldn't learn about within twenty or thirty thousand feet of the flying range of this magnificent plane.

A lesson diplomats are certainly not likely to forget, too, was the tremendous loss of prestige the States suffered over the inept way in which the charges were denied, then admitted, then denied again without the merest shred of substance to back them up.

Hit 'im, mac; only $500

If you're caught, that is.

Reckless drivers may soon adopt the attitude it's far wiser to take a chance on running when they hit a pedestrian, than to sit around, if sentences just as Mr. Justice Riley handed down last week are common. From sixty miles away, it is difficult to understand what took place, of course, but if reports are accurate a driver who struck a pedestrian hard enough to throw him in the air, denting his car's hood and breaking the windshield, was fined $500 for leaving the scene of an accident.

The pedestrian later died

Why there was no charge of manslaughter is hard to understand. Why the sentence should not have been much more severe, when the same driver was involved in another accident only minutes later, is even more difficult to understand.

We can appreciate Mr. Riley's concern with what he felt was poor police work, and his obvious displeasure in the matter, but it's hard to feel the interests of the public are being protected with the levy of a $500 fine when a man lies dead and a car has been damaged within minutes.

Another of a series of articles written for The Mercury by Allan Alexander of Tofield:

TO TORONTO—BY BOXCAR

Hello, there, Mercury readers. I'm back for a few days after a trip to the Eastern provinces. Most of the time I were loading purebred Herefords belonging to C. J. Kallal and Sons of Tofield for the trip by box car to Toronto for the annual Toronto Winter Fair.

There were three of us in the box car, along with 14 head of cattle, and it was no easy trip for me, for I was born and raised on a farm in the province of Saskatchewan, where the trip was to be. We were a happy group of young men, and I'm sure that our confidence was soon to be rudely shattered. The cattle were our first concern, and we came second in the pecking order.

The first night was child's play. We had, our last meal in Edmonton at an hotel café near the tracks, and then bedded down for the night. After a cup of coffee in the morning we were on our way again, and we would have the problem of making coffee and frying eggs a few times a day. The CNR track is not exactly the smoothest, and making a meal was a ticklish operation more often than not. We often finished up on the floor instead of the cup. The cattle were having an equally rough time, especially the old Holstein bull, who was a bit nervous-maid to two rambunctious calves over a day.

Midnight on Friday, and we were all snuggled down in our bedrolls an hour there and, after checking the cattle, we decided to go look for a coffee bar. Of course, we hadn't been found on the train, so we merely got left behind by the train. It had stopped for a spell, but we had scampered up to the box car and had the sleeping bags on a bed of straw and crawled in without taking off our clothes, trousers or anything. The train had priority on the track and was travelling pretty fast, coupled with a rough track and we found ourselves bouncing up and down what seemed like a good bed. Needless to say, sleep was out of the question, so we resorted to the age-old pastime of swapping stories to pass the time.

We were now passing through a country of rocks, bush and lakes. Darkness was the only thing we could see through the cattle, being careful not to get trudden on by some bull weighing in more his head firmly planted on your boot. One evening, Saturday I think it was, we stopped for a short while at a northern Ontario town which seemed to be miles from anywhere. By some lucky chance a coffee shop was open, and was promptly invaded by about fifty western slackers. I think the girl behind the counter got a pretty girl, too, was a little flabbergasted, though she did her best to serve everyone. There were still more in the shop when the train started to pull out. I'll bet they've been talking about it ever since. I can still guys being pulled into box cars already moving at quite a speed.

We pulled into Toronto on Sunday afternoon after a last bout on an empty, big, lurking about 48 hours. Of course, we stood at the door of the box car going at the sight of Toronto, and at the cars on the highway running parallel to the tracks. It was warm here, waving to the cars, the occupants of which I'm sure thought we had come from some wild country of Indians and wild animals. Those poor Easterners . . . we did nothing to dissuade them.

THE FAITHFUL FEW

When the meeting's called to order
And you look around the room,
You're sure to see a few faces
From out the shadows loom,
They are always at the meetings,
And they stay until they're through,
It seems that I would mention are the Always Faithful Few.

They fill the many offices, and are always on the spot,
No matter what the weather, though it be cold or hot,
Conditions may be dreadful, but they are tried and true,
The ones you can rely on are the Always Faithful Few.

There are lots of worthy members who will come when at the time,
When everything's convenient, they can do a little good,
They're a factor in the queuing, and are necessary, too,
But the ones who deserve the medals are the Always Faithful Few.

If it were not for these persons whose shoulders in the wheel
Keep the institutions moving, sublet and a half or rent,
What would be the fate of meetings, where we have so much to do?
They surely would be lashes without the Faithful Few.

History of Holden . . .

but by 1910 it was all taken up by pre-emption or homestead, which by government requirements had to make so much improvements each year until it was approved. You will recall some of you old-timers left - that there were no wells to get water from. Just sloughs, and that this was only a wide country with brush and prairie. The homes were built of logs cut from the forest, and many had floors made of poles and rails, and were very small for the vastness of the thing that families had to be grown from the poor seeds that were taken with them from their homeland. But this country had one good feature, there were lots of rabbits, prairie chicken, and other game for animals. The neighbors were few and far between, but they always seemed close together, as each helped one another.

One thing was certain that this country, though not thought much of by the federal government at that time, provided the pioneers with a certain amount of prosperity and enabled them to enjoy life to the best they found and that was no rich and fertile. It is said that potatoes ruled out of the soil as well as monsters. One particular incident I have in mind that I would like to relate at this time: One family with three children some wood and broke up a half acre of land for oats and half an acre for wheat, and when this was all seeded the father and some other men walked to Medicine Hat to work on the railway all summer and fall. In the early fall the wife and children cut the grain by scythe and stacked the crop on the ground. Some time later, on he froze a patch of ground to make a huge flour and flailed the previous grain and used the wheat for flour between 3-pointers comparing the effect of 60 pounds per acre of 12-bbl. the yield of a cereal crop grown on summerfallow has been considered best. Both 1958 and 1961 were abnormally dry years. The effectiveness of phosphate fertilizer in a period was apparently not greatly affected upon the amount of rainfall. Suggests the Experimental Farm. There appears to be no way of predicting what next year will bring and the best solution is to fertilize every year

Fertilizing in a dry year

The Brandon Experimental Farm very much the statement "Fall application is not to be profitable to fertilize during a dry year", emphasizes that like many other generalizations this statement does not appear to be true. Experiments comparing the effect of 60 pounds per acre of 11-48-0 on the yield of a cereal crop grown on summerfallow has been conducted at the Farm at Brandon from 1954 to 1961 inclusive per dollar of fertilizer was very high in 1961 (the driest year) and 1957 (both 1958 and 1961 were abnormally dry years. The effectiveness of phosphate fertilizer in a period was apparently not greatly affected upon the amount of rainfall. Suggests the Experimental Farm. There appears to be no way of predicting what next year will bring and the best solution is to fertilize every year

By George!

Last week I received a letter from my uncle Rufus, a letter which, for some time ago which he wrote about 1 (1) and I believe it's postmarked Alberta. I believe it's number of them cap, so as to make sure that if you've misread it before, maybe if you've misread it Uncle Rufus.

Rufus lives in a secluded mountain area, and perhaps that accounts for the delay in delivery of the letter, which reads:

Dear nephew:

I just had to write to tell you all about our new bathin' room. It's really something. Believe it or not it's right inside the house! Yes, sir, no more trips to the creek on Saturday night!

Well, this outfit comes with a

WANTED:
lost shareholders

Take a look at those old stock certificates gathering dust in the bottom drawer. They could mean money for you, writes W. L. Dack in The Financial Post.

There is an estimated $2 million-$2.5 million in unclaimed dividends remaining shareholders in Canadian trust companies, another $400,000 to $1 million in brokerage company accounts across Canada. Every year, more than $1 million in unclaimed stock certificates and special cash distributions. Some 800 dividend-paying Canadian firms in which there is a public interest paid out a record $856,546,-527 last year. But the shareholder list of virtually every one of them includes some unclaimed shareholders.

PLAYING IT SAFE

It is reported that in a small western Canada town, the new second-grade teacher sent each child home from school the first day with a note pinned on their coats telling what to expect. The note: If you will not believe everything your child tells you happened at school, I won't believe everything I hear about what happens at home."

REALLY CONSIDERATE

Harry Dickson tells me over about the guy who became a millionaire and hasn't changed a bit. He used to live downtown on Fifth Avenue in St. Louis with his wife and kids, then suddenly struck it rich. Made a pile and moved to a swank neighborhood and didn't change a bit. He still goes back to Pruskin avenue to visit his old pals.

IN AGREEMENT

The man above on a pair of boots seated in a park.

"Say! I am an admirer of you, darling," he murmured, as he held her close.

"Oh Jack" she sighed, "if you and father can't agree on every other point as you do on that, how happy we should be!"

Fellows who drive with one hand are usually headed for a church aisle. Some will wish down it; others will be carried

BIG DISAPPOINTMENT

Neil: "Here's the $5.00 I borrowed from you over five years ago."

Ted: "Oh, just forget it. After all the time that's passed it's practically money in the bank of you for just five bucks."

Gave the call 'em window cleaners because they contain hills that give us a pane.

Sayings . . .

If you give me six lines written by the hand of the most honest man, I will find enough in them which will hang him. Richelieu

MacDuff Ottawa report

The popular pensioner . . .

OTTAWA. - The three political parties represented in Canada's House of Commons have each run to prove their deep-seated belief in the welfare of the most popular member of society at election time — the old-age pensioner.

The Liberals who first introduced pensions legislation in 1926 are out with a promise to establish a national rate of $75 a month for pensioners but as a new Liberal government still has to be elected by the people.

The Conservatives, who capitalized on the Liberals' failure to offer a liberal pension increase during the 1957 election are implementing a universal rate of $65 a month, and dangling as a carrot of a contributory system paying benefits at the age of 62.

The New Democrats whose CCF predecessors were always first to offer the most although they never formed a Federal Government, are bidding to the $75 level at age 65, plus a contributory supplement of unspecified dimension.

It's a race to the wire with the day of electoral decision approaching, and the current rivid offers may well be sweetened even bigger before this analysis appears in print.

NOW ALWAYS SUPPORTED

The pensioner may feel flattered by this sudden interest interest in his well-being. But if he's been a pensioner long, half can remember the bitter fight for the first old-age security system, the wail of anguish as payments were examined for possible with a critical eye, and shatter the illusions one by one.

The Liberals did in fact initiate Canadian pension legislation but only after the most embarrassing inaudience by Labor M.P. and CCF founder J. S. Woodsworth, and over the real intense opposition of the Conservatives of that day. In 1926 they provided the munificent sum of $20 a month for the elderly, payable only after an exhaustive means test

It wasn't until they received the greatest electoral scare in their history as a government in 1940 when they clung to power with a majority of only two in the Commons that the Liberals acted to broaden the scheme.

By 1951 the pension had become universal, without a means test, paying $40 a month at the age of 70. In addition, old age assistance at the same level was made available at 65, in co-operation with the provinces.

NOTHING MADE

Nothing more happened until the spring of 1957, when the Liberal regime split on the passage of relief to be granted just before voter election. Despite the fact that the Government was enjoying a comfortable budget surplus, the Conservative-backers won the day and the increase was fixed at a level of $5, in co-operation with the provinces.

By Robert Clark of Vancouver North introduced a bill to establish the Canada Pension Plan which is a study of the U.S. system on which the Liberal bill is based, and which he says is the best he has seen.

Mr. Clark's New Democratic Party promise at was first heard by at a time when the country was perfectly reported it is unattainable and so would Prime Minister Diefenbaker recommend.

The result appears to be that another step-gap pension increase will be implemented for this year's election, but no comprehensive system. first promised five years ago, will not.

NO PROBLEM

Mr. Clark's New Democratic promise at was first heard by at a time when the country was perfectly reported it is unattainable and so would Prime Minister Diefenbaker recommend.

The result appears to be that another step-gap pension increase will be implemented for this year's election, but no comprehensive system. first promised five years ago, will not.

The New Democrats still have a well and their plan on paper dated before it can be put to use in Liberal and Conservative proposals. All that is obvious at this stage of the moment is that political election campaign is underway and higher taxes of course, are no longer that all the two three parties of election time we months how much they favored the old-age pensioner.

On Saturday, Feb. 3rd, one of the worst snowstorms in many years hit the district with almost a blizzard blowing and drifting and making driving and blocking of several roads. The use of snowplows was pressed into service early in the morning to help clear the roads. Henry Stelck, Tofield, was the first to get through and he says the snow was quite soft. The day before the storm was the warmest of several days of warm weather with melting snow and water standing in puddles making the sudden change very hard on paved side slush as well as people. Inger Olsen, Tofield, and many of his friends are glad it's gone again soon.

Mrs. Mary Wood was an Edmonton visitor on Thursday, returning the same day.

Murray and Marjorie Jacobsen and children were Saturday evening visitors and coffee guests at the home of George and Ella Robinson.

Ralph and Alice Casey of Ross Creek were Thursday dinner guests at the home of Alice's sister, Irene, and John Warner, last week.

Mervin and Rose Walker entertained Mervin's mother and brother, Mrs. Ila Walker and Ronnie, at a farewell supper for their mother on Wednesday of last week before she left for a visit with relatives in California.

$150 is quota for Red Cross

(Mrs. J. Knudson)

PALMER - FARLING, Feb. 9th — The Red Cross campaign in the Palmer-Farling district will start next week. Good things happen when you help! has been chosen as the slogan for the 1962 Alberta Red Cross Campaign.

In the past year the lives of thousands have been saved through an immediate supply of free blood from the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service.

Red Cross Water Safety instruction has provided life insurance to hundreds of Alberta children who have learned to swim and enjoy other forms of water recreation in safety.

Through 22 Red Cross thousands of young Canadians are taking their first step toward world peace by learning to understand the problems and needs of children in other lands.

Inquiry Bureau — Finding address of unknown loved ones free of charge.

Because of Red Cross International Blood — Aid hundreds of paralyzed men, women and children in Morocco will walk again.

During the first warm clothing they have ever owned — hundreds of disaster victims are being shelled and fed. Never home in the recent fire when the Martin Hodgson family of Ryley was stricken by fire, a package of clothing and bedding was received from the Red Cross.

To keep these good things happening. Give generously to the 1962 Red Cross on the 26th — $150 you will ever give will mean so much to so many.

In this district our usual canvassers Harry Johnson, Nick Kushnerick, Hans Hunsley, Mrs. George Manby and Mrs. Joe Solomon, will be calling on every door in March. They give freely of their time and are all set to go.

The quota is $150 in this district this year

PALMER - EARLING, Feb. 8th — The Salt Lake Community Centre was the scene of a bridal shower Wednesday night for February bride-elect, Miss Eunice Fleming. One to Saturday's snow storm the shower, scheduled for last Sunday, was postponed till Wednesday.

Beaver Pathfinders bid farewell to former publisher

Members of the Beaver Pathfinders Club and their parents gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bowling for a party on Friday evening meeting followed by a sing-song of Stanley Jones.

Just before the close of the Pathfinder meeting Mrs. Leland presented Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Patterson with a sterling silver cake and pie server engraved with the name of the club. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson organized the club nearly two years ago and spared no effort to make it a success. They will be leaving shortly for the U.S.A. and Mrs. Gunnar Gulund and Vera Booth are taking over leadership.

During the sing-song, Mrs. Stunson served a delicious lunch, and at this time Dr. Price presented Mr. and Mrs. Patterson with a corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will be greatly missed in the community by the young people who have been in their extended leadership and some wonderfully good times.

INSURANCE MEN MEET

D. Hrushchak of Ryley, was one of 300 delegates who attended the 35th annual meeting of the Insurance Agents' Association of Alberta, held in Edmonton recently. Here he discusses business with Ken Cameron, manager of the Canada Safeway Co., Exeter of Edmonton, (right). Mr. Hrushchak is The Mercury's representative at Ryley.

Your District Home Economist says . . .

(By Jeanette Dolling, Vegreville)

Are you the homemaker, asking yourself the following questions?

1. Am I planning meals which fill my families nutritional requirements?
2. Am I achieving a reasonable balance in my use of time and energy money and materials to feed the family?
3. Am I making the best use of available information on food management problems?

Most homemakers are well aware of the fact that successful food management involves more than cooking and serving three good meals a day. Because food is one of the largest items in most family budgets there is likely to be much concern about its high cost and its nutritive value. Effective control of the food costs means more money for other needs and satisfying food habits and satisfying food habits need not be costly. Another thought is that a careful study of food costs also the care dish can help with meal-planning and preparation and achieve energy saver.

Next week I will continue the discussion of "Family Food Costs" by assisting with you the choice of equipment.

County council . . .

Moved that Cornelius Penner of Ryley be appointed Enumerator for Div. No. 8; that Mr. Hans Hilderal of Ryley be appointed as Deputy Returning Officer for Poll No. 1 with Poll at the Alberta Wheat Pool House at Shonts; that Clifford Anderson of Tofield be Deputy Returning Officer for Poll No. 2 with Poll located at Anderson Community Hall; that Mr. Chris Bugge of Ryley be appointed Deputy Returning Officer for Poll No. 3, located at the Ryley Co-Operative Elevator; that Mr. Peter Hunka of Dodds be appointed Deputy Returning Officer for Poll No. 4, located at Shaw Community Centre on S.E. 9-49-17-W4th Cd

It was moved that the following rates of pay for election officials be in effect for the 1962 election: Returning Officer, $10 per day; $5 per mile; Enumerator, $10 per day, 10c per mile; Dep. Ret Offi cers, $10 per day; 10c per mile; Polling Notices, 50c per notice; Poll Clerk, $7 per day; Rent of Polling Place, $5 per day, or such rate as may be applicable in the Community Halls used D.R.O.'s to post their own poll clerks. Cd

The operation of a truck for the snow spraying outfit was discussed at this time and it was moved that the Field Supervisor Ron Jones be asked to look into and provide a suitable truck, and that Cm. Kruppenbach and Magnuson coordinate on the bus mechanics work over the allocated vehicle and if found suitable, they be given power to purchase it. Cd Moved that the Accounts to Western School Bus Sales 3 Exchange Ltd for two school buses to Edmonton Motors Ltd for one school bus, and Niagara Road Chemicals for the spraying outfit be approved and passed for pay ment. Cd.

The matter of payment for use of chain saw due to the brush-cutting work, was discussed and it was agreed that the original payment had been 50 cents an hour but that in 1961 brush-cutting program this had been raised by one of the Councillors to $1.50 per hour, and that his rate had been throughout. That was considered too high and it was moved that Council pay 50 cents per hour for the use of chain saws on the brush-cutting projects. Cd

Cn. Roddick and Johnston suggested that one rod of land on each side of the road from S.W. 6-53-16-W4th, north 4 miles to highway No. 14, should be obtained for the reason that it is the 3rd of Flagstaff, connecting with the 2nd which was being built on a 100-ft. right-of-way and was considered a main road to Sedgewick.

Moved that the purchase of one rod of land on each side of the road from S.W. 6-53-16-W4th, north 9 miles to Highway No. 14 ; be obtained for the third at Haight, as there was numerous small repair jobs that by agreement could undertake himself, if these jobs were done equipment were available rather than have to take them to Ryley.

Moved that the 3-inch electric drill and power hose grinder be obtained for the patrol shed at Haight. Cd.

Some discussion took place in regards to the snow fence and the fact that, when the snow fence was first set to the various ball clubs and the Secretary was asked to write Mr. Peter Kolbe regarding the snow fence of the Ryley Sports Ground and suggest that it be returned to the County's material yard at an early opportunity.

Divided we fall

Aren't you a happy person today? Didn't the bright rays of the sun that caressed you early this morning leave you with warm and tender thoughts? Didn't that tiny sparrow that followed you down the path to school make your heart want to sing, too? And wasn't it wonderful to be able to stand up and give that speech to your English class? Aren't you glad that you chose "Everyday Life" as your topic? Didn't it seem to you, while you were preparing that speech, that the world just couldn't be a better place to live?

But perhaps you are forgetting a few things. Stop and think. You see, not all teen-agers can share with one another these fun-filled and free days. No, they don't even dare dream of such blessings.

The Iron Curtain stretches 6,000 miles, extending from the Baltic Sea northward under into Southern Europe where it divides up the areas near Greece and Turkey. It is a frontier of bullets and steel that separates our world into two distinct parts. We are lucky enough to have been born and brought up on the "right" side. But should we continue to laugh at life the way we sometimes do, we may soon find ourselves on the "wrong" side of that fence. And it would be so unbelievably strange and hard on us.

Could we, all of a sudden, trade places with a young adult who had never experienced a day of true freedom? I don't think we'd even want to contemplate it. Yet, it is true we have always been surrounded with the modern luxuries of life. But what we would miss most of all in the Communist atmosphere is the liberty that we, as individuals, have been granted in our democracy.

I don't think we even take time to try to imagine ourselves, standing on the other side of the cruel wall, filled with grief, and eagerly waving in another member of the family who remained untouched by the hands of those artists. What would it be like to be near to your loved ones and yet know that never again would you be able to touch them or talk to them or be with them? They would be so near but at the same time so very, very far away.

So we, the teen-agers of today who will be the leaders of tomorrow, must think seriously of this. Do we want to continue to rise in democracy or do we want to fall into the depths of Communism? Now is the time, while we are young, that we must decide. We must make our goal become something definite. Our ways should be paved with good intentions and our religion should be dealt with seriously and honestly. A sober thought or a good deed should take the place of some Saturday night movie or party. Before we know it, the strength of our nation may be resting on our shoulders. When the time comes will we have the knowledge, both spiritual and political, and the courage to defend what we call ours?

If you are one who has already found your place in our free land, reach out and grasp a hand of someone who needs guidance through these confused days. Because, "United we stand; but divided we fall." —Daphne Rowed.

Should Canada join the OAS?

Recently much talk and interest has been applied to the topic, should Canada join the Organization of American States? The O.A.S presently includes the Latin American nations and the United States, with the exception of Cuba, who was a short time ago ousted in an inter-American Foreign Ministers' conference held at Punta Del Este, Uruguay. Since the day of its birth back in 1910 an empty chair has waited at the council table of the O.A.S. It bears the name Canada in hopes that some day she will join the organization.

I believe it is time Canada faced maturely her responsibility toward hemispheric affairs and in turn joins the Organization of American States. It seems that with the aid of Castro-led elements in the Latin American countries, Communism is on the march. Without the help of Canada, the single distressed areas of national self-interest on the fight against Communism would be at a standstill in Latin America. Furthermore, the United States cannot face the brunt of this storm alone, but rather it is time that we as Canadian unite against Communist-intervention in this hemisphere.

As members we would be in a better position to influence the policy-makers in Washington and thereby bring about better relations between our northern countries and some of the Latin American countries who do not entirely agree with United States policy. Millions of dollars are spent annually by our government to assist far distant countries. Why not channel some of these dollars closer to home, in Latin America where a continent twice the size of Europe, with a population of over 200,000,000 people desperately deserves a portion of our prosperity?

In the recent formation of the European Common Market lies a great threat to our economy through limited trade relations. However, Canadian membership in the O.A.S. would certainly be one way for greater and friendlier trade with the many Latin American countries. Conversely, I feel that Canada should join the Organization of American States, not solely for the benefit of herself, as mentioned, but rather to accept her due responsibility in hemisphere affairs.

Just proves once again how high our water bills are in these parts

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA — In the budget he brought down last night, Finance Minister Donald Fleming announced that the deficit in the current fiscal year would be $[illegible] million, instead of the $[illegible] million estimated in the budget speech last June. However, it appears that there will be a considerable improvement in the deficit position in the next fiscal year. Mr. Fleming estimated that the deficit in the 1962-63 fiscal year would be $[illegible] million.

IMPROVEMENT SLIGHT

Although this would be a considerable improvement over the current fiscal year, it would be slight when compared with the deficit of $[illegible] million in the 1960-61 fiscal year. Mr. Fleming said he expected that the unemployment situation would improve, but it was only a slight improvement. He expressed the hope that the economy would be moving forward on a surplus position by the prescribed March 31.

Mr. Fleming said he was also hopeful that the unemployment situation would improve as a result of some of the measures announced in the budget speech. He said that the government's policy of tax incentives to industry would help to create new jobs.

Mr. Fleming said that the government's policy of tax incentives to industry would help to create new jobs.

FIGURES VARY

The figures vary from those contained in the budget speech last June 18 when Mr. Fleming said that the deficit for the 1961-62 fiscal year was expected to be $[illegible] million. The budget speech last June 18 when Mr. Fleming said that the deficit for the 1961-62 fiscal year was expected to be $[illegible] million.

When the main estimates for the current year are compared with the budget speech last June 18 when Mr. Fleming said that the deficit for the 1961-62 fiscal year was expected to be $[illegible] million.

Mr. Fleming must be an excellent practitioner of the old adage that if he has one analysis of the situation he has another. For his own analysis of the situation was certainly a use of words you never if you can't.

The Minister told the House of Commons the main spending programs of the coming year amount to $[illegible] billion for the estimates for the coming year.

The government was highly misleading for a number of reasons. It included a contract between the federal government and the provinces that will result in a $[illegible] million reduction in grants, a sum that Mr. Fleming has quite correctly deducted from the estimates for 1962-63.

But this reduction will be matched by a comparable fall in federal revenue, with the result that the net position of the treasury remains unchanged. The reduction is really an illusory one and for the purpose of comparison of expenditures planned for the two years it should be ignored.

It is as if the main estimates for the coming year were to show $[illegible] billion an increase of some $[illegible] million, the main stimulus for this year and $[illegible] over the current year's estimates.

But this comparison will be matched by a comparable fall in federal revenue with the result that the net position of the treasury remains unchanged. The reduction is really an illusory one and for the purpose of comparison of expenditures planned for the two years it should be ignored.

It is as if the main estimates for the coming year were to show $[illegible] billion an increase of some $[illegible] million, the main stimulus for this year and $[illegible] over the current year's estimates.

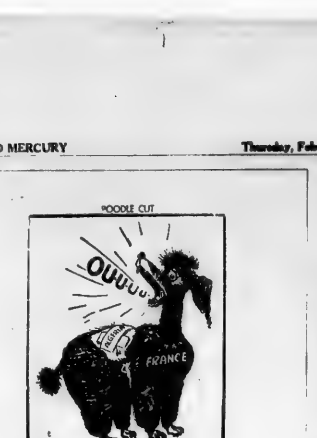
Throughout the year ahead new and increased spending estimates will be introduced that will eventually boost the total fairly substantially. Over the past year the average has been some $[illegible] billion. Presuming an increase of a similar amount in the coming year, which is a conservative considering the fact an election is just over the horizon, there would be a net increase in federal spending of around $[illegible] million in all.

But the Government can count on an increase in revenue to partially or completely offset the rise in spending.

Justice Minister Davie Fulton recently forecast that the nation's total production in 1962 will increase $3 billion to $[illegible] billion, which is the kind of prediction that usually the prerogative of the Minister of Finance.

As a rough rule of thumb the federal treasury can usually count on picking up some 17 per cent of the national production in the way of tax returns. An increase in the order of $3 billion, therefore, could put another $[illegible] million in the coffers.

Under these circumstances increased expenditures would be matched by increased revenues and the deficit would remain more or less the same as it is now. Or so the argument will go. Mr. Fleming today was trying to put on top of the load a new under a low wage and realized that late to be able to stop Arrington Toledo a shaken Ron Leslie demanded to know who was going to but him a bat to replace the one was unfortunately taken off her head by that two were. I'm sorry to say that everyone thought the affair a huge joke! It is quite incredible how can a telephone wire will severely, and once the wire proved stronger



By George!

I could not help but notice the excitement accompanying the launching of the one-man rocket of Tuesday's historic and fantastic shot into space of American Astronaut John Glenn—at least during the two short periods I was able to see it. It seemed the atmosphere could not help but make little comments about American greatness, along with a suggestion that the Russians probably had plenty of failures, and maybe even less of a few astronauts, before they were successful (and I don't doubt that they did). But I was most amused at the story told by one announcer of how someone in Grand Central Station, New York, commented on "You're going to make rockets out of them (the Russians) by making the men so open shot all the world to see".

Envy, if attitude merely points up all the more the embarrassment the American people must have suffered when Russia put the first Sputnik into space, and then second another first when the Russian Gagarin became the first man into space.

But, embarrassed or not, the American scientists have put their shoulders to the wheel, and this culminated Tuesday in the most spectacular show the world has ever seen, and one which they are able to follow from start to finish. Furthermore there is probably little doubt anywhere that the equipment used in the American space capsule has surpassed any

DETECTORS MAY REDUCE MONOXIDE DEATHS

Denmark, plagued with an average of one death per day because of carbon monoxide poisoning, has produced a CO Detector for use by the individual which indicates the presence of carbon monoxide long before it has reached danger to the user level.

Invented by a Danish police sergeant the small flat, three-inch square instrument contains a chemically treated circle which is beige-colored in its natural state. This turns grey to black depending on the concentration of the gas and can be used again and again after exposure to clean air

It is now being made available in twelve Skelaigh Stations and Garages in Canada and may help reduce CO fatalities — if individuals pay attention to it.

A traveller's diary . . .

This is the third of a series written by Thomas Alexander of Tofield.

Truck driving anybody can do that I thought. My ideas were soon to be rudely dispelled, while driving a 36-ft semi-trailer unit over a period of three months.

We had a extra to supply 15 000 bales of hay to the U Bar E ranch at Lac La Biche. Haul straw to Edmonton and then haul hay to Lac La Biche. It seemed like a very simple job, so the days were pleasantly spent in the sunshine and warmth, it was running

For the first few days we had no trouble with the load, but then the roads began to break up and we were forced to put on chains. Then the trouble began. Before long, snow was on the road, and it started piling up in the ditches. It was always a struggle to get the truck and load through the drifts and more often than not through eight-foot gates with snow piled on both sides and frozen solid. People would look at us with sympathy and expression and say "We'll get through there with a bulldozer in the morning". People don't seem to realize that there is a big difference between a half-ton truck and a 44-ft long semi unit, even if it is equipped with the chains.

Our most frightening experience came near Sandy Lake, about 15 miles north of Athabasca. It was about 40 above and we were near the top of a long hill with about 13 tons of hay on our load. All of a sudden the truck began to slide backwards. We put on the brakes, but they were useless and the truck began to slide faster and faster. We were going neither forward nor backward. This is alright, we thought, we'll put the chains on. But just then we started to slide sideways and the trailer broke loose from the truck. We were on and the load was beginning to slide. We didn't help, and we with the truck in a forward gear, we still slid backwards. Finally after about 150 yards, we stopped and were able to put chains on and travel to the top of the hill to each other. We were lucky not to have been killed or injured.

Now the fun began. Between the three of us, myself, Ron Louis and sometimes Marvin Van Buskirk, we handled close to 30,000 bales of hay, drove 17,000 miles on a period of three months.

With the advent of snow, our troubles started; having four inches on the truck meant that, stopping or slowing to pick up the six bales at a time was not be able to get started again. The only thing to do would be to rock the truck back and forth, and finally the wheels would take hold and we'd move to the next stook and repeat the procedure. After 2 or 3 days of loading we'd head for Lac La Biche. If there was a strong wind we could average up the high as about 20 m.p.h. as the wind would catch the whole load and act as an immense barrier. In a severe storm we were forced to park the truck and wait for the storm to subside before proceeding. Speed and level would be down overnight, so the loads would be delivered at 7:00 o'clock next morning. This was a new one on us, for at that time we could count on having some help to unload at the ranch.

We finally finished hauling to Iwille, and started hauling our straw to the delivery to the Rich western Utilities pipe yard on the Smith Side or to the North Side main depot. Things would be easier now, we thought, and the miles we have two routes. How in the U.S. were down. Starting from a stack 16 miles north of Tofield, snow fell to a depth of over three inches in an hour and a half. Another time, we to plough our way through a snowbank, and to put another on-ramp the trailer slid into the ditch about we were negotiating a particularly difficult approach.

One problem that caused us some trouble was low slung telephone wire. We had to stop and lift them over the load, and once, in Tofield itself, we didn't see the wire and consequently snapped it with the top bow. This is alright, we thought we'll put the chains on. But just then we started to slide sideways and the trailer broke loose from the truck. We were on and the load was beginning to slide. We didn't help, and we with the truck in a forward gear, we still slid backwards. Finally after about 150 yards, we stopped and were able to put chains on and travel to the top of the hill to each other. We were lucky not to have been killed or injured.

Under these circumstances increased expenditures would be matched by increased revenues and the deficit would remain more or less the same as it is now. Or so the argument will go. Mr. Fleming today was trying to put on top of the load a new budget surplus as far removed as ever.

But if Mr. Diefenbaker still has more expensive jewelleries given his to come the deficit could be significantly higher than the $[illegible] million in the offing for this year.

The prospect of a sixth straight budget deficit bringing the total to over $[illegible] billion must at times chill the essentially thrifty soul of Donald Fleming.

Moved by Stan Powers that we recommend that the County purchase at least 30 signs from Kenyck Signs, but the individual boards decide how many signs will be required. Carried.

The secretary presented a letter regarding the annual North Central Weed Control Conference essay competition.

Stan Powers advised that he had circularized the schools and had left the information regarding this competition with them.

WEED CONTROL

Cr. Braddock asked Wm. Lobay of the Gold crops branch, who was in attendance, what was the ideal way to get rid of brush in pastures.

Mr. Lobay said it was best to have the brush mowed followed by sprayings the following year. After the application of spray would probably be necessary in five or six years.

Mr. Lobay said the main reason that he was present was because of the increase in the incidence of wheat in the province. He asked what the situation was in this area.

Stan Powers said he had conducted a survey and found that in the Viking area there was not much infestation of this weed; in the Holden area it was increasing; in the Holden-Viking area it was quite prevalent and had no grain been sprayed. Increasing of it, he said the Tofield area some grain had been sprayed.

Mr. Lobay said that Provincial Agricultural would be conducting weed control schools in the near future. He said that the Provincial Government was also conducting a survey to be sold commercially this year.

This chemical will be tried out provincial-wide this year. Mr. Lobay said that it would be in hand in order to suppress weed competition. In summer-fallowed land, spray has to be used very sparingly for this type of chemical is dangerous to crops planted in the following year.

Mr. Lobay was quoted regarding the large increase in Turkey Buckwheat in 1961, and he said there were three reasons:

1. Turkey Buckwheat usually germinates at 2 to 3 inches, because of ideal conditions it germinates at 5 to 6 inches.

2. This weed usually spreads out and does not grow very high but, because of the short crop and also it grew higher, more of it was harvested.

3. In 1961 the moisture and temperature conditions seemed to be ideal to germinate this weed.

It was moved by Cr. Braddock and carried that the whole Service Board arrange to attend the Stettler Board conference at Two Hills in February.

GRASS SEEDER

Rex Boyles and the grass seeder needed repairs and he did not know if he could get repairs for it. This seeder is eleven years old, and as the Carbon seeder has been discontinued, it may not be possible to get parts.

He quoted a price of about $80 for a new seeder with a 6 to 12 foot seeding capacity.

It was moved by Cr. Gibson and carried that Rex Boyles see if he can get parts for the old seeder, and this be tabled until the next meeting.

Notes from the County of Beaver's Agricultural Service Board . . .

(By Rex Boyles, Field Supervisor)

FEED SUPPLIES

It may be of interest to farmers in this district to know this the Department of Agriculture sends out lists of fodder feed for sale. Most of these listings are from districts North of our Province. There are several farmers in the Vegreville district that have feed for sale that are within easy trucking distance from this district. Anyone interested in feed listings may contact Stan Powers D.A. or myself.

SLEEPY SEED

Due to the expected increase in grain acreage this year, farmers are reminded to use the best possible seed grain in respect to germination. Freedom from weed seeds and treatment for smut, seedling blight, root rot and wirewarms. It is a well known fact that wireworms are taking a heavy toll of grain yields in this district.

The County Seed Cleaning Plant is doing a commendable job of seed cleaning and treating; to date over 56,000 lbs. of seed grain have been cleaned, 12,000 lbs. treated for plant diseases and 4 500 lbs. treated for wirewarms. Cleaning and treating has run well over $8.00 per ton. The plant manager, Alvin Knowlton is doing a fine job to become the plant running smoothly and will studily discuss seed problems with farmers. The Seed Plant phone is 145 Holden.

PESTS

Pest reports over the past two months have been varied, numerous and at times serious. Mice are a few. Put out more 1080 poison pails. Use 1080, to treat carcasses with the rabies threat, coyotes are putting me out of rabbits are devouring my fruit trees, what to do, magpies are just about taking over, what to do next.

Regarding coyote control, the 1080 baits have all been used for this season. However, poison rabbits are always available at the office at 50 cents per dozen baits. Regulations apply to the number of baits per square mile of any residence excepting the farmer who obtains the pellets.

The same regulations apply to magpie baits, farmers may prepare these baits and vet them out on their own. I would be pleased to assist farmers in the preparation of these baits and would furnish all material as we would like to put out a few more demonstrations.

Rabbit damage to garden perennials, fruit trees and shelter belts is reported. Rabbit repellents are available from chemical dealers. A spray mixture can be made up of 20 parts water emulsifiable asphalt mixed with one part liquid household detergent followed by one part nicotine sulphate. These ingredients would have to be mixed with water and sprayed on trees and shrubs in about freezing weather. This spray is intended to be a repellent and have a residual effect for 6 to 8 months.

Limited space prevents the full explanation of the different pest control information and regulations. Further details and assistance will be gladly given any one on the above items.

to go in the ditch, and will remember that day for a long time pets with farmers. Were excitement, for on our last load from Mulligan to Edmonton Lake. "Oh yes", they had said, "you'll have no trouble at all". The road to the stack has been ploughed out and we have no fear. But more 1080 baits. I took us one hour to get in and another hour and a half to get back to the road with a load—420 bales per trip. Not bad, we were sure. The trail had been ploughed with a V-shaped driven first wide and sharp — turns right from the start, with high banks on each side. We went straight across the field to the yard, loaded on the hay, and a half, and drove back out to the road in about three minutes, after a good deal of shovelling. Half way out one chain broke and wrapped itself around the axle, breaking a brake line. It wasn't until we were on the road again that we realized we had lost the trailer brakes in the working order, and they took a few seconds before starting to hold. We took it easy for the 15 miles to Sandy, where we stopped at the Republic Service Station and repaired the broken line. That trip took thirteen hours from the time we left Tofield to the time we returned. We took that load to Edmonton, in White Lake Creek, where we always found help to unload—Lowell and Don usually being the unlucky ones.

One other bad memory was the time the engine started to cut out while we were climbing the Great Hill! I was furiously pumping the gas pedal and manipulating the choke—but we reached the top and the engine started to pull again. What a relief!

FASHION FORECAST SPRING 1962

Color is king this spring, with color and more color everywhere. The lime yellowed greens prove to be one of the big promotional color families of the season. Next in promotional importance are the reflect to shock oranges. There are wonderful bright yellows, clear bright blues and icy raspberry pinks for summer wearing. The cool part of spring brings color excitement in the American red, white and blue feeling. Note also the return to the fashion scene of grays. That wonderful neutral is living used with black and brown to red print combinations it will be on a color to watch for future seasons. Navy appears lighter and brighter than in past seasons Cottons have succeeded in producing new and bold concepts of mixed fibre fabrics, blending prints and woven fabrics, and consumers are offered unlimited possibilities.

COTTONS FOR SPRING 1962

From sporty to dressy, cottons are important. Woven grounds generously decorated with satin overprints, are fashionable in spring as well as deep dimension prints. Prints in paisley and plaid effects in the seersucker and ginghams of woven . . . all are significant, as are the polka, check, and oxford weave for sportwear. A strong undertone in the cotton picture is the fabrics have the washability of lighter weight weaves such as chambray and batiste. Many weaves are concentrated in this area which includes the lawn and voile varieties of the sheer batiste. Many crepe weaves as plain cloths for surface interest and softer hand are also offered.

TRIMMINGS FOR SPRING

The dimensional look of fabrics cannot be stressed too strongly and nowhere is it more in evidence than in trims and homespun weaves. A new trim this year is available is the diagonal weaving of fabrics or the diagonal print on the grain of the fabric. Straight of the goods which precludes the necessity for cutting a stripe fabric on the bias to achieve this latest look. Bright reds are a strong influence predicted on the trimmings. Contrast gives them the past Fall. Clips and raised plastic effect also create a dimensional look. The crepe weave seems highly suited to all fabrics. Buttons, woolens and synthetics can also points out the need for dimension and suppleness in fabrics. Border prints remain on the scene, with some new resources adding them to the line. The sterling trend is aimed at the geometric motif primarily, and they are shown in both printed and woven effects. A return to the double border is also in evidence. The knit story seems destined for permanence and longevity. Prices notwithstanding at any level, double knits in both cottons and synthetics add excitement to many lines. The feeling is widespread with jacquards bold multi stripes, and fancies supplanting the plain fabrics. They are better woven and the knowledge of the mills and converters will gain more of the consumers' confidence.

Mr Justice Neil Primrose of the Alberta Supreme Court Tuesday reserved judgment in a legal battle for the custody of four Alberta orphans whose parents were killed in a traffic accident near Ryley, on June 24, 1961.

Contesting the guardianship are an Alberta family of Roman Catholic faith and a Protestant family from Ontario. Both are aunts and uncles of the children, who range in age from one to eight years.

The children are: Robert Andrew, 8; Shirley Ann, 6; Neil John, 7; and Lynn Marie, 1, whose parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Lesowsky.

The Ontario family is Mr. and Mrs. Peter Scheil of Chatham. Mr Scheil is a 43-year-old building contractor. His wife is a sister to the late Joyce Lesowsky, mother of the children. The Scheils have an adopted son.

CASE FROM CHATHAM

Mrs. Scheil came to Edmonton from Chatham about a month ago for the hearing. The Scheils are represented by counsel Irvine Short Q.C. A. Dubetsky is counsel for the Patries.

The family to be awarded guardianship will receive $200 per month allowance from the Order of Fatherless for support of the children.

Mr. Justice Neil Primrose of the Alberta Supreme Court heard the application Tuesday after Judge L. A. Evans ruled the district court had no jurisdiction in the matter.

This is guest weekend at Edmonton branch, U of A

Plans are progressing very well for Varsity Guest Weekend which will run from February 22nd to 25th at the University of Alberta in Edmonton. A burgeoning high school population is one of the factors which will contribute to an expected record attendance of 15,000 visitors.

Varsity Guest Weekend, one of the major campus activities is designed primarily to acquaint Albertans with their university and to encourage high school students to aim for a university education.

Saturday, Feb. 24th will be the most active day as all faculties and some departments set up their numerous displays. Prominent among the displays ...ill be the popular phys-math display and the medical undergraduate display. Also prominent will be the commerce faculty's HM display. The Edmonton Undergraduate Society will again promote a winter carnival and ice figurine contest open to all faculties and fraternities. A special visitor in the afternoon will be Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

Also on Saturday there will be a gamut of coffee and tea parties including the Nurses' Tea, the Wauneita Tea and the Pan Hellenic-Wauneita Coffee Party.

Varsity Varsettes musical comedy production "Receptare the Rapture" will be one of the highlights of Guest Weekend. It will run February 22nd to 24th, concurrently with the Studio Theatre production "The Visit".

The Weekend will be kicked off Thursday, Feb. 22nd with the President's Reception and Appreciation Banquet, sponsored by the Students' Union and hosting civic officials, SAA's and members of the arms media.

Cultural activities include the University Symphony Concerts on Thursday and Friday evenings, the Male-Mixed Chorus Concert Saturday afternoon, a Chamber Music Concert Saturday evening, and a Musical Club Concert Sunday in Convocation Hall.

Social activities will include the Edmonton Intercats dance Friday, Feb. 23rd in the Ice Arena and the Physical Education "Ivy League Ball" Saturday in the University Gym.

The Varsity Guest Weekend Committee hopes many Albertans will take advantage of this opportunity to see their University.

No time for burnt offerings

Another column on this page this week reflects the gloating in Ottawa at what may come to be a contest to the death, politically, between Hazen Argue and Tommy Douglas, who suggests he may contest the next federal election with Mr. Argue. Since his former seat provincially is included in the same riding with Mr. Argue's in the federal campaign, this could easily develop, and certainly one would be eliminated as a factor in Canadian politics.

In our opinion, this contest should be avoided at all costs. Elections are a rough and tumble game, as everyone knows, and little compassion is felt for the loser in any contest. But both of these men are experienced, capable, even skilled parliamentarians, and Canada cannot afford to lose one such.

We're not sympathetic to the politics of either; regardless of the tag "Liberal" which Mr. Argue has accepted, he is still very far to the left, as is Mr. Douglas. Nonetheless, the West, especially, can ill afford to lose even one such able spokesman for the region. It is to be hoped the voters in Assiniboia are not forced to sacrifice either one.

Off the hooke

The Hon. A. J. Hooke came out with a surprisingly ungentlemanly display in the Legislature the other day, when he charged Calgary's Public School Board chairman, Harvey Bliss, with "an outright lie". Mr. Bliss, not being a member of the legislature, is in no fair position to defend himself, and Mr. Hooke, of course, as a member of that body, carries the privilege to utter such remarks.

He has been outspoken before, and we have often admired his outspokenness, but here, we feel, he has gone too far. Regardless of the minister's statement, the area of contention is one which is difficult to find absolute proof, and it would seem that Mr. Hooke is merely building bricks in his wall to shut out the school boards. Mr Bliss has said that the government's foundation program had cost the major cities a heavy increase in taxes, and Mr. Hooke says categorically this is untrue.

It is hard to overlook the point . . . which IS a fact . . . that school taxes in both Edmonton and Calgary increased substantially after introduction of the foundation program, and it is hard to imagine that trustees in these two cities deliberately set out to increase spending substantially merely in order to embarrass the government, when it meant a heavy increase in their own taxes.

It is entirely likely that sweeping statements over economy are being made by the CCF in the program. When it is remembered that many boards were able to balance their budgets simply because the department of education forced them to swallow up in one year surpluses accumulated over a period of years, and when it is remembered that such surpluses will not likely be available in the future, then it may seem more reasonable to feel the experience of perhaps five years should be studied when speaking of economies.

Were the government to have accepted responsibility for the salaries of teachers . . . something the trustees have asked for years, and something which accounts for by far the greatest part of their budget . . . then perhaps there would have been no need for the foundation program.

Staggering debt

Increasing credit purchases have been acknowledged for years, and for years have formed the basis for a good deal of concern on the part of several observers of the Canadian scene.

However, it was not until a recent convention of credit men from all over Canada was held in Edmonton that we realized the extent to which credit purchasing had soared. The sixteenth such annual conference, the picture presented to the credit men was such that they were more than concerned with the fact that debt is increasing by a monthly average of .8%, which means an annual increase of more than one fourteenth . . . a mighty hefty gain.

Consumer debt, at the time of the convention last week, stood at $3,284,000,000, just over three and a quarter billion dollars, or just about $180 per capita. And this is just for consumer goods, not taking into account such huge figures as mortgages on farms, commercial debt, government debt, and so on.

Small wonder the delegates felt a comprehensive course of instruction should be provided for consumers, with the emphasis on pointing out to them complete information regarding credit procedures and consumer obligations. They even felt it important enough that representatives of each province joined in supporting a resolution urging departments of education to include a credit purchasing course in high school.

While we feel this is not a subject for high school curricula, which are already crowded enough and where higher standards will be increasingly demanding of pupils' time, still it is interesting to see how important the group felt the matter to be, and how tremendous the debt has grown

A new Liberal ?

OTTAWA. Hazen Argue's dramatic departure from the New Labor Democratic Party has shaken that organization to its foundations. It has compounded the problems now confronting the New Party's leadership as it tries to overcome factions which already have all but destroyed the party's chances in the next Federal election.

Mr. Argue decision has been a setback for the New Democratic Party. Until he left the party he was the only member from Saskatchewan in the New Party. Instead, Mr. Douglas spurns of ordinary have been disillusioned with the New Party. Instead, Mr. Douglas will have to look elsewhere for support in the next federal election.

Mr. Argue had thoroughly canvassed his own constituency before making up his mind. He had found that many farmer supporters of the CCF he learned that much of the bad will stemmed from the New Democratic Party.

Mr. Argue after making his announcement in Saskatchewan that he had decided to resign from the New Democratic Party flew back to Ottawa. He had taken the precaution to telephone ahead after his announcement, and have the Liberals. He studied that party's platform and policies and came to the conclusion it was the only existing alternative. He found that Liberal Leader L. B. Pearson and the advisers he has gathered had formulated "a fairly progressive" program.

PEARSON "LOONS BETTER"

Reporters pointed out that in the past he had made some pretty harsh statements about Mr. Pearson and Liberal Party. He laughed and said he liked the new Mr. Pearson. He added, "I would say that it was a new Pearson who had the stature on the Government and the Prime Minister during the recent speech debate this session made I thought Mr. Pearson in the throne speech debate this session made the most effective speech I have heard from an opposition member in my 15 years in Parliament."

Mr. Argue added that Mr. Argue was ready to join the Liberals. Out in Saskatchewan the Liberal leader has extended an invitation to his old friends and to the Conservatives to come into the Liberal Party. Back in Ottawa, Mr. Argue was making plans to meet federal Liberal Leader Pearson, and it only appeared to be a matter of time before the announcement would be made that Mr. Argue would be the federal Liberal candidate at Ottawa.

Meantime there were rumours that the ex-premier of Saskatchewan, T. C. Douglas, now national leader of the New Democratic Party, might decide to invade Assiniboia and do battle with Mr. Argue there in the federal election. Mr. Douglas' old provincial seat of Weyburn is included in the federal riding of Assiniboia. It would be a battle to the political death for one of the cornerstants stood $20, and that this compared very favorably with the cost of a factory made desk, which was approximately $56. The members of the Committee were of the opinion that the desk was very well constructed and in many ways superior to a factory made one.

Mr. Blanchard referred to Mr. Russel Rjukan, physical education instructor at Holden, who had been attending University during the past year, and asked if Mr. Ryuka would be available when the present term was completed. He said he would very much like to have Mr. Ryuka working in the Holden School until the end of the present school term.

It was moved by Mr. Reed that arrangements be made for Mr. Ryuka to resume his duties as physical education teacher at the Holden school after the present University term.

It was decided that the interpretation committee, concerning the teachers' salaries, would meet on Tuesday, Feb. 13th, at 1:00 p.m.

But must refer to the Town Council proceeding across the tracks.

The cost to the employer would be 4% of the employees salary, the cost to the County was considered to be less than 2%.

After some considerable discussion, during which time the members of the Committee appeared to realize that a plan of this type would be necessary sooner or later, it was moved that the committee employees be circularized in this matter to ascertain how many would be willing to join this plan.

A letter from the Department of Highways, the reply from the district engineer indicated that the question of snow removal would be the responsibility of the department, and requested that the exact locations of the signs be indicated on a sheet of map. The letter further indicated that no signs would be available to indicate school bus turn, but that "SCHOOL BUS STOP 1,000 FT." were available. However, it was also requested that every effort be made to shift the bus stop to a point where visibility would be at least 1,000 feet, possibly overcome the need of the 1,000 ft. sign. It was decided to take up the matter with the engineer by the members of the committee that were present, instead of changing the bus stop and keep the safety of the children in mind and it was moved that the request be made to the Town Council to have the signs, advising that bus stops cannot be altered, also that possibly a sign "BUS ENTERING AND LEAVING HIGHWAY" would be advisable if "BUS TURN" is not available. Cd

Some 438 enquiries were handled by the bureau during the year.

A traveller's diary . . .

This is the fourth in a series by Simon Alexander of Tofield.

Paris is a beautiful city, with wide streets, a beautiful view, and a friendly people, especially the people face. This is the impression one gets on one's first visit to the French capital.

We had arranged to spend three days in Paris, and arrived there one spring afternoon in April by way of aeroplane and bus. We had arranged to stay at 68, Avenue Mozeves, and by far from the Eiffel, which was the home of a rounds of nine, who manufactured air conditioning equipments and who are known throughout Paris as Mr. Hilton, Mr. Hilton has a charming family.

Our first adventure was to visit "Les Halles", accompanied by another cousin of mine, who spoke fluent French. Les Halles is a huge and vegetable market for Paris, the capital city of the country.

We were going to meet at a station on the Metro the Paris equivalent of our subway system. It is very difficult to get lost on the Metro and there is the quickest means of getting across the city One buys a book of tickets "ma carnet", and surrenders one ticket for each ride. Simple, isn't it? Anyone who follows on special tracks which are clearly marked on the journey.

Arriving at Les Halles" at about 11.00 p.m., we wandered around amongst the busy crowds of people, the country loaded with everything imaginable. The produce is stacked in warehouses and along the streets for the public auction, which starts about 2:00 a.m. There is a terrific amount of noise trucks moving, crates being banged together, and whatever anything went wrong, a torrent of French voices raised in short lived anger.

One of the attractions of "Les Halles" is "at the" Onion soup and drink wine in the cafes frequented by the traders. When I say "wine" I mean soup. I mean it, for it is a meal in itself, made from beef, onion and cheese floating in the soup itself. A bottle of wine is a "must", as it is at every meal in France, where it is drunk in much the same way as we drink water in this country. Unfortunately, we had to leave at 1:00 a.m. to catch the last Metro train. By this time there were piles of carrots parsley, fruit and every garden vegetable you could think of. Soon, the storekeepers would be along to get what they needed for the next day's business.

The next day, I spent walking the streets and boulevards of Paris. Most of them are lined with chestnut trees, and at this time they were all in flower it was quite a sight. Parisian motorists seem to drive as fast as they can, and one feels quite pleased with oneself about crossing a busy street especially on the Champs-Elysees in spite of the Champs-Elysees that if one could sit on a sidewalk cafe for 24 hours, and it is almost possible to do this, one would be a walk by a representative of every country in the world. The sides-walk cafes are always crowded to capacity, and it is a very pleasant way to spend a few hours relaxing and generally observing the people as they go by.

At one end of the Champs-Elysees is the Arc de Triomphe, built by order of the Teuloreus Emperor, Napoleon a memorial erected by Napoleon commemorating his victories in the Napoleonic wars. Underneath is the tomb of the unknown soldier, where a flame is constantly kept alight. The Arc de Triomphe stands in the centre of the Place de Etoile where eight long streets meet, and is considered one of the busiest sections of the city traffic-wise.

Turning now to another tourist attraction the Eiffel Tower, erected by one of the most extraordinary characters in the world. It towers 986 feet in the air, not to mention the aerial which would be another 40 of that. An elevator carries one to the top, and over three hundred steps inside the tower. The whole of Paris can be seen, and it is quite possible to pick out most of the famous buildings and streets and also a large stretch of the Seine River. If there is a wind blowing as there was when I was last there, one can distinctly feel the tower swaying in the breeze. At that moment I was glad I wasn't a steeplejack, quite a few of whom were clambering about above and below us painting the whole structure. I must say I was glad to get my feet on firm ground again though I wouldn't have missed the adventure for anything. From the top of the Tower I could see "Les Bataux Mouche" (tourist boats) plying up and down the river with their loads of sight-seeing tourists.

That evening I had a date with my cousin to meet him at his apartment, as he had promised to take us to a typically French restaurant. This was an experience I had been looking forward to and I was not disappointed. Before we left the apartment he called the restaurant to make reservations.

"Allo, chez Renee" "

Bon, ici M. Heller, je veux une table pour trois, se soir 'a huit heures"

"Bon, merci Renee, au voir"

In due course we arrived at the restaurant which, incidentally, is about two doors from one of Paris' most famous night dining spots. We parked here and calmly walked over to Chez Renee (Renee's Restaurant). I wondered what would happen to the car but everything was taken in control "The dictorum" has a friend of mine; the car will be safe when we need it again," said my cousin. We walked into Chez Renee and were received in a typically French manner "Ah, M. Heller, ... Oh, Monsieur, bien, et mademoiselle aussi, ouvrez pour toi et votres amis."

The waiters were garbed white wine with a little black currant juice added, and we had time to take in what was going one. The restaurant was absolutely full with not a tourist in the place except ourselves. I must say I was glad to have been there with yard-long loaves of bread crawles and bottles of wine, and steaming dishes of typically French food in front of us.

By George!

At last I can join that bunch of "oldtimers" who can tell the younger generation how things used to be. "Well, sir, you may think it's cold out today, but, by golly, I can remember a time when it was a lot colder than this." I will be referring, of course, to the weather of the past day or so, and particularly to that of Monday night when the mercury dipped to 31 below. At least, that was the reading of the thermometer at our home in town and although I didn't hear the official Calgary Power reading at the time of writing, I presume this usually reliable thermometer is very close to right.

One thing about cold weather is this part of the world is that it is never unexpected, or at least it shouldn't be at this time of year, and everyone is prepared for it to be, and how tremendous the debt has grown ing and therefore it creates few hardships, except that maybe poor old "Pa" and many another child-dren, too, might find themselves going about a pump to reach their destinations.

Considering that weather would as this corona very seldom, we in Alberta can consider ourselves most fortunate I'm sure we'd all much rather put up with some of the inconveniences brought about by cold weather than to have to be prepared to face up to such things as hurricanes, tornadoes, earthquakes and widespread floods that are endured by many of the residents of this world's warmer climates.

Sure, it's pleasant to dream of heading to the warmer climates of the south during the winter months but just think of what those people are missing who have not enjoyed an Alberta springtime!

MISUNDERSTOOD

The husband-and-wife argument had reached its height.

"I wish I'd taken mother's advice and never married you!" the wife sobbed bitterly.

The husband sighed gloomily: "Do you mean to say that your mother tried to stop you marrying me?" she nodded.

"Good Lord," the husband whispered, "How I've wronged that woman!"

Teenage dancers have one advantage over their parents. They seldom get close enough to step on their partner's feet.

QUITE EXCITING

Author: "This is the plot of my story. A middle-aged couple, two burglars creep stealthily toward the house. They climb a wall, force open a window and enter the room. The clock strikes one."

She: (breathlessly): "Which one?"

They had just completed four years of married bliss today and had just made their first five bucks. As they rolled along the hot, dusty road from the drop inn, Ma said, "Honey, remember, one fledgling sad to another:

"Say, did the preacher there I get my biggest kiss?"

"I can't say for you", was the other's grim reply, "but I got mine when I hesitated too long in the door."

THAT'S ASKING A LOT

A minister went to call on a member of his parish who had been ill. "Good morning," he said, lingering illness. He tried to run on, but by saying, "I have the sympathy of all your friends and neighbors and you already know to whom you can turn for consolation in your hour of need."

"Yes, I know", the new widow replied, "but I doubt that he'll want to marry me with the four kids".

Mayor believes in future of Ryley

Ryley has a growth potential as great or greater than that of any other town in the province, according to the mayor who should know. He has lived here since 1946 when Ryley had fewer than 150 people and has watched it double in size twice. Now Ryley is nearly five times as big as it was when he first came here.

Throughout the years Ryley's expansion was started at times by the farm that destroyed lots of buildings, but the expansion has generated by men with the ability to look ahead.

The outstanding masonry note in which Fred Lueder was elected to council last October spoke well for the confidence Ryleyans have in him as a leader of the community.

The mayor told The Mercury he believes a man's achievements as mayor cannot be measured by how much he has gained financially by, but rather by the extent of which he has given himself to the community in which he lives. His advice to the young people can be summed up fourfold.

"First you have a personal responsibility. You must pull your own economic weight.

"Secondly, you have a social responsibility. None of us is independent. We owe a debt to others, both past and present, which we can only repay by being considerate to others.

"Thirdly, remember your political responsibility. Take an interest in your community, and when you have a chance to vote, vote for the man that pleases you most.

"Finally, look on yourself as a world citizen. We live in a world where the wonders of science and nations of the world are now only a stone's throw away."

snails, which, incidentally, are extremely good.

I forgot what we had, but we finished with cheese and a discussion with our next table neighbors on the merits of various cheeses and the right time to eat them. It happened that the Roquefort cheese was that night "extra special". We took their advice and feasted on Roquefort cheese and ordered another bottle of "vin rouge". It transpired that one of our neighbors suffered from arthritis, and had a most unique cure, which he insisted we try. He ordered a bottle of what was almost pure alcohol, which had in it a whole lemon, skin, pulp and all. It is quite an experience to drink a liquor such as that as it also had quite a "kick" to it; but by that time I was feeling no pain, and it seemed a good way to end the evening.

Next day we had to leave for home, but on arriving at the Skyways bus depot, found there were no seats left on any planes that day. However, we were lucky two people cancelled their seats and we were able to get back to England before dark having left Paris at about 1:00 p.m.

All in all, it had been an eventful trip, and well worth the time and money spent.

Ministik news briefs

Despite a cold and stormy day, there was a fair number at church to enjoy the service taken by Mrs. Howard Usher. Howard is a fantastic husband, having such a very active wife, who can take the service when he is ill, which was the reason he could not come himself.

The weather the last few days leaves much to be desired. The temperature this morning was 36° below zero, the coldest for this late since 1951.

Mrs. Tom Jones, Bob and young Chris motored to High Prairie, Alberta, last Tuesday, and returned on Friday. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boysenn and Jimmy.

Louisa Vikner weds Kingman man

KINGMAN, Feb. 19 The Bardo Lutheran Church was decorated with pink gladiolus and white mums on January 13th, 1962, for the wedding of Louisa Frances Vikner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fasbaug of Tofield, to Mr. Rudolf Karl Uselin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Uselin of Kingman. The guest pews were marked with nosegays of pink and white roses.

Pastor Rue performed the double-ring ceremony, with Pastor H. Haugen giving the altar address.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a full-skirted gown of tiered white lace-over net, styled with a scalloped neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins, and long lily-point sleeves. Her lace-trimmed chapel veil of illusion net was held in place by a crown of rhinestones and pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses with asymmetrical. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone necklace and earrings set, a gift of the groom.

Linea Vikner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Carol Wagner was bridesmaid. They were identically styled gowns of shrimp and yellow nylon over taffeta and were matching pompon head crowns with short veils. Their bouquets were of carnations and pompons in yellow mums.

Junior bridesmaids were Gwendolyn and Glenda Fasbaug, sisters of the bride, who were identically styled gowns of blue crystaline nylon with matching headdress of net trimmed bows, and they carried cascade bouquets of white carnations and blue forget-me-nots.

Ronny Campbell was flower girl, and wore a pink nylon full-skirted dress, and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and pink mums.

The groom was attended by Evelyn Bjerg and Emil Kosobuko. Ushers were Larry Fasbaug and Gustav Ekdahl.

Mrs. Andy Heisberg played the wedding music, and Mrs. B. Hagen sang "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fasbaug chose a red wool suit with white accessories and a corsage of white roses completed her ensemble. The groom's mother chose a figured jersey dress with white accessories, and her corsage was of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Tofield Community Hall for 150 guests. The bride's table was laid with a lace tablecloth, and a beautifully decorated three - tiered wedding cake was flanked with lighted candles and bouquets of flowers. During the reception, Mrs Lester Severson and Patricia sang a duet, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dobson and Mr. Gustav Ekdahl sang, a trio. Lester Severson, master of ceremonies, read telegrams from minnesota, Sweden and Valhalla Centre. Leif Fasbaug proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded.

In the evening, a wedding dance was held in the Kingman Hall, with music supplied by the "Western Five."

For a honeymoon trip to Vancouver, B.C. and Mexico, the bride chose a beige brocade two-piece dress, with green and brown accessories, and a corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble.

Out-of-town guests were from Grande Prairie, La Glace, High Prairie, Breton, Calgary, Camrose, Kerrobert, B.C., Edmonton, Holden, New Norway and Hay Lakes.

(Mrs. Ellen Eaton)

Winter hit another blow on Saturday evening with some snow and a cold wind. Sunday morning and some thin iced roads and lows Sunday night the thermometer dropped to 44 below zero in our district and a continuing extreme cold again tonight (Monday). So here's hoping spring is really just around the corner, with no more extreme changes from warm to cold. (Monday night was 38° below zero in our district.)

Relatives of servicement buried in Holland may be able to take advantage of a pilgrimage to the Netherlands this fall, with all arrangements being handled by the Royal Canadian Legion. For several years the Legion has worked through the British Legion, and the Netherlands War Graves Commission, for visits of next-to-kin, to the war graves in Holland.

The first of what is hoped will be a series of visits will be planned early this fall. Arrangements have been made for chartered flight passage at $200 per person from Montreal to Holland, though this is being reduced by $50 per person by the Netherlands War Graves Committee.

Modern etiquette

Q. Just what is considered the proper length of time between the announcement of an engagement and the wedding itself?

A. There is no "proper" length of time. Usually, however, the minimum is about six months, and if a couple anticipates a greater length of time, the announcement can either be postponed or, if it is in the newspaper, it can be corked with the statement, "No date has as yet been set for the wedding".

Q. If a girl is to be married in a church wearing an afternoon dress or hat is it in any one maid-of-honor, or she supposed to go in only a very few friends and relatives to a wedding of this type?

A. There is no limit to the number of people that may be invited, provided, of course, there is ample room for everyone.

Annual Tofield ratepayers meeting held February 26

The statutory meeting of ratepayers of the Town of Tofield was held on Monday, Feb. 26th, at 8:00 p.m. in the council room.

On motion of Messrs. Swift-Pitts, H. E. Christensen was appointed Chairman, and the secretary-treasurer recorded the minutes.

Members of council present were: Mayor Fryebury, Councillors Swift and Herndon, and ten persons were present in all.

The Municipal Inspector's report for December 15, 1961, was then read by the secretary-treasurer, most important item being a recommendation that a cash surplus of at least 25% of the current levy be set up as a reserve fund. It was noted that a cash balance of approximately $7,000 had accumulated in 1961.

TAX ARREARS UP

The annual report of the secretary-treasurer for the year 1961 was read, and H. G. Selby received the auditor's financial statement, commenting that arrears of taxes had risen by a figure of over $2,000 from previous year. Collection of current levy had dropped some, and current and arrears collections had been about 105%, though some years the record was better than this.

A general discussion took place concerning such matters as sidewalks, drainage, future planning, etc.

The matter of erecting school cross-walks and stop signs was discussed by Ald. Pitts, and concurred in by Clr. Herndon. Those most particularly concerned are the intersection of King Street and 6th Avenue, and Centre Avenue and King Street.

Mr. Arnett mentioned the number of dogs which congregate at the school, some of which were strays. This was to receive the attention of the police committee.

DUST NUISANCE

Mr. Selfer asked about doing something to alleviate the dust nuisance in the summer time, north of Highway 14, from the first block to Main Street. The council members felt that oil is unsatisfactory for this purpose. The matter remains under study, at the request. G. H. Arnett gave notice that he will be the appointed school councillor for the Tofield Municipal District at the reorganization meeting of the Town of Tofield, and felt that Tofield was well provided for, and that general harmony and cooperation exists.

HOSPITAL

W. J. Finn, as chairman, gave a report on the Tofield Municipal Hospital. He pointed out that various facilities have been put out and were in need of repair, which had resulted in a substantial maintenance expense, increase in salaries had also contributed, and 1962's budget would be resulted in unapproved cost figure of approximately $16,000. He strongly realized that a considerable increase in unapproved costs requisition would be expected for 1962 by the hospital board. Mr. Finn felt that management had been very efficient.

Mayor Freebury concluded the discussion by stating the thoughts of the Council to a revision of the town plan, making the town more attractive at the entrance to Highway 14, raising grades, and generally cleaning up and removal of unsightly objects.

Curlers' banquet tonight

As part of the bonspiel now in progress in Tofield, the annual banquet for curlers is being held in the Legion Hall tonight, starting at 6:30.

Supper this afternoon, curlers say, to be called off, for a while at least, due to the change in warmer weather. The change created consternation on the part of inside the rink, and when the drops of moisture became too numerous they left to the ice, causing small lumps and making the surface unplayable.

Dance's name missed

The Tofield High School Drama Club will present a three act play, "Unlikely Wedding" on Wednesday, April 18th, at the School Gym, starting, 8:15 p.m. Admission 75c and $1.00.

A good number of ratepayers turned out to show their appreciation of voicing their freedom of choice in municipal government.

Holden ratepayers hold annual meet

Last Monday, Feb. 26th, the Village of Holden held its annual meeting, a very cold night was warmed up by glorious quotations lived here and there.

Upon the call to order by Chairman Allan Hulbolm of the meeting, and Allan Hulbolm was re-elected by acclamation. He passed on the various departments of the village, which he stated were progressing most satisfactorily. In one particular field, Mr. Hulbolm complimented the fire department on the very interesting and educational display and show that they had presented for Fire Prevention Week.

The auditor's report and the inspector's report were read by the village secretary, and comments were made at various times.

New councillor named at Holden

Russell M. Bohush was elected Monday as a councillor on the council of the Village of Holden in a special election. Mr. Bohush received 125 votes, while his only opponent, John L. Godbout, was a close second with 91.

A good number of ratepayers turned out to show their appreciation of voicing their freedom of choice in municipal government.

Mild weather appreciated

After more than a week of below-zero temperatures, Tofield area residents were most appreciative of the balmy weather earlier this week, when some of the snow began to melt. The chance will be short-lived, however, as the weather office predicted colder temperatures for tonight. Storm warnings are out, with rain changing to snow predicted.

Pioneer days of Holden

(By Ray Haviand)

The early settlers in this district had a number of hardships to contend with, as mixed nationalities from various countries came to settle around Holden. The language barrier and the different customs of living were the first great hardships to overcome. There were but a few business places in Holden to start with. It is said that the town site was first situated west of its present location, on the particular land now owned by Pat when the railway came through all the business places moved east, to be conveniently located to the station and the railway.

Some of the old timers now living in or around Holden will remember some of the first settlers at Holden. I may not be right in order, but I'll mention some of those grand people, and to tell of the part they played in the settlement of this district.

The first doctors were Dr. Reid, Dr. Kennedy and Dr. Farrell, and they would travel by buggy in the summer and cutter in the winter, driven by a good horse, from home to home to visit the sick, which in those days was a never ending job for them.

The first school was opened with ten pupils in attendance, with Miss Bribbis as teacher. She was paid $12.00 per month, and out of this she managed to put aside enough to buy and furnish her own home.

Church services used to be held for many years in the Campbell home, with all religious freely invited to attend. After the railway came through, church services

Since The Mercury is now being printed out of town, we find that we are forced to make an adjustment in our deadlines. We simply cannot get this week's news and advertising copy up to Wednesday evening, but unfortunately this does not reach the printer until Thursday afternoon. This is a difference of about two or three hours—to have the material set up in type and put in the paper in time for mailing in Tofield by six o'clock Thursday evening. Therefore, we must make our deadline 5:30 Tuesday evening in Tofield, as all material must be mailed to the printer by 6:00 Tuesday evening, as that typesetting can be started Wednesday noon. We are sure we can count on the co-operation of all advertisers and news contributors in this regard. There is a possibility that this earlier deadline will mean earlier delivery of the papers to Tofield for mailing on Thursday.

DISTRICT CORRESPONDENTS PLEASE NOTE—

If district correspondents wish to speed up delivery of their news, and be sure of having it included in the issue for which it is intended, they may mail their material direct to the printer, The Tofield Mercury, P.O. Box 1570, Camrose, Alta.

Narrow escape for Ryley man

Freight strikes truck; driver bruised, shaken

Joe Wideman, who farms with his father just north of Ryley, miraculously escaped serious injury and possible death Monday morning when the one-ton farm truck he was driving was struck by an eastbound CNR through freight on the level crossing about a quarter mile north of Ryley. Mr. Wideman was proceeding south at the time of the mishap.

BURIED IN SNOW

The cab of the truck was hurled into the deep ditch a few feet away from the point of impact, while the truck box remained in the mid-

Although his face is badly cut and bruised, Joe Wideman is still able to smile in his Tofield hospital bed, and assures himself fortunate, indeed, to have escaped with relatively minor cuts and bruises in an accident Monday morning at Ryley. The truck he was driving was struck on a level crossing just north of Ryley by a CNR freight train.

Tofield Farmers Union hears reports of delegates to annual FUA meeting

At the last meeting of the Tofield Farmers Union at Alberta Beleview the annual convention gave reports on some of the more contentious resolutions that were passed at the annual convention. This will be continued at the next meeting, Tuesday, March 13th, at 8:00 p.m. in the Legion Hall.

The delegates advised the meeting that as many as possible should take in the convention, as it was a real experience to get contact from all over the Province and get their divergent views. They suggested that instead of one or two going for the whole week, one or two should go each day. This will be considered.

F.U.A. Auto Insurance Pool has declared a 7% dividend on 1961 business, which compares with 4% in 1960, and this after only three years of operation.

Members are still trying to form an M.S.I. group. They have another plan for this if the can get it to work, but it needs some discussion to get it going. All interested are asked to come out on March 13th, at 8:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall, as this will be the last chance.

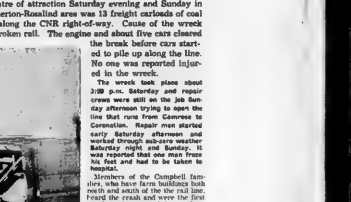
Ankerton train wreck derails 13 freight cars

Centre of attraction Saturday evening and Sunday in the Ankerton-Rosalind area was 13 freight carloads of coal spread along the CNR right-of-way. Cause of the wreck was a broken rail. The engine and about five cars cleared the break before cars started to pile up along the line. No one was reported injured in the wreck.

The wreck took place about 3:00 p.m. Saturday and repair crews were still on the job Sunday afternoon trying to open the line that runs from Camrose to Coronation. Repair men started early Saturday afternoon and worked through sub-zero weather Saturday night and Sunday. It was reported that one man froze his feet and had to be taken to hospital.

Members of the Campbell families, who have farm buildings both south and south of the rail line, heard the crash and were the first people at the scene of the accident. The engineer was driven into Rosalind to report the wreck

The caboose and several loaded cars at the tail end of the train did not leave the rails. They were not moved until late Sunday when the tracks were cleared and the damaged rail repaired. The cars that left the tracks were still piled along the right-of-way Sunday evening



PART OF THE RUBBLE

The underside of a boxcar load of coal, the wheels and another car that left the CNR tracks one mile west of Ankerton last Saturday afternoon, are shown in the above picture. Thirteen cars loaded with lumber and coal left the rails. About three cars broke open, strewing coal all over the ground. Some cars headed out into the brush, others just turned on their side along the right-of-way.

What must they learn?

Guest Editorial

It must be a difficult thing, these days, to be involved in the business of public education. No other professional group in our society seems so consistently under fire as our educators. It could hardly be otherwise for they are charged with the exasperating task of fitting children for a world that gropes helplessly for spiritual fulfillment while keeping its eyes firmly fixed on material goals

On the other hand, education is a calling offering a most inspiring challenge. Surely the future of any society is directly dependent upon what society teaches its children. There lies the great dilemma of education.

What shall we teach our children if we are to fit them for life in a society of constantly increasing complexity? In seeking an answer to that question, I think, it is easy to lose sight of the forest in our bewildered contemplation of the trees. Is it possible that, in an effort to give young people a little of everything, we may wind up giving them VERY little of anything?

Perhaps, if that be true, this year's theme for education week is particularly appropriate. "Accent on Excellence" it was in 1962 and surely such an idea, taken seriously, must mitigate the trend toward a greater multiplicity in the subjects taught our children. The achievement of excellence is anything demands concentration of time and effort in a single direction. There may be time and effort available for the achievement of excellence in a few things but surely each new subject attempted must detract from the chance of achieving excellence in any.

The foregoing, no doubt, reads like the preamble to a plea for the return of a stark educational program limited to the three R's. Possibly it is. At any rate, I am certain that here lies the greatest need for the accent on excellence. These are the basic skills of learning. The degree to which a child achieves mastery of them will determine the extent to which he will be able to make use of his natural aptitude for learning.

Thoroughly grounded in the three R's, a child is equipped to embark upon the quest for a meaningful education, but what direction shall it take? Shall he follow the trail of science, seeking new mastery over our environment? Shall he delve in literature and history for the lessons of the past? Is he to be taught the skills he must have to earn a living? Who knows? Is the answer not different for every individual? If every child needs some knowledge in each of these fields, is there a standard formula which will provide optimum nourishment for all? Does not each require his own prescription, blending these elements in proportions fitted to his own aptitudes and temperament? If so, there can be no ideal answer except in the prohibitively expensive solution of a separate educational program, tailor-made for each child.

Perhaps our schools will have done their part if they give each child an excellent grasp of the basic learning skills, the knowledge that man does not live by bread alone, an appreciation of his personal responsibility to society and a little confidence with which to face the world. It may be that a child so fitted could go on and cut out his own tailor-made education . . . if the schools could do one thing more.

With the accent on excellence in teaching, I think they might preserve the insatiable appetite for learning that every child has when thrust into the hands of the school . . . the eternal, exasperating question mark that so often makes mothers of pre-schoolers wish that bed-time came right after breakfast. There's ancient enough if it could be preserved and bent toward excellence. . . . RSH.

Obsolete as the Model T

Whether or not it was apropos national education week we cannot say, but a press conference held this week by John S. Cormack of Edmonton makes fascinating reading. Mr. Cormack, it will be remembered, was a member of the recent Alberta Royal Commission on Education . . . the dissident member, to be exact, who filed a minority report. So it is not entirely unexpected that we find Mr. Cormack is once again critical of the Alberta government.

This time he is ranging on the Minister of Municipal Affairs for his public statement that school boards are as obsolete as the Model T. Ford. Not so, declaims Mr. Cormack, who charges Mr. Hooke with "setting up an elaborate smoke screen in try to shift the blame which so rightfully belongs to the government."

Alberta has led the country, he declares, in forcing upon our children an educational system that has been nothing more than a gruesome experiment . . . with our children as the guinea pigs. This has brought to us the highest costs for education in the dominion. Further, he charges, the large divisions and counties have actually raised costs above those of independent public school districts, other than cities, and even not including the new buses. Completing this charge, Mr. Cormack issued a challenge to Mr. Hooke to prove otherwise.

Mr. Cormack's explanation for Mr. Hooke's program is that it can only mean the government is trying more and more to centralize control. The great legion of school trustees who have been, and will be, legislated out of existence, might well question the action of an education system which emphasizes social adjustment more than intellectual achievement, which introduces the child to everything but knowledge. But the thousands of trustees who shrunk to 300, he says, and will disappear altogether under Mr. Hooke's program.

Whatever Mr. Hooke may think, he continues, the Model T and the Thunderbird are basically the same: same type of engine, same wheels, same steering wheel, same system of ignition. The same comparison cannot be made between school boards of today and the educational system Mr. Hooke and his colleagues would propose, Mr. Cormack claims. The only comparison would be this: on the grounds that school boards are as obsolete as the Model T, Mr. Hooke and his colleagues propose to abolish the automobile altogether.

INDUSTRY FOR TOFIELD

During the past week we visited the premises of Aksel Rasmussen, and we were impressed most favorably with the start this newcomer to the community had made on what he hopes will be a good-sized manufacturing plant. A complete story on Mr. Rasmussen's achievements thus far and his plans for the future will be carried in next week's issue of The Mercury.

In the meantime we would suggest that interested Tofield residents might visit the site of the proposed plant, for we are sure that they will be most welcome by Mr. Rasmussen. This enterprise will be something new for Alberta, and Tofield people should be very pleased that this man has chosen their community as his base of operations. From a modest but small start this project could develop into a major asset for the town and district.

CORRESPONDENCE

A letter from Mr. Morley J. Jacobsen of Tofield was referred to the Council. The letter indicated that in the winter of 1961 the brush had been cut on the road allowance on the west road past R.½-50-19-W4th, and in the early summer or late spring of '61 the brush was burnt, and in burning the brush the fence had burnt as well, with practically all the posts as well as the wire destroyed. Mr. Jacobsen stated that he had referred this matter to Cr. Westdal-erill, who had informed him that no one had been authorized to burn this brush and that in Cr. Westherill's opinion the Council was not responsible for the damage. Cr. Westherill reiterated his statement made to Mr. Jacobsen that he had not authorized the burning of the brush and that it occurred to him that someone, perhaps passing on the road, might have tossed a burning match or cigarette butt in the grass and that the fire had started in this manner.

After some discussion, it was moved that the the Council does not accept responsibility for the burning of the brush with resultant damage to Mr. Jacobsen's fence. CU.

A letter from Mr. R. W. Vergette stating that it was his understanding that the County intends to develop the Black Nugget's Strip Mine into a park and that this would result in a greater number of visitors to the park for fishing and picnics. It was suggested that a request be made to the Fish and Game Branch of the Provincial Government that a larger number of rainbow trout be allotted this park this year and in the future to the Black Nugget Lake.

Moved that the letter be received and filed and the request made as suggested in the letter. CU.

A letter from Calen Thurber of Edgerton, soliciting the attendance of the annual technical school for Agricultural Fieldmen and Assistants on March 19th and 20th was received and filed. CU.

Moved that the shop foreman Ken Field, attend this school and that he be paid $10 per day for attendance. CU.

A letter from the Hospitals Division, Dept. of Public Health, covering approval of the program of Flagstaff-Beaver Auxiliary Hospital District No. 20, was referred to the Council. The letter indicated that although the nominations of board members tended to indicate approval of the program, the Dept. still required a resolution approving the scheme from both of the major municipalities, which will own and operate the hospitals.

Moved that the Council approve the Flagstaff-Beaver Auxiliary Hospital District No. 20 program as set out in Min. Ord. 6688, 1961. CU.

Letter from the Dept. of the Provincial Secretary, Recreation and Culture Development Branch, advising of the third annual workshop for Municipal Recreation Boards to be held at the Banff School of Fine Arts commencing 7:45 p.m., Friday, March 23rd, was referred to the Council.

A letter from Mr. Frank Zelinski of Kinsella, requesting that the road allowance west and south of Sec. 18-46-11-W4th be brushed and that the road between Sec. 19 and 30 and north of 19-46-11 be graveled, was referred to the County Clerk.

Moved that Mr. Zelinski be advised that Cr. Johnston will consider the request for brushing and that he explores reconstruction of the existing road with gravel on the existing road building season. CU.

A letter from the Edmonton Dept. of Trade, Dayland and District Board of Trade and the Town of Daysland requesting that the Council of the County of Beaver give priority to the road from the S.W. corner of the S.W. 18-46-17-W4th seven miles north to the Tofield-Daysland highway, under the Special Contingency Road Grant legislation. CU.

Moved that the matter be added that it is the intention of the Council to apply for this road under the Contingency Grant regulations. CU.

The Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had a letter from the Sun Publishing Ltd. stating that they intended to have a representative covering the annual ratepayers meeting on Feb. 17, 1962 and that they required partial accommodation for this meeting.

A report from Mr. Ralph Messenger, Dept. of Highways, concerning the road to be built under the regular grant during 1961 was received as the Council had not report indicated that, in the opinion of the District Engineer, a few of the roads constructed had not been up to proper standards and he suggested certain factors that should be taken into consideration when roads are constructed under the regular grant.

Moved that the report be received and filed. CU.

Letter from the Dept. of Highways concerning the Provincial Secondary Road System.

Moved that we apply to the Dept. of Highways for the road from the S.W. corner of S.W. 18-46-17-W4th nine miles east to connect with Highway No. 16 to be constructed under the Natural Resources road grant. CU.

THE RYLEY TIMES

Ryley Artificial Insemination unit reports excellent progress in 1961

Although only the hardy ten per cent of the members of the Ryley Artificial Breeding Association braved the 35 below weather to attend the annual meeting on February 20th it can be safely said that the enthusiasm of the members for the services and benefits received from the association

The financial statement read by Auditor H. G. Fisk indicated that the association was in a financially sound position and would again pay dividends on the year's operations. A continually increasing membership with a resultant increase in the number of cows being serviced appeared to be the main feature overlooking to the continuing success of the association.

In 1956 the association had a membership of 170 with 820 cows being serviced. Since that time membership has increased to 320 and the number of cows serviced rose to 1700. Despite this very commendable increase members were urged to continue to promote the use of A.I. in their neighborhoods. They were assured that the two technicians could quite adequately handle many more cows than is presently being done.

The secretary, Wm. Winsor, reported that although 85 percent of the cattle serviced were Holstein women was available for 10 different breeds of cattle, covering all major breeds of beef and dairy animals. Worthy of note was the fact that some 400 head of beef cows were serviced by A.I. during the year. Indications are that more farmers with smaller herds are becoming increasingly aware of the value of A.I. service and are gradually eliminating their scrub bulls and obtain the services of such sires as through A.I. This practice is not being confined to small herds, as one ranch with a sizeable herd is using A.I. exclusively which is proof enough that A.I. can be used successfully on beef herds. It was pointed out that only bulls of the highest quality were being used for A.I. service and all were selected on the basis of their pedigree and production records of their ancestors and offsprings, with many of these bulls being purchased at prices of up to $25,000.00.

The board of directors reported that they had purchased two new bovine nitrogen canisters for the storage of semen. President Ed Monsson stated that this was the most modern equipment available and that Ryley A.I. Unit was the first in Alberta to obtain this equipment. These storage units, he said, maintained a constant temperature of 320 degrees below zero which gave a positive guarantee against spoilage. An added advantage of these canisters was their portability with the technicians being able to carry the entire supply of semen and could thus service any zone at any time. He said that it was a source of pride that Ryley was one of the first units organized in the province, would again take the lead in being the first to obtain this modern equipment.

R. K. Westmancoat, chairman of the bull selection committee reported that a committee had always been on hand to select the bulls for the association and that the committee would continue to do so. He also stated that Bonnie Brae Farms had been awarded the trophy for the highest average of any herd serviced by A.I. during the year.

Following the business session, directors were held to fill the vacancies on the board of directors. Floyd Wideman and John Warner of Tofield were returned to office for another term and Harold Gieselsman of Holden was elected to replace George McVige of Bruce whose term of office had expired.

All gentlemen living within a 10 mile radius of Ryley can obtain the services of the A.I. unit by phoning the secretary at Ryley 122 between the hours of 9 and 11 a.m. Service charges are $4.00 per cow for members and $5.00 per cow for non-members. The extra dollar charged non-members is retained in a fund and after all services for the year have been completed a pro rata refund is made to members. Farmers who have not yet tried breeding cows to A.I. are urged to do so now as then they might be able to see the difference between using ordinary bulls and the high quality bulls which are used in A.I.

Following the business session, Ed Monsson and Mrs. Ruth Dixon of the Bull Selection committee were hostesses to the ladies and Bonnie Brae Farms were hosts to the men at a banquet held in the Ryley Hotel dining room.

were held over the Liden Store, with only apple bones used for bowling but everyone enjoyed the session they were so looking for, and found. Then in 1912 the first church was built, with Baldur Clack as head carpenter.

Peter Sorensen had the first livery stable and it is said many a little fight would occur there, as I was one of the most common places for men to gather to talk over their doings of the past week or perhaps the last month.

There is one little incident I would like to relate here that is so befitting. A couple were having a heavy quarrel over a fair lady friend, and in the excitement the false teeth fell from one of the gentlemen's mouth into the waste pile. Without realizing what he was doing, he picked up the teeth and popped them into his mouth.

This livery stable was built where Mayor Johnsen's house now stands.

Mr Sorensen also started many a straw pile where the Royal Bank building is now located. The first bank was known as the Traders Bank, with George E. McVittie as manager, having come from Delhi. Archie Farran also worked in this bank for many years.

Leo Rilland's father started the first blacksmith shop in Holden, which was located where Mrs. Pasank's house now stands.

I would like to mention others as business in town, but will break it up briefly into three articles as mentioning some of the old timers' names and trends in stone early days.

BACK SEAT FOR ANGLO-SAXONS

(The Financial Post)

A boy named John Ruggio, who came to Canada five years ago from Germany knowing almost no English, won a recent public speaking competition open to all high school students in Metropolitan Toronto. There were only four other students in the final round of the contest. Their surnames were Podolski, Ochenkoyr, Prata and Weihs. It is plain that Toronto is no longer, as it used to be, the most "Anglo-Saxon" city in Canada. It is also evident that New Canadian boys and girls are showing commendable zeal in learning the language of the country. Those with latent or clear expression of their ideas will no doubt become, as a rule, better leaders in business and public affairs.

This is all to the good, but it is permissible to ask why the offspring of families long established in Canada and for generations fully familiar with English are lagging behind, as they appear to be, in the art of saying what you mean and saying it forcefully. Does their mother tongue offer no challenge to them? Whatever the answer, the example of young John Ruggio and the others should make them and their parents think.

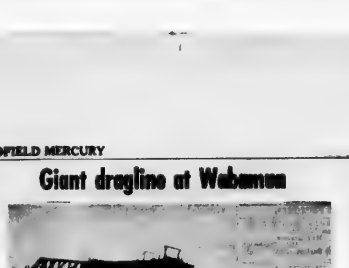
Giant dragline at Wabamun



A giant 1700-ton walking dragline is in process of assembly on a field trials at Calgary Power's Wabamun Plant This electrically operated dragline will be used in the strip excavations from the coal seams at the coal field adjacent to the company's terminal power plant.

Trolley "Tuesday" is quite a change in the weather with the temperature around 10 above after it was so long with it away below zero. Several mornings in the past few weeks it has been between 25 to 35 degrees below zero at our district so here's hoping we will get a break at last.

To facilitate field assembly, the boom's single-piece of material shipped was limited to 30 tons. Two large cranes now dwarfed by the completed dragline, were used for unloading and erection during the last summer and fall.

The dragline with its 35 cubic yard bucket is capable of stripping 6,000,000 cubic yards of overburden annually on a three shift operation. Its mining machinery will move 70 million tons of coal.

Initially the coal handling equipment will operate at a rate of 800,000 tons of coal a year, largely on a one shift operation. By 1967, with the addition of a fourth unit at Wabamun, coal consumption at the plant is expected to reach 2,500,000 tons a year to meet the present total coal consumption in the Province of Alberta.

FARM VARIETY PLOT
Our Crop Testing Plan will again distribute, free of charge, to farmers who will undertake to grow, at home, a small demonstration plot, made of some 30 different varieties of wheat, oats, barley and flax.
This is an opportunity to study and compare as they grow, not only the standard types, but also most of the newer and more promising varieties. Supplies are limited.

ROSS CREEK NEWS

(Intended for last week)

Our district ladies did a fine bit of curling at the spiel in Tofield. An enjoyable time was had, along with getting in on the prizes. Mrs. Ivan Herchak skipped a rink, with other players being Mrs. Mary Holowayehuk, Mrs. Gert Jarrel and Mrs. Beth Lauder. Mrs. Winnie McLachlan skipped the other rink, with other players being Mrs. Vida Bailey, Mrs. Margaret Hopf and Mrs. Helen Ferguson. Congratulations!

Josie Herchek's rink won 1st in the second event and Winnie McLachlan's rink placed 1st in the third event.

The closed bonspiel will be held for the schedule players this week. May the lucky rinks win. (All playing as a priest, with bananas held behind the back).

Our boys are able to keep warm and healthy these real wintery days. Seems more like Saskatchewan as much wind. The heat is yet to come—at least we is weather comes, eh?

A few faithful blood donors gave their blood last Tuesday at the Red Cross Blood Clinic at Lamont. It was reported that Mr. Wyman Orborne, Mrs. Ina Bilan and Mrs. Nell Malcolm did their bit towards saving a life.

Mr. Wyman Osborne motored to Vikeng recently, visiting old friends of the district. Mr. Ed Tree and Mr. Ralph Stroud, now living in the new home built for the elderly folk. A big "hi" to Ed and Ralph from all the Ross Creek folk. Come back and visit around when warmer weather comes, eh?

Mrs. Roy Reinhardt is kept extra busy nowadays helping out with Mrs. Albert Hallberg's washing. While she has been laid up (still using crutches for some time yet) I see it is also taking care of Mrs. Paul Jacobs' baby for a while during her illness. We wish Mrs. Jacobs better health real soon.

Aksel Rasmussen planning new industry for Tofield and district

Has started plant to manufacture grain dryers

If all goes well for Aksel Rasmussen, who moved to Tofield last October 11th from the Peace River country, Tofield people will see a new manufacturing plant in operation on the eastern outskirts of the town. Mr. Rasmussen has applied for a patient on a grain drying machine which he has invented. At present he is setting up heavy machinery, most of which he constructs himself, in preparation for manufacturing the grain dryers.

SEVERAL BUILDINGS

Already Mr. Rasmussen has several buildings erected on the property which he purchased recently, and it is in these buildings that he makes his unit equipment, and where he makes his home.

Mr. Rasmussen chose Tofield as the location for his plant for the simple reason that the cost of natural gas—necessary for the operations — costs less in this area.

Part of the plant to date is an electrical power supply unit, which he built himself. He has a Ford V8 truck motor operating a belt unit (as that being a generator. From this generator he lets all the electricity he needs for light and power.

The motor's cooling system he has turned into a heating unit by running from it hot water through pipes to his machine shop. The machine shop the water goes through a propane truck radiator, which is the best type for the purpose, and then into the basement where it is used for domestic purposes. In the present power plant itself is

Mr. Rasmussen explained that there is not much demand for grain drying machines in this area, but in the Peace River country, where he resided for the past ten years, he expects to find a good market for them.

While in the Far North, Mr. Rasmussen was engaged in the farming business, and operated a sawmill and planing mill. He sold both because, as he said "the bottom had dropped out of the lumber business." It was at that time that he started building the machine for his present business. He has a patent on it.

Besides selling the machine, he says, his partner will share in the profits from the sale of grain that is dried. He said that he expected that I still thank I'll be very busy from this summer."

Any considerable what the investment is required to date, it is fairly safe to bet that he will be!

Tofield man killed, two others injured in train-truck crash near Bretona

A train-truck crash near Bretona, 20 miles southeast of Edmonton, last Thursday about noon, took the life of Severn Knudsen of Tofield. Mr. Knudsen was a passenger in the truck along with Roy Larsen and Donald Weiss, both of Lindbrook. Both Mr. Larsen and Mr. Weiss suffered injuries which were considered to be serious.

FIRST ON SCENE

First man on the scene of the accident was Lee Geddes of Bay Lake.

Mr. Geddes assisted by a farmer who arrived quickly at the scene, managed to release the victim from beneath the truck before the ambulance arrived from Edmonton to transfer the two injured men to hospital in Edmonton.

Visibility at the time of the accident was reported as only fair. It was snowing, and it seemed by the appearances at the scene of the mishap that the train had not been heard or seen by the driver or the other occupants of the truck. A witness stated that the train was blowing its whistle as it approached the crossing. There were no brakes applied before the truck was struck.

Mr. Knudsen was pronounced dead on arrival at the Edmonton General Hospital.

Mr. Knudsen was born in Denmark and came to Canada in 1928. He was married to Miss Ellen Jensen in 1933. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Ronald and Kenneth, and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Hansen, all of Tofield.

Funeral services will be held from the Andrews-McLaughlin Funeral Chapel, Tofield, on Monday, March 19th at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Brenda McNeill will officiate. Interment will be in the Tofield Cemetery.

Community league sponsors Red Cross swim lessons

This season's lessons, under the Red Cross Water Safety Council, will be available to Tofield and district residents early this summer. At a recent meeting of the Tofield Community League, it was decided to sponsor this venture, W. Pinn and H. E. Christensen being appointed a committee of two to make arrangements.

The classes will be carried on for two consecutive weeks runs as usual, Monday through Friday. Red Cross trained instructors will conduct the classes, and water safety rules, artificial respiration, etc., as well as actual swimming will be taught. Classes will be divided in groups of not more than 10. A child must be of school age, and adult classes can be arranged if desired.

It is hoped to have a water safety night in the Tofield Community Centre in the near future, conducted by Red Cross officials which we are sure will prove the importance of this venture. Classes of over 100 have been conducted successfully in other points, and it is hoped to have a good registration in Tofield. A nominal fee to cover expenses will be charged, and transportation to be arranged by parents. A doctor's certificate for each participant must accompany registration. The committee must be assured of sufficient registration by April 13th in order to make arrangements with the Red Cross for instructors.

A form found elsewhere in this paper is to be filled in, but is not an official registration. It will be used only to estimate the number of interested students

Lexie Appleby moved the meeting be adjourned, and then the following officers were given: Graham Wyllie, a model calf pen; Laurie Yarmuch, a showmanship plaque for best calf; Graham Wilson, judging beef cattle; Lorne Wilson advantages of keeping records.

Tofield's famous 'Silver Seven' followed by 'The Millionaires'

Brief story of another famous hockey team presented to Historical Society

This history of "The Tofield Millionaires", another well known hockey team of the early 1920's was given to The Mercury by Bruce Phillips, secretary of the Tofield Historical Society. It is taken from a record of Tofield's hockey activities kept by Roy Lee. The picture accompanying this article is from Harold Weatherill. The Mercury is grateful to these people for this article.

When the Silver Seven hockey team was at the height of its fame,

Tofield Millionaires

Roy Lee was a sports - minded youngster who haunted the old covered hockey rink built by Ben Hackwell, north of the present curling rink. Here, Roy Lee watched and admired as his special heroes were Lou and Herb Diamond as well as his cousins Herb and Cyle Lee, won the laurels of Tofield hockey fans as they demonstrated one scintillating play after another. In these days Roy says, the rink would be packed to the rafters; excitement and betting were high. Unfortunately, the excitement subsided as the team disbanded when three of its star players Gordon Haines, Jack and Herb Lee enlisted in the Canadian Army.

In 1918 George Bissett Herb and Bob Lee came back to Tofield, and a new hockey team was formed with Jim Hannan as manager. This team was known as the Tofield Millionaires. This title origin ated when a reference to the amount of money it took to feed the players of the hockey team while en route to games on the train. They were young, healthy and hungry, and the diner service on the CNR prevailed accordingly.

George Bissett who had been one of the youngster members of the Silver Seven, now played defence with Roy Lee for the Millionaires and Tofield relied upon the two of them as three years. Roy says Bissett also blocked as many shots as Lou Diamond and Herb Diamond were especially interested in playing as the Rankins were also ex-former members of the Silver Seven, Jim Charlesworth and Smokey McDonald.

The Millionaires were members of the Gladue League which was composed of teams from Tofield, Holden, Ryley and Viking. The "Dream Club" was the name of the competition but the Millionaires won it several times. Roy says that the Millionaires were in possession of the cup for three years and Roy Lee reports that the Rose City had it for seven seasons of play-ing in the persons of the Hanson brothers.

The Millionaires defended in 1921 Roy Lee then played on the Camrose team for a one-season's games in 1921, and in 1925 was offered a job in Camrose which carried the stipulation that he play hockey for Camrose. The Camrose team, he says was a hired team sponsored by the town and to whose support Mr. H. Peterson, a Hereford breeder and Roy's employer, subscribed heavily. At the end of the year Mr. Boggs was host on the old Riverview team when the Rith cup was presentably Silver Seven, now played defence with Roy Lee for the Millionaires and played 4 years with the Millionaires who were owned and under the management of Mr. W. Weston late editor of the Tofield Mercury.

Mr. Lee has recalled and listed the hockey players of the Tofield area from the famous Silver Seven on until 1941.

Action at last

It appears that the Doukhobor Freedomites have at last committed a crime considered serious enough to warrant action by the B.C. and Canadian governments. After more than 800 bombings and burnings by the Freedomites in the last 40 years, and 30 attacks this year alone, RCMP reinforcements have been sent into the Kootenays of British Columbia to take action — drastic action, it is hoped — to bring this terrorism to an end once and for all. It took the bombing of a power pylon on Kootenay Lake last week, resulting in unemployment for well over a thousand workers in industrial plants, to focus more attention on the trouble spots.

The B.C. government has made a request of the federal government that army units be stationed in the Kootenays for practical training, a request that seems to have merit. It is far past the time when peaceable residents of the area should be forced to exist with such terrorist activities going on. With a thousand families out of work, and stores of all kinds feeling the pinch, too, it is small wonder that there have been suggestions of action on some sort of vigilante basis. We cannot imagine thousands of people long suffering these sporadic attacks, endangering lives of children, workers, travellers . . . every sort of peaceable citizen, without the build-up of some sort of lynch law or Ku Klux Klan type of organization. How would you feel if it were right around Tofield, for instance.

One thing we have never been able to understand is how they gain access to so much explosive. You daren't even a gun around here without registering it, yet apparently you can buy enough explosives to blow up half a town without anyone asking questions.

Wrong medicine?

We sometimes wonder whether we are putting the emphasis on only part of the cure when people of this richer nations of the Western World send bundles of food and clothing to the needy in the crowded countries of the globe. We do not mean that these shipments should be stopped or decreased. They must be increased, of course, to be of assistance, but this is only a partial solution to the problem. It is time more attention was given to the fact that these countries are the first to feel the effects of the so-called population explosion. Much might be accomplished toward solving the hunger problem if some way were developed to curb the fantastic growth rates in population. In other words, we might be serving a very useful purpose if we were to promote education in birth control in these countries.

One U.S. general, William H. Draper Jr., has gone so far as to say "the population explosion threatens the peace and security and well-being of the entire world in about the same degree as the nuclear bomb or communism itself."

As an example he cited the incident which brought the U.S. into the Second World War: "It is quite clear that population pressures in the Japanese islands 20 years ago and Japanese fear of American interference with the growing Japanese empire . . . directly caused the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor."

He warned of building pressure along the same line today, in that Communist China is adding somewhere between ten and fifteen million people each year to her already enormous population. General Draper noted that if present growth rates continue, the 1961 population would more than double in the next forty years.

In the United States both Roman Catholic and Protestant church leaders have urged that a "crash research program be adopted by the government with adequate funding directing the national institutes of health to improve all methods of family planning. Religious controversies brought about by this issue apparently are moving toward solution.

We are pleased to learn that in at least one already overcrowded country—India —the government has expressed the hope that education, contraception and voluntary sterilization may some day keep down the mounting population.

There can be no argument that the problem does exist, and the sooner something is done—or at least started—the easier the solution will be.

They earned it

If ever a hockey team earned a defeat, it was Canada's representatives, the Galt Terriers, in the world hockey championships game last night at Colorado Springs. No team can win games when they are shorthanded a good deal of the time, with players in the penalty box. It is small wonder that Canadian teams have not been popular, for there is no doubt they are playing "dirty hockey", if last night's televised game is an indication.

It's about time the ever-increasing rough tactics in Canadian hockey were eliminated by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association before the situation gets completely out of hand. Good sportsmanship and good clean hockey are far more desirable than a "dirty" win, whether in the world hockey or a game among minor leaguers in a neighborhood rink.

The will of the people

"The will of the people must prevail" is the final statement on a letter sent out this week by a Mr. Conrad Pfeifer, explaining his move to have the Alberta Social Credit League cancel the membership of Premier Manning and his Cabinet Ministers.

These men are not in accord with the aims of the League, according to Mr. Pfeifer. This they have shown by their actions, which he goes on to document.

As a student of politics, it should hardly be necessary to recall to Mr. Pfeifer the famous retort of Sir John A. MacDonald: "the people would rather have MacDonald drunk than George Brown sober." The lessons of politics are sometimes hard to learn, but Mr. Pfeifer should realize the people would rather have Mr. Manning as a Liberal or a Conservative or a New Democrat, than Mr. Pfeifer as a Social Crediter

Father Gene's 44 teenagers

(From the Whitehorse Star)

THIS IS the Far North. We live in a very big house a mile north of the highway on the banks of the Yukon River. Fifty-six people live here. 12 staffworkers of the Mackenna Hudson Apostolate, 44 teenage Indian students and myself. We also have a northern dog, a very nice one. He has a fine doghouse in the shelter of the "bush" which borders our property.

Our Indian students have come to Whitehorse to attend school. Their parents live in primitive dwellings (tents or shacks) in scattered, isolated Indian villages stretching all the way from Fort Nelson in British Columbia to Beaver on the Alaska border. These two villages are more than 850 miles apart.

For 10 months of the year I am the legal guardian of these 44 children. 22 boys and 22 girls. For 60 days passed and they had not been my responsibility. A week. Two. Months could find no clue.

On the last day of September two of our girls disappeared. It was assumed that they had run away to see relatives the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The girls are of same name 14 years old, the other 15. Physically they are quite mature, all but grown women, emotionally they are very immature — they act like children of six, seven, eight or nine.

How would you feel if your teen-age daughter were missing in a trackless town where a "music fringe" of depraved white men are little more than scavengers always on the hunt for Indian girls? Three days passed and they had not been found. Four days. A week. Two. Months could find no clue.

I went out on patrol myself into Whitehorse. Into Mercantile Flats and all the bootlegger shanties and pockets of Whitehorse that I know so well. I knocked on doors. I opened doors. I followed the beer trails into "famous" shacks that are not always abandoned. I shadowed the "hang-outs" of teenagers in the morning, afternoon, evening and night. I got wisps of rumors but they always led nowhere.

Where were our two girls? The RCMP were concerned because beautiful thick as it swirled in the glare of the searchlights at night. Where are our two girls? The snow danced and laughed some more.

After three weeks of fruitless searching, the Mounties were tipped off that the girls had been seen with a man in a blue Buick headed north on the Alaska Highway. Northern outposts of the RCMP were alerted and the girls were finally taken into custody at Snag. Upon arrival at Whitehorse both girls were found to be privileged characters with a reserved disposition. They were hospitalized for 10 days. The girls said their story truthfully to the Mounties, naming names and places. Eight men contributed to the delinquency of these girls. None of the men were Indians. Five policemen are also involved and were given jail sentences or fines. Charges against the two remaining men have been dropped.

Father Gene Caffarel is the director of the Mackenna Hudson Apostolate which he and work at Our Lady of Whitehorse Hostel are learning much about the Northern Indian. We are studying anthropology; we are learning from the missionaries who have lived in the North for many decades; we are learning from the Indians themselves. We have very much yet to learn.

Legislature report . . .

(By Ken Mason)

EDMONTON, March 9. — The government has proposed some major changes in the laws governing Hutterite colonies.

A bill given first reading last week would eliminate the need of public hearings when Hutterites apply for new colonies. Instead, the communal property board would accept written evidence and conduct whatever investigations it considers necessary.

Another change would impose a waiting period between application. If an application were made and rejected, the Hutterites could not make another application on the same piece of land, or any part of it, for three years.

The bill was introduced by Municipal Affairs Minister Alf Hooke who told newsmen he does not know how Hutterites will react to the changes. He said he hasn't discussed them with them.

But he added that public hearings haven't accomplished what the government hoped they would. He indicated that in many cases they just generate bitterness.

BOOKKEEPING, NOT BUDGET

Debate on the government's $255,-000,000 budget raged on last week. Ass. Opposition members were not so much upset about the amount of money being spent as they were about the government's system of bookkeeping.

Liberal member Mike Maccagno of Lac La Biche quarrelled with the financial treasurer's claim that he was able to bring in a record budget without increasing taxation. In one way or another, he said, the government will be taking more money from the people.

For example, he wondered if new oil and gas royalty rates might be reflected in higher consumer prices.

He also questioned the claim that school operating grants will be increased by $8,000,000. He suggested money that was in building grants last year has been transferred to operating grants, with the result that the overall increase in the school grant program is only around $1,000,000.

Speaking off the budget debate, Mr. Maccagno also launched a rare personal attack on Premier Manning. He criticized Mr. Manning for continuing to hold the portfolios of attorney-general and minister of mines and minerals despite his vast majority in the House. He wondered if the premier was unable to find among his 60 supporters anyone with the "integrity or ability" to handle these jobs. And he suggested it was a "damning judgment" on the men elected as Social Credit supporters.

Progressive Conservative member Ernest Watkins suggested there's no increase at all in school grants. He said the government budgeted $46,600,000 for operating grants last year, but recent estimates increased the figure to $57,-200,000 the same amount as that contained in the new budget.

Mr. Watkins also took issue with the statement that Alberta is balancing its budget. He said the treasurer can hardly make this claim on the subject which appeared about three months ago in The Lacombe Globe.

The school support for the basketball teams has been increasing with each game, but continually

A GOOD BEGINNING

"Well, what do you expect, we've only been married three months!"

THAT'S ASKING A LOT

A minister went to call on a member of his parish who had been ill for some time. After a long, lingering illness, the invalid was at the point of death. "You have the sympathy of all the congregation, my friend," the minister's host remarked. "Is there anything I can do for you?" he asked. Johnnie replied, "Just you save my life".

"Why, I know that one wishes replied, "but I doubt that he'll want to marry me with the flue bug".

By George!

March has been said and written in recent weeks about the poor repute police are getting from the public of late. In Edmonton recently there have been two attacks on policemen. Following is an editorial on the subject which appeared about three months ago in The Lacombe Globe:

The police and public relations

Police Chief Anthony of Edmonton has deplored the lack of public interest in which the police force has descended in recent years. He wasn't talking about the "dumb cop" image depicted in television shows, where the policeman bumbles along trying to solve crime while the smooth private investigator turns up all the clues and hands over the guilty party at the 29th minute climax of the 30-minute program. In true life, we know that the police are intelligent and capable of finding "their man" in the old tradition.

What the police chief was getting at was the poor public relations of police forces across the country, and the consequent poor public image of policemen generally. We read about a street case where two or three policemen in the night are subjected to the taunts two gangs of boys were themselves attacked and beaten up, while a group of adult civilians looked on and cheered on the youths. It is the duty of citizens to help maintain law and order not to condone and even encourage violence. The police require assistance from the public and file to fulfill themselves in this co-operation demands public respect and good will. Since relations between the police and the public have built to a new low, it follows that the understanding and co-operation which is so necessary is lacking.

Take car drivers for example, are like brothers. They exceed the speed limit on the highway, keep tailing an eye on the motorcycle man for the bogeyman in blue. If the gave caught, they vent their spleen on the policeman who is only doing his duty in the public interest. The police don't make the laws. They only enforce them.

But it's the cop who's to blame, and he's cursed and condemned. This attitude on the part of the public isn't fair, but it doesn't help build up a pleasant public image of the police force. This instead of assisting policemen in maintaining law and order, the average Joe-blow has adopted a neutral attitude at best, hostile at worst, to them.

Is there a solution to the problem of improving public relations? Most citizens are decent, law-abiding and willing to help the police if they are educated in the role they can play. Police forces across Canada would find that a general publicity campaign would be profitable if it embodied information about the difficult tasks confronting them and some of the good work accomplished. They shouldn't be shy in citing credits. The biggest part of the job of keeping a good public image is for the police to get credit for their achievements on behalf of the public they serve — Lacombe Globe.

News from the Ministik district

(Mrs. Jim Roddick)

We don't say farewell to February this year with mixed emotions, as it set several records for cold. Anyway, now we can hope for spring soon as temperatures climb.

Friends far and wide were distressed to hear of the loss by fire of Donald Grummett's home and contents last Thursday. A bingo is being held on Friday, March 9th at Minisik Hall, proceeds to help Donald along the way.

Mrs. Pat Paterson of Lonma, Alberta, visited with her mother, Mrs. Annie Oliver, on Thursday. She also visited at the George Kreinschmitt home.

Mrs. Leslie Whitford returned on Saturday from Winnipeg where she attended the funeral of her brother-in-law, and stayed to visit her sister for a couple weeks.

Ronald Ferguson attended the bingo at the Gardens on Thursday evening, but reports it as being ladies' night as eight ladies won prizes out of the 10.

Several from here attended the grocery bingo at Hasting Lake on Friday evening with many of them coming home with groceries. A good time was had by all and proceeds donated to Donald Grummett.

Don't forget the Ladies' Club meeting to be held on Wednesday March 14th.

Old age pensioners were a broad smile last week as they looked at their cheques and saw they had been increased by $18.

Gary Bowland spent Sunday at home with his family. He has been busy this last while helping deliver phone books and picking up the old ones in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter George and Debbie of Edmonton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs Stanley George. Dolly and Jim Roddick

Ryley village ratepayers hold their annual meeting

On Monday Feb 26th the Village of Ryley ratepayers held their annual meeting. The temperature outside was very cold, but it was warmed up inside by the vigorous discussion put to the council.

The auditor's statement and inspector's report were read by the chairman and comments were made thereon by both council and ratepayers.

SURPLUS RECOMMENDED

The inspector's report recommended that the council budget the village so as to have a cash surplus of at least 25 per cent of the current levy, and that it be set up as a reserve fund.

A general discussion took place concerning such matters as sidewalks, snow removal, garbage disposal and future planning.

WATER TOWER

A lengthy discussion took place on the matter of erecting a water tower for the village, and it was decided that after the councillors acquire further information on this they will call a general meeting.

Mayor Louden concluded the discussion by thanking the ratepayers for their support during 1961.

Drinking attacked on nation-wide broadcast

In attacking the growing drink menace in our country, B. Charles Patterson, speaker on The Messiah Hour, says, "Statistics tell us that no business is as equal in seducing crime. Strong drink is a corrupter of public morals, and criminals all other causes as a hindermeter. It also heads the list as a spoiler of characters and maker of fortunes."

This quote from Rev. Hostetter's talk is taken from the March 11 release of The Mennonite Hour, broadcast on over 100 stations in United States and foreign lands. The program can be heard on CFCW Camrose, at 2:00 p.m. each Sunday. Four broadcasts continuing through April 1, speak to the drinking problem.

Jack Odell, an alcoholic for 11 years, and producer of the television radio program, "Unshackled", will also be heard on the March 18, 25, and April 1 broadcasts of the Messiah Hour. Jack is a member of the Pacific Garden Mission, Chicago, Ill., and is dedicated to redeeming alcoholics and other derelicts from skidrow.

The four radio talks delivered by Pastor Hostetter are printed in a booklet, "Drinking Darkness or Salvation?" and one copy is available free to all writing to The Mennonite Hour, Harrisonburg, Va., or to Kitchener, Ontario.

World Day of Prayer service held Friday in Holy Trinity Church here

There was a good attendance at the World Day of Prayer Service held in Holy Trinity Anglican Church on Friday, March 9th at 2:30 p.m. A few of the regular worshippers at this annual service were prevented from attending through illness and some may have been absent due to the drifted roads.

The Women's World Day of Prayer Service is always held on the first Friday in Lent and this year began in a very humble way. It was not always interdenominational, nor was it always international.

The World Day of Prayer is just what it says — a day of prayer around the world.

This year the call to prayer was issued by the new elected president of the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada, Mrs. A. H. Sword, and opened with the inspiring theme, "God's Love for the Whole World". The order of service for this year was prepared by a committee of church women in Uruguay, South America. On Friday, March 9th, the intercessions, "God's Love for the Whole World", was used in Canadian cities, towns and rural communities in French, Indian, Eskimo, Japanese and Chinese languages. Christian women all over the world knelt to pray, shaky women from distant coral strands and little girls, peasant women from the Andes, Indians and Eskimos in their sea parkas, veiled sisters from the desert lands, the last Indian believers in their saris, German women, Japanese women and others. All loving hearts in that great world family day of intimate love reunion. For 31 years now, Christian women have communed together in this deep spiritual fellowship of prayer and mutual understanding of their individual needs and beliefs so that for just one day at least, "the whole round world is in every way bound by gold chains about the feet of God."

The services held and the offering received, increase every year. In Canada more than 3,000 groups meet on this day with the rest of the world groups, the shut-ins and the family groups in isolated areas to express their united witness and to realize that altogether we are part of the household of God and the World Christian community. However, there are still scores and even hundreds in the towns, cities and country districts and villages who are not yet conscious of the opportunity of Prayer. Also there is abundant reason to hope that as more women join in intercession, the ministry of giving many be more widely extended. Let us carry with us into the everyday living of each day, the enduring peace and strength of the World Day of Prayer, so that we can say with the Psalmist — "I give myself unto prayer", and to feel that each daily happening has come to be a whisper from the lips of God. Each separate [illegible] a listening post and every circumstance a waysider.

The World Day of Prayer Service should not just end as another day of worship and fellowship to be tucked away as a happy memory, but should be the beginning of many days of re-dedication to do everything possible to know "Who is my neighbor" and to pray that the love of God may fill hearts and minds and bring peace to the individual and the world. The offering at the service was $33.45.

A special get-together was prepared at the close of the service.

Many follow these services by means of copies printed in Braille or who listen to recordings of the service.

The offerings are sent to the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada to produce Christian literature for the non-English speaking people in Canada for all women and children in developing countries around the world and many other purposes.

Self-reading meter cards

In an attempt to cut down on operation and maintenance costs, the power companies operating in this area have for some time used self-reading meter cards which the REA member receives by mail each billing period.

The member is asked to read and record the meter reading on the card, and mail it in to a designated address by a certain date, so that the service man may record the reading in his meter book, and then get the book in to the billing office in time to meet his deadline.

If each member reads his meter and returns the card before the due date, prompt service in order are realized. The computer is then given a yes or no as to whether other readings in a member designed to save the REA member money.

Unfortunately there are many REA members who are either careless or inconsiderate of their costs, and who do not return these cards as scheduled. The power companies will make one estimated reading, then if the card is not received after the next billing date a reading is made by the service man. This entails extra time and mileage as the serviceman must make a special trip for that purpose. At one meeting recently the men present were told that the number of special readings he had to make was $33.45 per month, or $100 for each billing period. It is this repeated in many associations that is causing the cost of maintenance is increased to an unnecessary extent.

Thus the thoughtless few penalize the many who send these cards in. When it is remembered that money spent in this additional meter reading is your money, and that money saved is credited to your reserve account, it is easily seen that the small act of reading and sending these cards when due works to everyone's advantage.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

support has been disgraceful. It is with great sorrow that we say "our community is the poorest supporter of school basketball in the County of Beaver".

Last February 17th, a P. & D. and junior high team journeyed to Camrose for a tournament. The stands were packed with spectators. Throughout both games a continuous roar came from the spectators. This is true school support. (Incidentally, most of the spectators were cheering for their local Camrose teams).

We asked, "Are you coming to the basketball game next Friday", to many of our local citizens. Here are just a few of the replies we received:-

1. "I've got better things to do than watch you 'jerks' play basketball."
2. "Basketball is a rough and tough game, where you play in shoes and overalls."
3. "Why don't you play hockey, or something where there is a little bodily contact".
4. "School is a place to learn, not to play basketball".

We realize the weather has not been the best for our local spectators to come and support the games. Curling, also, occupies some people's Friday evenings. What about the four types of people mentioned above? If they have so many better things to do than support their own school sports, then they are excusable.

For those who believe basketball is a girls' game and has no bodycontact—we can only invite you to say one of the basketball practices—we'll supply the gymnasium shoes. The people in the fourth class fail to realize that physical education is an important element of the school curriculum. There is another case, if the people of our community do not understand the game of basketball, the students have done a great injustice to our school, our town, and our community. If this is the case, then we would appreciate so very much if you, our school supporters, would inform us of this situation.

Basketball is one of the fastest sports in the games which require team work, co-ordination, accompanied by a quick brain and accuracy. This game is no simple one-day sport. It requires many hours of practice and guidance. We are very grateful to our teachers, who spend from 3½ to 4 hours per week on these teams. It is not only winning that counts, but having a reason to win—to satisfy our supporters.

We, the T.H.S. Athletics Club, have tried in vain to draw fans to our games. This is just one of many duties we, the sponsors, perform in the duration of a year. We tried putting up posters, advertising in the paper, and publishing articles on our games, but this has been to no avail. It is our sincere hope that our local citizens will support our teams in their last few games.

Sincerely yours,
T.H.S. Athletics Club.

Boges cheque artist arrested

A Camrose and Ryley district resident was arrested Friday by Camrose City Police after he tried to cash a forged cheque in a city clothing store. Police were summoned by the store manager.

The accused appeared Saturday morning in Camrose police court and was sentenced to two months in jail.

Coyotes plague Daysland farmers

(Mrs. Geo. Boggs)

DAYSLAND, March 12th.—There are many coyotes wandering around the district and because of the cold weather and deep snow they are venturing into the farm yards looking for food.

John Mahajowich reported finding one in the pig pen and chased it around his yard finally getting into the woodbox at the kitchen door where it was killed with a stick.

he was known as "point". He played any position and was in most plays. All players were 60-minute men.

Tofield Millionaires—1919-1924

Jim Hannan (manager); Norman Smith, George Biaseti (goal); Dr. Bain, Stan Livingstone, Roy Lee (defence); Bert McIntosh, Archie Frasier, Harold Weatherill, Bob Lee, Bud Hannan, Scotty Lee (wings); Laurie Scott, John Letourneau, (centre). "Pulsi" was dropped from this team, but an extra line of forwards was carried. The caretaker during this period was "Shorty" Carter; referees were George Agnew and A. B. Cutter-Bain. Laurie Scott turned professional and played with the Saskatoon Quakers in the "Old Pro" League.

Roy Lee recalls some of the highlights of hockey in the early 20's.

In 1920, the team journeyed to Camrose for a game. Billy Webb Stone one of the stars, a sporty Model T Ford, complete with side curtains. These were not too adequate protection against the temperature, which registered fifty below zero. The frost in the air revived the visibility to the point first the players, let alone the few fans present, could scarcely see the goals. Players and fans alike suffered from bites and bouts of numerous of the game.

All these discomforts were not enough apparently coming home, the driver missed the corner at the Kingman cemetery, others they should have turned, and they drove around the long way—by the site of the present Grand Forks Community Centre. At least the Model T kept on chugging away 'til Tofield was reached.

The Third Team—1926-1930

Mr. W. Worton (manager); Stoo Dodds, Sheik Ilowich (goal); Ross Craig, Norman Glover, Jack Whyte (wing); Les Glover, Herb Martin (defence); Ed Worton, "Crow" Worton, Lee Burnett, Jack Bowick (forward). Rebecca, Bob White; caretaker, Beaniste.

The Tofield Historical Society is grateful to Mr. Lee for his careful recording of Tofield's hockey activities, and extends thanks to him for this addition to its records. Harold Weatherill has kindly contributed a picture of the Millionaires, of which he was a member when the picture was taken in 1922, and to him, too, thanks are extended by the Society.

Canadian Propane introduces meters

It was announced recently by Canadian Propane Ltd., that their new Metergas service is available to their customers in this area.

A small compact meter is installed in the customer's home. This enables him to read his own meter every month. He will be billed for the amount of gas he has consumed.

"We feel that our customers will welcome this new convenient up-to-date type of propane service", commented a spokesman for Canadian Propane Ltd. "This metergas service is as convenient as service provided by city-type utilities".

It was pointed out that this gives the consumer a close check on the efficiency of his appliances and a better means of budgeting his monthly fuel expenses.

Users of this new service will never have to worry about running short of fuel. They are saved the trouble of re-ordering propane.

Pioneer of Beaver Lake district is laid to rest

Robert Daniel Jacobsen was born on December 11, 1885 at Rockwoodlee, North Dakota, U.S.A., to parents, Martin and Petra Davidson.

In 1904, the family moved to Edberg, Alberta, and in the spring of 1905 they came and settled on a farm in the Beaver Lake district, north of Ryley.

Mr. Robert Jacobsen worked with his family for perhaps the largest part of his life, and also made several trips back to the States where he spent a number of years.

In 1941 he bought his own farm in the Beaver Lake district and although he did not work the farm himself, he lived there until the 15th of January, when he suffered a heart attack and had to be taken to the Tofield Hospital. In six weeks he recovered sufficiently to come back to Ryley, where he bought a small house. He passed away suddenly on Tuesday, March 6, 1962 at his home in Ryley at the age of 76 years.

He was predeceased by two brothers, John and Edwin, both of Ryley.

Left to mourn the loss is one brother, Ben, and two sisters: Grace (Mrs. H. Rambeau) and Dora, (Mrs. T. Madsen), all of Ryley; five nephews and five nieces, and a number of distant relatives and friends.

years as a teacher and missionary in South India; Miss Jessie Miller, a former member of Holy Trinity, Edmonton, who was a missionary in Japan under the auspices of the WA of the Anglican Church of Canada for a number of years and during the Second World War, was in India for a number of years before returning to Japan; Mary Bendall, a native secretary of the Dominion Board of the WA spoke on her experiences at the World Council of Churches Assembly held in Delhi last fall; Rev. Ramanjulu Naidu Garu of India is one of many interested in Christian social service and who has been appointed director of Chikhili Boys' Ranch, located one mile south of Jon Acord and 22 miles north of Edmonton. This ranch home is to be built on 30 acres of farmland and eventually it is planned to have about five such ranch homes. There is a great need for homes of this kind for many boys who are finding it difficult in many ways. A home for boys who might be considered "misfits" but are merely boys needing help — really a home for pre-delinquent boys where they will find love, guidance and understanding to prepare them to take their place in the world as model citizens.

Although this Chikhili Boys' Ranch is a project of the African Church, boys of other religious backgrounds will be welcomed. The reality of this worthwhile project will naturally depend largely on the many members and congregations of the Diocese of Edmonton.

Ministik news briefs

(Mrs. Jim Radclish)

United Church services were held Sunday, with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Usher conducting them. A smaller number of persons were in attendance, but those who were there enjoyed the message brought by Mr. Usher.

It looks like the weatherman is going to be a little more kind this week, and this we welcome, as it has seemed like a very long winter with so much snow and cold.

A capacity crowd filled Ministik Hall for the bingo, with proceeds being donated to Donald Grummett. The number in attendance and the amount of money taken in from the bingo, raffle and donations showed the esteem in which Donald is held in his community. A big "thank you" goes to Mrs. Leslie Whitford, Mrs. Frank Swabey and Mrs. Ronald Swabey, who did all the arranging for this occasion.

Friends who still remember Mr. Louis Carlisle as their truck driver twenty and more years ago, will be sorry to hear of his passing last Monday night at North Surrey, B.C. Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Carlisle and members of the family out that way, and to Mrs. Robert Barrie, and Don and Gene Carlisle of Tofield.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thor, of Edmonton, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zirk, of Blackfalds, Alta., were Sunday guests of the Alex Pereira family.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Andrew Ferguson returned to her home Wednesday afternoon, after a four weeks' stay in Tofield Hospital. Now take good care of yourself, Jean.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shupe, of Tofield, were Wednesday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley George. A good game of "500" was enjoyed. Nice to be retired, eh?

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. "Happy" Holmes and family and family, in the loss of Mr. Holmes on Thursday evening in Moab, Utah, U.S.A. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes went to Utah in early October, chiefly for Mr. Holmes' health, on the advice of his physician.

Mrs. Russell Rowland and Mrs. Stanley George were Monday afternoon guests of Mrs. Frank Swabey. Both came home with very nice birthday presents, and an enjoyable afternoon in their credit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bowerman don't believe in doing things the hard way any more. They are having a well drilled close to their house, so no more carrying water.

A big "thank you" goes to Mr. Pat Paterson, our grader man, for plowing out the yards of both the United Church and St. Jude's Church, and the yard of the Community Hall.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Ben Bowerman is a patient in hospital. Hope his stay won't be too long.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Guggenman and children, of Edmonton, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred MacEachern, at the store

THIS WEEK'S NEWS

Congratulations go to Sylvia and Victor Rudzyki on the birth of a daughter, Judy Ann, on Wednesday, March 7, at Tofield Hospital.

Sympathy of the district goes to Mrs. Whitford and family on the death of her husband, Happy Holmes, on Thursday, March 8th, while they were on a trip to the United States. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes were former residents of Tofield and have resided in the Minnitik district since leaving Tofield. Happy was well known in many in Tofield and outlying districts and was for many years, in the trucking business. He will be sadly missed not only by his family, but also by his many friends and relatives.

Sympathy is also extended to Mrs. Severn Knudsen and family, of Lundbreck, on the death of her husband who was killed in a freight train accident near Loomis on March 8th.

Another old-timer of the Tofield district, Mr. Louis Carlisle, of B.C., passed away recently. He was a former resident of the Ketchamoot district but was well known to many around the Tofield districts. Sympathy of the district goes to the family and other relatives.

Jean and Arne Binder, and Joy and George Lukaszewich, all of Edmonton, were weekend visitors at the home of Jean's and Joy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schultz.

Water supplies at Holden and Ryley cut by frost

(Ray Haviand)

Received too late for last week's issue.

Due to frost, the Holden water supply went dry on Wednesday, March 7th and Ryley residents reported theirs dry Friday, March 9.

Holden is now trucking water in until the water resources branch can have the pipes and pumps laid and setup to pump a supply into the village reservoir. Lefty Clark is hauling with a 3,000 gallon tank. Ryley is trucking water in from the Dodds Coal Mine.

Last summer, due to the poor runoff of water in the village supply, the Water Resources Branch started out in Holden to pump water into the village reservoir in October with approximately 3,000,000 gallons pumped in that time. The ice thickness on the reservoir was approximately 4 feet at the time of checking the level of the water supply which soon diminished. Water was turned off in the residents of the village all day except for two intervals each day when the water would be turned on for 15 minutes at 5.15 p.m. and 9:00 a.m

DAM WATER

The water supply at the CNR dam was analysed and found to be good for human consumption but has a reasonable content of alkalinity which would be to some extent harmful to aluminum pumps.

The village council extended thanks to all the residents for the co-operation in this matter as councillors were at a loss for a solution to the situation that came about.

Viking and Thorsby also had water pumped by the water resources branch after it had started in Holden fall, and have only finished pumping a supply into their reservoirs. The pipes and pumps are left at Viking and the place to the latter part of this week.

Cost of operating Beaver Foundation rises sharply during month of February

—Directors meeting held March 8

According to the financial statement for the month of February, presented at the regular meeting of directors of the Beaver Foundation, held in the staff dining room of Vialta Lodge, Viking, on the evening of Thursday, March 8th, the cost per guest per day in the home was $2.21 during February, compared with $1.58 per guest per day for the month of January. The financial statement also showed an overdraft of $678.89 after $400 had been repaid on the loan. The operating surplus for the month was $38.70, compared with an operating surplus of $527.70 for January. The statement was approved on a motion by Tom Annebo. Present for the meeting were Chairman S. A. Hafso, vice-chairmen J. H. Roddick and Tom Annebo, the matron, Mrs. Mary Pascha, assistant matron Miss Kathleen Borthwick, and P. O. Nordstrom, the secretary-treasurer.

RESIDENCE REPORT

The residence report showed that 46 persons had been in residence during the month, and that at the end of the month 39 persons were "at home" at Vialta Lodge.

Correspondence from Pumps & Softeners Ltd. re ash for the water softener unit was read to the Board, and it was decided to purchase a supply of salt.

A letter from Mr. Stinson at Tofield re Mr. W. H. Inmond taking up residence at the lodge in the fall of 1962 was read to the Board Mrs. Pascha was asked to reply that Mr. Stinson should keep in constant touch with Vialta as no living rooms are available at the moment, as that indications are that a waiting list will soon be in effect.

These tobacco supplies for sale: Two cases of cigarettes, one case of cigars, one case of pipe tobacco. Mrs. Pascha was asked to reply. The Board felt that local help should be obtained if at all possible, if and when necessary.

The secretary-treasurer was asked to order a sainometer from Pumps & Softeners Ltd. for use in connection with the Water Softener Unit.

After some discussion, it was moved by J. H. Roddick and carried that the wages of Mrs. Mervin Herman be adjusted to $100 per month plus board as from February 1st, 1962.

APPLICATIONS

Five applications for residence at Vialta Lodge were presented to the Board for their consideration. All applications were accompanied by satisfactory medical rep.rts, so it was therefore moved by J. H. Roddick and carried that the applications be approved.

It was suggested that a community clean-up day be held early in the spring to clean out the underbrush and dead wood from behind the north of Vialta Lodge. This was left to the Board to arrange.

It was moved by J. H. Roddick and carried that the annual meeting of the Management Committee be held early in April in the lodge, and that the Board of Directors re-elect each retiring member to office if he/she would again act on this committee. The management committee's present would therefore be March 31st, 1962.

Sunday blaze destroys New Sarepta hotel

Fire early Sunday destroyed the New Sarepta Commercial Hotel in New Sarepta, located just off Highway 21 north of Hay Lakes. No one was injured, but five persons, including three guests, were forced to vacate the building. The damage was estimated at $80,000.

The fire, which started about 2 a.m., is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in the attic of the two-storey stucco and brick building. A hotel employee discovered the fire.

Mrs. E. Schlender called fire equipment from Camrose and Hay Lakes. There is no water system in the community of 175 persons, and two water trucks had to haul water from surrounding wells to the scene.

The building was about 30 years old. It was owned by Mrs. and Mrs. Lorne Schlender. The hotel also housed a beauty parlor, beverage room and coffee shop. There was no official estimate of damage.

The pioneer days of Holden

(Ray Haviand)

The Holden community being very small in the early days, it was most active and the people for miles around had sincere friendly relationships with one another. Although hewer and hungry was the main means of travel outside of walking, most public gatherings were well attended. It is said that teams with wagons loaded with many a day in selling shares or stock in the coal where the University Hospital in Edmonton now stands, and also on Jasper Avenue.

HOCKEY

The first skating rink in Holden was situated on the big slough west of the present hotel. Mayor Johnson's father put up the fence and hockey at night was played under lantern lights. Flooding was done by pumps and the water supply below the ice was used for this purpose until such time the water supply was frozen out. Then water was hauled from the livery stable at 25¢ a load. Many a good hockey game was played here.

The first curling rink was built in 1922 and it was owned by Kenny James and Steve Konarnasky spent many hours on many occasions here in the raising of money for the material to build this building. All the work was done by volunteer labor.

WHITE DONKEY

Some dances were held in the Masonic Lodge on the second floor; as the village fire fighting equipment on right the local druggist's donkey was inartistically whitewashed and put in the cell. The next morning the druggman could not find his donkey and the caretaker was seared half out of his wits. This incident was never lived down but was one example of good clean fun.

The dances were well attended whether held in the Masonic Hall or at a private home. On many occasions at private homes, dancing was so vigorous that many a lady danced the heels off her shoes and the stove pipes that were strung from one end of the room to the other would fall down and the soot would cover everyone.

COMMUNITY HALL

The Holden Community Hall was built in 1925, the largest hall along this line at that time, and a large variety of entertainment has been engaged through the building of this hall. Dances and concerts and many organizations used the hall facilities. Football was played

The Community League reports . . .

Attendance wise, the community league has gotten off to a very poor start this year, as the average attendance has been only ten members. It is felt that this should be greatly improved if we are to meet all our commitments in the coming months.

Project wise, the league has planned many interesting and informative events. Among these are a film entitled, "Pan-American Highway". This film was photographed in color in fourteen Latin-American countries, and is personally narrated by Mr. Mel Ross. The film will be shown in the community hall on April 11th, 1962. Many of you will remember Mr. Ross' wonderful film "Hendon Valley", which was presented here in 1956. Also an Easter Hare Bonnet Parade is planned for before Good Friday. The date will be announced later.

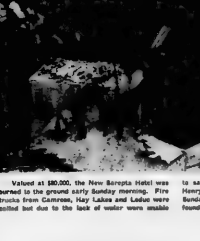
For the summer the Community League will sponsor a very worthwhile project in the form of Red Cross swimming lessons at South Cooking Lake, if public response proves adequate.

The July 2nd-July 1st falls on Sunday this year's program is taking shape nicely, with word having been received from the Jamboree and Cutting Horse Associations that they will again be attending once. However we have been unable to receive a definite commitment from the weathermen, but we are sure he will do his best.

In 1960 our league has reduced the loan debt on the hall by $500 and since 1956 by $10,000.

The theatre committee reports that for the past several months, attendance at the shows has been down considerably, and that the poor weather was partly to blame for this.

Due to last years' July 1st celebration being rained out and to rather poor support of other events staged in 1961, this has created some difficulty in planning our financial obligations. However, if our coming events are met with greater support, the year 1962 should be a very successful one for your community league.



REMAINS OF NEW SAREPTA HOTEL

Valued at $80,000, the New Sarepta Hotel was burned to the ground early Sunday morning. Fire trucks from Camrose, Hay Lakes and Ledue were called but due to the lack of water were unable to save the building. The hotel was owned by Henry and Lawrence Schlender. All that remained Sunday forenoon was the brick chimney and the foundation. —Camrose Canadian Newsphoto.

Hurray it's spring!

Well, at any rate, today is the vernal equinox, which is generally hailed as the first day of spring. Whether it's official or not, winter's back is generally broken by March 21, though we frequently get what might be considered thrashing death agonies . . . in the form of a late winter blizzard.

It's been a long winter, and according to the records, a bit colder than usual on the average. Even at that, of course, we haven't seen very much of the terrifying 50° or 60° below blizzards which can make winter in this country so disastrous. If the old-timers could be accepted at face value, every winter used to provide at least one such storm, and several of them showed those wintry blasts frequently. Certain it is that snowfall used to be much higher on the level.

However, it's SPRING. Got your garden catalogue out?

Stiffer penalties needed

It would appear that immediate steps must be taken to curb the attacks on policemen, which seem to be occurring with increasing regularity. During the past week another Edmonton policeman, while performing his duty, was attacked by two young men. This is the third such crime in the Alberta capital in the past month or two.

Sentences meted out by magistrates obviously have not been stiff enough, for had the penalty been sufficient following the first such offence—say a three to five year jail term—it is quite possible that the second and third offences never would have occurred. Certainly, Edmonton Magistrate Legg is correct in refusing to accept the excuse of drunkenness recently. Incidentally, what has happened to our public morality? Drunkenness used to be considered an offence . . . not an explanation.

There seems to be a growing resentment toward officers of the law. They are, after all, carrying out the laws which are made up and approved by every citizen, for every community or province, or the country as a whole. It is therefore the duty of every citizen in this country to assist policemen in whatever possible. Certainly, without the co-operation of John Q. Citizen, very few offenders can be brought to justice, and just as surely as the public becomes reluctant to give policemen the assistance they require, crime—whether on a large, organized scale or petty thievery—will flourish.

Revenue, not regulation

What must be the final answer to the claim that parking meters were installed to regulate parking, and promote quicker turn-over of parking places, has been provided in Edmonton recently, with the installation of 10-hour meters in several stalls in the city. For fifty cents, a motorist may park for as long as ten hours . . . if he can find a stall not already being used.

The installation, it has been said, is so that the businessman will not have to be forever running out to "feed the meter". So for rates running from $13 to $15 per month, he can park as close to his office as a 10-hour meter can be found. The myth of parking meters for regulating traffic has been laid . . . it's tacitly admitted they are to provide more revenue.

Take a chance, mister?

Advocates of a lottery run by the government will thoroughly enjoy the news that success of a government-run lottery in New Zealand has been so overwhelming the government is worried. Their biggest, and unexpected problem has been how to do with the profits, which exceed expectations by sensational margins.

New Zealand governments, one after another, were worried over the huge loss of foreign exchange, with no economic advantage being gained, since it was known their citizens were spending about $4,500,000 in overseas lotteries each year. Working on the old theory, "if you can't beat 'em, join em," it devised a new full-scale lottery operation, in the face of strong opposition from churches and anti-gambling groups.

So successful has been the sale that customers in many areas found difficulty in purchasing the tickets they wanted, and already keen interest has been aroused in Australia and other areas, with the result that some of the foreign exchange lost in years past is now flowing back into the country.

There has been strong agitation for a government-run lottery in this country, and of course, equally strong opposition. The facts built up are so overwhelming they seem to demand at least another Royal Commission . . . we've had 'em for less important functions, surely.

MacDuff Ottawa report

Governor's first report

OTTAWA - Louis Rasminsky, the able, 58th respected successor to James Coyne as Governor of the Bank of Canada has presented his first annual report to Finance Minister Donald Fleming who in turn has tabled it in Parliament.

The report for the year 1961 is a striking contrast to those brought down in recent years by Mr. Coyne. There is no exhortation to Canadians to live within their means, no plea for them to reduce their imports of goods and capital, no warning that Canada's deficit balance of international payments is a chronic problem that must be tackled as a matter of urgency.

Mr. Rasminsky's report is a reasoned and measured document which on the whole is a source of little embarrassment to the Federal Government, unlike those of Mr. Coyne. It is true that by inference the report supports the main theses advanced by Mr. Coyne that Canada's economy is not sound . . . the Government has insisted but faces major problems of adjustment as a result of the intense natural resource development boom that came to an end some years ago.

But Mr. Rasminsky did not delve into these problems, nor offer any policy. If he felt as strongly as he should have resigned and hired a hall.

But in the perspective of history this indiscretion may be counted a minor thing by comparison with Mr. Coyne's monumental arbitrariness. For the fact is that almost alone and single-handed the former Governor of the Bank of Canada brought the Government around to accepting his diagnosis of the basic problem facing the Canadian economy: a chronic deficit balance of payments resulting from the excessive import of goods and capital.

The Government at first denied this was a problem of any sort but in the baby budget of December 1960, Finance Minister Fleming tacitly acknowledged this diagnosis as his first step in dealing with the problem. Since then the Government has been engaged in managing the inflow of capital and encouraging greater investment of Canadian savings at home.

RIGHT MEDICINE, WRONG DOSAGE

In the June budget the Government went even further to tackle the same problem, describing it as a problem that had to be faced as a matter of urgency. It was then that there were some of the agreements between the Government and the Governor over the remedies to be adopted, but even then there were more apparent than real.

Mr. Coyne's remedies were in many cases often harsh and politically unthinkable. Some of them were probably economically unsound. But some of the essential advice that he advocated may yet have to be taken and because of the long delay, the period adjustment may be even longer and more painful than would otherwise have been the case.

It is probably true that the present Governor of the Bank of Canada is unable to lend the use of his influence behind the scenes, he may do more than speaking out in public to bring the Government to tackle the problems which still remain, even though the remedies are bound to be unpopular.

That the solutions adopted by the Government to date are not a sufficient answer to the problem is rapidly becoming more evident with every passing day.

Contrary to Mr Coyne's advice the Government decided last June that it would use its holdings of Canadian dollar in the Canadian dollar is at a discount of five cents. The necessary swing-out rate is 7.5 and 7.8 dollars in a desperate bid

Beware of hoard, a dreadful word That looks like bread and sounds like lord And dead it's said like bed, not bread For goodness sake don't call it thirsty

Watch out for meat and greet and threat They rhyme with suite and debt A moth is not in mother, Nor both in bother, broth in brother.

And here is not match for there, Nor dear and fear for bear and pear. And then there's dear and rose and lose Just look them up and guose and rehose. And do and go then theart and cart Come, come I've hardly made a start!

A dreadful language? Man alive I'd mastered it when I was five"

Canadian Library
Week this year is
April 8th to 14th

Following are the remarks of the Hon. Mr. Justice D. C. Abbott chairman of Canadian Library Week, which is being held this year from April 8th to 14th. The item comes to The Mercury, to mark Library Work from Mr. R. H. Bayles chairman of the Tofield Library Board and Mrs. W. H. Freebury, local librarian.

Says Mr Abbott

"I believe that books matter more today than they have ever done before. Two examples will suffice to illustrate some of the ways in which they are becoming more important and more essential to all of us.

"Books provide by far the fullest and most responsible discussion of the political and social problems and opinions that are shaping our lives and our future. By their very nature radio, television, the press and the picture magazines must deal with such things briefly and in a hurry. Only in books can they be considered at length and at leisure, and from many different points of view.

"Books today is moving forward with such speed these days that more and more people are finding that they must keep on learning day by day. At one time adult education was looked upon chiefly as a means of enjoyment. But it has had not been able to attend school or college. Today, it is becoming increasingly to include millions of people who, because of the past education, must keep up with the growth of knowledge if they are to retain their jobs and order their lives intelligently. And books are by far the most important single source which we can obtain to learn.

"Most of us need more books than we can afford to buy and we turn to libraries to make good the supply. Library Week seeks to remind you of how dependent we are becoming upon books and of how important it is that they should be readily and plentifully available in every community in Canada.

"Donations of books at this time are most welcome, say members of the Tofield Library

FERTILIZERS CAN HELP BEAT DRY WEATHER

The experience of many farmers proves the use of fertilizer to be profitable even under adverse, dry conditions. These farmers are convinced if it is worth planting the seed, it is worth using fertilizer.

Research on the Prairies shows crops grown on fertilized soils give bigger yields per inch of moisture than on similar soils not receiving fertilizer. For example, it has been shown a bushel of grain grown on fertilized land requires less moisture (about ½ as much) than a bushel grown on unfertilized land.

Plan to make the most of every inch of available moisture in 1962. Apply the right rate and type of high analysis, readily soluble Elephant Brand fertilizer.

THE RYLEY TIMES

with great enthusiasm and those that are still around Holden will remember these names: Hob Emmett, Jack Whipps, Harry Chapman, and, of course, some of the revered Holden names, Abe Black, Kenny James and Bert Taylor.

The first ladies to curl were Mrs. Ross Brown, Mrs. Tom White, Mrs. Hall, Nichols, Mrs. Steve Kormendy, Mrs. Haslam, Mrs. Laurs Christensen, Mrs. Mary James, Mr. and Mrs. William Carter were instructors and taught many the art of curling around Holden. It is said that when the ladies curled that the curling lobby was filled with baby carriages while the mothers curled. The babies were a young audience, as one was known to have been only three months old.

Water supplies . . .

out of the way to have them transported to Holden, but it was found that urea is lodged inside the pipes and a compression will have to be used to clear them before they can be laid.

It is expected that pumping operation would be commenced at the end of last week or the first part of this week.

STILL PUMPING

The Water Resources Branch of Edmonton is busy this week pumping water from the CNR Dam into the Holden Water Reservoir at present. It was thought at one time that the nice weather would have braven the hops to the dam but unfortunately the pumping of water is most urgent at this time. To date the south dam has nearly been pumped dry and it is the intention of the engineer to start pumping operations from the north dam which will mean a shut down of approximately one or two hours to hook in the pumps and pipes and also the laying of another quarter mile of pipes.

There have been a number of frozen services to residents but with the co-operation of Tofield Farm Machinery who have come to Holden and thawed out the lines with a welding unit, service interruptions have been kept to a minimum.

YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE

The body of Tony Hayes lies sprawled in the easy chair next to the window in the hotel room.

"Tom was one of my best friends," explains the man who phoned you of the tragedy. Harry Cosgrove. "He is seated on the straight-backed chair by the writing desk, supposedly writing with a crumpled handkerchief. He'd been in front of me for about thirty minutes, of course, that he had been suffering from some sort of illness for the past six or seven months . . . visited lots of doctors . . . And in spite of this, he was always one of the most cheerful of men. Certainly I didn't dream that he would . . .

As you stoop beside the body, you see the scratched gun around the bullet hole in the right temple, and object to the clear range from which the shot was fired. Then, stepping around in front of the body, you pick up the gun from the floor in your handkerchief, give it the fingerprint test and, finding nothing of interest, you turn back to Harry Cosgrove. "You say the whole thing took place right before you?" you ask.

"Yes, I was visiting him here in this room. We were chatting about this and that, when suddenly he got up from that chair, walked over to the dresser, pulled the gun from the drawer, and shot himself . . . just like that. He was completely stunned . . . so much so that I couldn't move for several minutes. Then I phoned you."

You walk around over to the dresser, gun down at the still-open drawer, then saunter back to the body of the dead man for a final check. You finally turn again to Harry Cosgrove. "Could he have been worried about his finances? His medical expenses must have been rather heavy".

"You wouldn't have known it to talk with him", Cosgrove answers. "He never intimated that his funds were pretty low, although I happen to know that just about all of Tom's money had gone to hospital and medical expenses".

"And I happen to know that Tom Hayes also had loaned a considerable amount of money to various friends", you add. "And you, Cosgrove, were one of the debtors, if my files that you figured billing Hayes was the easiest way to wipe out your debts!

Why do you suspect Harry Cosgrove of killing Tom Hayes?

SOLUTION

There are several suspicious clues. In the first place, although Hayes was supposed to have shot himself in the right temple, you found the gun lying on the floor to his LEFT as his body. Then you found no fingerprints on the cursory examination on the part of the killer, who must have wiped the gun clean and forgotten to impress his victim's prints on the gun. You also found the drawer of the dresser from which the victim was supposed to have extracted the gun was a considerable distance from where he was supposed to have shot himself. Surely, an unnerved Harry Cosgrove would have had the time to intercede before Hayes walked back to the chair to shoot himself.

Better English

By D. C. Williams

Q. When is it proper to begin calling new acquaintances by their first names?

A. Generally today and such others by their given names much earlier than formerly. One must, however, assist the proper moment to drop formalities. The acquaintance is the circle in which you move uses first names, you are at liberty to follow the trend.

Q. I know I should, as a woman, precede a man in walking, but in a man but if the man happens to make the proper turn, should he do?

A. You must by all means accept his hand and without hesitation.

Q. My mother says I'm supposed to ask my bridegroom's sister to serve as a bridesmaid at my wedding. Is this correct?

A. There is no obligation about this. The bride chooses whomever she wishes, her sisters either or best friends. Of course, if there are to be a good number of bridesmaids, the choice of the bridegroom's sister is a gesture of friendship towards his family.

Q. I've been told that postscripts to letters are in poor taste. Is this true?

A. There is nothing wrong with adorning, when necessary. It is better, though, to take pains while composing the original letter to say everything you wish to say. Postscripts tend to indicate inattentiveness in the original composition.

County school committee discusses need for more rooms in Ryley, Viking and Tofield schools

At the regular meeting of the school committee of the County of Beaver, held March 6th at Ryley, School Superintendent H. J. Pike reviewed the additional rooms would be required in the schools of Tofield, Ryley and Holden, while the machine by Viking was satisfactory.

An opinion was expressed that principals could be supplied with the plans of the schools in other towns, and it was also suggested that teachers representatives of both of the centres examined the money taken from the machines, the local principal or a teacher should be on hand.

Committee members felt that the schools were not getting the co-operation expected from the public, and consequently it was moved and carried that a representative from the company be invited to present for the April meeting of the committee, when the principals involved also would attend.

HERD HEALTH PROGRAMS POPULAR

Recent news reports from all parts of Canada indicate that Herd Health Programs are proving very popular with and profitable to farmers.

The program is merely an arrangement with a Veterinarian for a regular monthly herd check-up. Normally an agreement is drawn up with the Veterinarian, who agrees to call at the farm at specified intervals and do a number of routine things such as pregnancy checks on cows bred 60 days, examine newly freshened cows, take milk samples for mastitis tests, detorn and vaccinate calves, and takes care of any minor ailments as they arise. The greatest value of such a program lies in the advice which the Veterinarian can give on disease prevention and his ability to spot symptoms of disease before it can subversely affect the animal, or perhaps the entire herd.

This program although particularly popular with Dairy farmers, is not confined to that group of farmers. Beef and Swine raisers can also reap benefits by such an arrangement.

As evidenced by the report from across the country, the cost of such a program is more than offset by the saving affected through the reduction of cost of production. Livestock men would be well advised to discuss such a program with their local Veterinarian — it could pay big dividends

Witnesses meet at Wetaskiwin

"To unite men in a split-up world requires an international organization devoted to serving their Creator". So stated Mr. C. E. Hutchin in his stirring discourse "Uniting Men in a Split-up World", delivered to an attentive audience of 501 in the preaching work.

He further showed that "the present world system has failed to produce such. Men must look to a higher source in order to find unity", he added.

This timely discourse was the highlight of the three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses held in Wetaskiwin. The entire program was devoted to talks and practical demonstrations showing all delegates how to assist others at the Ella's Hall, Wetaskiwin.

Mr. R. Ovenius, spokesman for the Kingman congregation, was in charge of the safer department which helped make the assembly run smoothly. The delegates from the Tofield area considered it a real privilege to attend this conference" Mr Ovenius said

The wild ones

It's surprising how much argument has been stirred up by Ambrose Holowach in his demand that the CBC be brought before the bar of the legislature in Edmonton for their action in ignoring the censorship board of Alberta recently, and running a several years old film named "The "Wild Ones". The film, of course, was banned by the Alberta censorship board some years ago, and the ban has never been lifted.

It's surprising, too, how many red herrings are being drawn across the trail. Arguments such as that the propriety of censorship boards in the first place, whether the film was as bad as it was painted it, and so on.

These arguements are not material to the protest in point, at all. Under other circumstances, they might well be argued, but as it stands, the film HAD been banned, and the television corporation DID choose to run it. Whether we agree as individuals with the ruling is not important at the moment.

Under these circumstances, what matters is that the CBC chose to flout the ruling of an established board of this province, a board which has been given to compel theatres to accept its ruling. Is this a case of one rule for the "Elite guys" and another for the "big shots"? What matters is whether the CBC . . . or any other body . . . can say in affect "the law was meant for others, but not for us." What matters is that the protests . . . of repeated protests . . . of the premier of our province went unheeded by the highest authority in this land, even including the prime minister, even though these protests were solidly founded in law and propriety, and completely devoid of politics.

Mr. Diefenbaker's arm- vaunted Canadian Bill of Rights contains in part "men and institutions remain free only when freedom is founded upon respect for moral spiritual values and the rule of law".

This same rule of law has been flagrantly violated by the CBC, and Mr. Holowach is right in demanding prosecution. We have been very favorably disposed to the CBC many times in the past, nolwithstanding a great deal of criticism levelled against its programming. However, we cannot accept its thumb-nose attitude in the matter of law. Either we are a lawful nation . . . and every governmental body should be most jealous in preserving justice and law . . . or we accept and endorse the type of lawless regime typified of Russia and Nazi Germany, the form of government we say we despise.

Mickey "Aberhart" Mackay

Older members of the community will remember a few years back when William Aberhart used to claim that most adults had only the intelligence of a twelve year old, so it's interesting now that much the same type of statement is being made by ours J. H. Mackay, a councillor down Vulcan way. Mr. Mackay also happens to be president this year of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts, and in appearing last week before the legislature's bunkings on the county matter, Mr. Mackay had the temerity to suggest the matter should not be put to a vote of the residents of any area. The people can't vote intelligently, Mr. Mackay continued, because they're not properly informed on the matter.

Maybe it's a bit pedantic to recall history, but even Mr. Mackay should be able to remember that in his lifetime we have fought two world wars, plus some lesser conflagrations, to perpetuate a system where even uninformed people have the right to vote, rather than being told what is "best for them".

Mr. Mackay's appearance is reported elsewhere in this paper under Ken Mason's article on The Legislature. Government supporters are reported to have been quite pleased with the idea advanced, as well might be expected. The same government has historically exhibited the same opinion of the voter's intelligence as Mr. Aberhart, their founder, advanced.

We personally prefer to continue under the guidance of these unintelligent voters, rather than the "Big Daddy" type of operation Mr. Mackay endorses. History also records the fact that Mr. Aberhart was a member of the commission which a few years ago established the boundaries of the Camrose Municipal District in complete disregard of the wishes of a large number of the residents at either extreme, who had a number of sound arguments favoring other limits.

Of course, as Mr. Mackay has pointed out, they couldn't approach the matter intelligently.

They weren't properly informed.

Hardly a con game

Action of the dominion government in offering butter for sale at less than the support price has been termed an ugly "con" game by The Edmonton Journal. Calling it sheer pretence, The Journal continues with the comment that the government will simply dig into the pockets of the taxpayer and collect enough money to make up the difference.

But The Journal misses the point. The government has already dipped into the pocket of the taxpayer for the money to in one fell swoop would certainly bring havoc in the dairy industry. The better to close down slowly as the government is doing, at the same time bringing some relief to the consumer who has already paid for the butter mountain.

Legislature report . . .

(By Ken Mason)

EDMONTON, Mar. 26 — It took the Legislature two full days and a night debate to get a bill to build public hearings on the government's controversial urban county bill.

And when it was over it seemed all but certain that the government will have to make some changes in the bill. Education Minister Anders (L. Aadberg indicated as much to newsmen after the hearings, although he couldn't say specifically what changes will be contemplated.

The significant thing about the hearings is that the vast majority of those who were interested enough to appear are opposed at least in some degree to the bill as it was submitted to the House.

UNIVERSAL OPPOSITION

There were 31 briefs and one verbal submission. Sixteen of the briefs asked for some change in the bill.

The main objection was that the bill would permit a town or city to amalgamate municipal and school services on the strength of a majority vote from either the town or the school board. Fifteen of the briefs took exception to this. It was argued that there should be a local plebiscite before a county can be set up.

Perhaps it's even more significant that the majority of the briefs did not object violently to the idea of urban counties, although a number pointed to possible difficulties.

Only one group was unalterably opposed to the county system. Not surprisingly, it was the Alberta Teachers' Association, which has argued consistently that education will lose out when it has to compete with other municipal services for its share of the tax dollar.

The Calgary Public School Board also opposed the county system as far as Calgary was concerned, but said it couldn't object to other communities adopting it so long as local autonomy is preserved.

Others expressed unconditional support for the bill. It was backed by all town of Devon, southwest of Edmonton, which has operated a successful county for the past 11 years. Since 1954 the majority of school board members have been elected by ratepayers.

SUPPORTED BY COUNTIES

Last - minute support for the county system came from J. M. Hlushey, a councillor of Vulcan County and president of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts. He said experience shows the system works well in rural areas, but made it clear he was speaking only for himself. He opposed the idea of a plebiscite, claiming the people aren't sufficiently well informed to vote intelligently on the county issue, and this suggestion seemed to please the government supporters.

The religious issue figured strongly in the discussions. But it could prove to be the biggest obstacle to passage of the bill.

Seven briefs expressed the fear that the bill would inject the religious beliefs of candidates into civic politics.

Separate schools are expressly exempted from counties; their independence is guaranteed by the British North America Act.

Separate school supporters would be ineligible to sit on county school committees. Thus, it was argued, a candidate who supports the public schools would be able to present himself as a better choice than his Catholic opponent who could have no right to sit on the school committee.

On the other hand, when the school board came before the committee council for approval every member had a vote on it, whether he's Catholic or Protestant.

The House gave first reading to a bill which will allow druggists to sell prescription drugs under their generic names rather than trade names. Health Minister Dr. J. D. Ross said it could mean a big saving to customers.

Provincial Secretary A. R. Patrick introduced amendment to the Land Oil Tax Act which doubles the penalty for using purple gas illegally.

FLOUTED LAW

Private members' day business last week included a motion which would register a protest against the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for showing a movie that had been banned by the Alberta Censor Holowach (SC Edmonton Centre) wondered if officials of the CBC should be called before the bar of the House to give reasons why they shouldn't be cited for contempt. He said they "flouted" the law of Alberta.

Mr. Holowach's "The Wild One" starring Marlon Brando, which was banned in 1954. It was shown by the CBC's Edmonton television outlet.

By George!

Many times when newspaper men get together, they spend considerable time laughing at themselves and the world. Of course, it's hard to get by the editor-reporter — no matter how careful these "master-minds" try to be. They are sure to screw when they happen, of course and spread it on the front page when they're not looking. Or when they happen, of course, to be looking, but the guy who edits the paper which has the good fortune to be down the street from us at Tofield, which has operated a successful county for the past 11 years. Since 1954 the majority of school board members have been elected by ratepayers.

Cause to pause . . .

(By John Mohler)

All the newspapers dutifully record and photograph their editor's first born of the New Year. You see a mother and child exulting happiness because the baby clock, set in at 12.01. What you don't see is a morose father wringing his hands and cursing his luck because some thoughtless stork barely deprived him of a year's income tax exemption.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker told this one. It seems an Ottawa reader asked her class to name the six greatest men in Canada. All turned their lists in but one little boy at the end of the row.

"What's wrong?" asked the teacher. "Haven't you got your list finished yet?"

"I've picked five men but I just can't decide who should be in goal", he said.

She said she had changed her mind and could never be more than a sister to him. But she didn't realize the irony and Mr. Pherson was "very good fish" "Never mind", said a friend, "there are plenty more fish in the sea." "Maybe", said Mc-Pherson, "but I've lost my bait!".

The one-ring circus was visiting a town in the hills. Two townspeople there recognized all the performers except the lion-tamer's wife.

One old settler watched the player for quite some time, then said, "There's Mrs. Smith. It is; he ain't really swallerin' it."

Sales to empty wheat bins?

If this year's wheat crop is as poor as last year's, the Dominion wheat sales are likely to clean out the country's entire wheat stocks right down to the bottoms of the storage bins by the summer of 1963.

If next year's crop is of fairly reasonable size, say 450 million bushels (average of the five years 1956-60), the 1963 stocks will be about as low as we can afford to have them and still keep our customers happy. This is the thinking behind Agriculture Minister Hamilton's recent exhortations to Prairie farmers. He said they should begin to think of growing less wheat, but more

Power and Glory

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA.—Representatives of nine provinces lacked themselves up with members of the Federal Government in Ottawa on March 19th to talk about "long distance extra voltage transmission".

The meeting wasn't as technical as it sounds. In fact the whole thing was a pretty basic exercise in Canadian politics.

In other words, the meeting was concerned with power both electrical and electrical. And as electrification dates approach, those two aspects of power will become ever more difficult to separate.

The one-day meeting gave preliminary discussion to a national power grid, a system of transmission lines spanning the nation, bringing blocks of power from provinces to provinces, from far-off rivers to industrial markets.

POWER AND POLITICS

The experts have already gone to work on the difficult technical problems of long distance transmission. The national power grid offers difficult political problems of long distance transmission. The national power grid offers difficult political problems, too, which are not being neglected.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is no doubt seized with the high-minded purpose of equalizing power supplies and prices across Canada.

But with another general election around the corner, Mr. Diefenbaker may also see in a national power grid an updated version of the vision on which he blazed to power in 1957 and 1958.

PROVINCIAL POLITICS, TOO

Premier League of Quebec heralded the Ottawa meeting on the grounds that power is a provincial resource.

But while posing as champion of provincial rights, which he hopes will reduced to his electoral benefit in Quebec, Mr. Lesage also envisions throwing a bit of a Liberal monkey-wrench into Mr. Diefenbaker's vision of national development.

British Columbia's Premier Bennett blew in for the one-day meeting and said talk that he might spring a Provincial election on the issue of power exports to the United States.

Mr. Bennett wants to develop the Peace and Columbia Rivers, come hell or High Water, and to export power to the United States.

He's been locked in battle with the Federal Government for over a year on development of the Columbia River. There was some evidence after the Ottawa meeting that the Federal Government might be softening on its attitude towards sale of Columbia power to the States.

The ghosts up from the depths of the Ottawa meeting. The meeting was shaped long before the noise coming through the door was the grinding of axes. And much previous has its axe to grind.

NOT JUST IN WEST

Saskatchewan wants to exploit the power potential of its lignite coal deposits. Manitoba is interested in developing the Nelson River. The Maritime provinces stressed the harnessing of the tidal power in the Bay of Fundy. Newfoundland has big plans for the Hamilton Falls in Labrador.

With so many job-making and vote - catching projects available, it's surprising the nine provinces attending didn't give the national grid idea more emphatic support. Some provinces, besides Quebec, seem to have reservations, though all attending agreed to set up a working committee of experts to study the technical, economic and policy problems.

The official communique from the meeting said mildly that "there is many well be advantages" in setting up a national grid, but there didn't seem to be very strong enthusiasm.

And some highly-placed individuals have already expressed their doubts.

The Liberals quite extensively a statement by M. L. Bruce of the Federal Government's national energy board. The actual text of Mr. Bruce's address, however, is rather cautious.

He said the advantage in having a national grid "would be clearly apparent in lightly varying demands . . . and

MAKE SURE THAT CANADA CAN CARRY ON!
In the event of nuclear war the Canadian Army's first responsibility is the physical survival of the nation. Warning of the likelihood and imminence of attack or fallout must be given, rescue and first aid for trapped and injured disseminations, controlling movement in damaged or fallout areas undertaken, and directing the repair of vital utilities as well as many other tasks essential to survival.
This is a gigantic task demanding the assistance of every available person — and where survival training would play a priceless part.
That's why — if you are between 16 and 60 and physically able — the Army invites your help now. By training one evening a week — plus a week at summer camp — with the Canadian Army Militia, you may learn them needed skill. You will be rendering an important service to your country, develop new interests and be paid for your time at generous Army rates. MAKE SURE CANADA CAN CARRY ON.

County tax collections are better this year

—Secretary commends ratepayers

Secretary-Treasurer Olaf Monsson of the County of Beaver had a record decrease for the collection of the County at the last regular council meeting held in Ryley on March 8th. Reporting on the tax collections for the first two months of 1962, Mr. Monsson said that he felt there was "a good indication of the ratepayers' stability and effort in trying to keep their taxes paid up."

ARREARS DOWN

Mr. Monsson told the meeting that in January and February of this year a total of $171,982.36 had been collected on taxes compared to $166,410.78 in 1961. The outstanding arrears of taxes as of Feb. 28 this year amounted to $211,846.01, and compared to $210,453.43 in 1961.

Earlier in the meeting, however, a bylaw under the provisions of Section 275 of the Municipal District Act, with amendments to provide for cancellation of certain taxes which were considered uncollectable, was given first, second and third readings. The bylaw must now be approved by the Minister of municipal affairs for Alberta.

TOFIELD BUS STORAGE

In other council business, mention was made of a need for more bus storage space at Tofield, and discussion took place on enlarging the present garage. Finally it was decided that the committee which is to investigate purchasing a machine sheds at Holden and Ryley should also look into the matter of additional bus storage at Tofield.

Complete County Council minutes appear elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Monsson told the meeting that in January and February of this year a total of $171,982.36 had been collected on taxes compared to $166,410.78 in 1961. The outstanding arrears of taxes as of Feb. 28 this year amounted to $211,846.01, and compared to $210,453.43 in 1961.

Earlier in the meeting, however, a bylaw under the provisions of Section 275 of the Municipal District Act, with amendments to provide for cancellation of certain taxes which were considered uncollectable, was given first, second and third readings. The bylaw must now be approved by the Minister of municipal affairs for Alberta.

Library Week Special . . .

THE LADY AND HER FRIENDS . . .

Article from Alberta Library Association Bulletin, Feb. 1962 Macdonald Coleman, Assistant Librarian, Calgary Public Library

Books are banned for three reasons political, religious, and moral. When the reason is political, the crime is treason. When it is religious, the charge is heresy. When it is moral, the indictment is obscenity.

Through the long years past these three reasons have been evoked time and time again. In religious reasons, we know the burning books of Marmon, John works of Confucius, Luther, Calvin and many others. Even the Koran had political reasons behind it and has been enforced in such cases as these. The Emperor Caligula banned The Odyssey from Rome in case it taught Greek ideas; John Lee was banned from the stage in England from 1760-1820 because George III was suffering from insanity not unlike that of his main character. The Mikado was banned temporarily from England in 1885 because it was feared it would alienate the Japanese Valentre. Karl Marx, Kropotkin have all fallen foul of the censors for Political reasons. For offences against morality such oddity associated books have been banned as: Adam Bede, Tom Jones, Jude the Obscure, Alice in Wonderland All Quiet on the Western Front The American Tragedy Ulysses The Well of Loneliness, Lady Chatterly's Lover and Lolita.

Of recent years any discussion of the banning of books seems to focus almost entirely on the third of the reasons. No one seems very much interested in banning books of political or religious gravity despite the presence of the McCarthy era in the USA. Presumably matters religious and political are left to the experts, but in matters of morality almost everyone feels qualified to judge.

Oddly enough when questions are being asked and answered about censorship, the crimes of heresy, treason and morality are the only ones that are considered. Perhaps a fourth indictment should be placed against books. The reason could be for offences against humanity, and we could be labelled teaching were prejudice. Everyone has daydreamed the notion of controlling books for publi-

Arnold Bugge won the tie-breaker shoot for the artificial flower bouquet.

Pioneer marks 70th year of residence in the West

Friends of Mr. W. H. Isnoord gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stinson on Monday, March 26th, 1962, which marked the 70th anniversary of his coming from Ontario to Indian Head, North West Territories.

He landed there in 1892 at the age of 22 years with two dollars cash in his pocket and an ambition to become a farmer. His choice of location in the Qu'Appelle valley near the present town of Abernathy, Sask., proved to be a good one for it is generally recognized as one of the best grain producing areas in the west.

As a beginning he worked for various farmers but, before long, rented some land and started out on his own. A few years later he bought that farm, married his former land lord's daughter, raised a family of two boys and two daughters and made a reputation as a producer of high grade wheat and top-notch Clydesdale horses. The many prize winning ribbons in his possession, which were won by competing in the principle show rings of the provinces, are proof of the high quality of both his grain and his livestock.

When young Isnoord chose his location, he unconsciously settled among a group of men who, along with himself, were to lay the foundations of those organizations which have since played an important a role in agricultural life. Among them were W. R. Motherwell, Peter Hayman, Chas. A. Dunning, E. Partridge and James G. Gardiner.

As more land was brought under cultivation in the west, the volume of production reached large proportions More rail road lines were made available and grain marketing and shipping developed which were so unfair to the growers that some defense had to be made. So, in 1901 under the leadership of Mr. Motherwell of Abernathy, Saskatchewan Grain Growers Association. Mr. Motherwell was elected president and the long struggle for farmers' rights began; there, 61 years ago, the seed was planted from which grew today's organizations — the Wheat Pools, the United Grain Growers, The Federation of Agriculture, The Farmer's Unions.

These were the days when the order book was of the greatest importance to the growers, and W. H. Isnoord was the key figure in the famous Estahata case in which the Rail Road Co. was found guilty of wrongfully allowing cars to the line elevators and thereby depriving the growers of the privilege of shipping grain to the selling agency. The resulting settlee he sued the Canadian Pacific Railway, won the case for the local courts and again in the Privy Council where the R. R. Co. appealed to that high court.

Mr. Isnoord's wife passed away ten years ago. Since that time he has resided in Tofield each year to spend the winter at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bruce, returning to Abernathy, Sask., for the summer months.

Now in his 93rd year, Mr. Isnoord still enjoys good health and takes his exercise regularly by walking at least one mile every day, when the weather prevents him from doing that out doors, he goes off the distance on the Stinson Hall's friendly verandah.

So, we salute this pioneer and the contribution of those who worked with him to leave a better heritage for us all.

Film 'Pan-American Highway', here soon

Tofield and district residents interested in travel on both the South and North American continents will be treated to the showing of the film, "Pan American Highway" next Wednesday, April 11th, in the Tofield Community Theatre.

Mel Rose, an explorer-photographer whose work has carried him into many of the most inaccessible corners of North America, will be narrator for the film which he made with the help of his wife. In order to make the film, Mr. Rose and his wife, Ethel, fought their way from the Mexican border to the straits of Magellan, over hundreds of miles of cobblestone roads, thousands of miles of deserts, millions of miles of red tape in the Adiaanas and Pares (eastern and police stops) and countless unbridged rivers, to produce this exceptional film of North American scenery.

Details of the film are advertised elsewhere in this issue of The Mercury.

The film is being sponsored by members of the Tofield Community League. The film, photographed in 14 different countries is in full color, and should give a good insight into the ways of life of those living in Central and South America, a subject with which all too many North Americans are unfamiliar

Is it too late to stop?

(From The Echo, Athabasca, Alberta)

With the possibility of a federal election becoming a bit nicer every day, the various political parties are once again vieing with each other to see which can promise the most in the way of handouts which are politely called social security benefits.

We feel they are going in the wrong direction. Since the inception of the baby bonus, the country has become more and more a virtual welfare state.

Through legislation the government has made it possible for a person to contribute less than a dollar a week for less than a year. When this point has been reached, a number find that it is impossible to continue working and get laid off for various reasons. They are then eligible for Unemployment Insurance for a year.

Many of them draw for almost that time before finding suitable employment.

For men with families, this is not enough to keep up payments on the car, payments on the house, to clothe and feed the children — so here the welfare comes in. The children can be made to suffer so poor John Taxpayer is taken for another gift, and the man out of work gets another handout.

We know there are a number of deserving welfare cases, and many people married and single who want to work who are out of work. We know there is a great need for Old Age Pension and Disability Pensions. We know there is a growing number of people on relief who are not in the "gimme" class, but we feel sure there are a number not as much in need.

We know it is generally thought that for a political party to take a firm stand and declare all unnecessary welfare payments would cause it to be generally thought to be political suicide, but we wonder.

The number supported by welfare is growing at an alarming rate and that number increases the number who pay the shot is decreased in proportion. While the workers and the doers are still in the majority it might be a good idea for someone to investigate what support would be forthcoming if welfare strings were tightened on all those families where there was an able-bodied man the nominal head of the house.

If unemployment insurance benefits were to be cut to not more than three months, if seasonal workers had to prove no other means of support before they could collect — the possibilities for reform are endless.

Responsible or convenient

Various citizens of Alberta have been stunned from time to time by the blandness of government control to be held up for months until the house was sitting, so the government could pass necessary legislation with orders-in-council, which kept the wheels rolling. It had to be ratified, if memory serves correctly, at the next sitting.

But things move faster today, and we keep the wheels rolling by passing orders-in-council even while the house is sitting. They might talk too long, and delay action.

Surely, this is one more snub to the legislative process, and one more wormhole sapping the strength of our democratic freedoms. It should not now be permitted, nor again repeated.

A time to be coy

The period prior to an expected election traditionally is a time for a political party in office, and more especially its leader, to be coy about the date of dissolution of the legislature or parliament in preparation for a general election. Mr. Diefenbaker seems to be most adept at the game. It seems the opposition members do. More recently he remarked that all members seem to be "interested in the month of June."

And so the cat-and-mouse game goes on. If we were to go out on a limb at this stage of the game with an election date prediction, we would favor the month of June as the prime minister's choice. But time will tell, and that time is not too far off.

Must maintain closure

Liberals have joined with Conservatives in supporting the move to abolish "closure" in the dominion parliament, according to late news reports, with only the CCF solidly maintaining that it is essential.

And here the CCF is right. To abolish the privilege of closing off interminable debate is essential, and simply because there was one unhappy experience with it a few years ago is no reason for throwing it out. In this instance, the Conservatives were trying to block the pipeline act, and they behaved in a most unsavory way, so that the only possible way out was eventually by use of the closure, which the Liberals did. To their credit, too.

We must have closure. We cannot eliminate this one control which would prevent parliament from descending to a succession of filibusters, such as obstruct the passage of important legislation across our borders. We have already seen too much of its application, in the pipeline debate mentioned above, in the divorce case considered by the CCF last year, and in many of the worthy causes advanced by private members, which are "talked out". While we appreciate the point being developed by two CCF members over divorce law in parliament, still we cannot agree that the business of parliament should thus be effectively hamstrung by the elimination of any limits to debate. We cannot afford to play into the hands of idiots and opportunists.

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA — It all seems rather pointless here just now, but the roman days of 1956 and the great pipeline debate in Parliament are apparently due for a revival at the election campaign days ahead.

And it is strange in a way, because most of the men who were then the heroes and the villains in that bitter political scrap were not re-elected (the exception was Jack Pickersgill, who changed his constituency from Bonavista-Twillingate to Bonavista-Twillingate) and the Minister of Trade and Commerce (George Hees, then the leader of the Conservative opposition, Mr. J. Coldwell who led the CCF Party in this dark and stormy debate, and Solon Low, then leader of the Social Credit members in the House of Commons).

However, there are several reasons why it is quite natural that the pipeline debate should be recalled from time to time in the House of Commons. Some of the men who were then in the thick of the battle, Mr. Diefenbaker himself and Jack Pickersgill, who had self played a relatively small part, He did not join in the parade up the aisle of the Commons when Conservative leader Drew and CCF leader Coldwell, red-faced, shook their fists in the face of Speaker Rene Beaudoin.

Mr. Diefenbaker sat mute in his seat, transfixed, perhaps, by what was happening to Parliament. But perhaps disapproving as much of his opposite colleagues' behaviour as of the Government's.

SWITCH WITH TIME

Time moved along, and Mr. Diefenbaker became leader of the party, emerged from the election campaign that followed in 1957, he had become Prime Minister of the country, and almost across Canada. He vowed that a Conservative Government would ensure closure from the rules forever.

The people of Canada gave him that chance. And in the short 23rd Parliament, which lasted from October until February, 1958, the new Prime Minister did introduce a motion which would have abolished the cause of so much bitterness.

Before it was acted on, however, Mr. Diefenbaker himself had changed the motion into another election campaign. Again the end of closure was promised, but no immediate action was taken.

Finally, after much prodding, the Prime Minister re-introduced the subject in the speech from the throne that opened Parliament last January. And here in March, the Commons was given an opportunity for the debate a motion calling for "consideration" of closure by a select committee, with the right of re-nomination of Speaker Roland Michener. The Conservatives were rather hoping for fireworks, but the Opposition refused.

All the Prime Minister's motion elected from the Liberals was a polite invitation to act immediately rather than wait for a committee to report its findings.

SWITCHED NOVE

Liberal Jack Pickersgill, who had said only two words—"Mr. Chairman"—in the pipeline debate before his place was pre-empted by Mr. Howe, was Liberal spokesman on the motion. He offered no fight and no defence of the Liberal action in 1956. Instead, he pointed to Mr. Diefenbaker's promises of 1957 and 1958, declared that no Government in its senses would call closure again, and called for its immediate abolition.

But Mr. Diefenbaker's shrewd movement wasn't the only surprise of the day. The CCF, which fought alongside the Conservatives when closure was first applied, did an about-turn and urged that the rule be kept.

The Conservatives were furious. Mr. Diefenbaker the opportunity he needed to let the motion go to a vote on his terms. And of course it passed, without opposition.

It's apparent enough that the Prime Minister has had second thoughts about the wisdom of hasty action, and wants the subject thoroughly debated in committee before the final decision is made.

Or is it possible that he wants to keep the subject alive, to hound the Grits over their past sins once more on the election platform?

Vancouver airport has own north pole

VANCOUVER—"There's a North Pole in the centre of Vancouver airport and plans fly due south from it to Amsterdam.

It may sound complicated but to airline crews flying the polar route to Europe its far simpler than trying to fix their position from a compass which often strikes like a propeller when in the vicinity of the pole.

Canadian Pacific Airlines came up against the navigational problem after the inauguration of the Vancouver-Amsterdam polar service.

Now the pole, the technical component of the earth's magnetic field is not strong enough for a reliable reference. That, combined with effects of magnetic storms, makes a compass useless.

NO BIG HILL

A sextant is no good either. The right ships and the horizon are not light void and the sun is out of sight behind the horizon and cannot be used as a fix.

S. C. Kendall, chief navigator for CPA, explains it this way:

"The trouble is that in Arctic regions, calculating true north is an endless task of altering calculations. At 450 miles an hour the angle from your flight path to the pole is continually changing. This makes conventional navigation methods impractical. What we have to do is to retard true north, and create our own north."

This was done by drawing up detailed polar route charts, which point to the north pole. The Arctic ice cap is in the middle at Vancouver airport.

NETHERLANDS SOUTH

"This point we call 'grid north.' We then reckon Amsterdam to be due south of there," said Mr. Kendall.

A relatively new piece of equipment known as the Kollsman polaraligned gyroscope helps to alleviate problems.

Working on a constant-percentage basis it can automatically calculate the position of the aircraft relative to the pole. It is below the horizon—by receiving the direction from which the greatest intensity of light is received.

The instrument, geared to the aircraft and always in the light directly averts as by a complex arrangement of prisms, mirrors and lenses.

By George!

Someone once said "You can't get too much of a good thing." so if this is true and if newspaper space can be classed as "a good thing" ...then no one will mind a few more Centennial stories which have appeared in news-papers and magazines!

"Fred V. Vance, deputy grand exhausted ruler of the Elks, will talk with Johnson City on Thursday."

Letter accompanying a sausage recipe: "You personally enjoy your newspaper as much as my self."

"Miss Rita Sugar, queen of the Niagara Falls, N.Y., centennial ball will be classed as "a sweet affair."

"Fireworks were visible for miles" Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Harrell Hartwick of Tampa will entertain at open house Sunday, from three until late."

"Miss C—H— reported to police the loss of $20 today. She said the money was entrusted to her by relatives and the loss was discovered soon after the departure of a Lebanese lecturer salesman who had been demonstrating his latest "Pearl-in-Season" special pans given to beginners."

Legislature report . . .

(By Ken Mason)

EDMONTON, March 30 . Just as everyone had expected, Municipal Affairs Minister Alf Hooke last week announced some major changes in the urban county bill.

The main change, of course, will be the requirement that a plebiscite be held before any town or city may withdraw from the urban county and municipal services under a single elected council.

Actually, the government had little choice but to make that change. The vast majority of briefs presented at the public hearings argued that there should be a plebiscite, and opposed the idea of a county being set up simply on the strength of a resolution passed by either the council or the school board.

NEW MECHANICS

Mr. Hooke also announced other changes in the county bill. Here's how it looks now city would go about setting up a county under the new bill:

The council, public school board, or the trustees of separate schools is able to initiate a plebiscite by resolution

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it really considered good manners to use the handkerchief while at the dinner table?

A. This is not so much a question of "good manners" as of "necessity". Certainly, when the necessity arises, one must use the handkerchief at the table—but do it as inconspicuously and as quietly as possible.

Q. Where should one's return address be properly placed on the envelope of a letter?

A. The preferred position is in the upper left-hand corner of the face of the envelope, although when the envelope is too small for this, the return address is sometimes placed on the back.

Q. Is it proper to decorate a dinner table with candles, even if they are not lighted?

A. Yes; the candles are always a part of the dinner table.

Q. Upon being introduced to Miss Sanders for the second time, is it right to say, "I believe you know Miss Sanders"?

A. This sounds just a little abrupt, as though it were too much trouble to make a second acquaintance. I should think it would sound better to say, "I have already had the pleasure of meeting Miss Sanders."

Q. I'd like to have my wedding invitation engraved in gold ink. Is this all right?

A. For wedding invitations, only black ink should be used. Silver or gold are frequently used, however, for 25th or 50th wedding anniversary invitations, if one wishes.

Q. When eating a biscuit and jelly at the dinner table, should the jelly be applied to the biscuit with the fork?

A. The knife should be used for this purpose.

Q. We were served baked potatoes at a dinner recently, and the skins across from me proceeded to remove the potato from the skin and mash it on his plate before eating it. Wasn't this the wrong thing to do?

A. Yes; baked potato is properly eaten directly from the skin.

Q. Is it all right, if more convenient, to mail out the marriage announcements a few days before the wedding?

A. No, and for the simple and logical reason that the couple is not "married" before the wedding has taken place. These announcements are sent out immediately following the ceremony.

A man apart

We have learned that the Northern Indian, in the depths of his soul, is still untamed, primitive—a man apart. For centuries, and even thousands of years, he has been engaged in a life-and-death struggle for survival. Rugged like his mountains, stern and stolidly moulded by the fierce cold, the long darkness, the endless snow, he has been cast at heart still in a mould, following his course, his caribou, his fish.

The Northern Indian today is not himself. The Northern Indian is in the process of being destroyed by the White Man, who has come here with his Alaska Highway, his stores, his glittering gadgets, his soft living and hard drinking. For every missionary in this country (R. C. and Protestant) there are a dozen of Satan's emissaries to counteract his preaching, one hundred other white men have buried that cross, hurling and enticing these primitive children of the North into a vortex of vice, degradation and misery.

Garden Graph

SPRING PLANTING OF ROSE BUSHES

To grow good roses, plant them as early in the spring as possible.

As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, dig a hole 18 inches wide and about 12 inches deep. To enrich your soil, combine the earth removed with several spades full of any barnyard fertilizer, peat moss, leaf mould or compost, mixing it well into the soil.

Place several inches of the loose, prepared soil into the hole and form a cone-shaped mound in the centre.

Plant the bush on the mound, spreading the roots naturally down its slope. Position the bush on the mound so that the bud union (the knotlike swollen area where top growth or cane originates) is at about ground level. Cover the roots with soil, working the soil around the roots so that no air pockets remain.

Fill the hole three-quarters full and tramp down firmly; as shown, poor in several gallons of water. After water has drained, finish filling in the hole.

Spring planted bushes must be hilled to protect them from a late freeze or drying out before the roots become established. Mound up the soil to eight or 10 inches. Leave this soil carefully as soon as growth starts. This soil mound can easily be washed away with a hose as

Modern etiquette

Q. Is it proper to address the envelope of a letter to a person who is visiting at one of the titles, Mr., Mrs., or Miss ?

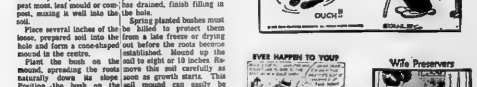
A. Emphatically, no.

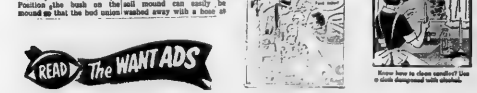
Q. Is there any way that one can possibly clean one's fingers at the table if no fingerbowl has been provided ?

A. It is permissible to tip the water glass against the corner of the napkin, and then wipe the fingers on this damp corner.

Q. We've been having an argument in our group as to whose place it is to speak first when leaving on the street, the man or the woman. Will you please settle the lot us ?

A. While once it was always the "lady" who spoke first, today if they are good friends — there is nothing all wrong with the man's speaking first.





"I assume this relieves us of any further loyalty to the sponsors' products."

cal, religious and moral reasons, but surely, with factors as close to us, none could argue for books that teach us to hate people whose skins whose religious, whose politics, whose backgrounds are different from ours. Conversely, highly questionable books are those that "thrust into our dear little ears" that the English the American or even the Canadian are of any superior.

Books that defend humanity, by banning racial prejudice can probably not be banned even as successfully as those that are riddled for political, religious or moral grounds. But they can be ridiculed, and jingoism and false patriotism can be removed from our bookshelves with more emphasis put on the brotherhood of man. And this of course, at least includes thinking about censorship beyond a mere shallow consideration of it. It has even a famous Lady, and her friends to assess must un-

The question of equipment purchase was again considered.

It was moved that we offer to pay R. Amyot Ltd. $25,000 for the D-7 and scraper together with the equipment to be traded off. This being $1,900 less than the price quoted by Case Co.

The Secretary was also requested to investigate Buck Equipment Co.

STILL LOTS OF SNOW!

Spring seems to be coming at last, but there is still large amounts of snow in the drifts and on the roadsides as well as most fields only showing some bare spots. The main roads are nearly all dry excepting for some low spots where the water is running on to it. It is still freezing at nights making the runoff less rapid than expected. We all hope it soon dries up and spring really comes to this part of Alberta again.

THE RESEARCH

COUNCIL O FALBERTA

The Research Council of Alberta is a scientific body set up and financed by the province of Alberta and is concerned to a large degree with promoting the utilization of the natural resources of Alberta through initiating, investigating, or improving technical processes

The Council is located in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and has a staff of about 130 scientists, engineers, technicians and administrative personnel in a broad effort involving research and surveys in geology, soils and groundwater; research in natural gas, petroleum, coal highways, and clinal physics; and technical information and service in industrial engineering, pollution, and gasoline and oil products testing.

CAPSULE PIPELINE RESEARCH

The Research Council of Alberta, which originated the capsule pipeline concept, has examined the flow of capsules in a broad research program over the past three years. Three laboratory pipelines have been used for studying the flow of capsules.

Parallel theoretical studies of the flow characteristics have been carried out using modern computer techniques.

It has been found in the small-scale tests that capsules can be made to travel at about the same speed as the suspension liquid when this is moving at the speed normally used in pipelines, and that the increase in power needed to transport the capsules is not unduly great.

PIPELINE CAPSULES

Two general types of capsules are being considered:

1. Hollow cylindrical or spherical shells enclosing substances that either would be contaminated by the liquid or difficult to separate from it;
2. Solid cylinders or spheres of massive materials which at most would need only a thin skin of plastic around them to give added strength and decrease friction.

PIPELINE MODEL

To illustrate the capsule pipelining concept, a display pipeline has been built for the Seattle fair. It is made of clear plastic pipe, seventy-five feet long and five inches in diameter. A continuous stream of water flows through the pipe, and carries capsules from a shipping end to the "receiving" end. The visitors may be taken to observe a number of different commodities — such as grains, minerals and chemicals being moved from the Canadian prairies through the mountains to the sea coast at Vancouver for overseas shipment.

CURRENT STATUS OF DEVELOPMENT

Capsule pipelining has not yet reached commercial application. The scientific aspects have been which might be used by industries in the province.

Work established by current theoretical and laboratory work. Attention is now being directed to the technology involved in the application of the idea, and to its economic attractiveness.

Alberta at World's Fair

The Research Council of Alberta is providing a capsule pipeline exhibit in the Canadian scientific pavilion at the Century 21 World's Fair in Seattle, which will run from April 21 to October 22, 1962.

Capsule pipelining is a means concept by which bulk commodities are packaged or encased for transportation in a stream of liquid in a pipeline. It comes from the observation that oil will flow in "rings" in a stream of water. It was a simple matter to picture peas being transported from one locality to another in an underground pipeline. In this manner it may be possible to extend the economies inherent in fluid pipelining to commodities not presently amenable to pipeline transportation.

Tangled wreckage

This is all that remains of the car driven by Robert Stroh of Ardrossan, which was in collision with a CNR passenger train near Ardrossan on March 20th. Mr. Stroh was killed in the mishap, and two passengers, Vic Rea and Ron Huston, also of Ardrossan, were injured. The wreckage had to be loaded onto a flat car to move the scene of the accident. —Cut courtesy Edmonton Journal

How to bowl FIVEPINS

HOW TO THINK YOURSELF INTO WINNING
You'd be shocked to see how much your frame of mind has to do with how many you score in the games you are bowling.
Bowlers often set up mental hurdles in their own minds they know they can never bowl scores more than 180, or 270, or 310; they're sure they can never roll a decent game on some particular lane; they just don't play beside a wall, or next to pillars.
Your outlook is more than half the game. If you think of obstacles that you are going to have, in a frame, or pick a head-in chance—sure you'll end up doing exactly that.
Control of the negative mental hurdle comes after running up a string of strikes. Then you think you've got five strikes in a row may be the next game you'll bowl a perfect 300.
Actually it is the average bowler who is his own worst foe. He's always sure five strikes in a row may be the next game you'll bowl a perfect 300.

YOU ARE THE DIRECTIVE

Upon your arrival at the little berg home on the edge of town you are met at the door by the manager of the Better Living Hotel. He's the seems grim and sticken Catherine . . . "Oh, she's dead! I just can't believe it!" And he breaks into a fit of sobs.

You walk past him and into the living room, where you find Doctor Paul Summerfield crouched over the body of Catherine Summerfield. He seems to be lying on the floor because you see that he himself is in a fast as possible after receiving Paul Summerfield's frantic telephone call, but that the woman was dead when he arrived. You note a number of scratches and bruises on the dead woman's face, and the doctor calls your attention to the fact. "She died probably no more than a half-hour after receiving the wound," says Doctor Lewis tells you.

"I don't know a thing about it," said Doctor Summerfield, "I was just leaving the room to go and look in the medicine chest for something that might help her. I heard her getting up, she reeled and staggered around the room, and then before I could jump to help her, she fell forward striking her head on the edge of the table. We don't have a telephone, and so I rushed first to revive her, and when that failed, I rushed down the street to a neighbor's home and phoned the doctor and you."

You gaze about the neatly-kept room, at the table next to the dead woman's body, at the ally-covered chairs, then you turn back to the husband and say, "There's just one more inconsistency about all this that makes me suspicious of the circumstances of your wife's death."

What is that "little inconsistency"?

SOLUTION

If his wife had fallen forward, as Paul Summerfield described, hitting her head on the edge of the table as she fell, the wound could not have been on the back of her head. Summerfield's incoherent attempt to implicate Jack three scratches and bruises on her face", volunteers Paul Summerfield, who has now entered the room. "I didn't even get a chance to talk with her . I had arrived home from work, as usual, at about six o'clock this evening and when I came into the living room she was lying on the sofa all scratched and mashed up that way. She seemed out of her head, and kept mumbling something I couldn't understand . I thought I heard Foster mutter, and all the more suspicious with jealousy as a possible motive . . . "

Summerfield shakes his head mournfully, then continues; "I was just leaving the room to go and look in the medicine chest for something that might help her. I heard her getting up, she reeled and staggered around the room, and then before I could jump to help her, she fell forward striking her head on the edge of the table." We don't have a telephone, and so I rushed first to revive her, and when that failed, I rushed down the street to a neighbor's home and phoned the doctor and you."

Guest soloists for band concert honored recently

The Tofield Band concert scheduled for Sunday, April 15th at 3:30 p.m. in the Community Centre will feature guest soloists who have recently won high honors in the Alberta Musical Festival.

Mr. Bi-by Linklater, solo trumpet player, was highly commended by his adjudicators on his performance last week. The adjudicators comments were that Ricky was a very gifted young player who seems to have an overall picture of the piece he is playing and injects considerable personality and style into his interpretation.

Miss Joanne Linklater was also highly complimented on her performance on the clarinet. Both of the above artists will be guests of the Tofield Band and should make the performance the more enjoyable.

The band is under the direction of Mr. Gerry Linklater, formerly of the Royal Canadian Air Force Command Band, and is composed of a number of the older members of the Tofield Band with 14 new members taking part. They have been studying and practicing for the past six months. A good turnout would be most heartily appreciated to encourage these young musicians in their very worthwhile musical career.

Service Board meeting held March 27th

The meeting of the Agricultural Service Board of the Municipal District of Beaver held on March 27, was called to order by the Chairman, Reeve Gibson at 1:40 p.m., with the following members present: Messrs. Berdahl, Pawlowski, Lee, Hargreaves and Stan Powers, District Agricultural Fieldman Bayles, Field supervisor, was also present

The Secretary advised that there was an error in the minutes of the meeting of January 31, 1962, where it said that Dr. Robertson and Dr. Sather were to be paid for 873 hours to survey the brush. It was pointed out that the number of hours should be 473 as approved by the Council. Also this would necessitate a change in the Agricultural Service Board Act.

Also the Secretary read the report of a talk given by Mr. S. P. Mutha, Secretary-Treasurer of the M.D. of Steele No. 81 at the Conference. The topic was "Duties and Responsibilities of Service Boards from the Secretary's Viewpoint."

Mr. Powers said the meeting was for discussion—was available spraying for brush and trees. Spraying operation in case of brush spraying was brought up and several reasons were given. One of the reasons is that some municipalities spraying large trees which take considerable time and clientele wants wide acres spray only the smaller brush. Another reason is the variety of rates of chemical used. Commercial sprayers use rates around 3 lbs. of acid per acre in order to guarantee their work where municipalities use 2 to 4 lbs. of acid per acre.

Stan Powers said that one Secretary suggested that the Agricultural Service Board should be a Committee of the Council with a majority of Council members on the Board so that the Board would have power to act.

It was pointed out that the assistance of Committees must be approved by the Council. Also this would necessitate a change in the Agricultural Service Board Act.

The Secretary also advised that Mr. Stan Powers had been asked to attend a Soil Conservation Seminar in Edmonton on April 10th.

The length of service of farm members on the Agricultural Service Board was discussed. Leo Maruszewski said that it took a year to get acquainted with the work of the Board before they were able to make much in the way of decisions.

The Chairman was called for the Field Supervisor's Report.

Community League committee working on possibility forming Cub-Scout group

Since the last report, the attendance at our last meeting has shown a very nice increase, with 21 members present. However, this can still be improved.

The Community League One Hundred Club would like to thank all those participating to make this project such a great success. The winner of the last $100 was Mr. Carol Swanson.

The League is happy to announce that it will again sponsor the Tofield Drama Club in their forthcoming play, "Hay Fyleud Irma", which is scheduled for May 8th and 9th.

The date for the Easter Ham Bingo is Thursday, April 19th, commencing at 8:30 p.m.

An Odd-Time Dance will be held soon. The date will be announced later.

Boy Scouts and Cubs may soon be back in Tofield, as a committee was formed in work with committees from other clubs to look into the matter and see if a suitable leader can be obtained.

The committee in charge of the Red Cross Swimming Lessons reported that response to date has been very slow. If at least 100 entries are not received this project will have to be cancelled, and those who are interested will have to join in with Ardrossan.

The date of the next regular Community League meeting will be Tuesday, May 1st, at 8:00 p.m.

This is the fourth year such a float has been made available and demands for participation in the various provincial events has risen each year.

Last year, the float travelled 7,230 miles, visiting 32 different communities between May and September. Theme of the float, as portrayed above, will encourage Albertans to enjoy their own holiday resort opportunities rather than going further afield.

Bertie the Beaver, the symbol of the Alberta forest protection branch, is part of the design with the implied suggestion to holidayers to protect from fire their forest areas.

EDITORIALS...

Our reputation at stake ?

Canada's reputation as a mature nation has suffered a number of blows recently, and will be eroded even further by the Columbia River power treaty farce, claims The Edmonton Journal, editorially.

The recent public statements of General McNaughton and the sudden storm blown up by them probably won't hurt the situation, though, as much as is generally feared. Far worse, in our opinion, has been the argument between Ottawa and Premier Bennett of British Columbia.

In the first place, it must be recalled, General McNaughton is an uncompromising, unyielding, iron-willed fighter, whose heart and soul is interested only in improving opportunities for Canada and Canadians. Troops who knew him during the Second World War, and anyone who has watched his campaigning for a better deal for Canada in this development of the Columbia, would never have any doubts as to his personal integrity. It is hard to conceive of General McNaughton in the role of politician, any more than General Eisenhower could adapt to that role as President of the United States.

We seriously believe that if McNaughton could have gained a treaty whereby ALL the water rights and ALL the power generated by development of the Columbia were to revert to Canada, he would grudgingly concede that it was almost good enough.

In the first place, as The Journal recalls, Ottawa negotiated with Washington a treaty whose major objective was to secure for Canada part of the cheap downstream power to be generated by the U.S. on the Columbia River, as a result of his development on the Canadian side.

The B.C. government approved this draft agreement in all respects. Then, suddenly, Premier Bennett became convinced of a billion-dollar gamble on development of the Peace River, and promptly kicked over the traces. Bennett demanded the right to sell all of Canada's entitlement to Columbia power on a long-term basis, to provide the money for his Peace River dream. Mindful of the problems which descended on Ontario several years ago when power commitments to the U.S. seriously disrupted industrial development here, Ottawa objected, and the power treaty remains unsigned.

It is certain that Prime Minister Diefenbaker can't stand the thought of entering an election with the whole province of B.C. up in arms over this issue, and he has tried several times to straighten it out. His last effort, apparently, was sacrificing McNaughton on the political altar, much as Coyne was sacrificed.

In the end, it appears McNaughton may resist the role just as strenuously as did Mr. Coyne. With an election due to be called any day, probably, it's a thorny lesson in the vagaries of politics.

Too much quackery

It's surprising how often the opponents of fluoridation have to run for cover as a result of misinformation they spread about the terrible nature of the consequences of adding this simple chemical to water, in order to prevent dental decay in the teeth of our children. Only last week, Mrs. Rose Wilkinson in Calgary apparently crawled into her bomb shelter after her statements that the prime minister had definitely stated no fluoridation would be permitted in Canada's national parks was categorically repudiated.

And recently we received from Dr. Donald Mackay, medical health officer from the East Central Alberta Health Unit, a copy of a letter from the Royal Swedish Embassy. In the spirit of conscientiously striving to obtain all the facts, either in favor of or opposed to fluoridation, and following a recent letter to the editor in this paper, in which it was suggested fluoridation must be evil since Sweden had abandoned it after a number of years, Dr. Mackay wrote and asked for the official report.

The reply which is reprinted in the letters to the editor column this week, is unfortunate in that the decision was not made by medical men, but by a group of lawyers.

To us, it seems beyond belief that the scientific evidence adduced so far, and the support given the program . . . officially . . . by nearly every medical or dental body who could conceivably be polled in the matter, should be argued against by uninformed laymen. Again, it seems beyond belief that we should sentence our children, incapable of voting for themselves, to a life of miserable teeth, hours in a dentist's chair, and considerable discomfort, when the remedy is as close at hand, so painless, so harmless, and so economical. It's less than half a year until Council could present the opportunity for the voters to pass judgment on this measure, and there should be calls for action from parents in every corner of the city for this opportunity.

A credit to Tofield

We feel it is high time that the Tofield Community League were given some recognition for the fine work it is doing for the town and district. Besides providing a beautiful community centre, this group is active in many other ways such as arranging for Red Cross swimming lessons later this summer.

Each week movies are shown in Tofield through the efforts of the Community League, not only as another source of entertainment for residents in the area, but also to provide revenue to help defray the costs of the community centre These movies are always among the best available, a good example being the one which is showing this weekend, "Midnight Lace". We had the pleasure of seeing this film, and consider it one of the best mysteries ever to be put on the screen.

The League is serving a good cause, and deserves the support of all.

By George!

It seems that every year there are more and more activities being asked on for which tickets are being sold. Almost every day some group member calls in to the various stores in town offering to sell a ticket for one thing or another — a pool ticket, a ticket on a blanket, a ticket to a bingo, or even a meal ticket. One wonders where it is all going to end- or where the line should be drawn.

There are businessmen in all towns who support every kind of drive for funds, and on the other hand there are those who support none of them. There is one organization to which the business men of any town should give wholehearted support, however, and that is the one which is formed by the business men and for him— the Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade in his community. When a few Chamber members, in trying to put over a project, are not given the support of the majority of the other members, it must be taken as an indicator that the majority does not approve. In this case, we suppose, the project should be dropped- and it would seem logical that those who did not lend their support should be called upon to offer an alternative project.

This is Chamber of Commerce Week in Canada. How is the Chamber faring in our community? Are you an active participant? As pointed out in an editorial reprinted in this paper some time ago from The Headliner, edited by Hugh Irving, there are three types of people — builders, destroyers and wails. This is a good week to ask ourselves— Chamber of Commerce-wise—what category fits us best?

Keen eyes on Brussels talks

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA — Trade is the lifeblood of Canada. Without trade that Country would face a complete collapse of its economy.

That is why the Canadian government is so concerned about the talks now going on at Brussels between the British and the six nations making up the European Economic Community, about the possible entrance of the United Kingdom into the common market. Canada has some top ranking trade officials at Brussels working in close association with the British.

Put at the same time Canada's government has stressed to the British government that she must have frequent consultations with Rt. Hon. Edward Heath, Lord Privy Seal and Britain's chief negotiator at the common market talks in order to keep the Canadian government up to date on the latest developments. Mr. Heath flew to Ottawa last month.

He conferred for two days with Prime Minister Diefenbaker Finance Minister Donald Fleming Trade Minister George Hees and Agricultural Minister Alvin Hamilton. The latter ended his review of recuperation from a serious illness to sit in on the discussions.

Canada is worried about Britain's possible entry into the common market and what it could do to Canada with the U.K.

NEED TO SAVE CUSTOMERS

Second to the United States, Britain is Canada's largest export market. It takes about one billion dollars worth of Canadian exports annually. A wide variety of products of interest to every region of Canada and to most Canadian industries make up the total. For a number of these commodities of cheese, wheat and flour are outstanding examples, the United Kingdom is Canada's principal external market.

One of Canada's big worries is that should the U.K. join the common market there would be a common tariff imposed against wheat as high as 20 per cent. The Australian government made strong representations to the British to try and prevent a tariff being levied against Canadian wheat exports to the U.K. should she join the EEC, but Germany and France are not expected to go along with such a proposition.

Comparing the terms of arrest which Canadian exports now enjoy in the British market with the common tariff of the European Economic Community countries Mr. Fleming noted that of total Canadian sales of $913 million to the U.K. in 1960 a total of $681 million or 76 per cent could be affected in greater or lesser degree should Britain join up with the six. Of course much depends on the terms of entry which the British are able to negotiate.

The British government has assured Canada and other commonwealth countries that she will make every effort in the negotiations at Brussels to get the best possible terms of entry that could be had ranges to protect commonwealth trade interests. But it is recognized here and elsewhere in the commonwealth that Britain cannot join the market and expect to maintain her commonwealth preferential trade arrangements.

ONE TO DODGE

Consequently the British would like to know from Canada and other commonwealth countries what industries they consider "vendable". In other words she would like to be advised by Canada for example what industries this Country is most anxious to see left with the commonwealth preferential tariff provisions. But the Canadian government, with an election looming, is not going to go out on a limb and state what industries she thinks must retain the preferential tariffs and what industries can get along without such concessions.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker reiterated in his two lengthy meetings with Mr Heath that he wanted to see a prime ministers' commonwealth conference called if he wants it held before Britain reaches a final decision to join the common market.

TIMING

Mr Heath let it be known that this government would favor such a conference being held in the fall, probably in September. There are indications that Mr. Diefenbaker is in accord with this suggestion. He would have liked the conference earlier in the summer.

Among those who travelled to Ottawa with Mr Heath were some Englishmen who were not too confident that Britain would be able to join the common market They reported a growing sentiment in the United Kingdom against the idea.

Should it develop—and there is always the possibility—that the U.K. decides against joining with the EEC because she could not work out satisfactory terms to maintain some of her trade with the commonwealth, then the Canadian government would have to consider making new trading arrangements with the liberals. Trade officials in this country are convinced that if the U.K. decides not to go into the common market she is almost certain to come back to Canada with a new free trade proposal.

Britain made a free trade offer to Canada at the ill-fated Montreal conference in 1957. The Conservative Canadian government has taken shack by the idea It was not prepared to accept such a proposition with all its implications. It flatly rejected the idea and it seems that Britain began looking to the common market in earnest as her trading area for the future.

Should the British decide against joining the EEC she will have to look elsewhere for ways and means of expanding her trade. Certainly a free trade deal with Canada would be a logical step and Canada after initial reluctance, encouraged by the commonwealth, would be better prepared to go with such a free trade proposal. It is no wonder that the Canadian government is watching the negotiations at Brussels with considerable concern.

The meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9 Civil Defence Unit Control on March 12th was called to order by the chairman, C. Magnuson with the following members present: George Taylor Unit Director R. K. Westmacoat, Deputy Unit Director, D. Johnston, representing the County of Beaver No. 9, J. Chamuliw, Director for the Village of Holden, T. F. Harris, Director for the Village of Ryley; Mrs. Rex Boyles, Director for the Town of Holden, and Mr. S. Hafso, representing the Town of Viking. Also present were Mr. McNally and Mr. Thomson of EMO.

The chairman asked for the approval of the minutes of the meeting held on Easter Monday, April 23rd, 1962.

Moved by S. Hafso that the minutes of the meeting of Jan 22 1962, be adopted as presented. Carried.

BUSINESS FROM MINUTES

Mr. McNally noted that we had included in our minutes of Jan. 22, 1962, a motion to pay instructors for First Aid training at the rate of $2.00 per hour.

He claimed that this cannot be obtained for grant, as all payments for First Aid and Home Nursing are to be made by St. John Ambulance according to an agreement between the Federal Government and St. John Ambulance. He said we would be allowed to pay sevenpay mileage if we obtained approval previous to the commencement of the course.

CORRESPONDENCE

The secretary read a letter from Emergency Measures Organization answering some of the questions asked at the Conference with Municipal Officials on February 15th.

As a result of this letter had been received by the Directors, it was moved by J. Chamuliw that this letter be received and filed. Cd.

The secretary referred various letters regarding information on courses to the Committee.

As the Directors had this information as well, it was moved by Cpl. Johnston that these letters be received and filed. Cd.

Mr. Westmacoat referred to Exercise Tocsin, and said that we should have more information on mistakes made in the Control Room so that we could remedy them in future Exercises.

Mr. McNally said that the only people who would know would be the directing staff in the Control Room. He said they do not have this information at EMO Headquarters.

NEW MAPS PLAN

Mr. McNally said that they have received a few survival plans at EMO Headquarters, and there is too much variation in them. He said they are using a three or four type of plans, a Unit Plan and an M.D. Town or Village Plan as a sample. Then it will be a case of putting the figures in the various sections. This way it will be a standard form and it should be quite easy to complete. He said that when they have the sample Unit completed they would like to send an evening meeting to discuss it.

Moved by Mrs. Boyles that an evening meeting be called to finalize the Survival Plan when the draft is ready. Cd.

Mr. McNally said that it is essential to have all the heads of services named and their deputy's if possible. These must go in the Survival Plan when it is completed.

Mr. Harris wanted to know the age limit that persons can be enrolled in Civil Defence.

Mr. McNally advised that the minimum age is 18 years, but it is preferable if they are 21 or over.

George Taylor advised that a First Aid course is going in Hodeal under Dr. Cain.

Moved by S. Hafso that the next meeting be held on May 7, 1962. Cd.

As there was no further business it was moved by Mr. Westmacoat that the meeting adjourn at 4.40 p.m. Cd.

save up to $50.00 with Esso tractor gasoline!

If your tractor engine is designed to use regular motor gasoline, as most modern high-compression tractor engines are, you'll get better performance and save money too by using Esso Tractor Gasoline, the gasoline developed especially and solely for tractors. With an annual fuel consumption of 2360* gallons for instance, you may actually save as much as $50.00in one single year.

Esso Tractor Gasoline is specially refined for prairie farm requirements. Fields-tested on thousands of prairie farms, Esso Tractor Gasoline has proven to provide maximum efficiency, economically!

Call your Imperial Esso Agent today . . . he'll show you how you can save by using Esso Tractor Gasoline.

* Here's how we arrived at the consumption figure of 2360 gallons, so you can estimate your own gasoline consumption.

40 (horsepower of tractor) x 11 (average horsepower hours per gallon of gasoline) x 6 (90 hours of tractor operation) = 2360 gallons

TRUMPET TRIO

A trumpet trio, consisting of Ricky, Jeanne and Gerry Linklater with Don Linklater at the piano, gave three arrangements. Vera Booth and Bob McFadden were the soloists, Vera on the clarinet early in the program and Bob on the trumpet shortly before the end of the entertainment. The trumpet section, consisting of ten members, contributed one number to the program.

H. A. Fluet was chairman, and kept the audience well informed between numbers. His final plea was for more members and a few ladies to keep Miss Booth company.

Attacks on police topic at Holden council meeting

The council of the Village of Holden, at its regular meeting held in the office of Secretary-Treasurer Ray Holland on March 7th, took some definite action in the matter of the increase of attacks on police officers. During a discussion of the matter it was noted that village and town constables had been assaulted with little or no provocation being imposed on the culprits. This, council felt, is leading to the time when towns and villages will be faced with the problem of being unable to secure the services of constables. It was felt that courts of today were not imposing the necessary penalties upon culprits assaulting constables.

LETTER TO PM

As a result of the discussion, it was moved by Mayor A. W. Johnson and carried that secretary-treasurer be instructed to write a letter to the Prime Minister of Canada, with copies of the letter being forwarded to the local MP, the local MLA and to the department of the attorney-general of the Province of Alberta, making known council's request that strict adherence to the law be emphasized for the benefit of the town and village constables who are being assaulted, and that the culprits be fully dealt with when brought into court.

In attendance for the regular council meeting were Mayor Johnson Councillor R. L. Kahanyo, the newly-elected councillor, R. M. Bolash, and the secretary - treasurer.

NEW COUNCILLOR

George H. Taylor, returning officer were for Mayor on the recent election held on March 3rd and March 5th. Mr. Taylor declared R. M. Bolash elected to the council for a term of 2½ months. Councillor Bolash then subscribed to the official oath of office before the returning officer and this oath was witnessed by the secretary-treasurer and by the preceding oaths of office of the other village officers.

Kelis Hvidd questioned the fees for dogs running at large in the village as set out in Bylaw 19 and the amendments made thereto. Mr. Hvidd was informed that such was not the case, and that the village residents that do not have dogs and that a number of complaints had been received in the office regarding dogs running at large and that Council was forced to act accordingly.

WATER SHORTAGE

A delegation requested information regarding the water shortage at this time. Dave Dyrd, as spokesman for the delegation, stated that Council's last stand had been taken to rectify the situation as it stands. The delegation was informed that this item was on the agenda for this meeting as the shortage in the water supply had been brought to their mind that morning, thus providing little information at that time.

A delegation — from the Holden Recreation Board, with Lars Olson spokesman, presented to Council an estimate of expenditures to be made by the Board for recreational facilities in respect to the provincial recreation grant. Mr. Olson also requested that the Village Council give assistion to the Recreation Board to have Lots 3 and 4 and the north half of Lot 2 Block 27, Plan 4788W designated as being strictly for the purpose of development of the Tot Lots and the recreation board felt that improvements have already been made to a certain extent, it would be feasible to have this equipment moved.

It was moved by Mayor Johnson that approval be given to the Recreation Board for the Tot Lots. It was also agreed that the receipts from the sale of the sports ground booth be expended on the cost of graveling of the entrance roads to the sports grounds.

A letter as received from Linden Ackroyd, Bradley and Philion regarding the CNR dam was read by the secretary-treasurer and referred to the completion of the transfer which has been made. A duplicate certificate of title has been issued to the Village of Holden.

An account as received from Dennis Cooper of the Sun Publishing Co. for the advertising for sale of the Holden Sports Ground booth was presented to council.

It was moved by Mayor Johnson that the secretary-treasurer be instructed to inform Sun Publishing Co. that this bill should have been transacted through the village account, and, due to the agreement therewith, there should have been no charge for the advertisement.

Interest is high

As Editor Keith Bergh remarked last week in The Strathmore Standard of Mar. life will be dull when the plebiscite is over". He was referring to a county-wide plebiscite next Tuesday over implementation of a weather modification program which is being promoted by Dr. Irving P. Krick Associates, which involves a fairly large sum of money for the county, $138,500.

Interest runs high throughout the county in this new program, with some farmers claiming "quack"; while others suggest modern science be given an opportunity to prove itself. Reading of this field and his turn-of-the-century experiments in inducing rain, (which proved a flop) many farmers are afraid of the investment, which will up their taxes approximately twenty per cent, while others point out there are already several areas where Krick has "proved" his methods are effective.

We have been interested in reading the reports of meetings, and letters to the editor, and also the names of committee members backing this new project. There seems to have been little of the medicine show type of operation, and discussion generally has been on a pretty practical basis. Committee members are farmers of the highest regard in the community. Claims made for the project sound amazing, but are backed with penalty clauses whereby Krick suffers a heavy penalty if he doesn't increase rainfall by at least 21% over the twenty year average — no mean accomplishment in one of the prairie's dry areas.

If the Krick experiment can be proven effective over large areas, and if it does not mean at the most that one area is being robbed of its normal rainfall to produce higher moisture in another area, then the prairie farmer may be able to look forward to a bright new horizon when moisture could be provided at the right time and in the right amounts for optimum growing conditions.

We shall be watching Wheatland's ballot with keen interest next Tuesday.

Biggest ballot

A more important ballot than Wheatland's was announced at noon on Tuesday, when Prime Minister Diefenbaker confirmed the practically universal feeling that June 18 would be the date for a federal election. The next eight weeks will be ones of feverish activity across the country, as politicians of every shade and hue push and struggle and organize in an effort to reach the one goal: Ottawa.

There can be little doubt but what Conservatives will lose a number of seats . . . who ever heard of a national party increasing from such a substantial majority as the Conservatives were given four years ago? But whether they will lose enough to lose control of the government is something that still looks pretty murky in our crystal ball. But we were interested in the comment of one party worker today: "This will probably be the best organized election for many years."

All is not gold

It can't be more than a minor irritant when it comes no more often than once a year, but one of the things that bothers us is having to stand any time someone sings the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah. We know perfectly well the reason for it, and we think this makes it still sillier. Just because George II was so entranced with a performance in his day that he was brought to his feet, which demanded all commoners to rise also, is no reason for continuing this silly custom centuries later. With no criticism implied or intended towards Saturday night's excellent Messiah in Camrose, it strikes us as ridiculous to be asked to stand even before the chorus starts what may turn out to be a poor performance. In any case, we doubt that the king was brought to his feet before roughly the two thirds mark, where the music really does excel. This must brand us as a thorough-going lowbrow, probably, for we suspect most of the "longhairs" secretly relish this ancient pageantry, and bring it on its background.

But then, we'll probably continue to stand in the future, just because we haven't the courage to be "different" or to look unsouth.

It shouldn't drop here

The session of the legislature has been prorogued, but there is one important problem which hasn't yet been settled, and we feel it certainly should be. It was the suggestion of Mr. Ambrose Holowach that the CBC be called before the bar of the house to defend its action in defying the film censorship board recently, and going forward in showing the banned film "The Wild Ones".

The matter can't be dropped simply because the house has adjourned. Any action of this type would normally take weeks in any case. And it isn't necessary to go all the way to Ottawa in this case; the responsible official must be the man in charge of the Edmonton operation, who could have replaced the program if he cared to.

The point at issue is not whether the film should have been banned or not. The point is whether the CBC, or any other government agency, for that matter, can defy a ruling of a legal board in the province . . . something which the ordinary citizen cannot do with impunity.

We think Canada matters

(An Editorial from The Financial Post)

All Canadians deeply concerned about this country's survival as a nation of distinct entity and individual vision are applauding the decision of the Diefenbaker government to create a better climate for Canada's national magazines.

We refer to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement last week that:

"We shall be putting before this house, in due course, measures that will enable the competitive Canadian magazines which Canadian periodicals have been labouring, while fully protecting the reading preferences of the public and fully preserving the freedom of the press".

We believe that magazines correctly stated, edited and published in Canada by Canadians provide a vital national forum for the discussion of issues that shape and mold this country.

We believe these magazines affect how our people think, what they hold precious, what they aspire to for themselves, their community, their country and their children.

We do not believe all these expressions of national identity could have long survived the today inequitable competition from U.S. publications using the enormously profitable devices of "Canadian" editions or split runs.

We do not believe these so-called Canadian magazines with virtually no-cost American editorial material flanked by high-profit Canadian advertising could ever effectively bind this country together nor give expression to the beliefs, opinions and desires of our people who are Canadians — and Americans.

In welcome the announcement that the government plans to act on the O'Leary Royal Commission report — which at no time suggested that periodicals printed and published in Canada and carrying foreign advertising should be barred from Canada.

This means, for those who now start new Canadian magazines, a chance to survive and grow. For those who publish existing Canadian periodicals, it proffers the prospect of a return to fairer competition and financial health.

But above all, this Diefenbaker decision ensures that the news and interpretation of government policy, of national economic development, of social change will not be shaped and edited by Americans for Canadian readers.

By George!

An amusing account of an incident which is reported to have taken place in the Swan Hills area of this province reached me this week via the grapevine. The story, as I understand it, happened with a friend of a friend of a friend actually involved.

It seems that two fellows with big three-ton trucks, Bill Jones and Steve, came upon a half-grown lynx which had been trapped by a fox in an animal trap. Nearby they found an old magpie trap, and the lynx had apparently discovered and being red - blooded, adventurous Canadian boys, bent on harmless mischief, the two fellows decided to put the lynx into the suitcase, and then place it on the side of the main highway which happened to be just a short distance away. Then they did, that is, with a view to the brush.

Although the country is somewhat desolate, they didn't have to wait too long before a car with four young men in it sped past the suitcase, slammed on the brakes and backed up. As the car drew to a stop beside it, an arm shot out and grabbed the suitcase. The door banged shut, and away went the car, much to the disappointment of the two onlookers in the bush.

Their disappointment, however, was brief. About half a mile down the highway the car suddenly started to swerve and eventually came to a stop, but not before it had hit the ditch. All four doors flew open and four men and one lynx all were off and running in five different directions. The men returned to the car a few minutes later, pulled back onto the road and drove away, apparently none the worse for their experience.

I would not recommend this type of "Jack-in-the-box" surprise package for children. However it could be an handy any time your party is getting dull, or even running a little too late into the meeting to suit you!

Budget for business

OTTAWA. — Despite the fact it was brought down on the eve of a Federal election, the budget unfolded last week by Finance Minister Donald Fleming was one of the barest the average Canadian taxpayer has seen in many a year.

It was a budget with a single budget tenet of all the glittering pre-election goodies usually dangled in front of the voter a few months before he is sent packing to the polls.

Thus a budget with a single goal, to stimulate expansion of the Canadian manufacturing and processing industries and industrial resources in general.

By providing a tax cuts of up to 50 per cent on future additional profit stemming from increased sales, manufacturers and processors were encouraged to get out and start

They were encouraged to step up the lagging program of industrial research with a 150 per cent write-off of all research expenditures from taxable income. In effect, the Government extended an offer to subsidize business research in an effort to promote industrial development through the discovery of new products and new processes.

For the ordinary Canadian taxpayer all Mr. Fleming had to offer was a $50 increase in the tax exemption for dependent children. For a man with a taxable income of around $1,000 and two children, that amounts to a tax saving of roughly $11 a year. Even in post-election budgets, the general public has frequently fared better than that.

Even though Mr. Fleming budgeted for a deficit of $745,000,000 (based on the assumption of a healthy 7% increase in the gross national product and no new excise or personal income taxes), only $45,000,000 above the peacetime high recorded last year and the sixth in a row for a deficit budget, the document he presented to Parliament may still be considered something of a non-event to fiscal integrity.

The problem is, however, that to a year of alleged prosperity the deficit may very likely turn out to be the highest ever in peacetime. The question then is how and when can Federal budget ever be got into relative balance again?

It was also something of a daring experiment, since few Canadian Governments in the past have ever had the courage to go to the electorate with as few vote-catching budget concessions for the "little man" and as many concessions for business.

It is true there have been other measures earlier this year designed to encourage better to stimulate the Government at the polls such as the $10-a-month increase to the old age pension and the 12-cents-a-pound butter price subsidy for the consumer, but everything in politics being considered they have been reasonably moderate.

The budget itself is based on the theory the Government has some kind of fiscal responsibility to maintain and that the incentives provided for business will benefit all Canadians by stimulating the growth of the economy and the creation of more badly needed new jobs.

The sense of fiscal responsibility has been provided primarily by Finance Minister Fleming, while the driving force behind the granting of concessions to spur Canadian industry has been Trade Minister George Hees.

The budget is not a Diefenbaker budget. If the Prime Minister had had his way, the document he would have chosen the tinsel and gloss, and would the agonizing reluctance to increasingly intense world competition that is so desperately needed.

The fact that Mr. Fleming was able to bring down a business budget shortly before the Government embarked on a battle for its life is the best possible evidence that Mr. Diefenbaker and power in the councils of the party.

Late last year a shadow fell over the Treasury and finance as rumors inspired by Prime Minister Diefenbaker himself circulated that he would be removed from the post.

From several quarters it was reported that Mr. Fleming would be given the post of minister at either to atone for the political ostracism which clung to the Government from chronic budget deficits, the bungled Coyne affair and poor relations with Britain over its bid for membership in the common market.

Mr. Fleming, along with Justice Minister Davie Fulton, were scheduled to be eased out of their portfolios in the course of a major cabinet shuffle that would be carried out within the remnants of the old citadel at Quebec City. At the 11th hour Mr. Fleming and Mr. Fulton succeeded in winning the battle for their own political lives, the former because of the alarm that spread through the business world at the prospect because of rumors of his pending dismissal.

Mr. Fulton will not to go on the road, Mr. Diefenbaker and his cabinet were forced to find a man to Quebec to go through one of the greatest political manoeuvres in Canadian history.

Despite this apparent denouncement of political power wielded by Mr. Fleming, it was suggested from some quarters that he had in fact made an unconditional surrender to the Prime Minister, the real victor in the battle.

It was said that Mr. Fleming had agreed to the budget, presenting a veneer of fiscal responsibility to the voting public — power which will carry a budgetary deficit of around $1 billion and a cash deficit close to $2 billion. Mr. Fleming had the answer to those charges in his budget last week.

If the Conservatives win the next election, however, Mr. Fleming's job may again be in serious jeopardy. Prime Minister Diefenbaker might hesitate to engage in a knock-down, drag-out battle to establish his unquestioned supremacy in the cabinet before an election, but there is no assurance that he will not do so immediately after-

Attacks on police

A letter received from Seskatoon by the Saskatchewan Provincial Police Association has created a furor in police circles in that province. The letter, which was signed by a Saskatoon resident, was addressed to the Saskatchewan Provincial Police Association and read in part:

"Dear Sirs: I am writing to you in regard to the attitude of the police in Saskatoon. I have been a resident of Saskatoon for the past 10 years and have never seen the police so unfriendly and unhelpful as they are now. I have had occasion to call them on several occasions and have received the most unsatisfactory service. I have also had occasion to see them in action on the streets and have seen them use unnecessary force in dealing with citizens

Of interest to Tofield and district is news of Russel Marcuzik who attended school there. From there he attended the Greek Catholic Seminary in Mundare for several years, then to the States and on to Rome, Italy. He was ordained to the Priesthood on March 25th. An obligation he promised to fulfill was his first service to be in the Church of St. Kathleen, Rome — in memory of his first cousin, Kathleen Malkowich, who lost her life in the tragic school bus accident at Lamont. He is looking forward to returning shortly for a family re-union after an absence of four years. He will continue as Professor in Theology as Rev. Peter Russel Marcuzik, O.S.U.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Koshin have been living with Mrs. Steve Koshin since the death of her husband. Mrs. Koshin is still working in the city.

We are pleased to see Mrs. Albert Hallberg getting around on her own once again after being laid up and on crutches for a long time.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thor on the arrival of their new baby recently.

Colds seem to be quite prevalent in our district with hankies much in evidence. Guess it can be blamed on the changeable weather!

A large attendance was on hand for the Communion Service Sunday. Rev. Kolbuc Father, of Vegreville, was a very inspiring message. It is hoped that the church will be used Sunday for the Easter message.

Keep Sue Kirmayer in your prayers. Two and Sezaar in mind, on April 28th from Edmonton to Ryley. Bring a friend and meet your old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Andrews, of Fairbridge Hills, visited at the Howard Mullens home Friday evening.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RE: PUBLIC LANDS FORMERLY CLASSED AS SCHOOL LANDS

Under an amendment to The Public Lands Act enacted by the Legislature effective April 5th, 1962, all lands previously classified as school lands are now classified as public lands.

The Tofield School lands will be administered as follows:

NON-SETTLEMENT AREAS—
(Grass or Forage Areas)

In these areas of the Province reserved for Forage purposes, the former school lands which are now public lands will be dealt with in the same manner as other public lands. Lands in these areas are not available for homestead leases, homestead sales, cultivation leases or agricultural sales.

SETTLEMENT AREAS—
(Yellow Areas)

In the settlement areas, the former school lands which are now public lands will become available for homestead sales on April 5th, 1962, for applications for Public Lands Act, including applications for homestead leases, homestead sales and agricultural and tree farm sales.

All persons holding a cultivation lease or school land which has now become public land in the settlement areas will be granted priority to apply for the conversion of such cultivation lease to a homestead lease, homestead sale or agricultural sale or agricultural and tree farm sale.

The change in classification of school land to public land will not affect the administration of the cultivation lease presently held under permit, lease or sale.

Sportorama looks like huge success, says Lions

Plans for Camrose Lions Sportorama on Saturday are well in hand, according to spokesmen for the local club, and every indication is that the public is going to very appreciably the big show-down. Lions President Dr. Frank Mackenzie, in charge of arrangements, told The Mercury this week that committees have been working on the program for several months now, and even the small items have been under control.

The show will bring to the viewers both new sporting goods equipment, and an excellent range of entertainment. Along with many fine sporting exhibits displayed by local merchants at the Lions "Sportorama" Trade Fair this Saturday afternoon and night at the Agricultural Building, there will be featured top notch side attractions . . . some never before played in the city. A gymnastic team from the Edmonton YMCA, featuring several national championship participants in high horse and parallel bar, will be seen in action, also with an expert trampoline exhibition.

Expert archers will demonstrate fashion "hunting" and precision ar-get drill, and will show the sufficiency of the modern bow for any recommended death penetration and deadly potential of the arrow expertly shot.

DOGS AND ANGERS

The dog show will feature dogs of championship calibre who will demonstrate obedience, showmanship and skill—all trained by some of the best handlers in Canada. Musical entertainment throughout this afternoon and night by Gaby Haas and his TV Jamboree Gang with the Italian cowboy, Tony Biamonte, as master of ceremonies.

Camrose Lions feel confident that the Sportorama—the first of its kind ever shown in this area, will be pleasing and profitable to both exhibitor and audience. If successful as they expect it to be, Saturday's Sport Show could be the forerunner of an annual event of even impressive dimensions. Proceeds of the "Sportorama" will go to Lions Community Service.

Several sporty cars, including Triumphs, Thunderbirds, Karmen Ghias, Corvettes and others will be displayed, as well as late model cutting power and sailing craft and boats. Golfers will be able to try out the latest types of clubs and other golfing gear, which will also be displayed; while devotees of the new arts of swimming and scuba diving will be able to admire and acquire the necessary gear. So far as the committee has been able to arrange, attention has been paid to every outdoor sport familiar in the area.

The afternoon and evening shows are both complete in their programming, showing the full range of entertainment at each session.

Go fly a kite, but watch it!

Junior may get a terrific charge from flying kites in the late spring weather, but parents are urged to warn children so that the charge isn't too concentrated one. Local Calgary Power workers are concerned over the possibility of accidents when kite strings come in contact with high tension wires.

Many kite strings, they point out, contain a wire to provide for extra strength, and this is just strong enough to carry a tremendous charge to the power line holding it if it accidentally contacted their high power lines. Wet kite string can have the same effect.

They're far from worried over their lines, two local spokes-men told The Mercury this week. The kite strings wouldn't even cause a flicker in the lights, but the tremendous surge of power even for a split second, could easily kill a child.

And this is what they hope to prevent.

Devotion and prayer was given by Randi Steinke. A few favorite hymns were sung and the meeting was closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Lynx are protected warns Game Warden

Don't shoot that lynx prowling through the bushes, warns Game Warden Rod Thompson in Camrose. If you bring home the pelt, he'll have your hide.

For the lynx is protected. It can be taken only under a trapper's license, he points out, and these are effective only until February 20th—two months past.

Several reports have come in recently about lynx being sighted in the area, and some have even been shot. But the lynx is classed as a fur-bearing animal, not a predator. Around us to game branch officials, his diet consists mainly of rabbits, and occasionally mice. Thus, he is doing a great service to farmers in cleaning up their land, and is known only very rarely to go after chickens or similar farm stock.

Lynx are sometimes confused with cougars, according to the game warden the easiest distinction between the two is the long tail, while the lynx carries only a short tail.

The warden laughs that it was a hot summer the other day who sensed the game warden. Proudly carrying a lynx pelt, he said with evident anticipation, "I've shot a lynx . . . where do I collect the bounty?" Far from collecting a bounty, muses Mr. Thompson, he'd have got a lot more for his trouble, even though it was legal.

FUA President, Ed Nelson, will address a joint meeting of Round Hill, Tofield and other FUA locals at Round Hill on Monday, April 30th at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Nelson is known as a good thought provoking speaker and it is hoped that a good percentage of the Tofield members will be on hand to support him, since it does not give officers much encouragement to speak to an empty hall.

Members have been asked to make up a carload among neighbors and if any are unable to fill it they are to advise the secretary who will find someone that has no transportation. Members of the FWUA are expected to attend as well.

Members are urged to make this effort a success. All interested persons have been cordially invited.

The personal touch

Leader of Canada's Social Credit party, Dr. Robert Thompson spoke in Camrose on Tuesday night, and thoroughly captivated the audience of a hundred or so who turned out. Generally, of course, they were sympathetically inclined when they went there, but this doesn't mean they had to be delighted with their leader.

The fact he does have a warm, engaging personality, will of course certainly not harm the campaign of the party to win national recognition. In this area, he seems to be the equal of Diefenbaker, Pearson, or Tommy Douglas, each of whom has a tremendous personal magnetism for anyone who meets him, as that if any one of them could meet ALL the voters, there would be little doubt of success.

Expecting to show real strength in Quebec, Dr. Thompson . . . who hails from Red Deer himself . . . feels that the party really only needs to garner strength in Ontario in order to be in a really good position to bid for the government.

Poor reporting

Charges of poor reporting and slanted writing on the part of newspapers in this country and our neighbor are so common as to be accepted almost as a commonplace. And while they're often warranted, they are frequently just as unfair.

But we were concerned and annoyed a week or so ago, and still are, that in all the ruckus about the increase in prices sought by steel companies in the United States, and the presidential annoyance, no report we have seen put the increase in perspective. Sure, we know the major companies started off for a six dollar per ton increase, and we realize how disturbed Mr. Kennedy grew over the matter, and we realize how little the fringe benefits obtained by the steelworkers amounted to.

But we think it's hard to form any kind of fair opinion in the matter without knowing whether steel was already priced at six dollars per ton, or sixty, or six hundred. In the case of the final price, of course, it would be an increase of one hundred per cent, while in the last instance, it would be only one per cent . . . a major difference in perspective.

Actually, we think recent prices have been in the neighborhood of $115-$120 per ton, but it's only reaching away back into the cobwebs, and we may be away off.

The main point is that the news service Canadian papers used to report on these developments were mainly Canadian Press and Associated Press, and nowhere did they go the full length. Poor reporting, indeed.

Modern martyrs

Development of free government as we know it has seen many martyrs over the centuries, yet it is possible there are a few still in the woods today. We're thinking of the N.D.P. members who staunchly fought the government even in the dying days of the Ottawa session when the normal load of divorce bills from Quebec and Newfoundland came up.

Expecting they would back down again at the last moment, as they did a year ago, the Conservative government made no effort at any reform of the divorce bill situation. But the N.D.P. stood firm, even in the face of the knowledge that several hundred couples would be put to extra expense of hundreds of dollars each, that they would lose a year in their divorces progress, that many personal hardships would develop as common-law marriages and illegitimate children resulted.

Yet the party, or really two members, stood firm on the principle that some action must be taken to rid Parliament of this ridiculous and time consuming business. They may be subject to the grossest abuse, and the vilest criticism, but it is probable they have struck another blow for democratic government, and it is to be hoped they will be vindicated by the voters in the coming election. There is no question but what this is one more problem for which solution must be found. It is ridiculous to expect the nation to attach any importance to our 265 lawmakers when they are reduced to the status of a divorce court.

Music for Tofield

Reports of a good turnout for the recent band concert presented by the reorganized Tofield Band were sweet music to our ears, and, we presume, to the ears of all those who are interested not only in music, but in the welfare of the young people of the town. It is most gratifying to see that so many of the young people are interested in making their own music through the band, rather than being content simply to listen to modern day recordings of second-rate singers backed up by a loud guitar and even louder drums. But even more gratifying is the demonstration of the interest of the parents and other adults of the community who turned out in such large numbers to hear the band in action.

Another forthcoming activity by the young people which deserves good support is the High School Drama Club's presentation of "Hillbilly Weddin'". Again, this is the sort of extra-curricular activity which should be encouraged.

By George!

If a theatre were to advertise the latest movie hit, starring such people as Norma Jean Baker, Doris Kappelhoff or Frederick Austerlitz, chances are that the average movie-goer would not be too interested in these unheard of actors. But should the stars' names be Marilyn Monroe, Doris Day and Fred Astaire, there is little doubt that the same average man-goer would stop to read more. Yet, them three well-known stars are the same people as the first three mentioned—except that they were referred to in the first instance by their real names.

It is quite understandable why some of these stars and starlets chose their screen names, for some of the original monikers are a combination of letters and syllables which a lot of us would be unable to pronounce. For instance, Kirk Douglas gave up the handle, Issur Danielevitch; Red Buttons is in reality Aaron Chwatt; Kathryn Grayson is the former Zelma Hedrick, and Natalie Wood was known as Natasha Gurdin. Tula Ellice Finklen preferred us to known as Cyd Charisse; Tyrone Power became Judy Tarlaski; Archie Leach is a well known comedian, Cary Grant, and Edythe Marrener is the ever popular Susan Hayward.

Who has heard of Izzy Itskovitz, Dino Crocetti or Marguerite Chapman? Call them by their screen names, and you've heard of Eddie Cantor, Dean Martin and Rita Hayworth. The actor who became famous as the Frankenstein Monster is known to all as Boris Karloff, but he has still another name—plain old William Henry Pratt.

A couple of well known singers, Anthony Benedetto and Domenico Dimone, are Tony Bennett and Johnny Desmond. If Lucille Ball had used her real name she would have been star of the hit show "I Love Diane". Her last name is Belmont. Debbie Reynolds, one of the screen's "tough guys" would probably not be quite so impressive with his real name—Marion Morrison. Handsome Jack Hudson of one time was called Roy Fitzgerald.

I wonder if I could get more prestige by using my middle name if I'll "By Alphonse" or "By Budd".

"And what would you do if a storm broke out starboard?" he asked.

"Throw out the anchor, sir!" came the quick reply.

"Same place as you are getting your storms, sir!"

A GOOD MEMORY

An old salt was entertaining his young nephew.

"I remember when I was a lad, I had to fight my way with six sailors cannibals, and only one got away!"

"But", interrupted little Jimmy, "last year you told me it was only two cannibals!"

"Yes, I know I did", he replied easily. "but you were too young to know the whole horrible truth."

SEE YA' LATER

The worker in high steel was on one of Atlanta's change-of-shift bus structures on a frosty January morning.

The foreman saw the fellow climbing down from the girderwork and yelled, "Where dya' think you're goin'?"

The worker yelled back, "I'm goin' to get my jacket"

"Where is your jacket?" the foreman wanted to know.

And the man, still descending, yelled back, "It's in Miami".

Superlative Campaign

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA.—There will be few free rides for the men and women seeking Commons' seats in the next general election.

By all appearances, the June 18th election will be quite different from the one in 1958 and from previous elections when a strong leader riding to power on a wave of national feeling, brought in hordes of party followers in his wake.

This time there will be a brisk, costly battle, with each major party believing it can win, and willing to beggar itself financially and physically to do so.

The Conservatives elected 208 members in 1958, the greatest majority ever. It is natural and perhaps inevitable that they will lose some of that majority, perhaps a lot of it.

The Government has been in power for five years. Like any Government, it's had its successes and failures, and there is good evidence it has lost a lot of popular support.

Even some Conservatives see the loss of as many as 50 seats. The Liberals, naturally enough, see themselves winning 130 or more and taking over either as the Government or a minority Government. Liberals will each spend $4,000 to $5,000 each; and the Social Credit about $1 0 0 0 0 0

This takes no account of the $1,000,000 or so it will cost the electoral officers to run the election nor the expenditures of other parties such as the communist party and independent candidates.

Conservative organizers in Ottawa freely predict a "superlative" campaign superlative in cost, in intensity in physical wear and tear, and perhaps in strategy.

It promises to be an all-out for the leaders particularly. The ordinary voter can only hope and pray that whoever wins will be the kind of national statesman he is.

Political campaigning of the kind coming up would test the stamina of a young athlete. Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr Pearson are no limp and flabby specimens, but neither are they Olympic track and field stars.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR—By Alan Mavor

MEETING THE DEMAND FOR WHEAT

It has been suggested that for the next year or two, at least, Canada should think in terms of raising about 500 million bushels of wheat annually if domestic and probably export requirements are to be met and if reserve or carryover stocks are to be maintained at a safe but not excessive level.

The fact is that, unless there is an increase in acreage, Canada is not likely to raise this quantity of wheat on an average during the next few years. Records for the past ten seasons (excluding the extreme drought season of 1961) show that, on an average area of 23.7 million acres, Canada's average production of wheat was 397.4 million bushels. This represented an average yield of 20.3 bushels per acre.

This period included some high averages and some very productive years in the early 50's as well as the all-time record yield of 26.7 bushels per acre, raised in Western Canada in 1952. Moreover the average yield for the ten year period (20.3 bushels) is several bushels higher than the long time average.

If in addition to 1961 the rest year of 1954 is omitted, the remainder of equal two the average output of the 1951 to 1960 period at even less remarkable, since the average yield per acre then becomes 21.8 bushels per acre.

The inference is that, if an average of 500 millions is to be reached, the 1962 season in the prairie provinces (where 95% of the total wheat crop is grown) must be increased by several million acres at least from the present 23.7 million acre level. Even at that, however, there is no assurance that within say the next two or three years period, Canada will reach the suggested goal. Particularly will this be the case if the present drought picture persists.

Only twelve months ago Canada was concerned about its wheat storage. The fact that she is now wondering if she can produce supplies which are sufficient to meet the demand, indicates how readily the situation can change when the demand for grain begins to place greater yields tend to faster off as they have done during the past few years.

New representatives for The Mercury

Because of the inconvenience to our customers of having The Tofield Mercury office open only part time, we have made arrangements with John Sirois of Sirois's TV and Radio in Tofield to handle the business of The Mercury through his store, located next to the Library on Main Street, phone 342. Either Mr. Sirois or his clerk, Mrs. Moore, will accept all advertising, printing orders and payments for subscriptions. A report from Ryley informs The Mercury that Mike Budnick of that district sighted two whooping cranes on Shanwell Lake, northwest of Ryley, on April 19th.

The two rare birds were still making their home on the lake as late as last week. All residents of the area are warned to be on the lookout for these birds, as they are protected by law.

tomers refrain from telephoning their items from the Tofield area to the Mercury office. Mrs. Blake, phone 152, Tofield, News items will not be accepted at John's TV over the telephone, but news items written out may be left at that store.

The Mercury requests, too, that any complaints be written out and left at John's TV, as neither Mr. Sirois nor Mrs. Moore are in a position to deal with complaints given verbally or by telephone.

We wish to publicly express our thanks to both Mr. Sirois and Mrs. Blake for assisting us in this way, and also to our former representative, Mrs. Olive Pollock, who did a wonderful job for us until her resignation. Parents, at her husband's garage, Mrs. Pollock is now busy with the sale of Rawleigh products, and by the way, is forcing her to give up her position with The Mercury.

RYLEY NEWS ITEMS

The Mercury also has an additional representative at Ryley in the person of Mrs. V. F. Hayne, who has agreed to handle all our news items. Subscriptions are also being taken, however, may still be left with Douglas Hambidge at Douglas Insurance Agency in the Village Office at Ryley.

Raymond Howland remains as the sole representative for The Mercury at Holden, and copies of The Mercury still are available at the Holden Coffee Shop.

He said he took place there are about 10 members who have their own store which is open for only a half a day a week, the rest of the time the store is closed, and everything is operated by the members, he reports. Opportunity for all

The personal appearance in Camrose next Tuesday night of the Hon. David Fulton is an opportunity which should not be missed by anyone interested in the government of our country. While the visit is frankly part of the big election campaign, and is openly made with the hope of winning votes, Mr. Fulton is still Minister of Justice, and as such, one of Canada's most important men. This visit lends one of those opportunities, all too rare in communities as small as ours, for us all to meet personally and question personally, one of the men "at the summit" of legislation which affects our day-to-day living. It is a chance, too, for many of our "new" Canadians to exercise the sort of responsible citizenship about which the citizenship court judges so frequently comment.

We were somewhat surprised and dismayed when so few turned out to hear Dr. Thompson, national social credit leader, in Camrose, and would feel more interest should be shown in men of this stature.

Child safety day

Three small children lost their lives in Alberta last year because the "No Riders" rule for tractors was broken. Another 38 children under the age of 19 were killed in other farm accidents.

Child Safety Day, to be observed this Sunday is designed to reduce tragedies such as these.

Forty-one per cent of last year's fatal accidents attributable to tractors overturning to children under 15 years of age, according to the Alberta Safety Council, co-sponsor of the special Day with the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Fifteen of the 41 rural children killed last year died on the highways. Tractors were involved in eight of those deaths.

Four children, all under 9 years of age, died in fires. Drowning took another five lives.

Responsible for the remainder were falls, carbon monoxide, animals, firearms and miscellaneous causes.

Throughout Alberta, accidents of all kinds take at least 140 children's lives annually and send at least 30,000 to hospital for treatment to injuries.

Awareness of common dangers and common sense would enable more children to live to adulthood with unbroken, unmutilated bodies.

Nonsense about rural tyranny

There is a great deal written, and much of it nonsense, about the inequities of representation as between country dweller and city dweller in our legislature and parliament. Admittedly, there are many, many instances of where the farmer's vote is worth much more than his city cousin's. And it is not defended very often even by the farmer where the imbalance is remarked.

But the latest article on "the rule of the yokel" as he calls it, is by one of Canada's better known writers, J. B. McGeachy, in a national financial weekly. "Giving the cow pastures too many seats in the legislatures, and the cities too few, is a bad old custom" he says, pointing out that now is a once-in-decade opportunity to correct the situation.

Then he goes on to point out that Canadian cities of more than 40,000 persons have just about half of the country's population, but elects only 41 per cent of the Commons membership.

"How about this for majority rule, the great palladium of our liberties?" rants Mr. McGeachy.

He should have known better.

Certainly, Mr. McGeachy is writing for a predominantly urban audience, and his article will sound perfectly right to them. And certainly we are writing for a predominantly rural audience, and it is possible our thoughts are colored somewhat by our circumstances. But so long as our representatives come from urban ridings as opposed to rural ridings, so long as certain constituencies impose tremendous problems of travel on their representative, while urban areas are highly compact, and so long as metropolitan centres would be capable of producing blocs of representatives sympathetic only to those matters which would foster development favoring their locales, . . . for this long and possible longer, there is every reason for a vote weighted somewhat in favor of the rural area.

Weighted slightly, we think, not tremendously as is seen sometimes here in Alberta. As long as geography plays so important a part in the development of this nation, we feel that townships have to be taken into consideration when fixing electoral boundaries, not just population, as Mr. McGeachy and many others would have it.

Mark Battle of Atlantic

Next Sunday will be marked across the country as Battle of the Atlantic Sunday, observed in Navy Week. Special services in ships and naval establishments across the country will honour the memory of those who gave their lives in the war at sea. The names of more than 2,800 sailors, merchant mariners and soldiers who died at sea are engraved on the granite Sailors' Memorial on Citadel Hill in Halifax.

Mr. McGeachy is reflecting back at this time to recall that Camrose provided the highest ratio of personnel to local population of any centre in the Dominion, and even had a corvette named in its town's honor. The ship's bell from this corvette was brought back by her master, and is currently in the custody of the Rotary Club.

B.C. outlook: Tories in trouble . . .

OTTAWA — Vancouver — With recognition for the June 18th Federal election nearly under way, Canada's westernmost province may provide some of the hottest platform fights and plenty of upsets on voting day.

British Columbia is the only province where four political parties are more or less evenly matched in popular standings.

In the 1958 Federal election the voters here sent 16 Conservatives and four CCF'ers to Ottawa.

Two years later they returned 15 Tory backbenchers, 16 CCF'ers and four Liberals in the provincial legislature at Victoria. The Communist seat was denied a single seat.

The small number of Liberals who elected provincially, however, did not reflect their voting strength. They polled up 21 per cent of the popular vote against 22 per cent for Social Credit and 23 per cent for the CCF.

In the 20 months since Social Credit strength has been declining at the provincial level and the Conservatives are in some trouble federally. The split on June 18th may go to the Liberals and the New Democratic Party, succour to the CCF.

Today the Conservatives in this province appear the weakest of the four parties as campaigning for the NDP may well be the warmest.

The Conservatives have no provincial leader since the resignation of Deane Finlayson in 1961. Nor is there a successor in sight.

They seem to be in difficulty, too, as a result of the long deadlock on power development of the Columbia River. Criticism of the treaty they wrote with the United States has come from all sides, and the Social Credit provincial Government may yet win the argument for sale of Columbia power to the Americans.

The Tories have 10 years to defend. CCF supporters have evidence of new vigor and strength. They have produced some fresh, new candidates for the Federal test including a Rhodes scholar-to-be, a prominent lawyer-industrialist and the former provincial leaders of the party. And they claim growing support at the constituency level, both provincially and federally.

The NDP is probably stronger in B.C. than anywhere else in Canada today. It has more candidates in the field than any other party, and more money to spend than the old CCF. It's shouting for a big vote and, by the margin could widen considerably in the event of a trend setting in the country.

And the NDP has confidently of taking 10 to 14 seats with the Conservatives reduced to two. Liberals, Greens and Fabians and the Socreds shut out as they were in 1958.

Social Credit offers the greatest paradox. Although it has formed the Government at Victoria since 1952 it has never scored a major Federal win and seems to be having more difficulty rounding up candidates this time than any of the others.

This leads to the suspicion that Social Credit organizers may resign themselves to the role of a strong Provincial party like the former Liberal provincial regime in Quebec and leave the Federal field to the others.

Whatever the outcome, B.C. may have one big ace up its sleeve for the rest of the country.

The polls will not close here until three hours after Quebec and Ontario have sealed the ballot boxes.

If the results from the east — where most of the vote is registered — are close, this province and its western partners may have the responsibility of determining the outcome, as they did in the cliffhanger of 1957.

But if the final counts here will be by-and-large Canadians on the edge of our chairs until well into the morning of June 19th.

The mistake in the paper

(Danny F. Kinchel, in the Superior Express 30 years ago)

We make mistakes, of course, and so do you;
Though such are brought much more to public view,
They flaunt themselves, derisive, in our face;
We'd give a lot if we could but erase
Them, but we cannot; and our plight
Is sorried. They're down in black and white!

Much as we deplore them, we refuse to spend
Our time moralizing. In the end
We must console ourselves in the
That the unhappy man who shrinks
But without errors little work is wrought.

Perfection's a fine goal at which Whenever folos notes crop into his Orb is inclined his daily tasks to
We much prefer an active role to
And "let the scattering chips fall where they will!"

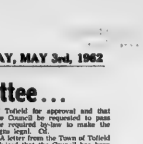
By George!



During the weekend I made a quick trip to the Medicine Hat area in the southwest corner of this province, the area in which I spent the first half of my boyhood years. Quite several changes had taken place through the years, and particularly in the district I call home, about 10 miles west of Medicine Hat. Much of the dried up farm land, where some "under the ditch" and some "over the ditch" farmers had their crops, now could produce profits without seeing many signs of life. Dotting now many new farms and modern farm homes, with irrigation ditches running in several directions across the parched prairie.

Rail even with the irrigation, many farmers in the Medicine Hat area this year are busy planting potatoes, and especially those who have beef cattle, the soil mulching is at its lowest crib since the dry 1930's, and how well can I remember the struggle farmers had in

DON'T DIET

Gosh, if we could only deposit ourselves in the bank! An item in a medical book notes that our bodies, over a cubic of 98 cents each, are really worth something like 10 million dollars each. The Ole Poet people put on the new price tag after realizing our worth in atomic energy. Atomized we'd put out enough energy to turn ten kilowatts a pound. So don't call your telephone short.

4-H'ers visit Carnation milk plant at Wetaskiwin

The Viking and Ryley Dairy Clubs motored to Wetaskiwin last Tuesday to visit the newly constructed Carnation Milk Plant. The clubs met at the Bitteen Lake campsite for a short picnic lunch, then continued on to Wetaskiwin.

The tour, arranged by S. C. Powers, district agriculturist, was designed to acquaint the club members and the parents with the operation of the plant and the part such a plant played by the dairy industry.

P. H. Baughman, plant manager, met the group and prior to the tour explained the operation of the plant. The plant, he said, was a condensery and produced no sky condensed milk. This was accomplished by removing about approximately half of the water and then canning the product, for which there was a wide and ready market long established by the Carnation Company.

The Wetaskiwin plant is the most modern on the continent with many new innovations not found in older established plants. The steam generating plant was pointed out as being the only one of its kind in operation, it being very small in comparison to the older models. All equipment which handled the milk was constructed of gleaming stainless steel and was largely automatic which keeps labor at a minimum. Most of the staff appeared to be employed at refreshing and watching the automatic processes to ensure smooth operations.

One of the features of the plant was the quality control laboratory where all milk entering the plant was sampled and tested for cleanliness and purity. Any milk not meeting the high standard is rejected.

The plant draws milk from a 50-mile radius and all hauling is done by specially designed trucks, built particulary for the purpose.

Mr. Baughman indicated that the plant has a capacity to handle a half million pounds of milk daily and with an immediate market for the milk this figure reduces the present butter surplus.

The club members were highly impressed with the plant and the hospitality they received. Norman Wilbers, president of the Viking 4-H Dairy Club, spoke on behalf of the members, thanked the management for their hospitality and expressed his appreciation for the opportunity of being the first 4-H group to tour the plant.

100,000 CUSTOMERS

A Message from the President of Northwestern Utilities, Limited.

A new milestone in our service to Alberta was reached this month . . . our 100,000th customer began to enjoy the many benefits of natural gas.

This is a significant event in the history of natural gas service . . . a service that began in 1923.

It reflects the rapid growth which has come to Alberta, for at the end of the last war, Northwestern was serving only 13,000 customers

In a 17-year span we have added 87,000 customers. Today we serve 75 communities . . . and of these, 66 received natural gas service for the first time in these same 17 years.

In 1945 the Viking-Kinsella field was the sole source of supply. Now 14 separate sources, discovered at great expense by the producing industry, contribute to your comfort.

Through our nearly 40 years of operation, we have tried constantly to provide all the gas required by our citizens now and in the future, and to provide the finest possible gas service.

As a company dedicated to meeting the needs of the people of Alberta, we have played a significant part in contributing to the economy of our province. Our investment in gas wells, pipelines, distribution systems and related facilities

Above all, we have helped Albertans enjoy higher standards of modern living through the provision of efficient natural gas service. In spite of today's many high-priced fuels, this service continues to be available helping to keep Alberta gas rates virtually the lowest in North America.

Natural gas, indeed, has played a large part in the continuing upward surge of Alberta through the availability of ample supplies to industry.

As we pause for a moment, we would like to restate Northwestern's continuing policy:

"The company's policy is to provide the best possible gas service at the lowest possible cost consistent with the highest standards of safety and dependability."

Ryley Dairy Club makes annual tour of farms

The members of the Ryley 4-H last Friday.

Dairy Club, together with the club leaders and the district agriculturist made their annual club tour

The purpose of the tour is to give each member an opportunity to visit all members' farm to see each other's calves and to give the club, leaders an opportunity to appraise each member's calf and to assist them with any problems they might have.

Club leader, R. K Wetmore, said, was very satisfied with the care the calves were receiving and the excellent quality of the majority of the calves. He stated that present indications are that with the very good quality of calves the calf show should be one of the best held to date.

Midway through the tour the club was treated to a very fine lunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Campbell.

Notes from the ....

District Agriculturist

(By S. C. Powers, Ryley)

FARM DUGOUTS ABSURE WATER SUPPLY

These farmers who excavated dugouts last fall through the P.F.R.A. Water Development program are smiling with good reason. They have an ample supply of water for their homes and livestock and the assistance grants received covered, in most cases, approximately half the cost of excavation.

With the slow thaw and lack of run-off, many sloughs may be dry this summer, and the water supply may again become critical. A dugout of a size to hold a one or two year supply of water would prevent such occurrences.

P.F.R.A. gives technical and financial assistance to farmers wishing to excavate dugouts. P.F.R.A. representatives assist farmers to survey and select suitable sites, and financial assistance is paid at the rate of 75 per excavated cubic yard. This normally covers approximately half the cost.

Last fall many farmers were unable to complete dugouts due to lack of available contractors. Farmers contemplating excavating water holes should make arrangements with a contractor early in the season as he can plan his summer program and the farmer be assured of the work being completed.

Applications for assistance should also be made early to allow the P.F.R.A. Piedmont time to call at the farm to survey or inspect the site prior to commencement of digging.

Application forms are available from the P.F.R.A. Office in Wainwright or the District Agriculturist's Office in Ryley.

New speed limit not in effect yet

Hon. Gordon L. Taylor, minister of highways, has announced that the 65 m.p.h. speed limit is not yet in effect on any two-lane highway in the province. He points out that the Vehicle and Highway Traffic Act was amended permitting the speed limit on certain two-lane highways providing same were approved. But this amendment does not take effect until July 1, 1962. At that time there must be an order-in-council authorizing the speed limit on each designated highway, and the new speed limit must be posted by signs on the highway before the new limit becomes effective.

The minister points out that he has had a number of people contact him who had heard that the stories arising out of the amendment to the Act meant that there was already in effect an all modern two-lane highway. This is apparently did not refer to the fact that the amendment was not effective until July 1st, and that only after an order-in-council authorized the new speed limit.

One of the more than 80,000 Pool members now receiving patronage dividend cheques.

WHEAT POOL MEMBERS HAVE DONE IT AGAIN!

By delivering to their own Pool elevators they have saved themselves another $2,511,000.

Pool agents are now distributing patronage dividend cheques on 1960-61 deliveries. This dividend, made possible by the loyal support of the Pool's farmer-customer facilities, totals:

Wheat and flax . . . . . 5.24c per bushel*
Oats, barley, rye, rapeseed . . . 2.62c per bushel*

*About one-quarter of the dividends is being paid out in cash, and the balance in reserves.

On 1960-61 deliveries, this dividend has meant an extra—

$ 10.48 for every 200-bushel load of wheat
$209.60 for every 4,000 bushels of wheat

Since joining together to form their own marketing co-operative, Alberta Wheat Pool members have made direct savings through patronage dividends amounting to nearly $30,900,000.

FEW FARMERS CAN AFFORD TO PASS UP SUCH SAVINGS AS THESE

This year, join the thousands of forward-looking farmers who deliver to the Pool. Be an Alberta Wheat Pool member and reap the benefits of marketing your grain co-operatively.

Sware and Jensen woodworking mill is one of Tofield's oldest industries

One of the older industries in the town of Tofield, the woodworking shop of Sware and Jensen is preparing for a big expansion program in the near future. At present the plant employs three men full time, including John Jensen and Bedvonda Hlenak, both of whom are now in Tofield, having arrived in Canada within the last 11½ years, and another full-time operator who is presently taking a course at the Provincial School of Industry and Art in Calgary.

In about three weeks, according to Cal Jensen, the staff will be increased to seven full-time employees. "We have orders for a lot of items", he said. "But the holdup is in securing enough material to fill these orders. The material we need should arrive in about three weeks time, and then it does we will be hiring four more men".

NEW SHOP
All the work at Sware and Jensen is now being done in a large shop which was built in 1957 just north of the old shop where Cal Sware started his cabinet work business in 1946. The old building is used for storage at present, but the partners plan to place it soon with an addition to the new building which will extend from the front of the present shop to the street.

PARTNER IN 1950
After opening the business alone for 19 years, Mr. Sware was joined by Cal Jensen in 1950, one year before the new shop was built.

One of the orders which the shop is working on at present are two several church pews, to be delivered to the United Church at Dapalata, Alberta. The shop has had many orders in the past for pews, and deliveries have been made all over the province.

Holden council investigates damage to private property

—Main Street windows broken

A special meeting of the Village Council of Holden was held in the office of the Secretary Treasurer on April 30th with Mayor A. V. Johnson, Councillors H. M. Bohush and R. L. Kalicsz and the Secretary-Treasurer, R. C. Haviland, present.

The Secretary-Treasurer read a letter as received from Mrs. Mary Janes in regards to destruction of private property on Main Street and in particular the breaking of windows. It was pointed out in the letter that a child going to Sunday School is known by a person in the Village to be a part of the window breaking in the village. Mayor Johnson stated that it is "the duty" of the Village to see to the culprits to justice and that the window breaking could be stopped. It was then moved by Councillor Bohush that the latter are turned over to the village constable for further attention.

CHEMICALS
Stan Powers asked if the Council would feel that the Municipal Pest Control should handle Amerbut Weed Chemicals or if they had any objection to them handling chemicals. He said they have had been no request made for 2,4-D amine and that the Weed Control Act does not restrict chemicals. He said this was particularly true in the case of weed control sprays and insecticides.

Councillor Kreps-Isiekl said that the report of the meeting held on 7:00 per year per member for paying the R.E.A. Co-op. Ltd. was incorrect. He said this was paid for two years in lump sum of $60 per year for spraying. This payment would not be compulsory.

Councillor Kreps-Isiekl advised that the County Council had decided

Cost of operating Vialta Lodge continues to drop

The financial statement of the operation of Vialta Lodge at Viking for the month of April indicates that the cost per guest day has decreased for the second successive month. During the month of March the guest per-day cost was $2.93 and in April this figure had dropped to $2.81. The statement also showed that the operating surplus for April was $701.81, as compared with $2.80 for March. Still, however, there was an overdraft of $271.39. The statement was presented at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Beaver-Flagstaff-Battle Health Unit on Thursday evening of last week.

WATER SOFTENER
The question of the water softener unit was discussed, and it was agreed that the water softening process be discontinued for the time being as the town water supply had been augmented with fresh spring runoff to the extent that the water may not require softening at the present time.

One application for residence was received for the consideration of the Board. The application was accompanied by a satisfactory medical report, and it was therefore moved by Tom Jenks that the application be approved.

A letter was received from H. J. Pascoe, pointing out several things that should receive attention, especially in the boiler room before next fall and winter. He strongly urged that everything be in good shape for the beginning of the next cold season. The Secretary-Treasurer was asked to write to the Department of Public Works to see if they could recommend someone to do this work of checking.

New type of concrete block goes on sale

As advertised elsewhere in this issue, Newsome Cement Blocks in Camrose have started to manufacture an entirely new type of block, known as "Carstone". A split type of concrete block, it resembles quarried stone, and comes in five different colors, including red, cream, tan, Brazil brown, salmon red and natural grey. All colors are now in stock, says Ab Newsome of Camrose.

The new blocks are 11¾ inches by 5¾, and are 3¼ inches in depth. They can be used for planters, retaining walls or feature walls in buildings.

Up until the time that Newsome Concrete Blocks went into production in 1955, all of "Carstone" blocks, they were imported in 10's from either Calgary or Edmonton.

Minutes of regular county meet

County of Beaver No. 9 council meeting was held on Thursday, May 3rd.

The report of the Agricultural Agent in regards to the conference held in Hilda was read and various items in this report discussed. Fieldmen's conference to be given to an address given by S. P. McVie, provincial director of the M.D. of Eagle No. 81. The address was entitled "Fieldmen's Role in Education".

It was noted that the Agricultural Service Board appeared to be in favor of the County going out of the weed chemicals business, the opinion being that, always increases were manufacturing chemicals at the present time, the competition would be keen and any danger of an increase in the price of chemicals would be minor. However the council felt that, as long as the trading division of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts was handling the weed chemicals, the county would stay with the present and continue to sell weed chemicals. It was noted that the service board might find that the manager of the County of Beaver,

Fast with figures

For years the second man in Alberta's cabinet, the Hon. Mr. A. J. Hooke is one of the fastest men with figures we have heard for some time, and very capable in his presentation. But he tossed a number of figures into his talk at Monday's Rotary meeting, when discussing the county matter, which didn't just say what they might have; they didn't tell the whole story.

Discussing the contributions of the provincial government to education over the past several years, Mr. Hooke started off with a figure of roughly $17,000,000 in 1951, out of a total provincial budget of $69,000,000. He then ran this up quickly over successive years until last year, he said, the government provided $116,000,000, and this year the figure would be considerably higher still.

Yet the minister didn't point out, as we think he should have, that roughly half of this 116 millions came directly from the local governing authorities, in the form of the 32 mill equalized assessment levied by city or municipal authorities and remitted to the government at Edmonton, insofar as this part of the monies was concerned, Mr. Hooke's government only shuffled it around a bit before redistributing it. In actual fact, the share of education monies "contributed" by the provincial government was slightly lower than it had been.

We don't suggest that it should have been raised, as some people have demanded, but we do think the sudden increase should be put in perspective, that subtleties should be told how much of this comes from their own property tax, and how much from other provincial revenues.

We found another statement of the minister intriguing: that under the county system the taxpayer would get one hundred cents worth of value out of every dollar spent . . . if the councillors were responsible men.

We think it's possible to say the same thing for school boards, city or municipal councils . . . even provincial governments.

Matter of perspective

Recent military court cases dealing with Canadian soldiers charged with taking part in smuggling operations in connection with their service overseas have interested us greatly.

As we read the accounts, senior officers have for all practical purposes instructed personnel sitting on the charges to treat these as comparatively moderate offences . . . in one case, it was pointed out, the N.C.O. had already lost his pay of rank for several weeks, and this should be taken into consideration.

How interesting to contrast this with the treatment the same wretches would receive their civilians. We have little doubt that alone on their own, without the military organization behind them, the same men would have had the "book thrown at them" for the same offences.

Losing only minor hundreds of dollars, measured against possible profits of many thousands, is hardly calculated to put an end to such activities. Soldiers who calculate the odds in their daily living must figure odds like these are pretty favorable.

Eternal Vigilance

Report of the coroner's jury in the Edmonton inquest into the death of a young patient last week must make medical personnel everywhere stop and think . . . as it does the laymen who form the patients.

Suggesting that more caution is required, and that more attention be paid to the progress of patients, is, of course, simply stressing the fundamentals. But it seems they cannot be stressed too often. It seems almost incredible that deterioration of a patient over several days would not have produced a closer check, and much more careful attention . . . even in view of today's overcrowded hospitals and overloaded hospitals.

Wrong labels on bottles of poison, wrong ingredients in formulas for babies, lack of checking of equipment . . . it's all so easy and yet the consequences are so frightful that no let-up can be permitted in the eternal vigilance which must be the watchword whenever somebody's loved ones are receiving such important treatment.

Hello . . . Nikita?

In an age when radio messages can be sent all over the world in seconds, when men can circle the globe three times in four hours as astronauts, and missiles can be sent into any given territory in minutes one wonders whether long distance telephone is considered as fast a means of communication as it was at one time. Yet, there has been a suggestion by the U.S. that an "apology" telephone line be set up direct from President Kennedy's desk in the "White House to the desk of Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the Kremlin. And since it is to be a "direct line", there is little doubt that this would be the fastest way for the two leaders to contact each other in cases of emergency. Provision would have to be made, of course, for extension telephones for interpreters.

The idea would be a measure to prevent a catastrophic war as the result of an accidental bombing or misfiring of a ballistic missile. Should such a mishap occur, one leader could be in contact with the other in a matter of seconds to complain or explain, as the case may be. As so many advertisers have said, "We're as near as your telephone", or as the telephone companies claim, "It's the next best thing to being there".

On two occasions during the past couple of years there have been false signals from the defensive warning systems on this continent, indicating that we were under attack from the air. It is fortunate that the warnings were proved false before some counter measure, such as the firing of a missile in the direction of the Kremlin, was undertaken. The direct "apology telephone" could be beneficial in such a case, provided neither side adopts a policy of shooting first and asking questions afterward.

MacDuff Ottawa report

A defence policy emerges

OTTAWA—Canadian defence policies are a major issue in the general election campaign.

Just in with them is the question of whether or not Canada should acquire nuclear weapons. It is a question on which both the two main parties are vague, if not ambivalent.

Defence Minister Douglas Harkness undoubtedly would like to see Canadian forces with nuclear arms. He has gone on record, after taking office, that in the modern world a country to be efficiently armed has got to have nuclear arms.

But for the time being External Affairs Minister Howard Green has the ear of the Prime Minister and Mr. Diefenbaker has been convinced by his colleague that there is a chance the disarmament talks might make progress. Mr. Green wants Canada to take a leading role in the disarmament discussions. He is confident he can successfully speak up with more authority if the government has not committed itself in the nuclear field by refusing to do anything to do with nuclear weapons. Mr. Green has been described as one of the world's greatest "peacemongers". He likes the title.

As a consequence the Tory Government's attitudes on the policy of defence and nuclear weapons have been anything but clear. It may be as the election campaign progresses that the Conservatives will produce some clarification of their defence policy but at present it is muddled.

Almost equally confusing up to a few days ago were the statements made by Liberal Leader Mike Pearson on defence. He embarked on the election campaign without making his promised declaration on defence. However one week later the Party issued its platform and the last two pages of the 21-page document dealt with defence and since then he has dealt directly with the issue in several campaign speeches.

The wording of the official Liberal policy on nuclear weapons took several readings to arrive at its present form. Originally worded, the statement carefully weighted, Ottawa was clear that a Liberal Government would have no part of making Canada a nuclear power under existing conditions.

However, the Liberals reserved the right to acquire nuclear weapons depending on new decisions affecting Canada's security. The policy statement, which was signed by Mr. Pearson, emphasized that defence policy cannot be fixed for all time. Decisions must be made in the light of changing circumstances as they become known. It is that they would prevent such costly hesitation and waste. If this seemed to suggest that the Liberals might agree to arming the Bomarcs with nuclear warheads, the Liberals in the next paragraph stressed the importance of keeping down the number of nations with nuclear weapons.

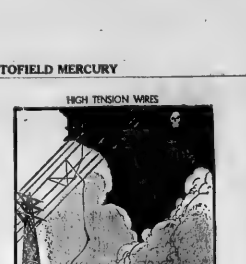
Said the Liberals in their official policy statement:

"The threat to peace will be greatly multiplied if more and more nations have a nuclear weapons under their control. The spread of such weapons in Canada or elsewhere is a danger to the whole free world. Demand to try to take the Arrow's place.

"The threat to peace will be greatly multiplied if more and more nations have a nuclear weapons under their control. The spread of such weapons in Canada or elsewhere is a danger to the whole free world. Demand to try to take the Arrow's place.

"On the basis of present information, therefore, the defence policy of a new Liberal Government will not require Canada to become a nuclear power by the manufacture, acquisition or use of nuclear weapons under Canada or American control. A new Liberal Government will, however, reserve the right to examine each new development in the light of its overriding responsibility for the security of the Canadian people."

Meanwhile Toronto's York West riding where Toronto Maple Leaf hockey star Red Kelly was nominated as the Liberal candidate) Mr. Pearson ripped into the Conservative Government's defence policy. He accused it of "confusion, indecision and lack of careful thought". He pointed to the scrapping of the Canadian designed and built Avro Arrow manufacturing jet as a typical example of the Conservative bungling in defence. The government destroyed the Arrow at the industry that produced it last February, thereby throwing 14,000 men out of work. Mr. Pearson said the Arrow's destruction and its cost of 14,000 jobs. They did not like the Government's decision, and made that plain in their applause and cheers for Mr. Pearson as he denounced the Diefenbaker administration. Surprisingly, it seems to the near dead Arrow will rise to haunt the Tories during the election campaign.



Meeting Wheat demand

It has been suggested that for the next year or two the Soviet Canada should think in terms of raising about 500 million bushels of wheat annually if domestic and friendly export requirements are to be met and if reserve or carryover stocks are to be maintained at a safe but not excessive level.

The fact is that, unless there is an increase in acreage, Canada is not likely to raise this quantity of wheat on an average during the next few years. Except for the past ten seasons touching the extreme drought season of 1961, show that, on an average area of 23.5 million acres, Canada's average production of wheat was 497.4 million bushels. This represented an average yield of 20.9 bushels per acre.

This period included some high acreages and some very poorly five years in the early 50's as well as the all-time record yield of 26.7 bushels per acre, raised in Western Canada in 1952. Moreover, the average yield for the ten years (23.5 bushels) is several bushels higher than the long time average.

If in addition to 1961 the year of 1954 is omitted, the prospect of equalling the average output of the 1951 to 1960 period is even less promising, since the average yield per acre then became 21.5 bushels per acre.

The inference is that, if an average of 500 millions is to be reached, the wheat area in the prairie provinces (where 95 % of the total wheat crop is grown) must be increased by several million acres at least from the present 23.5 million acre level. Even at that, however, there is no assurance that, within say the next two or three year period, Canada will reach the suggested goal. Particularly will this be the case if the present drought picture persists.

Only twelve months ago Canada was concerned about surplus wheat and the fact that she is now wondering if the near-term supplies will be sufficient to meet future demand, illustrates how rapidly the situation can change when the demand factor comes into play and when yields tend to taper off as they have done during the past few years.

Spring thaw

By Lawrence Anthony Crosse

The sun comes calling early in the day
And lights the tired worker to his door
With gentle but invigorating ray
Which warms the flesh, but heats the spirit more.

The satin sheen of surface frozen snow
Glows from the fields. The hairy pastures raise
Their heads; across the road the ploughed lands show
Their furrowed combs to sleek the warmer days.

The merry gurgling waters scamper down
The roadside channels; tuneful is their call
The crisp cool whiteness to a coffee brown
To help the golden harvest of the fall.

We see the glad unveiling of the year
And all rejoice — for now, the spring is here.

According to an item in a daily paper, the supermarket is now celebrating its silver anniversary. Just 25 years ago a small group of shoppers in New York decided to pool their resources, and the first supermarket was born.

Recently someone made a survey of the shopping habits of the husband as compared with those of the wife, and it seems that it is the man of the house who has made the large shopping route the success it is today.

First of all, it has been revealed that the average woman shopper makes only one trip in about 27 minutes. When her husband accompanies her, the tour takes much longer. Again, the average housewife has 13.7 items on her shopping list, but when hubby is along he adds to this list and it reaches an average total of 31.2 items. Daddy-O, it seems, does not have the resistance to specials and impulse items that Mom often passes up. It is not inconsiderable, owing to the survey, for the man of the house to reach the cashier's stand with a carthle of groceries amounting to $30.

It is also noted that about half the time a housewife goes into the supermarket, her husband accompanies her, but only about 15 per seven does he do the shopping on his own.

I have found that there is one thing a man can do to help any ill resistance to these "little extras" when planning a budget tour, and that is to eat a good meal before leaving home. Never go to the supermarket hungry, or you'll leave the place with enough goodies to last for two months. Also who would want to stay away from one of these fascinating places for that long? Not me! I love 'em!

Diary of a vagabond

(By Dorothy Barker)

ONE OF CANADA'S GREAT WOMEN

Wasn't it John Buchan who titled one of his books "Memory Holds the Door"? I was reminded of this the other day when I read about the career Adelaide Sinclair has carved out for herself as deputy director for planning for UNICEF, the $25 000 000 United Nations Children's Fund.

The article held memory's door for me and opened into one of the rooms of my living during World War II when I was at Wells House as a WCA hostess. At that time my life was peopled chiefly by WRENS stationed there and Adelaide Sinclair was the director of this staff Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

I remember Mrs. Sinclair as an impressive woman with iron grey hair that looked even lovelier when a mesh her officer's hat like the wings of a dove. She had steel grey eyes that could be as cold as charity in anger and as warm as an April shower with compassion. These were two emotions quite familiar to her during her disciplinary wartime responsibility.

We did not meet often, but when we did I felt the honesty that motivated this energetic woman I knew she could be adamant in her decisions, yet her sympathy was ever near to the surface when it was deserved. It is these qualities which prepared her for her present war duties as executive assistant to Canada's Deputy Minister of Welfare and her present position with UNICEF.

ALL CHILDREN HER FAMILY

Suzanne Gibson Breed, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, quoted Mrs. Sinclair about her work.

"My job is to approve requests for aid from governments if their plans for family and child welfare, nutrition and disease control are practical, the Executive Board will lend approves and we put it in work.

"We're part of the hired help, members of the secretariat and considered part of the International Civil Service Personally, I'm on leave from the Canadian Government.

"UNICEF takes up all my time. I have no outside interests other than my rural garden on 32nd Street in summer. But when I return I'll return to Ottawa".

It is hard to imagine Mrs. Sinclair retiring to such a quiet life. "The hardcore activity of UNICEF is a wonderful opportunity for young Wakened for many years, she has been swept by the millions of UNICEF children".

BUSINESS FIRST

I was interested in some of the statistics quoted in the article, for in the past a few of my postings into the Trick and Treat baskets of neighborhood youngsters in Halloween and for UNICEF Christmas cards during the holiday season. These "use raised more than a million dollars for the fund in 1960 and children, chiefly in Canada and the United States, collected another $1,500,000 instead of candy on the week-end eve to assist the work of this great Save the Children drive.

"UNICEF's contributors rise each year", said Mrs. Sinclair, "but our needs are endless. As the Lewella global, and the rewards heartwarming". Notes from the . . . . District Agriculturist

(By S. C. Powers, Ryley)

NUTRITION

The purpose of this column is to give you the homemaker, current up-to-date facts on new advances in the business of homemaking and informative articles of use to you as wives and mothers. I have, on rather, decided to start a series of articles on nutrition. These articles will deal with nutritional requirements, practices needed in health and ways to put this knowledge to work for you and your family. Keep this quote in mind: "the right foods will add years to your life, and more life to your years".

Nutrition is the science that deals with food and food on the job for you. Modern knowledge of food as work brings a new kind of mastery over life. When you understand it, you can select the right foods for more than just keep you alive and growing.

The right food helps to build and maintain health and vitality. It can help you to stay young longer and old age. As an old man well fed from babyhood is more likely to enjoy a long prime of life than an ugly one, you are better off when you are better fed.

FOOD'S THREE BIG JOBS

1. Food provides material for the body's building and repair; protein and minerals send a story on what these jobs are. It is chiefly made of. Children must have these food materials to grow on; and all big long the body continues to require new plans for upkeep.
2. Food provides regulators that enable the body to use other materials and to run smoothly. Vitamins do important work in this line, and minerals and protein, too.
3. Food provides fuel for the body's energy and warmth needs. We get some fuel in every food.

BODY'S NEEDS, A TO Z

From vitamin A to the mineral zinc, a list of materials chemical substances that the body is known to require in our food would total more than 50. And there may be others not yet discovered.

The way our nutrition knowledge is now without heavy intrusion of in all of the body's A to Z needs. When daily meals provide sufficient for the following key nutrients you can be reasonably sure of getting enough.

PROTEIN

Protein was named from a Greek word meaning "first". Nearly a hundred years ago, it was recognized as the main substance in all of the body's muscles and organs, skin, hair and other tissues. No simple substance could build and renew such different tissues, and protein has proved to be complex and Protein in different foods is made up of varying combinations of 22 simpler materials called amino acids. If need be, the body can make its own supply of more than half of these amino acids. But the remaining amino acids must come ready-made from food. And to get the best use from these special ones the body needs them all together, either in one food or in some combination of foods.

The best quality proteins have all of these especially important amino acids, and worthwhile amounts of each.

You get top-rating proteins in foods from animal sources, as in meat, poultry, fish, eggs, milk and cheese. Some of these protein foods are needed each day; and it is an advantage to include some in each meal.

Next best for proteins are soybeans and dry beans and peas. When these are featured in a meal, they do combine them with a little top-rating protein food.

Cereals, bread, vegetables and fruits also provide some protein, but of lower quality. The protein value of these foods can be increased by combining them with foods from animal sources. Many American-style dishes, such as meat-and-vegetable stews, meat pies, chicken and noodles, and macaroni and cheese are highly nutritious combinations. For in the body's remarkable chemistry the complete proteins team with the less complete proteins in many vegetarian foods and make the latter more useful than if eaten alone.

185. Only one change was made to the program and it was moved that the tentative program for the agricultural service board for the year 1962-63 be approved.

George Gallimore of R. Angus Ltd., interviewed the council in connection with proposed equipment purchase and after some considerable discussion it was moved that the following equipment be purchased: 1 JTE caterpillar tractor, with cable control unit, in the amount of $22,695.60; 1 No. 435 scraper, 148.302.95; 1 No. 142 caterpillar motor grader with blower and extension blade, $43,- 125.00; total, $82,150.05; less trade of 1 DH caterpillar tractor, 1 HD9 track tractor, 1 PB scraper, 1 SL2 scraper, 1 Austin Western Patrol, in the total value of $19,376.00; leaving a net purchase price (FOB) Ryley of $72,554.05. Cil.

At this time Mr. R. Wylie, Mr. E. J. Cerpkics and Mr. T. Jacobs representing Tofield Rural Fire Protection Association, interviewed the Council. They stated that the Association had been inaugurated and that a Provincial Board had been formed. Shares in the Association were being sold for $10 per share and the use of the fire engine would be free to share holders. The fee for non-share holders would be $250.00 for the call plus $40.00 for each additional hour or portion there of. Churches or community halls, etc., would not be charged for the service. The Town of Tofield had agreed to house the fire fighting unit, man it with two men and answer all calls. The cost of the fire fighting unit would be approximately $18,000 and it would be necessary that the Association sell 80% of the proposed cost in shares before they could commence operation. The district that the Association would be prepared to cover, would be an approximate 20 mile radius from Tofield for non-members with no limit for members; however, it was considered that the very rural areas would never shareholders as well.

The reason for the delegation appearing at this time was to request that the Council give consideration to a grant to the Association not an amount of $2,00.00 was suggested. The request was fully discussed and the Council, although no formal resolution was passed, felt that the proposal was a very good and agreeable one, when the Association was definitely ready to operate, a grant would be forthcoming.

A letter from the Local Board of the Jarrow Cemetery concerning the condition of the cemetery was referred to the Council. The letter indicated that a large number of fence posts around the cemetery were broken and that the fence was in need of general repair. It was suggested that steel posts and page wire be used thereby eliminating any further cost to the district.

J. Woods Co. In preparing the tenders it was considered that signs, manufactured from 4-inch plywood would be most suitable and it was found that the tender, submitted by C. J. Woods Co., was the lowest tender. These signs being manufactured from 4-inch plywood Crezone treated and reflectorized; also pre-drilled ready for attaching to the posts. The posts were black iron 18 gauge square tubing in 10-ft. lengths.

Solve a Crime BY A. C. GORDON

YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE

It has long been your custom to drop in late at night for a cup of coffee at the home of your very good friend, Inspector Hemmell, the wealthy old retired Judge who lives on the other side of town with his widowed, 25-year-old Charles Pope. You've made yourself at home in the front hall of the Hemmell home and then, upon entering the study, you are brought up short by a horrible sight.

Old Bruce Bennett is lying on the floor in the center of the room in the same old look at him tells you he is dead. The poor fellow's throat has been cut, and the bruises on his face look as if he were beaten to death.

Kneel over the body to feel for any possible heartbeat, and find none. But you note, from the still rather warm temperature of the body, that the tragedy must have occurred fairly recently. You gaze about the room, noting the overturned chair, the papers scattered on the floor, the inkwell on the desk, and the curtains fluttering from the open, screenless window behind the desk.

Walk out of the room into the hall and to a door across the way which you happen to know is the nephew's room. After knocking gently but persistently, you open the door to the bedroom which is in disorder. You continue to find a still switch you finally are through the closet the silhouette of a form on a table against the window. You find the switch, flood the room with light, fumble for the lamp's switch, jerk your hand away then finally find the switch and turn it on. As the light floods the room, you see Charles Pope sprawled out on his bed, arms flung wide, mouth open, eyes closed breathing heavily. You take hold of his arm, and he sits up with a start.

"What . . . who . . . oh, it's you". he exclaims in a bewildered manner. "What's the idea of barging into my room and waking me up this way?"

"Your uncle", he interrupts. "Is there something wrong?"

"He's dead", you say. "Quite suddenly".

"Oh . . . no . . . Uncle Bruce dead . . . and here I was sleeping so soundly that I've been afraid I'd have helped him! How did it happen?"

"I think you can answer that question, young man", you state. "Why do you suspect Charles Pope?

SOLUTION

You know that Charles Pope was not asleep, as he tried to lead you to believe. Your hand, as you fumbled for the switch of the lamp in his bedroom, jerked away because the bulb was still hot!

Modern Etiquette . . .

Q. Should the bridegroom's parents mail announcements of the marriage to their friends, if the bride's parents are not sending out any?

A. This would not be in good taste. They may, however, notify their friends and relatives by telephone or by personally writing a note.

Q. Does it really make any difference whether one sits down from the right or the left side of the chair at the dinner table?

A. No; otherwise side offers the easier and quicker access is the one for you.

Q. When addressing an envelope to two unmarried sisters, should it be written as "The Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Fuller" or as "Miss Elizabeth Fuller and Miss Margaret Fuller"?

A. "The Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Fuller" is the usual and accepted form.

Q. We live with my wife's parents. When my wife and I have guests at dinner, who sits at the head of the table, my father-in-law or I?

A. Since your father-in-law is owner and head of the house, his proper place cannot be other than at the head of the table.

Q. I've been told that a person should always look look at another person while talking with him. Is this true?

A. You are, of course, inspiring closer attention to what the other person is saying, if you look at him but be sure this doesn't become a fixed and hypnotic stare that could make the other person feel uncomfortable.

Q. What would be an appropriate note of appreciation to write to a friend who was especially thoughtful at the time of one's bereavement?

A. Just be very simple and sincere, as, "When Mother passed away, you were very kind, Mrs. Anderson, and I want to thank you. Come to see me when you find time".

Q. At a church wedding, on which side of the main aisle should pews be reserved for the bride's family and for the bridegroom's family?

A. The left side (facing the altar) is for the bride's family and the right for the bridegroom's family.

Murder victim believed buried in shallow grave

Late last week Edmonton city detectives, acting on telephone tips from farmers, shifted the search for the body of Edmonton professional golfer Frank Willey, from the Leonra district, near Edmonton, to the Tofield area. Willey has not been seen since he left his Edmonton home on April 19, to deliver a set of golf clubs which had been repaired by a Leonra district golfer. Willey's car was found on the same afternoon on a car trip into an area 23, but the informant apparently is unfamiliar with the area, and was not sure of the directions given him from

FIRST BULLETIN

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Jim Francis of Tofield has copy of first edition of The Edmonton Bulletin

A valuable souvenir of the early days of Alberta, has been in the possession of Jim Francis of Tofield for some 35 years.

The souvenir is a copy of the first issue of The Edmonton Bulletin, published on March 4th, 1907. It is a four page publication, each page measuring about five by six inches. The paper has been in the possession of Jim Francis since he was a young boy, and has been kept safely in a safety deposit box in the Bank of Montreal in Tofield.

The paper was owned and published by Taylor and Oliver.

EDITORIAL

In one of two editorials in the paper, the Canadian government, or a government official, came in for some criticism over the way a small band of Indians were being treated. It seems that a promised payment was not made to the Mountain Stoney band. The editor says, "Let it be remembered that there is neither reason than this presented of the Mountain massacre, but although there is no danger to be apprehended from these people just now, in view of the fact that there is liable to be an outbreak of the Plains Indians at any moment, it would be well for the Government, instead of estranging them, as they undoubtedly, to bind them closer by fair and honest dealing."

Still another thing in the paper is in the form of classified advertisements. There are no less than seven advertisement noted that buy was selling from $3 to $5 per cord. This may have been a bargain, depending on whether carts or three days had much capacity per day.

Dist. agriculturist given credit for wrong article

District Agriculturist S. C. Powers of Ryley, in a letter to the editor of The Mercury, points out that an article in the May 10th Mercury credited to him was not written by him, and an Mr. Powers writes in his letter, it "may cause some embarrassment in the Home Economist, to question my right to express opinions on this topic. The fault, of course, is entirely mine."

The article was put under the District Agriculturist's heading due to an error in the Mercury's editorial department. We regret this mistake, and extend our sincerest apologies to Mr. Powers. We must say that Mr. Powers was most gracious in pointing out our error, and we trust he will not mind if we share with our readers the last bunch of humor in the last paragraph of his letter. He says:

"I shall forgive you for crediting me with the above article only if no ladies come to me seeking advice on reducing diets."

See our new feature: Western Weekly Supplement

The Tofield Mercury this week is happy to add a brand new supplement for our thousands of readers throughout the district. Sixteen pages of the very first issue of Western Weekly Supplement are included with The Canadian, and we hope it will be a regular feature every week.

The product of a great deal of work, inspiration and effort, Western Weekly Supplement is being produced entirely by the independent weekly newspapers of Alberta, with several from Saskatchewan and British Columbia added, brought together into Tofield Publishers Ltd.

It is the brainchild of Ernie Jamison, publisher of The Ponoka Herald, and currently president of the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association. Jack Kelly, well known Alberta newswriter for several decades, is editor and has put countless hours into the planning and production of this new supplement.

Printed in the handy tabloid size, Western Weekly Supplement is an effort to bring to our readers something extra and different, based largely on Western development, and in tune with the readership wants of Western Canadians in smaller centres. We think the editor has done an excellent job, and we're keen to hear any comments from our readers about the material, the style, or suggestions for future issues

Wrong man for alderman

Whatever else we look for in an alderman, we should be able to expect a man who will uphold the laws of our country, some of which he has himself helped to make. So we cannot feel anything else about Alderman Clarence Mack of Calgary than that he is unfit to be an alderman, after his recently announced program of persecuting motorcycle policemen.

Mr. Mack was picked up a short time ago by a motorcycle constable who was hiding behind a billboard, and zeroing out as he saw a car speeding down the road. Bitterly unhappy, Mr. Mack has announced that he is below the proper standard of conduct for policemen, and now carries a camera with which he can photograph every policeman he can find skulking behind billboards, his aim being to shame them out into the open.

This is part of today's ridiculous attitude to laws generally, and policemen in particular. Mr. Mack's position is tantamount to saying enforcement officers should never resort to subterfuge in their program: they should erect great big signs saying "policeman" or "speed trap" or something. They should never patrol in unmarked cars. There is no crime in speeding, only in being caught. This must be Mr. Mack's position, and it is clearly untenable for an alderman. He cannot argue otherwise . . . if he agrees the crime is in speeding, it matters not how he is apprehended.

We are thoroughly in sympathy with the police force in this matter. We would give them ghost cars, billboards to hide behind, plainclothesmen . . . anything that will help enforce the laws, and if we don't like the laws, let's not take it out on the policeman doing the job he was hired if do . . . let's go to the lawmaker who started it all.

After all, we haven't noticed too many among us who go out of our way to break the laws while the police are watching, but instead take short cuts when they're supposedly someplace else. This seems to be Mr. Mack's attitude, too.

They are talking to all of US

In another section of this paper the Alberta Government has an advertisement headed, "Visitors are coming . . . Let's be friendly!" It is the people who serve the public who meet the visitor first, and they are the people who give the first impression. The boy at the service station who does not know his town enough to direct a visitor—the girl in the cafe—the store clerk—the policeman—or the man on the street are the people who should give the Government's message some attention. Everyone has travelled more or less and found it necessary to ask for information and help. When you find someone who shows a willingness to oblige, you just cannot help but feel kindly towards them, the business they represent and the place they live in. If you ever had an urge to tip, that is the time you would do it.

It is not necessary to know all the answers. Just take an interest in the job we are doing, in our community and the people we meet every day. Then when someone asks us that impossible question we will find it easy to direct them to someone who can give them an answer. Many stories can be told of the service that brought visitors back many times. There was the service station attendant who saw motorists come back each year for a long time because he did such a good job of wiping the windshield. Then there was the waitress who made more money in tips than many executives because she remembered what the fussy customers liked and gave them extra service. We should not pass up the store clerks who were so helpful the visitors wrote their boss a letter when they got home, telling him how friendly his staff was.

It is our opinion the Travel Bureau is on the right theme, and if everyone will heed its message, Alberta will see more visitors each year; and we will all make the some very good friends.

School foundation program

Another voice has been heard among the numerous complaints regarding the provincial government's school foundation program

The latest complaint comes from the Municipal District of Pincher Creek, claiming that the foundation formula will not provide enough funds for the Pincher Creek School Division operation this year, and an additional requisition of approximately $80,000 will be required for 1962 operations. A change in the foundation program and formula was blamed at a recent meeting for about $15,000 of the shortages.

A point, which to us seems very significant, is the suggestion that it would be necessary to have an average of 35 pupils per class in order for the foundation program to operate properly and cover school costs at Pincher Creek. At present, the Pincher Creek School Division has an average of 25 pupils per class, and it is felt that a higher average would be undesirable. We quite agree, but would suggest that the ideal situation would be a maximum of 25 pupils per class—a situation desired, no doubt, by many a teacher and school board member.

On the election

(A note from your local editor)

With a federal election less than six weeks away it is time for all of us to consider the issues at stake. Let us read, study, listen and discuss these matters and if we are citizens be sure to cast a vote on June 18.

We would especially urge the ladies to exercise their franchise. Our mothers and grandmothers fought for the privilege which has been ours in Alberta since 1918. Also, let us make sure our names are on the voters' lists when they are compiled and posted.

Cause to pause . . .

(By John Mohler)

JUST A JOB

"Doctor, I have sent for you, but I must confess that I haven't the slightest faith in modern medicine or doctors".

"Oh, that doesn't matter in the least. You see, as an ass has to do in the veterinarian, and yet he cures him all the same".

HOW CLEVER

Deacon: "Five dollars, is that all Elder Jones is giving to the church fund? Why he ought to give at least fifty".

Pastor: "Ah, I suppose he forgot the ought".

EXASPERATING

"Why is John pacing up and down on his front porch?"

"He's terribly worried about his wife".

"Is that so? What does she have?"

"His new car".

BIG BULLY

"Had a quarrel with the wife last night", Bill confided to his friend.

"How did you make out?" asked the friend.

"Oh, she came to me crawling on her hands and knees", he replied.

"Heavens — what did she say then?" the friend asked all ears.

"Come out from under the bed, you worm!" Bill concluded.

By George!

If You Can

If you can sew and mend, and grow a pair of knees

Make pies and cakes and bread, and can skin six cows,

Can milk six cows, split wood, and pack the water,

And on the side raise four, five children too—

If you can make the chickens lay all winter,

And work the fields just like a hired man:

Pitch, hay, fit fences, run to get the cattle,

Be nurse, and doctor too—in the place—

If you can go to town and spend no money,

Or need new clothes, just make the old ones fit,

And never grumble at your lot, or whimper,

Though others grumble, blaming all on you—

You must be handy with the saw and hammer,

And wield a paintbrush though it brings no fame,

Wash dishes, dishes, cream cans, and separator,

And when the crop is poor — just take the blame—

If you can do all this, and more beside it,

And still smile on through all the work and strife,

Cheer up, my dear, for there's no doubt about it,

You'll make someone a dandy Hired Girl wife!

—Mina Helgason.

Well, the cycle seems to have been completed, we've been in business where we were about 100 years ago, maybe less in some cases. Yes, sir, the backyard "comfort station" is back in vogue, according to an advertisement in Friday's Edmonton Journal. And a new twist (pardon the expression) has been added: this modernizing outhouse can be hauled on top of your car into various something Canadian outdoors.

The advertisement complete with all illusions of the once familiar building, featuring the crescent over the door, assures that this item might come in handy for upside down Trick-or-Treat lot, or for those who are just spending their time at the lake. The price? A mere $25.

APPRECIATE HELP

Editor, The Canadian: When we tabulated the results of our 1961 War Amps Key Tag Service we discovered that we had a 37 per cent response to our mail order campaign.

This is a fine response, and we have no hesitation in saying that the continued generous support of newspapers and broadcasting stations has had a great deal to do with this splendid record.

This letter is to say "thank you" again, and to ask for your continued support across Canada.

This year we mark our fifth anniversary. Since the inception of our service we have recovered 70-odd sets of lost car keys. Last year we distributed 1,833,000 key tags. To date we have returned 2,241 sets of lost car keys to their owners. In Ontario 9,128-odd key tags were purchased and 5,579 sets of keys were returned to their owners.

We enclose a news release, and would be grateful if you can use it. An editorial would give strong support to the campaign. If you can use a photograph or a mail, will be let us know. If we can assist when you phone your order in", then we will throw away your old catalogues. Some one may be in the market for one!

There seems to be a bit of concern over these days regarding the rough play in Canadian hockey. Some supporters of Junior hockey in Western Canada are of the opinion that the Western boys will never win a Memorial Cup until they learn to play it rough and tough as their Eastern counterparts do. A better change, if there is to be a change, would be to put a damper on rough play in the East, and get back to playing hockey. Rough play eventually begets dirty play. If some of the type of hockey seen on Saturday NHL games is the coming thing — with stick-swinging and spearing becoming more and more common place, then the youngsters planning a career in hockey had better be prepared to suffer a lot of facial cuts, or maybe even an eye or two, and be operating on an open field, minus the protection of NHL players today will have their own front teeth. According to the photos of the players which appear on the sports pages during the winter season, a good estimate might be about 25 per cent.

We like the one about the good deal we got on unordered pen with a request for $1.25. He reckoned it down a little bottom drawer where he kept his samples of pills. Then sent in an unordered box, and mailed them to the pen send-er with a note that people had found them very beneficial, so please accept them in lieu of the 11.25 for the pen

Dairyman cuts chores

Cows on a dairy farm at Courtenay, B.C., never had it so good. And that goes for the dairy herd and milking too.

The story of the "new look" in dairy farming is reported by E. F. Haas, of the Canada Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm at Kamloops, B.C.

The Courtenay dairy farm, he said, has cut chore time in half by switching over to a milking parlor and loose housing. The new system replaces stalls with pens, cows are kept in a loafing barn and tied in the old stanchion barn twice daily for milking and feeding. Bags of grain and silage from an upright silo had to be man-handled into the mangers.

Replacement of the stanchion barn by a double-six, herring-bone milking parlor and of the upright silo and mangers by bunker silos now permits one man to feed and milk in the same time that it formerly took two men to do the job.

According to Mr. Haas, total chore time was 241 minutes for a 30-cow herd under the dairy half-unit and only 120 minutes for 30 cows under the new system. This represented an average saving of four minutes per cow, he said.

The milking parlor proved to be the greatest time saver. Daily milking time was cut by 30 minutes. The new milker unit saved another 42 minutes. Installation of a bulk tank also contributed to cut down on labor from the pail.

At the Courtenay farm, now, the grain is fed automatically into the milking parlor . Opening the gate to the bunker silos takes but a minute compared with 47 minutes for feeding grain and silage under the old system.

While a total of 22 minutes is still required to wash the milking parlor, this is offset by a saving of six minutes in washing the milking equipment and of several hours normally required for cleaning the barn.

$10,000 on grass greens for Camrose golf course

Work will start immediately on construction of grass greens at the Victoria Park Golf Course President Ed Shumsti told The Camrose on Wednesday. Discussions over the past few weeks have led to an order being placed with A. W. Creed of Leduc for the work. Contract price is in the neighborhood of $10,000.

No major dislocation of the course is expected, Mr. Shuman reported, though each green will likely be moved slightly in the new plan. No serious problem is expected over location of a new road linking 50th Avenue and Highway 13, under a report drawn by the town planner. Farmer plans seriously disrupted two greens and two tees.

Mr. Creed is an experienced worker in this field. He laid out the Leduc course in Leduc last year and is continuing with another it looks there this summer. He is superintendent of the golf course.

After a month's discussions from time to time over the City's route or proposals over the extent and mortgage problem raised by the Golf Club, the club has agreed to accept the suggestion that they could turn the land over to the City for the balance of the mortgage if there was any likelihood of the mortgage falling into arrears.

Discussions are now taking place over the development of the new 18-hole proposal to the members. Not definitely situated yet, the building is due to be located roughly over the former well known 18th hole.

Modern Etiquette
By Roberta Lee
Q. Just how should a young lady be escorted about town?
A. Never allow a young man to open your car door. Of course, much depends on the "older" women's attitude. Some women try to appear very young and others prefer to look their age, and of course, the Old-fashioned, comfortable type of person, on the other hand, would probably like it very much.
Q. My husband and I dine out with another couple occasionally and the two men do not like to pay the check. Is it better for the other woman and me to share the bill?
A. No, not in public dining places.

Draft survival plan being formulated by CD unit

At the regular meeting of the County of Beaver Disaster Unit control committee on May 7th, Cr. Magnesen asked J. W. Stewart of the northern zone headquarters what progress was being made in composing a draft survival plan. Mr. Stewart said that a plan had been formulated and given the committee for approval on May 4. When this had been approved the committee would be sent a copy for completion.

Mr. Stewart presented draft copies of a unit welfare plan, which when completed will form part of the survival plan. This plan was prepared by the provincial civil defence welfare director, Mr. Pelton.

George Taylor said he would get in contact with Mrs. Wiemers, unit welfare director, and advise her to complete the welfare plan in conjunction with the welfare directors in the town and villages involved.

BYLAW NEEDED

Mr. Stewart advised that it was necessary for the members of the unit to complete a bylaw to approve an agreement for the establishment of a civil defence unit and also to complete a Civil Defence unit agreement with the other members of the unit.

He said the department of municipal affairs is insisting that this be done where as many as being possible from one member of the unit to another. Otherwise there is no authority for association between councils and municipalities.

Mr. Weyermanns asked Mr. Stewart for the reason for cancellation of exercise.

Mr. Stewart said the fire training has been taken over by the Provincial Fire Commissioner and the police training has been taken over by the RCMP. These people are revising the training procedures for these courses. He said in the case of the police, an auxiliary is being established who will be uniformed and trained under the parent organization, whether it be city police or RCMP. These persons will be able to act in any place in the province in case of emergency.

FIRST AID

Regarding the first aid courses, Mr. Stewart said these were cancelled until a new agreement was finalized between St. John Ambulance and the dominion and provincial governments.

Mr. Stewart said that St. John Ambulance agreed to train people in first aid and home nursing for $2 per person who completed the course. Their difficulty was that they would start a large class but only a few would take the exam, so a new agreement had to be drawn up.

The welfare directors course for June 25th to 29th was discussed, and it was pointed out by Mr. Stewart that, due to the import-

School committee meets May 8th

The County of Beaver No. 9 school committee meeting was held on Tuesday, May 8th, 1962. Present were: Cr. J. H. Roddick in the chair; and Crs. A. L. Gibson, W. D. Pearson, Reeve Magnesen, H. Mazurenko and H. Weyherdt. Also present, Mr. C. Arnett, Mr. G. P. Davies, and Mr. J. Reed, representing the Town and Villages and the superintendent of Schools, Mr. H. A. Pike. The meeting was called to order at 10:05 a.m. by the chairman. Moved by Cr. Magnesen that the minutes of the April 10th meeting be confirmed as written. Carried.

In connection with the water supply at Bruce School, dealt with by resolution 128, Cr. Johnston reported that he and Mr. Dorin together with Mr. H. Siegel, who had drilled the wells at the school, had made certain investigations and it appeared to them that on account of natural gas being present the water could not be pumped in sufficient quantity due to back pressure from the gas accumulating in the water tanks, and that if anything could be done to relieve the gas pressure, there might be a possibility that there would be enough water in the wells. It was suggested that the pressure tanks should be checked to see if the air-vents were operating, also the pump itself, and that the water tests should be continued.

It was considered that the just should look after the situation more closely and also that, as far as possible, arrangements be made whereby one well would be used for general purposes and the other for the toilets and wash basins. It was moved that Mr. Siegleaner foreman be instructed to investigate the situation and take any remedial action that he considers advisable. Cr.

Referring to the pupil population in Bruce High School, it was noted that the school year the enrolment in Grade 11 appears to be that in Grade 12 there might be a large class in Grade 11, 14, and in Grade 10 it was approximately 16, 18, to make a total of 33 and some bus routes may have to be arranged to transport the Grade 12 students to Holden.

Moved that the Superintendent together with the members concerned investigate the possibility of rearranging the bus routes to bring the Grade 12 students from Bruce to Holden beginning in September 1962. Cd.

In connection with the proposed addition to the repair shops at Ryley, referred to in resolution 143, the school committee was informed that application had been made to construct a Hall addition under the Winter Works Program. The arrangement was concurred in by the school committee.

At this time the question as to whether or not a janitor should be given was discussed. It was finally decided to ask the public works foreman and the mechanic at the bus garage to attend the meeting at 8:30 p.m. to discuss the matter with the Ryley janitor

Need for public relations

Wrangling between doctors in Saskatchewan and the government suggests at least three important thoughts: One, the power of professional groups; two, how easy it is to vote ourselves into trouble; and third, the need for better communication or public relations between professional groups and the public. Our reference to professional groups does not necessarily single out the medical profession.

If anyone has any doubt about the power of professional groups, take a look at what is reported from Saskatchewan. It is possible, too, to go further afield. There are not many professional people—lawyers, doctors, engineers or others—who can practice without the approval of their society or organization. In short, they do as told. The layman is at the mercy of the professional whether it is a tooth extraction or the community swimming pool. If an engineer makes a mistake, to whom can you turn for help? On the other hand, if a doctor makes a mistake, who can or will say it was a mistake?

Voters in Saskatchewan who supported the government's proposed medical plan must have felt they would benefit. It is not likely they would have supported it had they thought they might be without medical care. It would be unwise to say who is at fault without all the facts from a first-hand point of view. Reports, however, that doctors will not practise after the plan goes into operation must be very depressing for citizens of the province.

More communication from the medical profession to the people over the years might have changed the thinking considerably. The excuse "it is not ethical", might have been alright a few years ago but other groups have found it pays to make contact with the so-called mass of people. We are living in a changing world and professionals are not exempt from the changes. Who are better equipped to inform the public more accurately than the professional? Well planned information from the people we have come to depend upon will produce trust. And we are not likely to clamor for legislative regimentation for those we trust. Unless the professional can see the signs of the times, we can look for more of what is happening in Saskatchewan.

Cherchez la femme

Fifty million Frenchman don't have to be right, as the old saying goes, but they were certainly right in their feeling that in difficult situations you should always "look for the woman". This applies, too, whether thinking of criminal developments or social moves.

So it's with no surprise that we read that the National Council of Women of Canada has enlisted its 700,000 members in a coast-to-coast campaign for seat belts in automobiles. Starting right at the top, they have enlisted support of Madame Vanier, Canada's first lady, as well as their own president, Mrs. Saul Hayes of Montreal.

We look for the women to succeed in a way that has been missed to a large part by the men working on the campaign. To be sure, it was the men who spearheaded the campaign for the past ten years or so, but as the industry figures show, the response to the drives has been very slow in picking up any real support. Only in the past year, actually, as safety-conscious business firms have installed belts in staff cars, has there been a significant surge in safety belt use.

But with the persuasive power of wives, mothers and sweethearts added to the battle, there will be many fewer men who can put it off. Many a travelling salesman's wife will think of how far the insurance policies would reach, and urge her husband to use his safety belt more often. Many a mother of small children will think of her position as the forced breadwinner for the brood, and demand that her husband reduce the hazard.

Litter containers

A piece of literature which wound up on our desk the other day, entitled "It's That Time of Year Again", claims that "the litterbugs are on the road—and on the ramparge." It urges highway travellers to carry litterbags in their cars and to make use of them; picnickers to throw litter in trash cans while on the beach or in a picnic area; and boaters to refrain from throwing garbage overboard while on the lake. All this is timely and good advice.

But with regard to throwing litter from cars, we reiterate the suggestion that has been made in these columns on at least one other occasion in the past, and that is that trash receptacles to receive litter from automobiles should be placed along all the main highways in this province. We do not mean to intimate that these trash barrels will eliminate littering along Alberta highways, but certainly they would serve as reminders to the litterbug, and especially so if appropriate signs were posted about half a mile on either side of the trash cans.

It is true that such a move has been started in this province, and that such receptacles may be seen at appropriate intervals along the main highway between Edmonton and Grande Prairie. Another receptacle — the only one we know of south of Edmonton—is located on Highway 2 near Wetaskiwin. While the insinuation is there, we do not really believe that the only litterbugs in the province live or travel in these particular areas!

By George!

The more election promises I hear from the leaders of the so-called "big four" parties, or the "middle-of-the-road" parties, the more I wonder how sickeningly short these promises can become. I am reminded of a game we played as kids called "London Bridge". I believe it was called in which two participants formed an archway with their arms and locked while the rest marched through it. Every time a person in the archway was "captured" and had to join the ranks. They each formed the archway. They each of the two offered the captive some imaginary gift (it was always a sucker for the golden aeroplane) and the "captive" then sided up with the one who made the most attractive offer. When all captives had finally made their decisions, the game was ended, and invariably the half of the archway who had done the best job of "promising" the most to gain support, was the winner of the big-shot.

As each new crisis looms like a modern day dilemma, doesn't it? The more fantastic the promises, the more support the party appears expected to get. However, the party giants in this latter game are adults, at least they must be over 21 years of age, and it is supposed that they are mature and people enough not to fall for such promises as "a causeway from Prince Edward Island to the Pas, Saskatchewan" and "a deep-sea harbor on the Saskatchewan River so pipelines from Alberta can go to the Pacific Ocean". The ultimate prize for which it is true that all these things could quite conceivably come to pass, they are nonetheless merely thrown out at this stage of the game as vote-getters.

I am convinced that the Canadian people have almost reached the saturation point where, if not fantastic, isolated election promises are concerned, and there is a good possibility that the man who comes up with some good, original, practical down-to-earth ideas for putting new life into Canada's trade and monetary policies, and promises of hard work and true devotion to duty for the good of the country, will be man who will be elected. And well he should be.

CORRESPONDENCE

Advance notice from the ASTA office concerning the annual convention to be held November 7, 8 and 9 in the Palliser Hotel Calgary was referred to the committee. With the notice a list of program suggestions was attached and the committee approved of the following suggestions:

1. Standard Interprovincial Curriculum.
2. Vocational Education.
3. ASTA Services.

Moved that the notice of the 1962 annual convention be received and filed and that the program suggestions be forwarded to the ASTA office. Cld.

A letter from Mr. A. C. Ricketts of Alberta Provincial Manager of Clarke's Tire Service Limited, was referred to the committee. The letter was in response to a discussion that Mr. Ricketts had with the secretary-treasurer in regards to discounts offered by Clarke's Tire Service Limited to the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts. The letter appeared to indicate that the discounts offered by Clarke's Tire Service were greater than those presently being received from Crown Rubber Limited, and it was moved that the letter be referred to the executive of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts with a request that an explanation be given as to why the offer from Clarke's Tire Service Limited had not been accepted in preference to the offer from Crown Tire Limited. Cd.

Mr. S. Jobse and Mr. D. Glover, representing the London Life Insurance Company, attended the meeting at this time placing before the school committee a group pension program and a group insurance program as set up for the county and explained the two programs in detail. After a number of questions had been asked by the school committee members and also by representatives of the staff, Mr. Glover was advised that the school committee would take the proposed plans under consideration and that they would be advised as to the outcome of the committee's deliberations. After the two representatives left some further discussion took place but it was realized that no decision could be arrived at this time, and it was moved that the matter of group insurance and pension programs be tabled for further consideration and discussed by the committee at a later meeting. Cd.

In this connection the secretary-treasurer referred to the pension committee the pension plan as set up by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada for the Municipal District of Camrose and the booklet emphasizing the pension plan was circulated among the committee members.

A comprehensive report on the county's school fire insurance, as prepared for Mr. J. D. Haverty, assistant manager, the United States Fidelity and Security Company Limited, was referred to the committee at this time and the various details and recommendations of the report were discussed briefly and it was moved that arrangements be made to comply with the recommendations of Mr. Haverty in regards to the fire insurance on the county's school buildings as it appears that these recommendations will have a tendency of lowering the premium on the fire insurance. Cd.

The secretary-treasurer informed the committee that all contract bid documents presently were available for a renewal year and he was asked what the committee wished to do in this regard.

It was moved that we offer to those persons who have done satisfactory work during the past year the opportunity of renewing their contracts for the ensuing year. Cd.

Mr. W. Brenhert representing the Lloyd and Brenhert Agency at this time attended the meeting at this time and discussed with the committee the sports insurance for the county schools. After discussion it was moved by Mr. Brenhert, seconded by Mr. Wyland, that the total premium for the year be fixed at the sum of $243.00 and that the local teachers' committee be paid a sum of $175.00 towards these premiums and if a refund was made by the Lloyd Agency at the end of the year, the committee concurs in a request to defray the balance of the cost.

Moved that a grant of $125.00 be given to defray expenses in connection with the sports activities in the county schools during the 1961-62 school year. Cd.

The superintendent of schools at this time mentioned the need for corrective beds when hard ball was being played stating that the beds had already been obtained but that a requirement should be obtained whereby it compulsory to use these beds.

Moved that protective bats must be used when hard ball is being played in the County's schools. Cd.

The secretary-treasurer presented the proposed budget for the 1962-63 school year. Estimated expenditures for the ensuing year will be in the amount of $1,315,340.00. The revenues to meet these expenditures were established as follows:

Foundation Program Fund, 1871,... 197.00 (an increase of approximately $10,000.00 over the 1961 Foundation Program Fund). Equalized grants, $7,500.00. From requisitions, $97,223.00. From rents, $6,270.00. From surplus cash, $10,000.00.

After a thorough study of the proposed expenditures it was decided that only an amount of $97,... 000.00 could be derived from the requisitions and the budget was drawn up to $1,001,340.00 and covering the requisitions from contributing authorities to $78,223.00.

Moved that the estimates in the amount of $1,001,340.00 be approved as the estimates for the County of Beaver No. 9 School Committee for the year 1962, and that, as required by the School Act, the estimates be forwarded to the Department of Education for approval. Cd.

Moved that the resignation of the following teachers in the County be accepted: Barbara A. Cameron, Peter Varyahpu, Mary R. Schroeder, Dianne Hadinsky, Linda M. Neufeld, Edward Wysocki, Georgina M. Glasowik, Anne M. Eglauer and John W. Kulbe. Cd.

The superintendent of schools was referred to the school committee the County's bursary program. The superintendent felt that the school committee should take a good look at the program as he was of the opinion that in some instances the amount of money given in bursaries were somewhat high especially as some of the county students were also able to obtain bursaries from other sources and that some consistency could well be considered. The bursary program was given careful consideration at this time and tentatively discussed and it was finally moved that whereas the County of Beaver deems it necessary and desirable to encourage the highest calibre of student to apply for bursary awards to attend the Faculty of Education and

Whereas the Government involved in awarding the bursaries has informed out of proposition to the individual returns and

Whereas the new teacher training program now involves a compulsory two year attendance for all students entering the Faculty

Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Taekema celebrate 25th anniversary

An event of local interest took ... place at the Baptist Church on Saturday evening, May 12th, when 60 or more people gathered to help Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Taekema celebrate their silver wedding anniversary.

A three tiered wedding cake, decorated for the occasion by Mrs. H. McGinnis, centred the table of honor.

Mr. Kennedy was master of ceremonies.

During the evening four musical selections were rendered by relatives and friends. Mr. Poppes, brother-in-law of the bride, was then called upon and gave a very interesting account of the events leading up to their wedding, the early part of their married life and their journey to Canada. Mrs. Hepburn then gave a resume of their stay while in Kingman, following which Sharon Fricks gave a humorous reading to the Tofield district.

Cards, flowers and gifts included a framed display of twenty-five, 1962 silver dollars in the form of the figure twenty-five, were received from their many well-wishers to which the honored couple gratefully replied.

The evening concluded with the serving of a dainty lunch by the ladies of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Taekema have three children: Jane, (Mrs. Willard Haworth), Sidney and William, also two granddaughters.

Out of town guests were present from: Red Deer, Edmonton, New Brigden, Ponoka, Kingman.

Local properties change ownership

Mr. and Mrs. David Patterson have sold their home and lot in town to Mr. and Mrs. Walton of Ricky. The Patersons will move to Lemming Mills B.C., about June 1st, to make their home near town daughter Mrs. Frank Wallinger.

The Charlie Roberge family has purchased the property on 5th Avenue known as the Wetherell place, and are now moving in. This was one of the first houses in this part of town. It was erected and occupied by Harold's parents Mr. and Mrs. Wetherell for whom Mr. Wetherell was secretary-treasurer of Tofield Municipal Council in the 1.30's.

The house on 4th Avenue West formerly owned by Mrs. D. A. Patterson then by Frank Wallinger, has been sold to Ole Minaard

$1,600. Buys A Lot Of Higher Education

Putting your youngster through high school and college is a costly business. And, if you're like most people, you will have to prepare for that expense out of ordinary income.

An easy way to do it, should you not need the Family Allowance Cheques for their primary purpose of paying for the youngster's day-to-day expenses, is to earmark all of them for his later education. The cheques for one child, saved in a fit of 31 account until the age of 16 is reached, total more than $1,600, including interest. It's a handy start toward a higher education. And it means you have ready money in the bank available for any unexpected opportunity or emergency.

Start while your youngster is still ... and you'll have a sum which ... will help him over the first college hurdle. Why not drop into the fi of M next time you are passing, and open your child's "Fund for the Future". Horace Seiler, manager of the Tofield branch says any member of his staff will gladly welcome the opportunity of assisting you in putting this good idea into practice. —Advt.

HOME COOKING
Bill bakes a cake...
. . . the kind of cake that takes first prize at the county fair cooking contest! True, Bill Reeser would be the first to admit that he's far more at ease with transformers, insulators, winch-truck mechanisms and linesman's tools, than he is with the intricate art of mixing cake ingredients. But, as a Farm Electric Services crew foreman, he makes an important contribution. Bill is responsible for supervising the building of miles of farm power lines — the kind of installations that now make it possible to bake with controlled, electrical heat in so many Alberta farm kitchens. You've probably seen construction crews working in your neighbourhood, helping to bring you the benefits of electrical living. They are members of a team of people who take time to be friendly.
Bill Reeser's responsible position with Calgary Power is as a crew foreman of Farm Electric Services Ltd. After hours he is active as a director of the Calgary Power Employees Association, and as a member of the Red Deer Elks Club. In the summer months Bill is an enthusiastic camper — as are his wife Olga and their three children.

PEOPLE ARE Important!

in the Vegreville Constituency!

Your PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE Government, represented in the Vegreville Constituency by Frank Fane, believes that people are important and proves their conviction by INCREASED SOCIAL BENEFITS.

1. In 1957, before the Conservative party took office, old age pensioners received only $46.00 per month, in federal pension.
   TODAY — 1962 — old age pensioners receive $65.00 per month WITHOUT A MEANS TEST.
2. The blind, and otherwise disabled person, now receives $63.00 per month instead of only $40.00, a major portion of which is contributed by your federal government.
3. WAR VETERANS pensions have been increased. Twice, in the last five years, veterans pensions have been increased by 20% — clear across the board. War veterans allowances also have been increased by 20% on each of two occasions. The basis on which these payments are made have been widened, thus more deserving war veterans allowances available to more needy veterans.
4. Widows and children of deceased war veterans also enjoy greater financial benefits.
5. Otherwise unemployed workers in the district have been given useful jobs at fair wages in the Winter Works program.
6. The Conservative Government is making substantial increases to the recreational facilities for the use of people, in Elk Island National Park and roadside tourist camps.
7. Public Health grants totalling over $5,000,000.00 for Alberta are given for general public health, TB Control, Mental Health, Professional Training, Cancer Central, Public Health Research, Crippled Children, Child and Maternal Health, Hospital Construction, and other benefits.

FRANK J. W. FANE

The Progressive Conservative Party believes PEOPLE are Important and Canada's most important asset. As such your Progressive Conservative party has primary concern for the people of Canada and has proven it by its record.

Co-winners of Bingo

Secretary and councillor meet with county council

—To discuss railway crossing

The secretary-treasurer of the Town of Tofield, J. E. Stinson, and Town Councillor A. Herndon, met with members of the County of Beaver at the regular council meeting on May 10 to discuss the improving of the railway crossing at the main entrance to Tofield. The County earlier had requested that the main entrance be improved, to make the crossing safe for school buses as well as any other traffic.

EXPENSIVE UNDERTAKING

Mr. Herndon, while admitting that the work was definitely the responsibility of the town, felt that the cost of such work would be very high, and asked if the County might give some financial assistance to the Town of Tofield on the project. He felt that the town would be unable to finance the work on its own.

Mr. Stinson said that it would be late in the season before any work on the improvements could be started, although a survey had been made by both Maltby & O'Connor, consulting engineers and Associated Engineering Services Ltd., for an overall plan of drainage, gravel levels and so on.

After Mr. Stinson and Mr. Herndon had left the meeting, the county council gave the matter some discussion, and it was decided to table the matter, and it will come up for discussion again at a later meeting.

RECREATION DIRECTOR

Another item which came up at the county council meeting which should prove of interest to Tofield residents, as well as the county as a whole, concerned the possibility of hiring a recreation director. Regarding a letter from the Holden Recreation Board Secretary Ord Monson reported that he had written the board requesting that they outline their proposal to the county in writing, but a reply was not received in time for the meeting.

A letter from the Viking Home and School Association stated that this association, too, was interested in a full time recreation director for Viking and district. The matter is to be dealt with at a later meeting.

H. Schultz finds copies of 1907 'Standard' while making repairs to attic in his home

(By Grace Phillips, Tofield Historical Society)

While making repairs to the attic of his farm home, Harold Schultz discovered some copies of the "Edmonton Standard" which was printed in 1907. The Standard was the forerunner of The Mercury and was published by R. N. Whitney. The papers found by Mr. Schultz were in much the same condition as the Tofield district. The following article was apparently a letter written to the editor by the son of Phillip Tate now of the H.B. Co. farm at Victoria. The reference to maple trees growing here in the 1870's has interested the old-timers of the district. The spelling of the name now known as Mcjohnson is intriguing. Was it the best translation of the Indian name, or was it a typographical error?

The article follows:

The destruction and waster of the state caused by prairie fires are incalculable.

Beautiful groves, timber, wild fruit trees, the young of wild animals, with thousands of duck eggs and prairie chicken eggs are annually used up by the indispensible Brand and reluctant fire fiend. Not having seen Beaver Lake or neighborhood since I was a boy in the early seventies, it was with a sorrowful feeling of regret that I read the total absence of Maple trees in the great tract of your Cooking Lake as charged from the early days.

Acting on the advice of their friend and pointer, a party of Indian Cree Indians, isolated themselves from the other bands and made for the then more wooded part of the country; they [illegible] the north west sides of the lake towards the hills. The fateful and much dreaded smallpox had prevailed among those tribes for [illegible] and had carried off many [illegible] the Blackfeet. It was with the [illegible] particular portion of Chief Holland's band, that they [illegible] themselves an already stated, as they were the only ones who escaped this frightful scourge.

I am wandering away from my first intention of [illegible] burning Lake and Maple Bay.

The Indians were camped at the outlet of Beaver Lake, on the Beaver Creek. The waiter's band had been very successful from every point of view. It must have been with feelings of unmixed gratitude these Indians bore farm-

Another chorus

The railroads are embroiled again. Only weeks ago a strike was averted when one branch of the workers settled with the companies. Now the country faces a country-wide rail strike next Monday if terms can't be agreed upon with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Actually we know less about the background for this strike than for any mooted so far. But we imagine that most of our fellow Canadians are much like us. And we imagine many of them have come to pretty much the same sort of feeling we're tempted to feel, that we're getting sick and tired of the periodic threat to the railroads coming almost as regularly as clockwork. We can't help wonder what would happen if the unions and the railroads were allowed to square off and fight it out.

There is no denying the importance to the economy of the gigantic ability of the railroads to move freight, and there is no denying that interruption of rail service would bring severe hardship to some of us. But we wonder how far truck and air service would be able to go, yet, and even barges, in supplanting the complexes which have developed under the railroads. We wonder, too, if the story of John L. Lewis would be repeated, who won the battle for his coal miners, but lost the war to other fuels. Would the railroaders, like the bricklayers a generation ago, price themselves out of the field completely if given the chance?

White man's burden

While deploring the burden loaded on the shoulders of the white man more than at the world, it's best not to forget that all foreigners believe load it on his own shoulders. With all the appalling situation in Algeria where the Secret Army organization is daily mowing down defenceless Moslems, including women and children, in increasing numbers and increasing viciousness, in the hope the native population can be stirred into flaring up and fighting back. If this happens before the day of responsible government, just a month from now, then French forces would be called upon to intercede and subject the Moslems, which is what the Secret Army fighters are striving for.

But imagine the situation if the Moslems can contain themselves . . . and what it must be . . . until control of the country is handed over to them. It's hard to believe that they will be able to restrain themselves from the most savage killing of every living white man in the country.

And after watching the white man, who could blame them?

By-line reporting

We cannot help but sympathize with Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in his attack on one of the reporters covering his eleven campaigns. Following an obviously biased report on the prime minister's walk to Edmonton last week, Mr. Diefenbaker informed reporter Charles King that he would not answer any more of his questions, and later reiterated his statement with "I means it. No more questions from you!"

The prime minister did, however, soften his blow a mewhat in Victoria this week when he said that he would answer all questions—from any reporter—during a press conference.

The opinion of at least three acquaintances who attended the Edmonton meeting was that the report was "definitely slanted."

While Mr. King may feel justified in his so-called "interpretive reporting", since he is writing under a by-line, he must consider the fact that he is the only reporter covering the tour for a certain group of Canadian newspapers. In this light, the readers of these newspapers are entitled to an entirely unbiased news report.

Wrong track

Members of the International Woodworkers on strike against an Edmonton factory took the wrong track last week when they picketed the offices of the Unemployment Insurance Commission for supplying workers to fill jobs at the plant, located at Ottawa when they complained to Labor Minister Starr, the workers say the Commission had no business interfering in the strike, and breaking up their attack.

Naturally, the strikers are emotional at a time like this, and it is not unusual for unions to object to anything which runs counter to their plans. But the Commission took the right course. We can't see how it could have acted otherwise. For it is set up to direct men to jobs that are open . . . and the Commission was told the jobs were open, and so were the strikers. The Commission is not a court, and only the courts should decide on the merits of the two sides. Until a decision is handed down by the courts, the Commission had no right to refuse to supply the workers requested.

A long shadow

Most readers in this area felt a good deal of indignation when the Doukhobors bombed the power pylons supplying the Trail smelters and other consumers in the area some months ago, but apart from those who were blown in the area, it's probable most failed to make much impact on our own lives. So we were quite impressed this week to hear of a farmer who had to drive many more miles than usual to get a little bit of fertilizer for his fields . . . fertilizer left over from last year in one of the district agencies.

Got to thinking, of course, that the well known elephant comes from one of the Trail by-products, and Trail is without power. No power . . . no fertilizer. It's a long shadow from Crestova to Tofield.

MacDuff Ottawa report . . . . The slow campaign

[illegible] all his speeches, breaking little [illegible] the public opinion poll re[illegible] the biggest assets of the [illegible] Liberal brochures expounding [illegible] Mr. Thompson, with his better [illegible] Lloyd Francis, a member of [illegible] Ontario legislature, has been [illegible] Mr. Thompson's campaign [illegible] Mr. Thompson, with his better [illegible] national leader. He wanted to [illegible] as many stores as possible [illegible] from 3:00 to 6:00 on a Saturday [illegible] Quebec City. Mr. Diefenbaker [illegible] a similar welcome in New Westminster B.C. and pulled in over [illegible] many listeners as Mr. Pearson did [illegible] a day later in Calgary.

[illegible] though the politicians put [illegible] at stock in crowds to indicate [illegible] a groundswell when the members [illegible] are large, they are not an entirely [illegible] guide to voter support.

ONLY THE CURIOUS

Even the NDP officials in Calgary conceded that Mr. Douglas [illegible] there was made up largely [illegible] of the curious rather than [illegible] supporters of the Party cause. And [illegible] of all rides the NDP is [illegible] likely to garner much support [illegible] voting day.

[illegible] reason Party leaders [illegible] Ottawa like Alberta, turned [illegible] September 1960 election [illegible] a reasonably reliable indicator [illegible] Party's popularity at the very [illegible] Progressive Conservative [illegible] Oddly enough, when one con[illegible] reach polling point only in the final few weeks before the polls [illegible] it.

There was at least a flavour [illegible] 1958 enthusiasm in evidence [illegible] in suburban Toronto last week [illegible] to it. Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson went hunting for votes [illegible] the same day in the same area. [illegible] although the Prime Minister [illegible] himself to be greatly encouraged by the turnout of 3,000 in [illegible] Don Mills area, it would probably have been surprising if he [illegible] to a political rally which the Conservatives won with a 28,000-vote margin in 1958.

A day later his campaign plans [illegible] met in Winnipeg by only a handful of Party officials, and his [illegible] passed through the city [illegible] to a police escort with no [illegible] of interest or enthusiasm [illegible] the passersby.

SANE TREATMENT

Mr. Pearson didn't do any better [illegible] visited Winnipeg briefly [illegible] week—earlier although he left [illegible] Conservatives in Ontario [illegible] and the Maritimes pro-NDP. [illegible] Everyone on both sides agrees [illegible] the campaign started slowly but [illegible] year, and has taken weeks to develop any enthusiasm.

The Conservatives take this as a sign of general satisfaction with the way things are going, and an omen of solid support on election day.

The Liberals, counting heavily on their margin of popularity as shown in the public opinion polls, remain confident that they have nothing to fear in the apparent inactivity and that the appropriate enthusiasm will build up in the last few weeks before the June 18 vote.

The events and the crowds of the next three weeks will prove who is right.

CAPITAL HILL CAPSULE

CAMPAIGN COMMENT: The Conservatives are boasting they will make another clean sweep across the three prairie provinces, even picking up CCF-entrenched Liberal Hazen Argue's riding of Assiniboia in the process. But few Conservatives are willing to admit that they cannot defeat Colin DeB. Hamilton and Liberal inroads are expected, with the Tories still retaining a comfortable majority of farm support.

Banking By Mail Saves Farmers' Time

Nowadays, farmers are often too busy to spare time for trips into town. That's why many find the mail of Montreal's "banking-by-mail" service particularly useful. They save time and trouble by having the postman do their banking for them.

Banking by mail is quick, too. Deposits and banking instructions received by the 19 of M through the post claim immediate attention. Every night, without a exception of sundays, this produce, grain or livestock cheques for deposit in his account.

If you find it inconvenient to get into town during banking hours, write or call Herb Erickson, accountant of Tofield's 19 of M, telephone number 211. He will gladly provide you with full details about banking by mail. Otherwise, you might drop into the 19 of M next time you're in town and pick up a copy of the bank's booklet about this useful, time-saving service.

Minutes of Beaver County

The regular meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 was held on Thursday, May 10th, 1962.

In regards to the minutes of the Agricultural Service Board meeting it was noted that the District Agriculturist had inquired if the County Council felt that the seed cleaning plant should handle associated weed chemicals or if they had any objection to the seed cleaning plant handling other chemicals. He stated that no requests had been made by the seed cleaning plant board to handle other chemicals but that chemical companies were interested in getting their chemicals into this district. They would like to put in a variety of chemicals and felt that this would not pay unless they had a chance of moving the latter selling 3-D chemicals as well. The Council was of the opinion that AAMD would be able to obtain any chemicals, that farmers would require, and that if the chemical companies were allowed to distribute 3-D it would be a big enough County outlets it could lead to complications and heavy losses. The letter requested that the Council take action to discuss the matter with the Association to find out the extent of the losses and should be supplied to the local boards through the Association ed their camp and instead of going into the fort at Victoria, and still fearing the assailants, they decided to send for the Chilcayna or his agent to come to them and there fore. This suggestion was readily complied with.

At this time my father was the chief trader for the Hudson's Bay Co. and greatness was my joy when he told me I was to accompany him to visit the Indians in their camp near Beaver Lake.

It was a good and wise custom of friendship and policy, that each official of the H. B. Co. should have a Chief-trader, a member of a Chief's family or brother, or as near a nephew, as it could be made, and as every camp was soon known and recognized as the chief or head man.

On arriving in camp we were most heartily welcomed by my father's "Chewash" Chief Pokiwa and his followers. There was nothing too good for us; all the known delicacies of the season were placed at our feet, moose noses, bears' hams, buffalo "boss", or hump, chicks, geese, eggs, and will you believe it good maple sugar, made in their camps. Daintily made syrup, in skin vessels, or properly moulded, bladders.

Neither was the supply limited and could I have accepted of all offered to me I would certainly have had forty or fifty pounds.

As we had ridden on horseback in advance of the carts with the trading goods, they would not be in camp for several hours. Chief Pokiwi assured me my father would bring forth his swiftest "buffalo horse" and he would match him for a race. With a promise he promptly accepted the challenge, and immediately bets were made.

Pocket knives, silk handkerchiefs coats, capots, belts, moose leather buffalo robes, fur, marten and lessons, whips, etc. etc. were freely laid one against the other The big bet of the race was of course between the two heads of the respective parties. My father placed a single barrel percussion gun, two pounds of ten shot up in a cotton handkerchief, and two fathoms of rope tobacco on the ground, to be immediately balanced by three bladders of pemmican, six large beaver tails, and six rasons full of made sugar and a bundle of fur. The rules for entry and starting were few and to the point. "Donvers up" being the only one expressly stated Accordingly the "Go-hey-mas" mounted their racers and rode to yonder willow bush about a mile off.

To turn the horses' heads and race like grim death for that bunch of shouting, yelling hunters was the thought and work of a moment. The Indian rode well and his horse, which had seen service at the camps of the Big Knives, and by had won laurels in all buffalo runs, was no mean opponent.

From start to finish it was neck to neck and under the whip and leah the flyers ran in a draw.

Immediately come the cry, "the sons will take their fathers' places in their own places", and before I could realize the full meaning of the situation I was on the back of my pretty pony. He was a present from a friend, Mr. Hendsley, and had a good strain if the Fereaway breed in him, his grandsire having been imported to York factory and Lake Winnipeg.

If I had the disposal of the millions of a Rockefeller they would have been laid in the lap of my darling little "Vermount". In a minute my cousin "Hay-ohe-ah-hun" (The Coyote) dashed up on a prancing coal black pony The preliminaries were quickly disposed of. With a "shall of persuasion" my favorite did not clear away at the first jump.

I sat immovable as my seat, as did my cousin at my side.

I felt the breeze on my face and yonder form, and I beat low over my horse's neck, only to note that The Coyote was almost laying flat over his mount I tightened the grip of my little thighs as I drove them up, while The Coyote sat like a cushion up Jack Smith on his "Flying Cross".

Could it be possible that my "Vermount" had met his match.

At Edmonton, Victoria, Fort Pitt, Carlton and Fort Edlice, aye, the whole North West, we had never seen the heels of anyone.

I prayed and prayed sincerely that the awful day be postponed, but still that black snake-like form is long sinewy bounds was at my side.

I urged, I roared, in despair I commanded, and raising my head with my open palm struck his sloping shoulders, and as I did so, my pony seemed to come closer to the ground and while fairly flying thru' the air, I heard the smith, crash, right and left on the black limbs beside me, and with a yell, which I often yet hear in imagination as I watch the "horns stretch" from the grandstand, my opponent flew past me and amid yells and cheers, and my little heart like loss, I realized that The Coyote had gotten in a year and a half, I had lost, and lost to a better horse.

Leaping from my pony's back was my eyes full of tears, I remembered that The Coyote made a present long of long a fine rifle. He was two years my senior but I did not mind all this, he made for revenge I challenged him to run a race, which was accepted.

I will dwell on this race merely remarking that if force of will power and a determination to win has any effect on an opponent, then I was conquered for I made "The Coyote" to do otherwise than be left in the dust in the shape of my bark.

The spoils were divided up as originally intended the Chief taking the lion, and myself the bear, while my father had the furs, blankets, etc., and with his own hand Chief Bobtail handed me the reins of dominion.

Chief Bobtail and his son Magpie remained with us for a short reservation at Beaver Lake that they was definitely the responsibility of the Town of Tofield for fully 6 months such amount of work was done on roads as well as for on roads leading into the town.

Moved that the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 apply the Public Service Pension Board to have the employee benefits of employees presently subject to the provisions of the school secretary-treasurer superannuation act be made subject to the provisions of the Local Authorities Pension Act.

Carried Unanimously.

Moved that the school secretaries superannuation fund be and is hereby authorized to act as agent for and on behalf of the Council of the County of Beaver No 9 to negotiate and arrange for such terms under which the employees of the said School Secretaries Fund, who are presently subject to the provisions of the School Secretaries Superannuation Act, may be brought under the provisions of the Local Authorities Pension Act.

Carried Unanimously.

At this time the District Engineer, Mr R. McFetridge and his assistant, Mr. Thompson attended the meeting to discuss with the Council the road program for the current year. Mr. McFetridge stated that at the present time he was only interested in getting information as to the amount that the Council intended to spend on District Highways at the location of the work. This was fully discussed and he was advised that the amount to be expended on District Highways was approximately $35,500.00 or a little better than 25% of the total road moneys. This was acceptable to Mr. McFetridge for this year and that Mr. Bossard pointed out that for the following year the greater part of that more money should be spent on District Highways, that they should be built to proper specifications and that only good crushed gravel should be used on these roads and preferably on all roads that were to be gravelled.

Mr. J. E. Simms, secretary-treasurer in the Town of Tofield, of the Tofield Planning Committee of the Town of Tofield, interviewed the Council with respect to the agreement with the Council that the Council and the County Council that the Rail-way crossing at the main entrance to the Town of Tofield be improved. Mr. Hendsley stated that this was definitely the responsibility of the Town of Tofield for that the considerable amount of work was done on the approaches to the crossing on roads under the Council's jurisdiction. It was pointed out that it beyond its means to do all the work on its own and he pointed out that if the County would consider helping out in the way of providing some of the work on the road, that Mr. Simms pointed out that a survey had been made by Associated Engineering Services Ltd., and Maltby, & O'Connor, Consultants, Ltd., and the plan of drainage, street levels, etc., for the Town of Tofield, would be here in the course of ten days any actual work would be started. The County Council stated that they would give favourable consideration to the request and Mr. Simms and Mr. Hendsley retired. After some discussion on this matter it was moved that the request from the Town of Tofield for possible assistance of the County in the Railway crossing on the main entrance at Tofield be tabled to the next meeting. Cd.

The secretary-treasurer informed the Council that he had received the agreement with Imperial Oil Limited in respect to the purchase of automotive lubricants from the Council for the fiscal year ending April 30th, 1963; this agreement includes giving certain discounts depending on the amount of purchases made and also a special new price advance for the month of May.

Moved that the secretary's action in regard to the agreement with Imperial Oil Limited in respect to

Chiselling . . . 1962

"Ill fares the land . . . where men decay" wrote the poet, and we're seeing all too much of the decay of mankind as our goal becomes more and more the almighty dollar. We're figuring the angles, and forgetting moral considerations. The latest example which comes in is that of a couple in one of the northern states entering an arena for an accident which blinded the wife last winter. During one of the big matches, in which Toronto Maple Leafs were playing, we believe, the puck was shot clear over a wide plastic screen erected to protect the audience, and hitting the woman in the eye, it blinded her.

Now, she has launched suit for a cool half million dollars for the loss of her eye. As if that isn't bad enough, her husband is filing suit, too, for a trifling amount really, compared with his wife's . . . only $25,000. The complaint? Medical expenses, of course, and loss of his wife's companionship . . . whatever that means.

We're watching the case with interest. If it works out, we might try to hook the same suit for a number of years. Even if you do lose an eye, you still have one left . . . and half a million bests working for a living, doesn't it?

Not the Canadian way

Mr. T. C. Douglas, the socialist leader, says the recent disgraceful scenes at Conservative rallies provide proof that Prime Minister Diefenbaker "is no longer a knight on a white charger" to Canadians.

This is beside the point. Mr. Douglas should ask himself what his followers have had to do with some of the most disgraceful conduct in Canadian political history.

The Vancouver Sun has conducted an investigation into the near-riot at the Diefenbaker meeting in Vancouver last week. It discovered that while labor-bombers and University of B.C. political clubs had organized heckling groups, the Vancouver Unemployed Council was the chief cause of trouble.

The Council was backed up by 300 working members of various trade unions, says The Sun. The Council is supported financially by the B.C. Federation of Labor and the Vancouver and District Labor Council, both of which are supporters of the New Democratic Party.

Mr. Tom Berger, provincial president of the NDP in B.C., says the party had nothing to do with the rowdyism at the meeting. However, he and all other NDP officials have a duty in influencing their followers.

They should remind them that the tactics used at Vancouver — and over the weekend at Sudbury and Pembroke—are exactly the same as Hitler's Brownshirts used to break up the meetings of political rivals in Germany before the war.

Heckling is one thing; intimidation of the public and public figures is something entirely different. It will be a sorry day for Canada if riot policemen with dogs have to be posted at political meetings in order to give speakers a fair hearing. Essentially all persons who go to campaign meetings wish to hear the speeches, not the stupid shouts of hecklers.

Brains needed, too

It's well known what a young man's fancy turns to in spring, but not so much has been written about his young brother's fancy. And this, it seems, turns to proving his prowess as a nimrod. Out in the open country, preferably, but out with a rifle, anyway. Generally a .22 calibre, too.

Of course, most people realize there's a legal age to owning or using a rifle, just like a car, but often they seem to forget about it . . . like when they give their ten- or eleven-year-old son a .22 for his birthday . . . or just because all the other boys have one. And they forget, too, to tell Junior just how lethal these things can be. We happened to be talking to one youngster recently, and asked his impression of the danger range of his weapon. Suggesting it might be a bit beyond that of an air rifle, he was amazed and a bit incredulous at being told it ran to over a mile.

Most youngsters are strong enough to pull the trigger, and most parents are sufficiently well heeled to afford a rifle for their son . . . particularly if they missed out on one in their own youth. But let's realize how much responsibility is being put in the hands of these youngsters, how permanent are the injuries which can be occasioned through the misuse of them. Let's realize that the brush which some of these kids are shooting into right on the very edge of town may hide other kids playing cowboys and injuns. And let's realize also that it's not legal to have one of these if you're not fourteen.

Hog market stable

Outlook of the hog market continues bright, with little apparent re-action from the scare headlines over proposed rate reductions from the prairies to the West Coast. At best, only a small number of the animals grown in Alberta ever reach the Pacific market on the hoof, and all the major packers have pulled out of the area. Only possible cloud on the horizon of prairie feeders seems to be the possibility considered by the B.C. government of establishing subsidies, in one form or another, for feed lots in that province. The idea is to round out the economy of the province, but it always costs John Taxpayer more.

Sports Day coming

On July 2nd — Dominion Day — the Tofield Community League will be sponsoring a Sports Day for the second year in a row. The event proved to be most successful last year, and if hard work and long meetings are an indication of its success, this year's show should be just as good or better than the first. The sports day provides a good variety of activities, from races to ball games to horse jumping contests.

A street parade will kick off the day's events, and it is our hope that Tofield people will make an all-out effort to enter a float. Each entry in the parade is important, and its success will depend entirely upon the part played by every individual. Let's not leave it to the other fellow to participate in the parade! Let's make it the biggest and best ever!

Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir:

The parents of retarded children are endeavoring to form an Association for Retarded Children, and are planning to start a school or class for the retarded children in Camrose and district.

We are having an organizational meeting at the Camrose Home and School meeting on Monday, June 11th, at 8.00 p.m. at the High School Auditorium in Camrose to inform the citizens of Camrose and surrounding areas. We are having Col. E. W. Cormack, vice-president, and Mr. P. A. Nault, director of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children, and Mrs. Winnifred M. Stewart, B.N., of the Edmonton Association, and founder and principal of the Winnifred Stewart School for Retarded Children, to give us all the information as to why we should have a school for retarded children, and to tell us what has been accomplished and what is going on elsewhere in Canada.

We invite Tofield and district residents to attend this meeting, so that you will know just what our Association for Retarded Children will mean to our area and its retarded children. We sincerely hope you will attend.

Thanking you for this consideration, and trusting you will be with us, I am,

R. Bergren,
Father of a Retarded Child.

VITAL ISSUES AT STAKE
11312 102 St.,
Edmonton, Alta.,
May 30, 1962.

Editor, The Canadian,
Dear Sir:

From the press and over the air I gather that reporters and commentators are mostly agreed that this promises to be a dull and uninteresting election. Those who say that this is so because there are no vital issues to be decided are surely not politically conscious. The issues that face us here in Canada and which could have an effect throughout the world are more serious than at any time in history.

What could be more important than the devaluation of the dollar and the vital impact it can make

Cause to pause . . .

(By John Mahler)

A TOUGH JOB

A tearful mariner phoned the repairing salon in mid that her husband had just given her a lovely present, and she couldn't get into it.

The operator gave her an appointment, and then added soothingly, "Don't worry ma'am, we'll have you wearing that dress in no time."

"Who said anything about a dress?" she sobbed. "It's a Volkswagen!"

What this country needs is a medium-priced power mower that can be operated from an air-conditioned room.

WILLING TO CO-OPERATE

The township held a meeting in order to solicit contributions for the school building fund. The well known artist Bosh was there and said, "I cannot give any money at this time, but I'll donate a lush picture".

When the donations were totalled, they were still short, and the chairman made a plea that the contributions be increased.

"I'll go along and do my bit", spoke up the artist, "I'll raise the price of the picture to $1,500".

WHAT, NO INDIANS

A young lady student was telling a girl friend about a guy she knew who had a ranch in the Rockies. "So what?" said the second girl. "A lot of people have ranches as big as motels".

"Is his bathroom on them?"

HANDY ARRANGEMENT

Two couples on a blind date parked in Bryant's lane, when the driver tried to kiss his girl. She refused and said, "I don't kiss men, but my mother will".

"Your mother!" exclaimed her companion. "Where is she?"

"In the back seat with your friend".

Theodore Roosevelt was the first American Hero to have ticker tape dumped on him as he rode in a parade.

By George!

Isn't it strange how people can sometimes be given the wrong impression by things they have heard or seen?

For instance, the spelling of the word "barbecue" is a laugh, for many of us. Perhaps it is because the syllable "cue" reminds them of the letter "q", or maybe it's because some wise guy saw an opportunity to abbreviate the word to "bar-b-q", but time and again the word has been spelled with a "q" in it "barbeque". If the word were spelled this way, I assure the pronunciation would be "barbek".

The automobile with only one headlight as a "one-eyed tiger". I cannot see where a one-eyed tiger is any more dangerous than one with two eyes and 20-20 vision. As a matter of fact, I'd feel safer, I think, if facing a tiger with one eye.

I believe this expression came about following an advertising campaign a number of years ago by a manufacturer of automobile headlights. I remember a huge banner displayed in garages with a fierce-looking tiger stretched across its length. The words on the banner were "Dangerous as a tiger on a one-eyed car!" Possibly it was this sign which led people to the expression, the "one-eyed tiger".

It is remarkable how words and phrases can change their meanings over the years. Sometimes they mean almost the opposite of what they originally did. To refer to a piece of furniture or a picture as "beauty" at one time was a compliment, meaning that it was suitable to the home. But we doubt that many hosts or hostesses today would appreciate such a compliment. There are many other such words, but space will not permit me to go any further into the subject this week.

on both imports and exports, thus effecting an economic influence upon almost every Canadian?

Then the unemployment and strikes, equally intimate and vital, involving the possibility of unnecessary economic disorder, family misery, desitution and perhaps divorce or death. All this in a world of decay. These are vital issues.

Foreign payments, national health measures, senat reform, national defence, Provincial-Federal relations control of the Bank of Canada, Provincial and Municipal capital and social needs. These and many others are of vital and pressing importance which not only need to be settled, but need to be settled right, or chros.

Social Crediters realize the pressing need of these problems and have measures in view to solve them. Those of other parties who claim there are no vital issues in this election thereby demonstrate their unfitness to form a responsible government.

It is not too much to say that seldom indeed has there been an election when so many issues fraught with serious consequences for the future, demand recognition and satisfactory solutions, if we are to look to the future with anything but foreboding and dread. Social Crediters are aware of this impending crisis in world affairs and have the only human remedy which can ameliorate the catastrophic threat of economic warfare both internal and external which now threatens the human race.

Yours truly,

In four years, over 3,000 district men have been employed, on useful work, to which the federal government has contributed approximately $500,000.00 — nearly half a million — to the Vegreville Constituency.

Besides these sums, work done in Elk Island National Park, employing mostly local labour, has resulted in the spending of another $500,000.00 in the Vegreville Constituency. 4 WAYS TO INVEST IN OUR YOUNG PEOPLE. For today's world, we need skilled people. For tomorrow's world, we will need more skilled people.
No young Canadians should be shut off from education because their parents can't afford it.
A new Liberal government will: (1) Extend family allowances beyond the age of 16 for boys and girls who remain students. This will mean that more teen-agers can qualify for skilled jobs.
(2) In co-operation with the provinces, provide greatly improved vocational training for Canadians of all ages who need new skills for better jobs.
(3) Pay each year for 10,000 university scholarships, awarded on merit and each worth $1,000 a year for four years of study.
(4) Establish an independent fund to provide interest-free loans to qualified students.
You can help to invest in Canadian youth . . . vote for your Liberal candidate on June 18.

IS YOUR HOME GETTING THE CARE IT DESERVES?

Failure to make repairs to your house immediately can be downright expensive. One piece of trim; paint that is overlooked or left to take care of itself so often leads to another. And then the final expense is much greater

If your house is in need of improvements — repairs, paint jobs and the like — and your ready cash won't take care of the cost, see Horace Seller, manager of the Tofield Bank of Montreal branch about a Home Improvement Loan. H.I.L.'s are available at the B of M for all kinds of worthwhile purposes about the house.

They're inexpensive too — the interest is less than one half of one per cent a month — and you repay in easy monthly instalments, plan interest. So, if you have repairs or improvements on your mind, call on Mr Seller at the B of M tomorrow. He will be glad to show you how a Home Improvement Loan can help you

At sports day

Old timers will be reunited July 2nd

(Peter Nichol)

Tofield's old timers will be reunited at the sports grounds on July 2nd. The old timers have been reuniting annually since the Jubilee in 1958, and the reunion is attended by many of the old timers from the district who have moved to other parts of the province as well as the local ones.

The Historical Society will be catering to the Old Timers and their booth will be situated in the front room of the curling rink. There will also be a tea put up outside the curling rink displaying some of the tools, cooking utensils, etc., which were used by these old timers.

It is understood that some of the old timers will be relating a few of their experiences of the old days, which will truly be educational and interesting to anyone attending the sports day.

10 YEARS OUT

8 one of the old timers remind us that the sports day event up it set the record stood for the 20th annual. We made an error of about 10 years last week. Also, the sports day, if weather permits, is bound to be better than that of last year, since last year's was cancelled due to rain.

Documentary World War II film is showing at theatre

A rare treat is in store for those interested in authentic pictures of the Second World War, as the film "Mein Kampf" is showing this Friday and Saturday at the Tofield Community Theatre. This documentary film shows never-before-known truths of Hitler's Reich, all taken from secret German files.

Residents of Tofield and district are reminded that there will be a special show during the sports day, July 2nd. See the Tofield Community Theatre advertisement in this issue for further details.

Busy day of baptizing for Tofield United minister

(Mrs. Lydia Griffin)

Rev. Bruce G. McNeill, minister of United Church and supervising pastor of the Ministik charge (which includes the Uni ed Church not only at Ministik but also at Kingman and L. S. Cooking Lake) had a delightfully busy Sunday, June 3rd, when he had the happy privilege of acting as spiritual father to 18 children, some of them babies, as he received them by the sacrament of baptism, the reception of the United Church at Cooking Lake.

First at Ministik Church: Laura May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kenneweth; Mark Glen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hedy Leslie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Ernest Lake.

Later at Cooking Lake, where Mrs. J. Browning introduced Evelyn and Gordon to Mr. McNeill: Laura Lynn and Jeffrey Colin, children of Mr. and Mrs Robert Allenby; Anita Ann daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Baldwin; Douglas James, Gordon Merlyn and Lilli Jill Hahn, three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Griffin; Melissa Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Noble; Brenda Margaret, Norman Albert, Randall Alexander and Dale Walter, four children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kruk; Robert

5.4 inches rain since May 20th

(Peter Nichol)

The crops are off to a good start in spite of early worries of dry weather. Most of the wheat has been seeded in the district, but the heavy rainfalls are preventing farmers from seeding coarse grain crops.

According to the rain report, compliments of Charlie N-hart, 5.42 inches fell since May 20th in Tofield, while in southern Alberta the outlook is very grim unless rain comes soon. Northwest to Montana the drought conditions must be bad, as Ed Regehr reports that during their recent trip to Montana, the antelope were dying in the fields due to the drought.

In the Drumheller area the crops have begun to turn for grass hoppers and the Rimbey district seems to have had a fairly heavy hatch, and control measures have been taken.

To sum it all up, it we should be having a bright outlook for the Tofield district. With a little more sunshine and warm weather, the crops and gardens will be excellent.

Band making good progress

(Peter Nichol)

Jerry Linkletter, leader of the Tofield Band, reports that the band is progressing nicely, although they could use more enthusiasm this October, as only seven members attended the last practice. There are some saxophone players to fill the reed section.

Mr. Linkletter has a lot of confidence in the band, and states that by next fall they will be ready to present some top-notch entertainment. There are plans and intensive the Tofield and Round Hill bands and make one big un t, which would give these communities something to be really proud of.

Band practice is held Monday nights at the Community Centre, for anyone who might be interested.

District news budgets failed to arrive

For some unknown reason, the posters at Camrose failed to receive many of the district news budgets this week. As a result no news items are in Camrose by Wednesday noon for Thursday's paper, but by Thursday morning they are in most mail boxes of them. Therefore we will try to make them in next week's issue.

There are, however, a few district items that have been received, but in a number of cases they are limited in space, and these are included this week. We hope to have all these news items up to date in next week's issue. We would ask if any embarrassment was caused by the delay in receiving the items, and submit correspondents for the delay in getting last week's items.

Women's community league holds semi-annual meeting

The WATCL, usually known as the Women's Community League, recently held its semi-annual meeting with the president, Mrs. Mabel Hayden, in the chair.

A letter of thanks was read from Lorraine Allan, 1961 recipient of the scholarship donated annually by the WATCL to the Grade 9 student obtaining the highest scholastic standing in the June exams.

It was decided that the number of cups and saucers would be brought up once again to 350. Two dozen tablespoons and one dozen tea towels are also to be added to the kitchen equipment. The kitchen, the washroom and the popcorn machine are all to receive a thorough cleaning.

The pro-ects of the ranger campaign which is directed in Tofield by the WATCL amounted to $768.

Committees were set up for the celebration on July 2. The ladies, as usual, will welcome donations of pies for their booth on the exhibition grounds. Anyone who can spare a couple of hours to work a shift in the booth is asked to contact Mrs. Georgia Carruthers by phoning 130, or Mrs. Margaret Arnet at 140.

Industrial arts display night

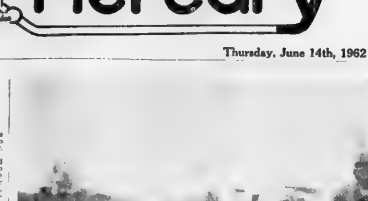
(Peter Nichol)

The Industrial Arts Show at Ryley will be open to the public on the night of June 15th, from 7:00 to 8:00 o'clock.

This new building accommodates students from the Tofield, Holden and Ryley schools. The projects will be on display at all of these centres.

OFF AND RUNNING

Whether it's baseball, racing or the hot-dog stand, these youngsters are having the time of their lives. This picture was taken of the 6 years and under class, showing their racing ability, at the Barons Sports Day held Friday. —Photo by Peter Nichol.



THIS CALF MUST GO

Shown here is Nettie Appleby, showing her calf for the 4-H Calf sale held last week. Nettie, along with the other members of the club spent many a good hour feeding, grooming and training their calves. They are then grow up from the small calves they were when first purchased. But, as years must be as and to everything, this is the end for the 4-H participants, as the calves must be sold after the prizes have been awarded. It must be quite hard for some of these youngsters to part with these calves but then they can look forward to next year and another calf.

No apparent help from provincial government for crossing repairs

—Report of town council meeting

A letter from the provincial department of highways was read at the meeting of the Town of Tofield on Monday, May 28th, in which it was stated that they would be unable to do anything about the crossing repairs this year.

The letter stated that the crossing was in a very poor condition and that the department would be willing to do the work if the town would pay for the cost of the repairs.

Councillor Hall stated that he had been in touch with the department of highways and that they had told him that they Betrayal of Boston ?

The hubub that is now going on in what used to be called The Hub, the city of Boston, follows television picturing of 10 Boston policemen entering a well-known bookie joint. The hubub raises an interesting question of moral values. Legalators, political figures including the Attorney General, and at least one well-known clergyman have raised their voices—not against the crooked policemen, but against those who produced the film. They call it a "betrayal of Boston," and demand that the producers of the film apologize publicly to the city.

So far, none of these individuals has raised any question about the presence of police in such a questionable environment. Nor has there been any report of dismissals or other forms of punishment. There has not even been a query asking what the police were doing in the bookie joint. Instead one rather threadbare argument has been used that gambling is inevitable, and that it is impossible to wipe it out. This, of course, is a familiar cliche. The reaction of horrified displeasure at the disclosure of evil, rather than at the evil itself, is also a familiar reaction.

It is early to say who is giving Boston a bad name. The primary group is the police who are not enforcing the law. The secondary group are their apologists, who should know better. Everyone who knows anything about public affairs knows that when a crooked office-holder is found consorting with crooked bookies and other civic vermin, and is so disclosed to the public, he charges that a campaign of vilification is carried on against him. Usually he charges yellow journalism, and says that those who write are using the police force against him. These are tactics of political hacks that are as familiar as those of the giant squid who emits vast clouds of muddy material to hide his tracks.

No, Boston has not been betrayed by a television production. It has been betrayed by those who even now are apparently unfamiliar with the chain that leads inexorably, inevitably, the two-dollar bet to the crooked cop, the sleazy politicians, the complaisant prosecutor, the political judge and the aggregate of syndicated crime ranging from prostitution to drug peddling.

Boston's problems may differ in width and depth from that in other cities, but the basic structure of political indifference to moral values is similar to that which has promoted grievous erosions in many local governments. Boston is betrayed as are many American cities, not by those who turn the spotlight on the crummy characters in private and public life who make syndicate gambling possible, but by the very politicians who scream the loudest when the truth is told.

What is the target?

The Saturday edition of The Edmonton Journal carried a well displayed front-page story on what it called an attempt by the Alberta government "to legalize its operation of radio station CKUA." The question which comes to our mind is, what is The Journal attempting to do? We cannot see that the news story itself was worth top position on the front page, and therefore we can only surmise that the newspaper had an axe to grind . . . but with whom? Possibly the intent of playing up the story was to point up the faults of the provincial government, particularly the department of telephones, or maybe the federal Board of Broadcast Governors or even the federal government were the intended target for the blast.

It is possible, too, that The Journal favors a movement to do away with CKUA even a local technicality which occurred [illegible] since 1944. In that [illegible] University of Alberta [illegible] Edmonton, but fortunate[illegible] to [illegible]

Apparently there is a long standing policy which is against issuing broadcast licences to provincial governments, and yet the Broadcasting Act stipulates that a licence holder must operate his own station.

Still radio station CKUA is very popular with a lot of people, and any move to have it abolished would meet with a good deal of resistance. It is one of only two stations in Alberta — the other being CBX —to which one can tune for consistent top quality music, free from the constant twanging of guitars and nasal singing of rock-and-roll which public demand forces other stations to use. These two stations are free, too, from the tiring, over-enthusiastic type of announcing which seems to be an integral part of commercial broadcasting.

We cannot help but feel that The Journal does not really favor abolishing CKUA. There can be little doubt that the story was played up only to introduce one more political football just before the federal election[illegible] this case, however, the [illegible] so doomed to simply go [illegible] the impact of a squashed [illegible]

Filling out forms

(Peter Nickel)

Many times we have to fill out forms, and more often we do not do them right. Here is a good example:

Following the introduction of a free milk scheme for expectant and nursing mothers in the United Kingdom Details of the experiment were issued along by the Alberta Veterinary Services Branch for the benefit of Canadian cattlemen.

The work, conducted by Dr. Joseph Edwards for the British Milk Marketing Board and believed to be the first of its kind in the world, entails inducing multiple births in cattle by the use of a hormone injection.

Up to the time the report was published, three pairs of twins had been born and a fourth set of triplets were on the way, as a result of the injections. The report stated that 1,000 cattlemen had received hormone injections and another 1,000 were to be injected in the near future. Evaluation of the work, according to Dr. Edwards, is to produce 10 or even 20 calves a year where the average number has been 95.

One of the most important aspects of the experiment is to make sure that the twins and triplets are healthy and strong. Since it is now possible to diagnose pregnancy at six weeks this should not present any problem, the cows can be fed according to the number of calves they will bear. All the twins born under the experimental conditions have been healthy and the weight of each twin has equalled that of the average single calf.

In the not too distant future, Dr. Edwards hopes to be able to implant fertilized eggs from one cow to another. This would enable cattlemen to produce only the offspring of the best cows. It would also ensure that the cow was a calf, for as many as three fertilized eggs per year could be transplanted. By this method, depending upon the number of calves desired.

By George!

Since this is the last issue before the all-important federal general election next Monday, predictions —if there are to be any—are now in order.

Predicting an election winner is probably tougher than picking a winner at the horse races. In a horse race, at least, one can look over the list of contestants, study their qualifications and history of each, and then "you pays your money and you takes your choice". The result depends, to a great extent, on the horse itself.

In an election, however, the man who collects the most votes may have won because of his own personal appeal to the electors in his constituency or he may have been caught up in a nationwide swing to a certain party or leader, as was the case in so many constituencies in the last federal election. Then shortly after—and in the majority of provincial elections [illegible] are because Premier Manning is going to run a mapping of the Alberta legislature such as had never been seen before in Alberta.

Nationally, I look for a return to a Liberal government.

In the Camrose constituency, I hold out little hope for two of the four candidates. The Social Credit party nominated a candidate who has not even a workers of the constituency, and thus he has two strikes against him from the start. The New Democratic Party candidate probably will fare no better than any CCF candidates have in the past, and so he is not considered a strong contender.

This leaves two men to corner most of the votes—the member from Camrose in the last parliament and the present Progressive Conservative candidate, Cliff Smallwood, and a newcomer in federal politics, Liberal candidate Bob Jones.

The trend nationally seems to be a swing toward Liberal Lester Pearson and away from NDP Leader John Diefenbaker. If this is a true indication, then this will help Mr. Jones in Battle River-Camrose. On the other hand, Mr. Smallwood with his election campaigns and a fair [illegible] parliamentary season under his belt, has experience to his advantage.

So I predict a close contest between these two men, and that's about as far out on a limb as go on provincial limbs!

From the mail bag

Editor, The Mercury:

I am a parent who would like to thank you for your editorial last week on the use of firearms by the younger children, under the heading "Brains Needed, Too".

There are too many accidents because of carelessness with firearms and these accidents are by no means confined to the younger set. Heaven knows a good many hunters, most of them adults, meet with painful and sometimes fatal accidents every fall during the hunting season. It is not always the fault of the fellow carrying the gun, either. Many a hunter has accidentally shot a companion partially or totally because of his mistake. It is the biggest and best overlooked plain ignorance in handling firearms.

If adults are this careless, it's doubtful that their children will be any more careful without a lot of supervision and guidance by their parents or other older people who are trained in the use of firearms.

On another subject, your editorial about our outlying sports day. I should like to point out that there were two errors. For one thing, this is not our second [illegible] Day sports but about the last one [illegible] Also last year's event was rained out so we had hardly any [illegible] to count our casualties but I quite go along with your last sentence. "Let's make it the biggest and best ever!"

Ross favors fluoridation

Alberta Health Minister Dr. J. Donovan Ross told the royal commission on health services recently he is personally in favor of the fluoridation of a municipal water supply. But the provincial Health Act is not [illegible] to [illegible] fluoridation by a municipal council by the government's policy is to avoid the pressure.

Dr. Ross was replying to a question by commissioner Murdo Fraser, C.L. Strachan, of London, Ont.

The provincial Health Act now requires a two-thirds majority vote before fluoridation can be implemented in a community.

NOW IMPOSSIBLE

Dr. Strachan said he could not understand why the department of public health would place "such a deterrent in the face of an extremely important public measure". He said the present legislation makes it almost impossible to pass a fluoridation plebiscite.

Dental decay has become a "focus and major public health problem," Dr. Strachan continued, and adequate treatment is beyond the resources of the dental profession.

Fluoridation has been recognized "for many years" as a key weapon against dental decay, he added.

NOT HIS POLICY

Dr. Ross said the policy of his department is determined by the legislative assembly and not by himself personally.

"But surely they (members of the legislature) take your advice," protested Dr. Strachan.

"Sometimes they do but most times I've had things thrown right back at me," he said.

Cause to pause . . .

Then there was the story about the lady who loved goldfish. In fact she kept her bathtub filled with them.

"But what happens to the goldfish when you take a bath?" asked a friend.

"I just blindfold them", was the blushing answer.

Junior was being chided for his low grades. Little Robert, who lived a few doors away, was held up as an example.

"Robert doesn't get C's and D's, does he?" asked his father.

"No", Junior admitted, "but he's different. He has very bright parents."

A small boy, leading a donkey, passed a naval base. A couple of sailors observed to have some fun with the boy.

"Why are you holding on to your donkey so tightly, sonny?" asked the sailors.

"In case it's the Navy's the donkey is supposed to follow along an eye."

A reporter from a big city newspaper slopped at the office of a little rural weekly. During the conversation he asked the rural editor of the weekly: "How do you manage to keep a circulation in a town where the people know what everyone else is doing?"

The country editor groaned a little and replied, "The only reason they read the paper is to see who's been caught at it."

"Your term paper was seems to me you perfectly. What is your secret?"

"I tell him to do as he pleases".

Dinner was a little late and one of the guests asked the hostess to play something. Seating herself at the piano, she executed a Chopin nocturne. When she finished the selection there was still an interval of waiting before dinner. In the silence she turned to an old gentleman sitting by her left and said "Would you like to hear it before dinner?"

A look of startled surprise and [illegible] on the old man's face. "Why, yes, yes, yes," he stuttered. "I had a couple on my way here but I think I could stand one."

From trimmings to plants

(By Morris Bausen)

As a train pulling into the station, its slowing down process began; A farmer, once harvest is over, thanks to the warm autumn sun.

But this is not so for the amateur gardener, who wants to get new cuttings started. For this is the time of the year to trim small fruit bushes, and you can use the desirable trimmings for future plants.

Pruning is done to remove older wood (with not much young wood) and to cut away branches that will make poking of the fruit troublesome. Only the best of these trimmings should be used to produce new plants.

Currants, gooseberries and the Saskatoon plant are among the small fruited bushes that propagate from cuttings. Cuttings are taken in the fall after the leaves have fallen and only the ripened wood should be used. Each cutting should be 7 to 9 inches long with at least half an inch of wood above the top bud. It is best to make a square cut at the bottom of the stem. Before these cuttings lying around in the sun and wind for any time they must be cared for immediately. Keep them moist always, after they are severed from the parent plant.

If you have a good source of leaf mould or mulching material, it is a good idea to plant the cuttings in the fall. They can be taken as late as the end of October. If you have many cuttings to plant plan a deep trench the required length, and set the shrubs about 6 to 8 inches across the smooth side of the furrow. Gently pull the soil back around the cuttings but not firmly. Next application of leaf mould or mulch will help greatly. These plants are now ready to take root and grow.

However if you have only a few cuttings it is advisable to take a spade push the blade almost straight into the ground, leaving the handle to the front insert the cutting into the narrow crevice between the shovel then pull the shovel in place as you carefully remove the shovel. Tamp the soil down firmly around the cutting leaving not more than two buds above the ground. Now add the leaf mould and water liberally.

Perhaps you are planning on a new fruit bush or tree for your lot. If so, you will do well to consider the saskatoon bush. These lovely bushes can be pruned to shape, and will greatly enhance the area from early spring, with their white blossoms, to late autumn when the berries ripen. They thrive in only the tall as the leaves turn to the many varied colors that autumn leaves are so famous for.

The saskatoon bushes can be transplanted using the root also, but you must remember the tops quite severely, always remembering to add mulch and water to the new plants.

Of the three fruits mentioned, the saskatoon will stand spring planting the easiest, since gooseberries and currants begin to burst into leaf from cuttings as the frost is out of the ground.

If for some reason you find it impossible to plant the cuttings in the fall they can be buried upside down in a trench dug as the ground thaws in the spring. This keeps the temperature down even and there is less tendency to dry out the cutting. Cover completely and water well. If you have a good place in the basement, they can be stored in moist sand until planting time in the spring. However, they must be kept cool and dormant. In two years' time you will have lovely young bushes, well rooted; ready to fill in a row in the nursery, or to share with your gardening friends.

Just a little faster

At last the government has decided to do something about the Tariff Board, says the Financial Post. The five-man body will get leave to operate at ten months in the year—equality, we shall be told about the appointment of a sixth board member, a chairman, is now under study for six months. The new appointment will be effective next October 15 months after it was first suggested.

With Canadian industry facing a decade of increasing import pressure, the action planned will be little enough to face the volume of work coming up. Consider the timetable of past and future activity on the chemicals tariff: 1958, the industry asks for a complete, 3-member tariff arrangement September, 1958, Walter Harris orders an inquiry. October, 1957, Donald Fleming orders a public inquiry October, 1959, the board hears hearings September, 1960, two-stage begin, September, 1961, the board recommends tariff changes. March, 1962, changes may become law. Obviously letting ten years elapse between cause and effect is no way to apply corrective legislation to fast-changing business situations. Revising the tariff every other year, as is simply [illegible] Revising the tariff every other year, as is simply [illegible] Revising the tariff every other year, as is simply [illegible]

A minority government

There can be no doubt that Canadians were overwhelmingly for the normal in the June 18 election but it is not with one of the most unusual results ever seen in Canadian political history. Canada voted overwhelmingly for a minority government. Never since the first days of Confederation has a majority government been denied the party which got the most votes and we have to go back that far to find a parallel for the present situation. Prime Minister John Diefenbaker finds himself heading a minority government. Another unusual fact is that a considerable majority of those who voted did not vote for the party which got the most votes. Some 53% of the votes were cast for candidates who were not Conservatives and since the 1957 election there is no indication that Canada has a minority government at the present time when both trade and economic policies are so necessary.

There is a possibility, however, that a second successive inconclusive result may, in the future, benefit parties other than the Conservatives and Liberals who have dominated Canadian politics since Confederation. Social Credit Leader Robert N. Thompson did not seem to be surprised at the election results when he said that he expected to be the last party in Canada as we are talking to a minority government. Another unusual fact is that Canada will also continue to have a Social Credit party in the federal government. Meanwhile he has been presented with the opportunity to see how Alberta reacts when speaks very little French, will manage a party made up of Quebec members. A number of whom cannot speak English.

The oil octopus again

Gas prices rose recently in Edmonton as we have said before the situation in Canada is not surprising but the extent of the increase did seem to be unwarranted. Gas prices have been declining in the United States and Canadian consumers have benefited from these lower prices. Canadian consumers don't have to pay duty on gas imported from the United States and are not subject to the import quotas which apply to oil. Why then should gasoline prices in Canada be higher than in the United States? The answer, of course, is that the oil companies are charging what they think they can get away with. Everyone is entitled to make what profit he can but when the price of a commodity is higher than it should be because of monopolistic practices then the consumer is entitled to protection. The Alberta Government has the power to investigate the oil industry and we think it should use it.

Exceptional spring

Every season is different in its own way and no two years are the same with regard to farming. So far this year the weather has been very favorable for farmers here and in fact the whole province. The snow left the ground early and there was little moisture in the soil. Then came a couple of rainy days which helped matters here and there but the moisture was not general enough to make anything more than a start. Then we had a couple of weeks of warm weather which made the soil dry out to a depth of several inches. Then came the rain which was general throughout the province and which has put the soil in excellent condition for seeding. Everyone is optimistic of course, with the seeding season now about over. Of course there is always the possibility that unfavorable weather conditions may develop and reduce the yield but at the present time the prospects are very good.

Down on the farm

It's a few weeks ago now since Bulletin was distributing the annual assessment notices and the writer was among those who received one. Being a farmer and having land within the village limits, we had to pay the same rate as those living in town. But since the assessment investigation does not apply to farm property, we pay twice, and we think it is only what we like it.

And that Berlin wall keeps a-tumblin down

The new wall of cement blocks in East Berlin is a symbol of the failure of communism to win the hearts and minds of the people. It is a confession that the Communist regime has failed. The Communists have not succeeded in making a good thing of the Socialist way of life. They have not succeeded in making it attractive enough to keep the people from fleeing to the West. They have not succeeded in making it possible for the people to live in peace and freedom. They have succeeded only in making it impossible for the people to escape.

Summerfallow historic plan for grain crops

WINNIPEG—Large scale crop failures in the Prairie Provinces in 1961 produced a summerfallow in a single year unprecedented in the history of Canada.

With government estimates of the Western Canadian wheat crop based on a 10% sample, the Canadian Wheat Board has announced that 1961 production was 262,000,000 bushels, the lowest since 1937 when 193,000,000 bushels were harvested.

THANKS A LOT

This is the tearjerker season. When I was young it was called "graduation time."

Now it's the "convocation season."

Whatever it's called, it's the time of year when we're all supposed to be sentimental and misty-eyed about the passing of youth and the beginning of maturity.

Well, I'm not misty-eyed about it. I'm glad to see the end of school and the beginning of summer holidays. I'm glad to see the end of the long, cold winter and the beginning of warm, sunny days.

I'm glad to see the end of the old year and the beginning of the new. I'm glad to see the end of the old me and the beginning of the new me.

I'm glad to see the end of the old life and the beginning of the new life.

I'm glad to see the end of the old world and the beginning of the new world.

Post-election statement by Social leader

Following is a statement by Robert N. Thompson national leader of the Social Credit party, released yesterday (Wednesday). Since the Socreds hold the balance of power for the first time in the history of the party. The Mercury editor felt its readers would be interested:

The Social Credit party is most mindful of the total position it now occupies in holding the balance of power in Parliament at this time.

We firmly believe that this is a time to set political goals and to return to the challenge of restoring our country to its rightful position of respect and prosperity. We have seen too much of a situation in recent months of irresponsible political manoeuvring by the two old-line parties and what has been done to Canada's national and financial well-being.

The task ahead in Canada's return to greatness. Let us all get busy, private parties, business and labor get on with the job.

Today, my deputy leader Real Caouette and I and leaders of the party, have carefully considered our immediate objectives. We will not seek, nor do we desire a coalition with the Conservative Government. While we do not like the present political position we believe it would be a betrayal of the will of the electorate to lend this strength and comfort to a government more than matched against a resurging trouble from public opposition.

Conversely, we will not close to the possibility of an election this year if pressure of the other parties continues above political partisanship and representative their efforts and Canada's expansion and improvement.

The present position is not great Canada is faced with a crisis of national. A return to decisive intelligent leadership will bring immediate reward. We are a great country and with wise use by responsible leaders are great men Canada is not a practical home to be squabbled over by the Conservatives and Liberals.

Against this background, we will study the acts with the government on any legislative programs which in our Canada's universal sense of our country's national position. But I repeat, at this time we will not cooperate in any case of public disagreement on any program that is not totally sound. As the custodians of Canada's immediate political destiny, we will view every proposal of government with the eyes of a housekeeper. So all there has a big broom and we will use it for the good of the Canadian people.

In line with this policy, we urge the government to take action in the following areas immediately.

A program to facilitate municipal development.

Development of trade with new terms.

Time for action

It is a little over one week since Canadians went to the polls to elect a government. Most of the battle is dying out and the gunners have had time to give their opinions. The situation now leaves so many IFS the "good of Canada" demands some very serious thinking.

Opinion of the man-on-street indicates results of the election has caused more thinking than has been common for some time. They seem to agree a minority government is not good. They also seem to feel the economic situation is serious. The important thought of many is, "tell us your programs — we are not interested in Diefenbaker's opinion that his party still is the government of Canada, or Pearson's opinion on what Diefenbaker should do". Thompson can talk about holding the balance of power but the fact is, no one party can throw the Conservatives out of office. It will take the combined strength of Liberals, Social Credit and New Democratic Party to out-vote the Conservatives. Who, therefore, has the balance of power?

If the Conservatives come forward with some decisive and practical policies and legislation, none of the three other parties would wish to force them out of office. It would seem there still are enough thinking people in Canada to elect or reject a government when they know they are equal or unequal to the task. We also can get a little mixed up at times on what the important issues are but we do not think they will make a mistake the next time they vote.

Many Canadians are asking for action to stop the economic decline they believe it started. The belief is coming now from other than politicians and should be worth a little extra thought. Many will be paying a little more attention to what is going on in Ottawa. If Canadians feel the Diefenbaker proposals are best for Canada, the Conservatives will receive more support next time there is an election; on the other hand it must be good or another party will be given a chance.

These are the reasons we feel the opposition parties will not dare defeat the government on anything that looks good for Canada. The weakness of the present government, therefore, could be the basis of the very best legislation. It is hard to believe the Conservatives do not have just as clever men behind them as any other party in Canada, if the good of Canada takes precedence over political expediency.

What is good for Canada could mean a little more sweat and less of something for nothing.

Some terribly embarrassing misunderstandings have arisen between people are talking on two different subjects without knowing it. For instance, there was the time a blind lover proposed to "Old Paint". Naturally, his listener thought he meant his horse, but actually the speaker was referring to his wife.

This week I received a story about two couples writing to each other with a similar kind of misunderstanding. It seems a young couple living in the mountains were writing over a home economics course. After satisfying themselves that it was suitable, they made their way home. During the return journey the young lady was deep in thought, and when asked the reason, she replied: "Did you notice the WC?" This was the only clue she and her fiance referred to the water closet, the outdoor privy.

Not having noticed it, the young man wrote the loudest inquiring where it was located. The landlord did not understand the meaning of "WC", and finally decided the young man was referring to the Wesleyan Church. His answer was as follows:

"I take pleasure in informing you that the WC is located nine miles from the house and is capable of seating 250 people. This is unfortunate for you who are in the habit of going regularly, but no doubt you will be glad to know that a great number of people take their lunch with them and make a day of it, while others who cannot spare the time, go by car and arrive just in time, but generally these people are in too great a hurry to wait. The last time my wife and I went up was eight years ago, and I must admit that it was us not to be able to go more often. It may interest you to know that the community is going to hold a bazaar in October. WC with plush seats and the members lent. We will supply a long felt want. Thanking you and trusting that the information is what you desire, I am,

"What happened?" asked Dad. "It was working fine when you started off."

"I don't actually know, Daddy", she answered. "I just came to a stop sign and two fellows in a sports car said, 'Honey, is that all you've got?' I thought 'O.K.' and I looked down at the letters on the push-button and there was one marked 'L'—which I pushed. Then I said, 'Let's go' and I pushed that button, but the car just raced away from me. Then I tried 'D' for 'Drag', but they passed still ahead. So when I saw 'R' I knew I was for 'Racing' all right! I shoved that and, Daddy! Daddy! I speak to me!"

MacDuff Ottawa report

The real Caouette

OTTAWA. — The shock of last week's federal election results was so great — particularly for those who anticipated an easy return of the Diefenbaker Government that it took some time for the significance to emerge.

Mr. Diefenbaker and his Conservatives are still the Government of the Country but they have been shorn of most of the power they exercised so confidently in the five years of their overwhelming parliamentary majority.

Worse still, they are at the mercy of a small, and untried group of Quebec nationalists who appear to be more against everything than for anything, and who will wield the influence far out of line with their numbers.

The key man in this crazy-quilt parliament that Canadians elected on June 18 is Real Caouette, a 48-year-old car dealer from Rouyn, Quebec. He has put his own national leader, Robert Thompson of Red Deer, Alta., into a complete eclipse. What he may do to Mr. Diefenbaker could be even more entertaining.

Mr Caouette has been around for a long time but hardly anyone had heard of him, much less paid attention to him, until he launched a fiery crusade over Quebec television stations two years ago.

He sat in the House of Commons as one of four in the new Social Credit group with parliamentary experience as an independent MP from 1946 to 1949.

His affiliation was with the discredited offshoot of the Social Credit movement known in Quebec as the Union des Electeurs. He was the only one of this white-breeved, radical group ever to win public office.

After his defeat by a Liberal in the 1949 election, Mr. Caouette and the Union des Electeurs both faded in their influence and prominence. In 1957, the fanatical union was publicly disavowed by Social Credit Leader Solon Low.

He joined this time, Mr Caouette abandoned the group and joined Robert Thompson in a determined push in Quebec. His influence within the party grew quickly and although the Socreds in French-speaking Canada passed up the opportunity to participate actively in the 1958 federal and the 1960 provincial election, Mr Caouette was preparing his ground.

In 1961, backed by more than 200 delegates from the province of Quebec, he made a determined bid for the leadership of the national party as successor to Mr. Low.

He had strong support from British Columbia a unpredictable Social Credit premier, W. A. C. Bennett, but it wasn't strong enough to prevent the election of the personal choice of Premier Ernest Manning of Alberta chairperson Robert Thompson

The results of the leadership ballot were never made public. Instead the ballots were burned on the floor of the convention in Ottawa, and Mr. Thompson's election was simply declared in the assembled delegates.

Mr Caouette didn't challenge the results. He did accept, so readily it gave rise to suspicions of some under-the-counter deal, the deputy leadership of the party.

The events of June 18 indicate that today it is Mr. Caouette, and not Mr. Th ompson, who holds the reins.

Mr. Thompson, who does not speak French, succeeded in electing four Social Credit members, including himself, in Canada's nine English-speaking provinces.

Mr Caouette, whose battering ram style of oratory brought crowds to their feet screaming with delight in the campaign, elected 26 members, including himself, to Parliament from the province of Quebec.

It was hardly surprising, then, that Mr. Thompson's words of satisfaction over the election results were overshadowed by a flood of queries as to Mr. Caouette's intentions.

And the Quebec firebrand wasn't long in coming forward.

He was willing to "co-operate" with Mr. Diefenbaker, he advised, but he added ominously: "The terms will have to be looked after".

He would refuse to enter coalition with the Conservatives, however, "unless Mr Diefenbaker becomes a good Social Creditor", accepted Social Credit philosophy and joined the party.

Ridiculous? Not at all, in Mr. Caouette's view — "After all, I haven't been a Social Creditor all my life. There is always time for me to do so to learn new tricks".

Obviously, he offered the prime Minister a compliment: "He's a good man", he said, "but his party is no good".

That is the first measure of this man who incredibly enough holds the whip hand over the 26th Parliament of Canada.

Solve a Crime

BY A. C. GORDON

YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE

Detective Sergeant Hoty Holden is giving you the facts of his latest murder case. It seems that the well-known financier, Craig McDonald, had returned unexpectedly from an out-of-town business trip and decided while still at the airport to visit his fiancee, Kitty Grenwell. He phoned his apartment to make airport and told his secretary, James Arnold, to send his chauffeur, Henry Hughes, for him at Kitty Grenell's apartment house at about midnight. While at Kitty's place, he decided that he would walk the two miles home and phoned James Arnold again, telling him not to send Hughes. At a few minutes before midnight, he left Kitty apartment and began walking down the dark, tree-lined street towards home. No one had heard the shot that suddenly felled Craig McDonald, but several witnesses saw a man running from the shadow of a tree on the other side of the wide street, clamber into a car, and speed away — and all the witnesses agreed that the car was an odd-model sedan.

"Now," says Sergeant Holden, "that's how it all happened, and I think we've managed to gather about our suspects. There's McDonald's secretary, James Arnold, with somewhat of a record during his younger days — juvenile delinquency, a robbery conviction, and suspected of similar crimes several other felonies. He's about five feet ten inches, wears extremely thick-lensed glasses, and is very high-strung and nervous. His record has been clean for the past five years or so.

"Then there's Hank Smith, a former suitor of Kitty's . . . that is, until McDonald came along and literally swept her off her feet. Smith started drinking heavily when he and Kitty broke up, and just about an hour or so before the shooting, he was overheard in a bar-room drunkenly telling everyone in sight how he was going to get even with McDonald.

"And", continues Sergeant Holden, "there's Henry Hughes the chauffeur . . . very efficient, very quiet and self-effacing, never in trouble. He was very much upset, however, a few weeks ago when his sister took an overdose of sleeping pills because she had been jilted by McDonald to whom she'd been engaged. Although she claimed McDonald had professed a great love for her, he thus conducted suddenly when he took up with Kitty. She recovered but the sleeping-pill business all right, but Henry Hughes has been brooding about it ever since.

"Finally, there's the big gambling man, Sammy Morrison, who has already admitted that he threatened McDonald about a few weeks ago with a gun in his club. Sammy and McDonald accused Sammy of card cheating. I've checked Sammy thoroughly, and he practically lives in that club of his. Cards are his life and he plays constantly. A very methodical fellow, and very much addicted to routine.

"And there we have it", concludes Sergeant Holden. "Four good, live suspects. Now all we have to do is put our finger on the right one".

"That should not be too difficult", you say.

Who is your suspect?

SOLUTION

Henry Hughes, the chauffeur. No the r Sammy Morrison nor Hank Smith could have known that Craig McDonald had returned to town, nor could they have known that he had decided to walk home from Kitty's apartment house. Also, Hank Smith was too long-armed for straight shooting. Only James Arnold and Henry Hughes knew that McDonald was in town, and only Hughes knew that Arnold was near-sighted. However, James Arnold's eyes were too bad for good shooting from across a wide street on a dark night

Tofield couple wed in summer ceremony

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Friday evening, June 22nd, when Myrna Elaine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wideman, was united in marriage to Wilmer H. Huebert at the Salem Mennonite Church. The church was decorated with altar bouquets of white gladioli and carnations.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, wearing a gown of white silk organza over taffeta. The fashioned with a scoop neckline, long fily point sleeves, full skirt and chapel length train. She carried a cascading bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. Miss Marilyn Lehman was maid of honor, wearing a street - length gown of pink silk and brocaded jacket, and she carried a nosegay of carnations, roses and daisies. Bridesmaids were the Misses Eileen Boettger and Lucille Wideman, who were identical gowns in blue and yellow silk with beaded jackets, and carried nosegays. The flower girl, Brenda Huebert, sister of the groom, wore a green nylon dress trimmed with pink and carried a basket of roses and daisies.

The groom's attendants were Rudy Huebert, Eugene Yoder and Ernest Wideman.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wideman chose a two-piece rose flowered crepe dress, with white accessories en corsage. Mrs. Huebert wore a two-piece grey silk dress, and her corsage was plaid of white carnations.

A reception for the guests followed in the church parlors. The bride's table was covered with a three-tiered wedding cake, beautifully decorated by Mrs. Norman Stauffer.

After a honeymoon trip to the West Coast, the bride wore a three-piece tailored linen suit, with a flowered organza jacket and brown accessories.

The young couple will reside in Tofield.

Where is the right

Doctors in Saskatchewan and the C.C.F. government have settled into a real tussle over medicare, though the real battle seems likely to be delayed for a couple of weeks . . . until doctors and nurses now on holiday return from them, and have to definitely tell the community the office is "closed". At the moment, the medical profession is certainly getting the worst publicity possible. Worse, they are building up a public image which will take years to overcome. For our own part, we can well imagine our feelings towards a doctor who declined to answer our call of need, even if it were only to humble an emergency as an earache. And how long it would take to get over such a feeling.

But the basic issue is whether the government should at this time have insisted on instituting the medicare plan. It's interesting to speculate what would have happened had Tommy Douglas continued as premier, and whether he would have forced the matter through in the bulldozed way his successor, Premier Lloyd has done. We can't help but think he would have found a face-saving escape for both sides, in spite of his determination to put some form of medicare plan into operation.

In our opinion, Lloyd made a big mistake in establishing a deadline for the plan in the first place. We cannot see that government has any business instituting compulsory and universal programs of any kind unless there is a demonstrated need, or an emergency, facing the country. In Saskatchewan's case, there was no emergency, and we think the "need" might be a matter of personal interpretation. Under the circumstances, therefore, there could easily have been a settling-in period, or a transition time, when both public and doctors could try it out. There seems to have been no need for a revolution, such as has been developed. Evolution, in the democratic manner, is highly preferable.

Farm tractor safety

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two winning essays in the farm safety essay contest sponsored by the Alberta Safety Council. Last week The Canadian carried the essay written by Archie Lindstrand of Round Hill, the Grades Five and Six winner in the Camrose School Division. This week we print the winning composition from the Grades Seven and Eight group.)

By SHARON KING

As the cool breeze whisked through the trees of our grandfather's pasture, Beth and I grew more impatient with the horses. We had been trying to herd them back to the farm for an hour and, to our dismay, they were much too clever for us. Though we wanted only Paint to ride, it was almost impossible to bring her in without bringing Bessie and Rubin too.

After another half hour of running and yelling, Beth and I gave up and began to walk sullenly back to the farm to obtain help from grandfather. We knew we would be ridiculed for failing but we were tired out! Fortunately for us, we had a very sympathetic grandfather who always seemed to understand our teenage problems.

"Come on, girls," Grandfather laughed, "We'll get the dog and the tractor and we'll fetch 'em."

Feeling somewhat relieved, Beth and I climbed onto the tractor with grandfather as he started the engine.

While the wind roared against my face, I felt a little guilty about getting grandfather to do a job that two healthy teenage girls were capable of doing.

I was suddenly brought back to reality when grandfather hollered "Hang on girls, it's a bit rough here." Though grandfather was an excellent driver he no longer had the strength he had in his earlier life. It was impossible for him to control the tractor in the deep gully we were attempting to cross. As a result he found the tractor had not enough power to climb at steep hill.

"Come on, Lynn, we'll get down and push," Beth yelled.

Before trying to push the tractor up the bank, Beth and I sprinkled the dirt we had brought along for the horses in front of the back wheels along with some dead leaves. By doing this we hoped to get more traction for the wheels.

"Push hard, Lynn," Beth groaned as she placed all her strength on the fender of the tractor.

Although we tried, Beth and were not strong enough to succeed in pushing the tractor up the bank. Because we had failed, Beth and I once again mounted the steaming tractor. Grandfather then tried again to climb the bank that loomed in front of us. Suddenly the forward motion of the wheels came to a shrieking halt, causing the tractor to rear. Beth screamed as she and I were hurled into the trees.

Although grandfather was pinned under the tractor, he escaped serious injury. His broken leg, being a simple fracture, healed as rapidly as could be expected.

"Well," Grandfather grinned from his hospital bed, "The moral of that story is: Never, never carry passengers on a tractor, especially when crossing a gully."

After discussing our disastrous mishap, the three of us agreed that sheer carelessness was the primary cause of it. Grandfather had to admit, also, that he was too old to drive a tractor. In my opinion it would have been much safer to take the long way around instead of attempting to cross the deep gulley. Because the hollow of the gulley was a bit muddy the risks were even more dangerous. From our experience Beth and I learned a very important lesson and we know that in the future we must use a more clever strategy in order to enjoy the sport of horseback riding.

School's out, so you're in . . . the driver's seat.' Drive carefully.

Turkish rug quality called high

ISTANBUL — In spite of rising costs and a poor market, thousands of hand-knotted Turkish rugs are turning out carpets with better color, quality and design than ever before.

This ancient, father-to-son industry is continually coming alive in spirit, and some of the old established traditional names such as Kula Mosaics still proudly use the ancient Turkish designs handed down from China, Persia, Afghanistan and Turkestan. Others have introduced more modern designs alongside the traditional.

Carpets are a "must" for a Turkish home, and there is always a big domestic demand for hand - woven carpets.

In many parts of Turkey, young girls start work on the looms at random.

At Isparta, in southern Turkey, a child-farmer for his toys and rug carpets and as altar of roses, the girls divide their time between gathering and the looms. When the roses are in bloom in the spring they gather them, singing the while, to the factories of Isparta.

After their work is done, they return to the looms again.

The girls sing songs while their weather-stained hands are busy on the loom with a knife, a pair of scissors, a small but heavy comb, scarlet a turkey, and plenty of colorful wool pile.

Making carpets grew out of rug-making in Asia, Norway and Egypt, 3,000 years before the Christian era.

Through the centuries, carpetmaking became established as an industry in central Asia, spreading later from there to other parts of the world. It became the national art of the Turks, and according to officials of the Kula Mosaics concern, "almost all of the modern carpetmaking industries in Persia, the Soviet Union and Iran.

The most important special feature of these carpets is the harmony of color and the richness of design. Today, many European museums exhibit old Turkish masterpieces.

A race horse is an animal that can take several thousands of people for a ride at the same time.

Lugging a huge fish, an angler met another fisherman whose catch consisted of twelve small ones.

"Slowly," said the first man as he gingerly laid down his fish for comparison.

The other fellow stared for a few moments and calmly responded. "Just caught the one, eh?"

A commuter ran breathlessly to the end of the train platform—but the 7:15 pulled away without him. As he slowly walked back toward the station a sympathetic stranger inquired, "What the train?"

"Not much", panted the commuter, "I never got to know it really well".

Two old gents from the country were spending a day sight in the city on one of their infrequent visits, and they went to a barbershop shave. During one of the sets a curvaceous blond was shown taking a bath in a large wooden tub.

"Ain't that something?" one remarked to his companion.

"Sure is," yawned the other. "Been years since I've seen a wooden tub".

This week a good many Tofield and district residents will be saving — or may have left — for their annual vacations, and to chances to one are that they will be travelling by car. As a matter of fact, by the time this column appears in print Canada's centre, Edmonton, Alberta, Yellowknife, N.W.T., will be empty. When I read the following message from the Canadian Highway Safety Council, I thought it contained a good message for me and anyone else about to leave on a holiday trip.

"Standing on your rights", warns the Canadian Highway Safety Council", may make them your "rites" if in traffic". Promoting the international Slow Down and Live summer vacation campaign, CHSC has issued strong warnings to motorists who give little heed to the danger of driving on the wrong side of the centre line of the road, or of maintaining an unrelenting position if the approaching vehicle is driven even slightly over the line.

To cross the centre line is illegal except when passing, and then only if the line is broken. Had the motorist driving within the law on his side of the centre line can gain nothing but tragedy. suffering, probably death by refusing to give way to another driver driving illegally", says the Council.

Take to the ditch if you have to, but get out of the way. Anything is better than a head-on collision at even moderate speed, the Council advises.

Stay on your own side of the road, and "give in a little", CHSC says. "Don't be a bully. You can't win!"

Ross favors fluoridation

Alberta Health Minister Dr. J. Donovan Ross told the royal commission on health servi ce recently he is personally in favor of the fluoridation of communal water supplies but he emphasized that he is not responsible for setting the government's policy in regard to the measure.

Dr. Ross was replying to a question by commission member Dr. C. L. Strachan, of Leduc.

The provincial Health Act now requires a two-thirds majority vote before fluoridation can be implemented in a community.

NOW IMPOSSIBLE

Dr. Strachan said he could not understand why the department of public health would place "such a deterrent in the face of an extremely important health measure". He said the present legislation makes it almost impossible to pass a fluoridation plebiscite.

Dental decay has become a serious and major public health problem, Dr. Strachan continued, and adequate treatment is beyond the resources of the dental profession. Fluoridation has been recognized "for many years" as being a key weapon against dental caries, he added.

NOT THE WHOLE

Dr. Ross said the policy of his department is determined by the legislative assembly and not by himself personally.

"But surely they (members of the legislature) take your advice", "Sometimes they do, but many times I've had things thrown right back at me", Dr. Ross replied, interjected Dr. Strachan.

YOU ARE THE DETECTIVE

The body of a small-time nightclub singer, Sherry Dawn, has been found near a lonely country side road shot through the temple. She was clad in her "professional clothes" — a shimmering, sequin-studded evening gown.

A thorough questioning of her agent, Tony Adams, uncovers no definite clues as to who could have killed his client. According to Adams he had handled the career of the blonde young singer for the past two years, ever since she had arrived in town as Sarah Mulligan. He's told you the girl was evasive on anything about her career as a singer had stuck strictly to business at the time and that no one knew of no particular man to whom she had gone out or anyone who had been on bad terms with her. Your inquiry at the girl's boardinghouse has also failed to reveal anything more regarding the girl.

You visit the Falcon Nightclub, at which the girl had been singing for the past three months, and begin questioning the girls of the show. Questioning them, Lilian Lewis, a dancer, tells you that Sherry was pretty unsettled before she left the club on the night. She says Sarah "didn't have much of an ... sort of stuck up. I think I'm better than you, but she didn't have much use for anybody, girls or men, except this last evening ... the evening she was murdered. I happened to notice, after the show, she had gone back to her dressing room, then I saw her come running out with a wrap over her shoulders and out the side door into the alley. I says Lilian "Didn't have much of an all to do with an act in the last ... sort of stuck up. I think I'm better than you, but she didn't have much use for anybody, girls or men except this last evening ... the evening she was murdered. I happened to notice, after the show

Dale Winsness is big winner at Ryley 4-H Club calf show

Dale Winsness' years of experience and training in 4-H paid off for this up-and-coming young dairyman at the Ryley 4-H Dairy Club Calf Show last Wednesday, when he walked away with the lion's share of the awards.

His 2-year-old heifer was declared champion of the show by Judge Jack Bailey of Edmonton. To win this placing he narrowly edged out Doug Booth, who showed the top animal in the yearling class. He then went on to win the Ryley Hotel Trophy for the best herd of three in the show.

In addition to showing the champion animal and herd, he was declared master showman by Judge Otto Schwabthaur, and was the recipient of the Treasury Branch Plaque for Showmanship.

Douglas Booth, showing a very shiny yearling, edged out Winsness in the yearling class and took home the Brown Trophy, presented by Ernest Brown.

In the calf class, the youngsters came into their own and took the top three placings. Gary Mandryk walked away with the coveted Palm Dairies Trophy and a cheque for $50 for showing the first place calf in the show. Placing second was Gary Patterson, another young showman, and third place went to a young lady, Anita Sand, who brought out a beautifully groomed calf in this, her first year in 4-H ranks.

PEE WEE CLASS

The Pee Wee Class, the members two years and younger in the 4-H Club, came up with a few shiners of colors. They Jean Booth led the parade in this class, followed by Lorna Manderson and Jan Scrimshaw.

The judging competition, held on Advancement Day, was won by Vera Booth, and she took home a silver trophy donated by her father, Roland Booth.

The Kenvale Farm Trophy, presented by R. R. Westmoreland for herd improvement, went to Dale Winsness, who headed in a trio of good quality calves, and a nice one-two-three finish.

The show was well attended by natural crowds, despite threatening weather, and was very successful in every way and completed the year's activities for the 4-H Club for the year. On hand for the show was Ed Magnuson, original club leader and many members who came back to twelve some of the Dairy as much they enjoyed on show day in past years. Expect fall class for retarded children

Hopes that a day school for retarded children will be established in Camrose this fall gained ground Friday evening when an executive meeting of the newly formed association was held at the Ryley Memorial Hall.

The executive feeling the difficulty of establishing such a school at present, thought it was best to form an association to arrange for this fall program, and to create public interest in the project. For this reason, any parents concerned with the development of a school in Camrose are asked to contact their interim executive as early as possible. The group agreed on geographical boundaries would be set for a school here, as parents from even quite a distance are keenly interested in the project.

Further information may be had by writing A. R. Olsen, president of the Camrose and District Association for Retarded Children, Box 1, Camrose, or attending the meeting on School for Retarded Children, in July 18 in the Elks Hall.

Kolden sports day to be held July 18

Peter Nickel

After two postponements this year, Holden is hoping the good weather on Tuesday, July 18th, to hold their annual Sports Day.

The first date set for the event was June 6. Rain rained out for that day, the committee postponed it to July 2nd. Problems then arose when interference with the Tofield Sports Day, which also was to be held on that date, once some of the events were to be held at both places. Through their courtesy, the date was postponed once more to the 18th. Surely which ever way it happens it will be a wonderful day.

About Medicare

There's a lot of dirty linen in Saskatchewan

The following account was written by a Saskatchewan resident to another of his own kind. Unfortunately, he wishes to remain anonymous, but we feel that his views are worthy of publication.

The process of conversation in Saskatchewan these days is a most interesting one. Everyone is talking about Medicare and it becomes the subject of

Room for economy

Much has been heard across the country in recent days about the economies being forced on many departments of government by the new Diefenbaker administration. Much is being heard, too, about side effects which are being felt, such as the tightening of bank credit, and the continued interest rates, which may or may not have resulted from the first policies.

However, Mr. Diefenbaker seems to be missing . . . for the moment, at any rate . . . one move which would save his government, and the Canadian workers, many millions of dollars. If the Unemployment Insurance Fund were put on something approaching an actuarial basis, then countless millions would be saved. It's an over-simplification to say all that is needed is to take off the logger, fisherman and other seasonal workers, but this is one major step which could and should be taken without further delay. The fund was never intended to take the place of regular employment for these people, and the nature of their job is such they cannot reasonably look forward to anything but enforced lay-offs from time to time. Contributing far less to the fund than they draw from it, these workers present an unrealistic drain on the premiums paid in by workers in other fields, who in many instances are earning no more over the entire year than the "poor" seasonal worker does in his season.

Faced with the need for stringent economies, this is the time to rebuild the footing of the Fund. It wouldn't be "poor politics" in our opinion. The people generally know some unwelcome moves have to be made; they're ready to accept them, and to approve the party with courage enough to endorse them.

Toughness, not laxness

We've been told we're far too old-fashioned in our attitudes to punishment for crimes and criminals, and sometimes we have wondered if the modern doctrine of flexible sentences, of time off for good behavior and so on are really on the right track, and we are really too reactionary, as we've been told.

Well, we'll admit to being reactionary, but we're not yet convinced this is wrong . . . far from it. We're wondering if the marked increase in crime is not attributable, in quite large measures, to the general feeling that retribution is not nearly so severe as it used to be, or that punishment is not so certain. Senate criminals today even figure the odds on punishment, and whether the game is worth the candle.

We can't help but be struck by the increase in crimes of violence which are disturbing practically all the countries of the western world. We can't help but feel that the increase in the number of muggings, the attacks on women, the molesting . . . and worse . . . of small children,

Old soldiers

While many people have forgotten that Winston Churchill had an important career as a soldier long before he turned to the science of politics, the public will be brought home these days that he is showing the best tradition of old soldiers these days. "Old soldiers never die," goes the old saying. "They simply fade away."

Whatever it is that keeps the old warrior going, he resists dying with everything that's in him, apparently. A few years ago his life was very nearly despaired of, yet he managed to make a comeback. Today, faced with a broken leg, and what the doctors now describe as thrombosis, though they only suspected a phlebitis until early this week, he still insists he won't die . . . simply fade away.

MacDuff Ottawa report

MacDUFF OTTAWA REPORT—

GENERAL: Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has made it clear he had no intention of forming a coalition with the Social Credit group in the Commons. Nor has any plans for entering into a "working agreement with the Socreds despite their surprising show of strength in Quebec.

A report was circulated recently by a wire service agency that the Prime Minister was considering inviting a Social Credit member of parliament from Quebec to join his cabinet. The rejection was almost suspicious and he denied the report emphatically.

It had been suggested that to take a federal into the cabinet from Quebec would help him solve a dilemma he now faces namely in selecting another member of the cabinet from Quebec from among the 30 new Tories from that French-speaking province. The Conservatives only elected 14 members in Quebec while the Social Creditors elected 30.

The Prime Minister has five vacancies to fill. Three of these are in Quebec, one in Ontario and one in Newfoundland. Mr. Diefenbaker has told reporters at Ottawa that he will be able making an announcement about the cabinet changes, but has refused to drop any hints as to how he will redistribute the cabinet.

One of the first decisions confronting Mr. Diefenbaker will be the selection of a speaker for the new parliament. Traditionally the speaker must be French-speaking because the last speaker was English speaking.

The first and obvious choice for speaker appeared to be Paul Martineau, MP-elect for Portneuf-Titamaringue. He was deputy speaker in the last session of parliament but the Socreds despite their surprising show of strength in Quebec

The Conservatives only elected 14 members in Quebec while the Social Creditors elected 30.

The Prime Minister has five vacancies to fill. Three of these are in Quebec, one in Ontario and one in Newfoundland. Mr. Diefenbaker has told reporters at Ottawa that he will be able making an announcement about the cabinet changes, but has refused to drop any hints as to how he will redistribute the cabinet.

One of the first decisions confronting Mr. Diefenbaker will be the selection of a speaker for the new parliament. Traditionally the speaker must be French-speaking because the last speaker was English speaking.

The first and obvious choice for speaker appeared to be Paul Martineau, MP-elect for Portneuf-Titamaringue. He was deputy speaker in the last session of parliament but the Socreds despite their surprising show of strength in Quebec elected only 30 members in the new parliament as compared to 208 for the Conservatives.

However, Mr. Diefenbaker has decided that the best strategy is to have the full pull of rallied behind the new parliament's first session until possibly September 27 at the earliest. This decision demands that Liberal Leader L. B. Pearson and New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas (but Pearson will be named speaker as soon as possible.

The Prime Minister's decision to delay parliament brought him under attack from J. W. Pickersgill, Liberal MP-elect from Bonavista-Twillingate. The dourthy member from Newfoundland pointed out that Mr. Diefenbaker in the election had been repudiated by 61 per cent of the Canadian voters. He labelled Mr. Diefenbaker's method of introducing the austerity program without parliament as the "gross repudiation of democratic methods" and "taxation without representation." That he suggested "was the way of the dictator" But is the way people's rights are trampled.

One key man missing from the new Parliament is Tommy Douglas, the New Democratic Party leader. There is a regret in many circles of his group of newly elected members that Douglas will not be in the house to lead the fight against the Conservatives and served as a spokesman for the party as ready for another general election at any time. Douglas could well have been the deciding factor in the election which would fulfill their duty as the official opposition. They suppose when opposition is re-

Douglas is not expected to be out of the house for long. Many people believe that he will get off sailing from the house at the next election. Then he will be in a commanding position to form a government. Moreover the Socreds are on record as wishing to avoid another federal election this year. But the Socreds have been unable to get Mr. Thompson said the Socreds would be willing to support the Conservatives in a austerity program if they thought it was necessary to avoid another election. This is the reason why

District couple wed at Tofield

Mrs. Eaton

A wedding of much interest to the Tofield-Lakeshore and Lindbergh districts took place in Bethany United Church at Tofield on Saturday, June 23rd at the United Church at Tofield with Rev. Baker officiating, when Miss Yvonne Carol Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eaton of Tofield became the bride of Mr. Lloyd Bruce Benoit of the Lindbrook district.

A reception for some 65 guests was held in the church basement and later an open house was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Martha Dujanovich and many guests gathered to wish the happy couple every happiness on their journey thru life. The happy couple received many lovely and useful gifts.

Among the guests were many from distant points.

Tofield Limited in the amount of $2,700 be passed for payment Cd

J. E. Myers, Contract Bus Operator from Viking, interviewed the Committee at this time, stating that he was not satisfied to renew his agreements at the present rate. He requested an increase of 5c per mile on all the miles that he is operating, and he also wanted a provision in the agreement that a contract price would be increased if the County's drivers were given an increase in wages. Mr. Myers was informed that his request would be taken under consideration. Mr. Myers' request was fully discussed and the Committee was of the opinion that an increase was not justified

Moved that Mr. Myres be informed that the Committee cannot accede to his request. Cd

A letter from the Secretary of the Local Authorities Board concerning By-law No. 106, with plans, for the raising of funds from private debenture borrowing for the extension of the washrooms as provided for with Board order No. 387 was then read and the Home of the Lords was referred to the School Committee.

A request for some 65 guests was held in the church basement and later an open house was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Martha Dujanovich and many guests gathered to wish the happy couple every happiness on their journey thru life. The happy couple received many lovely and useful gifts.

Right up Dief's alley

Announcement by Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that Britain will not be permitted to sit around the table discussing political unity among the six nations of the European Common Market should come as welcome news to Canada's Prime Minister Diefenbaker. He has been vigorously opposed all along to Britain's entering the union without at least having the overseas dominions discussing the terms of entry. This week he scored two victories. First was the guarantee for several years of concessions to Canada in securing favorable trading positions for several of our traditional exports. Second is assurance that for some time to come Britain will not be permitted to join the Union. Adenauer and DeGaulle both have set their course on establishing the union in their own pattern, without help from Britain, then allowing her to join the established group afterwards, when she can do little to modify the establishment.

It may be a very happy period for Canada, if we seize the opportunity, and make an honest effort to bolster our trade with Britain by an impressive margin. But one thing we must keep clear in our minds . . . we can only do this if we buy more from Britain. They have been on the short end of the trading stick for years, and want us to balance things somewhat.

Here, of course, is a golden opportunity for Britain, too. Much and all as Canadians may want to increase traffic with the Old Country, it's hard to be a customer without some idea of what there is to buy. As a general observation, we would suggest that British manufacturers have neglected to tail their story here, while their American counterparts have taken advantage of every conceivable outlet in this country to blanket us with the tale of their glittering supermarket.

C'mon in folks, everybody loses

Appointment of a reputable judge from the Saskatchewan courts to be the one-man commission investigating the Saskatchewan College of Physicians seems to have been one of the first temperate and moderate moves in the government versus medicos dispute in many months. When Premier Lloyd announced his intention to appoint a one-man commission there was considerable fear that the investigation would hardly be impartial, and that Lloyd would name a man favoring the government plan. He proved to be a bigger man than that.

The trouble is that no-one is going to win the present battle. Whatever else happens, the doctors are suffering tremendously. The people are facing an unwarranted and unneeded situation. The government is facing a heavy loss of face, and their political stature is dropping daily. Many people feel the next government of Saskatchewan will be Liberal, regardless of the outcome of the Medicare dispute. In other words, the inept way in which the government approached the whole problem, the lack of skill and resourcefulness they have shown, are convincing their voters that Tommy Douglas WAS the party, that without him the entire tent is collapsing.

Unhappily, the doctors are being made the scapegoat in a situation which was not of their seeking, and certainly not in their interests. One important thing which should be said on their side is that not only are they fighting a battle for the College of Physicians, but also for the engineering profession, the law society, and eventually, in all probability, for any and every class of worker. Mr. Douglas even said as much some months ago, in one unguarded moment.

The decision which has to be made sooner or later, apparently, is how much regulation people are prepared to accept in their own lives. Just as surely as we permit regulation of someone else's type of business, we encourage the same sort of thing in our own.

Expecting too much

Political pundits across the country have been dismayed at the results of the election in Stormont constituency in Ontario, since there seems to have been no clear-cut decision by the voters. Deferred due to the death of the Liberal candidate shortly before the June 18 election, the moment's poll was felt by many as the first testing ground of the new austerity program announced by the government, the resurgence of the Liberal hopes, the rising star of the N.D.P., and since there are voters in the area are French-speaking, possibly it might reflect the insurgence of the Quebec Social Credit movement sparked by Real Caouette.

So the Liberal win by only 92 votes was disappointing to many of the experts in all parties.

But, obviously, it was foolish to expect so much to be learned from only one poll in the first place. Probably it would have been more foolhardy to read anything clear-cut or crystalline into even a major swing . . . in only one constituency.

But the voters seem to have decided definitely in this instance they had more to gain by supporting a major party than by sending still another representative to the splinter parties. After the big cross-country election is over, and the possibility of swings is past, this would seem to be the wise course of action. So now Stormont will fade out of the national scene, and in only a few days people will wonder what ever happened to the community whose name was on the tip of many tongues for several weeks.

By George!

I suppose, since I have recently returned from a trip into the Northwest Territories, I should take a page out of Pierre Burton's book, and report the highlights.

Like Camrose, the Peace River country had several rain showers during the first week in July, and the weather generally was rather cool. In spite of this we set up our tent for three of the days that we were away. By the time 6:30 a.m. rolled around, however, we would gladly have traded our tent and sleeping bags for the warm comfort of home.

We left Camrose early on Sunday morning, and headed for Peace River via Athabasca. Due to the rain (!) supposed we had the gravel road terribly rough, and decided then and there that this would be our last visit to Athabasca, until we started early on Tuesday morning on our trip up the Mackenzie Highway next week. Imagine and planned to arrive at Hay River, on the shore of Great Slave Lake, by nightfall. But again the rains came. The gravel highway, for the most part, has been recently brushed and is in good condition, but as we neared the northern boundary of the province the new construction had become so muddy we were forced to turn back, and drove 75 miles southward to a fairly graded high level. There we were able to rent a cabin . . . very much like a tent, and decided to remain there for the night. The next day dawned bright, clear and much warmer. We decided to give the northbound road another try. We reached the northern boundary of Alberta about noon, and then spent no less than three hours driving the 100 miles from there to Hay River. Travellers must not be misled by the promises in the Northwest Territories, however. The road is not a new highway. And, although the gravel road is taught! Most of the time we had to hold our speed down to between 25 and 30 miles per hour, or take the risk of losing the shirt off our backs. There are several potholes—even on the good portions of the road—which are hard to see. Before you know it, that new tire you or has aged another year. It cost us two new tubes on the trip. We had three flats.

But the scenery is something to see. In some places there are miles and miles of what is apparently muskeg, for the trees grow to a height of only five or five feet. We saw the lovely Alexander Falls on the Hay River, where water pours over a ledge that is 200 feet wide, and a 100 feet high. We also happened to hit Hay at the time when the river was full of ice and driftwood. The water was very muddy, and we noticed when we finally reached the Great Slave that it, too, was very murky. The whitecaps were anything but white.

Then, of course, we marvelled at the long twilight, and the night which never did get dark. Even between midnight and 2:00 a.m. it was bright enough to read a newspaper with no difficulty at all. And to top our distances, and even pick out birds roosting in trees.

The mosquitoes—big fellows—flocked in by the thousands in our hotel room any time we went near it.

We were surprised at the number of large lakes and barges in Hay River, a community of about 1,800. Many of the residents are Indians. Two former school teachers started a new newspaper there in February of this year, and they told us that they are kept very busy. Their paper, The Mackenzie Hornet, is one of which any printer would be proud.

On our return home we happened to notice the condition of the road. A Tremendous community call-out Indian Cabins, a group of little houses or sheds resembling dog kennels in lodging by the size of these sheds we assumed the area must be an Indian graveyard, an assumption which proved correct on a closer inspection. The boards of some of the older "cabins" had fallen out, and on reaching in one could feel the body, wrapped in a blanket. A member of a road crew working nearby told us that he had learned that the government was now making the Indians bury their dead, although they still continued to place food shelters on top of the graves.

Upon our arrival at Grande Prairie, we found a lovely campsite provided by the city for the use of tourists. The thought occurred to us that this is something that might be considered for Camrose.

It was a most enjoyable holiday. But I think I'll wait until the portions of the Mackenzie Highway now under construction are completed before venturing forth in that direction again. Highway 43 to Grande Prairie, and to Peace River via Valleyview, are perfectly all paved, however, and this trip is well worth taking.

Dentists back fluorides

Meeting recently in Banff as part of the Canadian Public Health Association, members of a panel of dentists all agreed that fluoride tablets, fluoride toothpastes and fluoride solutions are all good substitutes at best for fluoridated community water supplies. Dr. C. A. White of Red Deer, and Dr. Harold Bennett were two Alberta members of the panel, and both were vocal in the discussion.

The former declared that the use of tablets in a family's water supply is only as effective as the people who will conscientiously follow the program over a period of years, and suggested few people would carry out the program daily for the first twelve years of a child's life. Used for less than this period, he said, the program would not be particularly productive. Dr. Bennett pointed out that twenty years of research in the United States had produced only one brand of fluoride toothpaste which is effective enough to gain the backing of the American Dental Association. And even this is nothing as compared with the beneficial effects of a community fluoridated water supply.

When a research scientist tells us we can bounce soundwaves off a midget rocket floating around miles out in space, we believe every syllable. When he tells us how to improve the standard of health of our beloved children, we can't persuade ourselves of the truth. We live in an age of medical marvels as well as scientific ones. In the face of the sulfas, the penicillins, the cortisones, the tranquilizers, the Salk vaccines, the cobalt bombs and other miracles, who can reasonly doubt fluorides?

Why taxes go up

Dr. Don Baker's presentation to the City Council Monday night did not spell-out his intentions very clearly but it would seem he had in mind that recreation activities in Camrose should be handled by a separate City department. At present they are tied up with Public Works. He did not expect this move to take place at once but thought it was inevitable.

One need not go back very far to remember when other similar ideas were suggested and how they have multiplied into costly parts of the City's administration. The police department is one example. It was stated by those asking for a city police department that it would not cost any more than was being paid for RCMP protection. The playgrounds turned over to the City by the Kinsmen club looked like a very generous gesture. Lay-operated recreation was a very small item when first proposed. Take a look at the budget and you will find over $20,000 for recreation, about $8,000 of it going for playgrounds. Two mills on the present assessment takes a little more than $30,000 of the taxpayers' money. Education takes 26 mills . . . maybe 2 to 3 mills is lent out of line for recreation.

But set up a separate department and see what happens to the costs.

To achieve success one must make an attempt.

Cause to pause . . .

(By John Stobbs)

A doctor, his basement flooding shortly after midnight, is urged by his wife to call a plumber. "He wouldn't hesitate to call you if he was sick", she said.

The plumber, awakened by the doctor's call, listened for a moment and replied. "Just drop two aspirin daily for the broken pipe every two hours. If everything isn't all right by 10:30 in the morning, call me at the office".

The day was rainy and the cellar leaked. Junior, age 5, was having a wonderful time sloshing around in the water when his brother caught him, soaked to the skin. As punishment he was ordered to stay in his room until his pants were dry.

A short time later his mother heard a commotion in the basement. "Are you down there writing your pants again?" she bellowed.

There was a long pause and then a deep masculine voice replied "No, Ma'am, I'm just reading the meter".

MacDuff Ottawa report

. . . Pride and prejudice

OTTAWA — Three dates, three with dangerous elements of demo-campaign continuing events, have injected the easy confidence in Canadian life in the past months. June 18—in the general election Canadians stripped prime Minister Diefenbaker of his record majority, leaving the leader of a shaky minority Government.

June 25—the nation was brought to earth with a jolt by announcement of an austerity program, a belt-tightening national effort contrasting sharply with the prosperity refrain of the election campaign.

July 1—Saskatchewan doctors went off all but free emergency service in protest against the provincial government's comprehensive medical care program.

These three turbulent events put Canada on the front pages of many of the world's newspapers. They reflect, in a larger sense, the unsettled mood at home and abroad with Canada's response in the problems of 1962 and beyond.

Of these three events, perhaps the Saskatchewan trouble, which is far from being merely a provincial matter, will shatter the Canadian composure most thoroughly.

The others are important, of course, but they do not contain the seeds of serious and perhaps violent conflict, as the Saskatchewan experiment did.

The Saskatchewan situation rapidly became a national concern, in which the government approached the whole problem, the lack of skill and resourcefulness they have shown, are convincing their voters that Tommy Douglas WAS the party, that without him the entire tent is collapsing.

Unhappily, the doctors are being made the scapegoat in a situation which was not of their seeking, and certainly not in their interests. One important thing which should be said on their side is that not only are they fighting a battle for the College of Physicians, but also for the engineering profession, the law society, and eventually, in all probability, for any and every class of worker. Mr. Douglas even said as much some months ago, in one unguarded moment.

The decision which has to be made sooner or later, apparently, is how much regulation people are prepared to accept in their own lives. Just as surely as we permit regulation of someone else's type of business, we encourage the same sort of thing in our own.

Adverse weather conditions fail stop swim lessons sponsored by Red Cross

Despite adverse weather conditions, the Red Cross Water Safety and swimming lessons, sponsored by the Tofield Community League, went on as scheduled at Sandy Cooking Lake for the past two weeks.

Twice daily children were transported to and from the lake for their lessons. Mr. Hoover driving his bus for this purpose. These fortunate enough to have trailers moved out to the lake for the two weeks and even some brave souls lived in a tent while the lessons were on.

OVER 100

Over 100 Tofield boys and girls took the lessons and even though some mornings courage was required to jump into the lake, most of them took it in good part and much fun was had by all.

The two instructors, Mrs. Tony Kencke and Mrs. Marg Hauptman of Edmonton and the Tofield students were "a great bunch of kids". Lake weekend brought an end Friday and Saturday.

WIN PINS

About a third of the students were awarded their beginners' pins and the other two-thirds were classed as either shallow swimmers, which means they could swim but were not quite good enough to go into deep water; or floaters, which indicates they had accomplished some of the requirements for their beginner buttons.

Each student received an achievement sheet which showed what they had accomplished and if they wish to take lessons next year they may carry on from there.

It must be kept in mind that a good part of the students were young and with the cool weather they couldn't stay in the water for a long period. Considering this, progress is steadily as they might have had the lessons in summer.

SUCCESS

All in all it can be considered that the first venture along this line can be marked up as a successful safety rules

It is the first passenger train operating west of Montreal and Toronto to receive the smart new black, white and red design that will eventually adorn all CN passenger trains and will make its first transcontinental run in the new colors this month. The modern design replaces CN's traditional gold, green and black color scheme.

New look for CN's Super Continental

Canadian National Railways' Super Continental which passes through Tofield will be decked out in a new exterior color scheme on its run from Toronto through Winnipeg Canada to Vancouver on July 27.
